MARVELOUS MEMORY DISCOVERY.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger." It takes cares and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations sold to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than National League games, July 11th: Pittsburg 3, New York 2; Washington 12, Chicago 3; Philadelphia 8, Indianapolis 6. The Boston-Detroit game was prevented by rain.

Saturday noon, after dinner, Ira Dore of Davis' crossing, Dover, who lives in the same house that Mrs. Jonathan Berry died when shot by John Q. Pinkham, went into the barn, and in a few minutes he was found hanging by the neck. The rope was suspended from a beam over the barn floor. He was quickly cut down and restoratives applied, which saved his life. The only reason he gives for his action is that he is tired of life, and would rather be dead than here.

Prehistoric Man.

A valuable collection, numbering more than 10,000 objects, illustrating the habits and accomplishments of prehistoric man in western Europe, was opened to public exhibition at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington last Thursday. These were gathered during a five years' residence abroad by Mr. Thomas Wilson, ex-United States consul at Nice, and his wife. They have been so arranged as to illustrate the gradual progression of the race from the beginning of the palaolithic epoch of archaeology (the quarternary of geology) down to and through the bronze age to its merging with the iron, just preceding the dawn of historic time.

The series begins with the chipped stone elements of the creatures who, during perhaps sixty or seventy centuries, roamed over all that portion of the continent then above water and not covered with ice. The jaw bones of these people lack the fixtures, so to speak, to which in modern humanity the tongue muscles are attached; and this leads to the presumption that they did not possess the power of speech. However that may be, the shape of their skulls indicates that they could have had nothing of interest or importance to say.

The dawn of the glacial period drove them to the caves, where, during a residence of some centuries, they invented clothes. This is proved by the existence in great numbers of stone scrapers used in preparing hides of their quadrupedal contemporaries. From chipped stone they advanced to ground or polished stone and thence to implements of bone. Now came the dawn of art, and their finest bone implements were engraved with pictures of the horse, reindeer and bear.

The collections of pottery and bronze of a much later period are curious and extensive. Of bronze there are barbed fish hooks, exactly like those of to-day; long pins with globular heads as large as walnuts, the counterparts of the implements used by modern ladies to keep the hat in place; and, finally, there are safety pins, used by Etruscan maidens long before the advent of Romulus and Remus, which contain in the germ every principle of that most useful article known to the modern nursery.

A standard article, universally recommended, is James Pyle's Pearline, which is claimed to be the best thing ever invented for making washing easy, in hard or soft water, without harm to fabric or hands. No soap is required and the work is done thoroughly without it. The genuine is sold by all grocers, and purchasers should beware of imitation.

By a premature explosion of giant powder, while blasting rock July 9th on the Carolina railroad, near the Catawba river in Lancaster county, S. C., one white man and eight negroes were instantly killed. Their bodies were mangled in a shocking manner.

The well known strengthening properties of iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

The sloop yacht Wave, of New York, was burned about three miles off New Haven harbor during a gale on the afternoon of July 10th, by the explosion of an oil stove. The fire spread so rapidly that the four yachtmen and two seamen on board were able to save but little of their personal property, and would probably have lost their lives had not a schooner picked them up. The sloop was valued at $10,000, and uninsured. Harry T. Terhune, one of the yachtmen, was badly hurt in getting into the gig.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

The sloop Mystery was towed into Carnesie, Long Island, on the 11th, and on bailing her out the bodies of eight children were found in the cabin.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

The will and codicils of the late John Amory Codman of Boston, giving a large part of his immense property to a Mrs. Kimball, to whom Mrs. Codman's lawyer asserted Codman gave at least $75,000 during his life, have been allowed by the probate court.

Breaking Down and Building Up.

When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting medicinal means to recuperate it. A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous, has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague, and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most useful and comprehensive household remedy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective.

Toemer, Hamm and Lee won in the trial races at Lake Quinsigmond, Mass., on the 12th inst., beating six others. The three winners will finish the race today.

The Boston Star

Says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on diseases, its causes and home cure, with fine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to anybody who sends three two-cent stamps, to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

At Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., July 12th, nine colored persons who had been to a funeral took refuge under a tree from a shower, and were all killed by lightning.

Distress after eating, heartburn, sick headache, and indigestion are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It also creates a good appetite.

Winthrop Cunningham's Sons of New York, dealers and importers in general merchandise, have failed for about $800,000.

Relief from sick headache, drowsiness, nausea, dizziness, pain in the side, guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. These complaints are nearly always caused by torpid liver and constipated bowels. Restore these organs to their proper functions and the trouble ceases. Carter's Little Liver Pills will do this every time. One pill is a dose. Don't forget this. Price twenty-five cents.

The Orangemen of Jersey City, N. J., paraded July 12th, the anniversary of the "battle of Boyne water," and were several times attacked by the Irish Catholics; many persons were hurt, but none are reported killed.

Must not be confounded with common cathartic or purgative pills. Carter's Little Liver Pills are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

"I have kept your medicine, Athlophoros, and have sold quite a lot of it. I fine that it is a good thing for rheumatism and neuralgia, and that people get good results from it," reports George Mallard, a prominent druggist of Laconia, N. H.

At Franklin Falls, on the evening of July 11th, Jonas B. Aiken, with a hired man named James Edinboro, were capsized in Webster lake. Edinboro was drowned, but Aiken was saved by his daughter Mary, who put out from the shore with another boat.

There were riots in Liverpool, Belfast, and other places in the British isles, consequent on Orange parades on the 12th.

Mr. Lorenzo Buck, Bancroft, Mich., was cured of chronic rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

—About the most beautiful thing in nature is a fine old elm tree, and yet you never heard of a young man asking even the finest of elm trees to go with him to a party or for a moonlight drive in a narrow seated buggy.

An Oddity.

The Laureate sat in baronial hall,
And the dim light fell on the tapestried wall;
It fell on the banners of gold cloth—
Ancestral banners of modern growth,
A gleam on his classic features rolled,
And he grasped his quill like a Baron bold,
"I'll write me a poem," he bravely cried,
"I'll write me a poem," and then he signed,
"A beautiful poem and call it an ode—
A Jubilee poem—I will by—the Rood."
For it wasn't an ode 'twas an oddity.

He squared the paper before his breast,
The paper that bore the family crest,
That ancient crest of high renown—
While the dim light danced o'er his lordly crown.
A grand inspiration he meant this to be,
So he took for his subject and title "She,"
And thought out the ode on the great Jubilee.
But it wasn't an ode 'twas an oddity.

Then he carved away on the paper with a will,
He carved away with his trusty quill,
Till the words flew out and the adjectives rose,
Till the metaphors mixed; then he blew his nose,
And he thought in his heart of hearts it was prose,
But said he to himself, there's nobody knows.
I don't care one aristocratical jot,
Whether it's reason or whether its not;
The gullible public will swallow the lot,
As they did when the Old and the New Year met,
And I told them I stood on a Tower in the Wet.
For it wasn't an ode, 'twas an oddity.

Still he tore away like a very Turk,
Till his royal pen refused to work,
And the sputtering point in consequence,
Brought the Laureate back to common sense.
So he finished the ode and he buttoned his coat,
He buttoned it up to his very throat;
Then he called for his valet of high degree
And unto that valet, he said—said he,
"Take all these precious MSS.,
And bear them hence to the printing press."
Then he donned his chapeau without any more words,

—Glasgow Bailie.

Jumped the Wrong Claim.

A lively tale of claim-jumping comes to us, says the Atwood (Colo.) Advocate, from beyond the Frenchman country, many miles southeast of Sterling. Six months ago Miss Minnie Palmer, a bright young lady of 24 happy years, from Manhattan, Kas., filed a preemption claim on 160 acres of fine Government land near the Burlington & Missouri in the eastern part of the State. The claimant erected a comfortable one-story frame house, dug a well, had ten acres fenced, and three months ago went to Denver and took service in a hotel to replenish her depleted pocketbook and buy seed for spring crops, etc. During her absence a new railroad was surveyed through the land and it promised to become a valuable property.

Last week Miss Minnie returned to her claim to find the house occupied by a big strapping Nebraskan, who informed her that he had homesteaded the land six weeks before and "dot by shimmiuie he would dot land holt until the goat offer his back cum!" Expostulation and arguments were of no avail, and on the pretense that she wished to get something out of her trunk gained admission to the house, hurriedly closing the door in the Teuton's face, who was about to enter with a bucket of water in his hand. How that Dutchman raved and swore it would take profane history to relate.

The door was most too strong to force, so the window was next tried, raised, and the claim-jumper had one leg over the window-sill when a bullet from a little 22-calibre pill-thrower entered his left shoulder, and before he could turn his head to expectorate another found lodgment in his hip, and as he dropped to the ground a third parted his hair in the middle, making an insignificant scalp wound. The injured claim-jumper begged the girl to "no more shoot," and that he was "gif up everything" if he was only permitted to live.

The heroic Miss Minnie dressed her fallen foe's wounds as best she could—none of which will prove serious—and that evening the discomfited enemy was removed to a friend's house, three miles away, where proper attention could be given, and which he vows he will leave only to go back to Germany. The unanimous sentiment of the community sustains the young lady in her brave battle for her home and her rights and no prosecution will follow.

The alumni of the University of Paris numbered nearly 11,000 last year. Of these no fewer than 3,786 were studying for the legal profession, while 3,696 were attending the courses in the school of medicine. Pharmacy engaged the attention of 1,767 students, letters of 928, and science of 467. The faculty of theology is very far from being a flourishing as it was in the days of Abelard, only 35 young men having attended the lectures in this department in 1886. The female students numbered 167, of whom 108 were qualified for a medical career, while 51 were engaged in literary studies. There were 7 lady scientists and only 1 lady lawyer.

"The women of San Francisco are being seized with the mania of wearing men's clothes," says The Examiner, of that city. "There have been many more scandals of this character lately than have ever got into the columns of the daily press. There is something delightfully morbid about reversing one's sex. And there are few things delightfully morbid to which the women of San Francisco have not attained. Nothing, indeed, shows how fast this gay young town is becoming old in sin, like Paris, Vienna, and Berlin. The strangest thing about it all is that women invariably think they are disguised when dressed up as men."

Mr. I. H. Polk, who has been appointed receiver of the United States Land Office at Los Angeles, Cal., is a Tennesseean, and a nephew of the "fighting Bishop" of the Rebel army, the Rev. Dr. Leonidas Polk.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of sceing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive case. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

Fell in Good Time.

A trestle bridge near Lombard, Ill., on the Illinois Central railroad, on which only about fifteen minutes' work remained to be done, and which had just been favorably passed upon by the railroad company's chief engineer, fell on the evening of the 10th inst., carrying down its constructor, an experienced bridge-builder named Joseph Fox, and Charles Clark, both of whom were killed. Fox's son Edward was fatally hurt, and Albert Bayers and another son of Fox were badly injured. Better to have the bridge fall that way, under its own weight, than with a loaded passenger train on it.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., July 12th.

The past few days have been most delightful, by reason of the rains, which were much needed, and have made everything look fresh and clean. With the birds singing so sweetly and the air so refreshing, it is now one of the most pleasing times of the year for people in the cities to enjoy their summer vacations at the sea-shore or in the country.

James C. Lydston and family are at their old homestead, the residence of Mr. Washington Remick, for the summer months.

Hattie S. Remick and Mary L. Foster are at York beach for the summer. Miss Remick is at the Norward house, York Harbor, Miss Foster at the Whiting house.

Mrs. Joseph W. Wherren and family, of East Deerfield, Mass., have been spending a few days with her father, Daniel Wherren, and other friends.

J. E. Staples and Dr. Earl S. Sloan have leased one-half of Mr. Walter H. Staples' house for the summer, and it will be occupied by their families. It is a very pleasant situation by the Piscataqua river, on Eliot Neck close to the Advent church.

Mrs. Wm. R. Forssith and son, of Manchester, N. H., arrive at her uncle's (J. W. Nowell) on Wednesday, July 13th, to spend a few weeks of the summer.

On Sunday Mr. Samuel E. Cole's house was struck by lightning, which went down through the roof into the pantry and through the kitchen and sitting room, breaking out one window, and damaging the house about $25. Mr. Cole and family were not at home. The lightning did not set fire to the house, only broke things up quite badly. HARRY.

Some Wise Women.

A poor clergyman died and left a widow and two daughters. One of these daughters was an invalid and the other became the mainstay of the little family. Like too many girls, she had received a general but superficial education, which did not qualify her to teach anything. She had no taste or skill as a milliner or dressmaker. What could she do? Accidentally, she heard a number of housekeepers regretting the impossibility of having hot, fresh cakes for Sunday's breakfast. She had a recipe for making English muffins, which, if baked on Saturday, can be heated the next morning.

She called on her friends and took orders for these muffins. The cakes were delicious and promptly served. Her customers increased. She has now a large establishment and a comfortable income.

Another woman, in the same position, took stock of herself to discover what she could do.

"I know," she said, "that it is the thing which we can do better than any body else, however trivial it may be, which commands success. I had but one little craft; I could dress hair and understood its management. I set out upon a tour through the inland towns and villages of the middle states, advertising that Mrs. P—— would teach ladies to dress their hair becomingly, and to care for it on scientific principles.

"In these small towns coiffures are unknown. I was the first to enter a new field, and I reaped a rich harvest. Since then I have visited and found business in a great many of the larger towns of the United States."

Another woman, a half-starved dressmaker in a great city where there were hundreds of dressmakers, overheard a gentleman in a street-car say there was no place in the city where a man could have his socks and underwear mended. She took a room near a college and opened a mending shop. She, too, was the one person in the possession of a new business, and of course she succeeded.—Youth's Companion.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of the stomach, constipation, headache, impure blood, use Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less. I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often disuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

THE BARBERS' PICNIC.

The Dover barbers and their friends are expected to arrive at the Creek this morning about nine o'clock in barges, and will there be met by the Portsmouth barbers with the American Brass band; the party will then march down to the Parade, where barges will be taken for the beach. Three tents have been put up at the grounds for the accommodation of the picnickers. Tickets can be procured this morning at Grace's drug store, and during the day at the grounds.

UNSAFE INDULGENCE IN HYPERBOLE.

We have on several occasions, when feeling in a funny mood, indulged in a gentle range of political hyperbole. We innocently supposed that an extravagance of that nature would be seen, and if not enjoyed, at least be treated as a mere ebullition of fancy, harmless in itself, intended to be jocose even if not hitting the mark. But we have been severely lectured for this seemingly improper conduct, by our staid neighbor of the Times. On one occasion the discipline went so far as to castigate another person, whom the Times paid us the compliment of accusing to be the writer of an article appearing in our columns, of which the alleged transgressor had no knowledge whatever till he may perhaps have read it in the paper. However, he is not of the thin-skinned kind that is disconcerted at a gentle newspaper scolding. But here comes the queer circumstance.

Our commonly conservative and matter-of-fact neighbor either "got off his base," or permitted some one to so transgress the ordinary rules of his establishment, as to indulge in a gentle flow of hyperbole in his laudation of the appointment of a youth of tender years to one of the best clerkships on the navy yard, which would take the bread from the mouths of hungry and thirsty democrats who had labored long and patiently for expectant patronage. The disgust of the democratic politicians who so roundly condemn this appointment and who so generously curse deeply if not loudly, the managers who made the trade, may be imagined when they saw the sharp editor of the Penny Post follow the example of the Times, treat the laudatory notice as if written in sober, honest truth, and quote the "organ" as endorsing what the rank and file so generally condemn!

The moral seems to be that when a paper undertakes to soberly combat the serio-comic statements of a cotemporary, and affect not to see what everyone else perceives, where the joke was attempted (to say the least) to be introduced, it will not achieve success if it essays the same satirical style unless it draws a line so abundantly clear that it is incapable of being misunderstood even by the thickest of mental range.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

Col. Sinclair has testified before the committee on railroads, as to the purchases he made of shares in the Manchester & Lawrence railroad. It is now in order for some of the operators in the stock of the Boston, Concord & Montreal road to come to the front and give the legislature some idea of the plan by which the lease of the B. C. & M. R. R. to the Boston & Lowell can be set aside, and the lease to the Concord could be made and a big divide ensue to the speculators. One of the opponents of the Hazen bill has urged his friends to vote against that measure for the reason that it would prevent his making a very large sum out of the Concord road, should that bill become a law. In short, the interests of the state in the Concord are to be carefully guarded by these men, so that the surplus which belongs to the people of New Hampshire shall be gathered in by the Montreal syndicate. The "state pride" of these gentlemen hath this extent—no more.

The railroad men and legislators are said to be "all at sea" as to the significance of the Central Vermont railroad move indicated by the introduction of the Vermont & New Hampshire railroad bill. It was stated some weeks ago that the Central Vermont had decided to come into the present railroad fight in New Hampshire in behalf of the Concord road, and in its own interest as an act of self-preservation from being gobbled up some day in the big railroad deal. This may be the method which the road has adopted. At any rate, it is an important move, and is being watched with the deepest interest by all parties concerned in the contest.

The passenger trains on the eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, going either way, are now very heavily loaded with people.

Wm. H. Vanderbilt's private car passed through this city on the nine o'clock train Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., bound for Bar Harbor.

A CANARD.

An associated press despatch of the 12th inst. from this city to the Boston papers said: "It is reported that the body of Fred Beesley, missing since last Tuesday, was picked up to-day at the Shoals with his skull crushed and three ribs broken." The police had received no information of any such find up to the evening of the 13th.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steam launch built at this navy yard for the United States fish commission on plans furnished by Naval Constructor Hichborn, made her trial trip on the river Tuesday afternoon of this week. Those who saw her in the water say that she is the finest looking boat they ever saw on the river, as well as the fastest. The trial trip was entirely satisfactory to all on board, it is said.

The schooner Flying Eagle of this city was at Portland on the morning of the 13th inst. with a fare of mackerel. The vessel stocked $450.

The schooner Wm. H. Russell a few days ago took to Smuttynose island from this city, for Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell, a load of lumber and bricks, and two cows. Mr. Caswell is to make some improvements to his hotel, the Atlantic house.

American fishermen returned from provincial waters report the entire absence of the petty annoyances of last season from the Canadian cruisers and customs officials.

W. H. Stamford, secretary of the Old Dominion Steamship Co. of New York, who was on board the Merrimac when she struck on Little Hope island, says a thick fog settled down at 11:45 o'clock on the night of the 9th inst., and the vessel struck at midnight. He hurried on deck at the first crash, and found the ship enveloped in a light mist, although Hope Island light was plainly visible. Mr. Stamford says the officers and crew behaved like seamen, and the only drunkenness he saw was among the passengers, and not much of that.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Richard B. Beaumont of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting her parents, Mr. B. Whitcomb and wife, on Fleet street.

Mrs. Huntington and family arrived at the Sherburne mansion on Daniel street, on the 13th inst., for the summer.

Mr. John B. Downs of Star island, the last of the old "Shoalers" to retain a residence on the islands, came into port on Wednesday of this week for a few hours' stop.

Capt. John G. Moses leaves this Thursday morning for Boston, to sail during the day from that port for Liverpool in the Cunard line steamship Cephalonia, on his annual trip across the herring pond to get a breath of fresh air.

Mr. Henry S. Bodge, formerly of this city, but for many years a resident elsewhere, is now conductor of the Pullman car Maritana, running on the Boston & Maine railroad, Eastern division, and passed through this city in charge of his car on the 11:00 o'clock A. M. train from the eastward, July 13th.

Hon. John S. Treat has in stock at his marble shop about 200 tablets and headstones, about one-half being Vermont marble, and the rest Italian; also two very handsome monuments of Scotch granite. The variety is large enough to suit almost every taste and depth of purse. Mr. Treat has recently fitted the lot of Mr. George Stott in the south cemetery with marble kerbing and posts, the rear posts each bearing a rosette, and the front ones the letter "S" in old English; the monument for this lot, of granite, will be supplied by parties in Lowell, Mass. Mr. Treat is also engaged in fitting up the lot of Mr. J. Albert Walker in the same burial ground, and which when finished will be one of the most tasteful and beautiful in the cemetery.

The Sunday school attached to the Advent church had a picnic at Rye beach on Wednesday, the 13th inst., and the children had a very enjoyable time.

Three hundred excursionists from Manchester, accompanied by Eastman's band, arrived in this city about 8:30 o'clock A. M. on the 13th inst., by a train consisting of six passenger coaches and a locomotive, over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad. About fifty of the party strolled around the city until time for the steamer Oceanic to start on her regular trip at 11:15, but the rest went out by the boat on a special trip, starting about nine o'clock. As incoming vessels reported a long, lazy roll on outside, it is likely that many of the inland dwellers got all the shaking up they wanted.

At the Noble's Island bridge, where the new edifice is going up to shut off a view of the railroad crossing from approaching teams, a horse driven by a gentleman was frightened by an engine on Tuesday afternoon of this week, and giving a sidelong start wrenched one of the axles nearly off through a wheel being caught in the track.

The foundations of the new Jones brewery are all in, and the work of transforming the immense piles of bricks which have been gathered on the premises into brick walls will soon be commenced.

Mr. Charles F. Locke will have the job of putting in the foundations for the three houses to be built on Cass street by Mrs. Josiah H. Morrison, for renting. The buildings will be erected by Mr. Augustus E. Hodgdon, who is at the present time putting up a house on Christian Shore for Mr. Nathaniel Hanscom.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

Among the patents issued to inventors on the 12th inst. was one to John W. Hayes of this city, for automatic cut-off valve gear for steam engines.

William H. Nowlin, a brother of James E. Nowlin, the Somerville murderer, is under arrest for a daring burglary in Boston on the night of the 10th inst. "Blood will tell."

Three midshipmen of the British man-of-war Canada were drowned in Halifax harbor on the 10th inst. They were sailing in a small boat, and she is supposed to have been capsized by a squall.

The constitution of the proposed state of Utah, which has been adopted by the Mormon convention, provides for the complete separation of church and state.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response!

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations said to be "the same," or "as good," or "better" than Romance in Real Life.

Ruth Hannah Sykes, seventeen years old, was one of the first converts of the Salvation Army in Dover, but soon became involed in several scrapes which took her before the police court. Recently she was arrested for stealing a silk dress from another girl in Great Falls, and while in custody jumped from a bridge in Dover in an attempt to kill herself. On the 11th inst. a young man named Thomas F. Gray arrived in Dover from New York, settled the larceny case and got the girl out of jail, and married her the next day. They had been slightly acquainted before.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

Cate & Dwinnels, shoe manufacturers of Wadley's Falls, Lee, have failed for $16,000. The shop has shut down, and 100 hands are out.

A standard article, universally recommended, is James Pyle's Pearline, which is claimed to be the best thing ever invented for making washing easy, in hard or soft water, without harm to fabric or hands. No soap is required and the work is done thoroughly without it. The genuine is sold by all grocers, and purchasers should beware of imitation.

Charles H. Hoyt, author of "A hole in the ground," "A tin soldier," and other successful comedies, was on the 12th inst. united in marriage with Miss Flora Walsh, a young actress of rare beauty, at the country home of Mr. Hoyt in Charlestown, this state, Rev. J. P. Finnigan of Claremont performing the ceremony.

The well known strengthening properties of iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Clinton, N. Y., celebrated its centennial on the 13th inst. with a procession, oration, banquet, etc. President Cleveland and wife were present. Only one Grand Army post, that of Clinton, appeared in the line.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

—FOR—

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the recalcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

Miss Viola Meets, daughter of a prominent citizen of Graham county, N. C., was to have been married recently to John Ammons of the same county. Her father, who opposed the match, armed himself on the day of the proposed wedding, and swore he would kill Ammons if he appeared on his premises. The daughter said she preferred to marry with her father's consent, but would marry that day or die. The father violently refusing, she stepped into an adjoining room. The father went into the room shortly afterwards. The daughter was a corpse, and in her hand was a vial labelled strychnine.

Sore Shoulder Cured.

180 Carroll street, Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 19, 1885.—I have been a clerk in the Continental hotel, corner Exchange and Michigan streets, for some years, and first used Allcock's Porous Plasters three years ago for a sore shoulder. I fell down stairs and got a terrible wrench and bruise. For several weeks I suffered acute pain in the shoulder joint, and, getting no relief, or only temporary, from numerous liniments, I put on an Allcock's Porous Plaster; kept it on for two or three weeks and my shoulder was well. They also cured me in six weeks of a most obstinate form of dyspepsia.

BENDING OVER HER BOOKS.

An Epoch in the Life of a Public School Pupil—Not Necessary to an Education.

In the spring of 1879 I was a pupil in the Gates Avenue public school in Brooklyn, Eastern District. At that time the entire neighborhood, although pleasant was unwholesome, as is commonly the case with the thinly settled outskirts of a large city. I think fully half the residents were ill with some kind of malarial trouble for eight months out of the twelve. Malaria was a frequent complaint in the schools, and it was while poring over my studies one day that I first felt the signs of an attack. I will not weary you with the details, as they are so unhappily so well known. It will be enough to say that then and there began an illness which continued nearly seven years. During the entire months of April and May, 1880, I was prostrated with it, much of the time in bed. What an abominable experience it was to a girl who had never been continuously sick before in her life! Chronic malaria is a living death.

I had the genuine old-fashioned chills and fever—so they told me—but I found no consolation in that fact. Every other day I had a chill, with chattering teeth, blue lips and finger nails; and after that the fever, with headache, backache and a separate and distinct ache in every part of my body where there was room for an ache to locate. Often I had three separate chills in a single day, with an individual fever attached to each chill. This I thought must be a modern improvement on the old-fashioned disease. It is almost needless to say I took quinine; took it every summer since, from nine to twelve grains a day, with no good result whatever.

But the bad effects of quinine were plain enough. My ears buzzed and rang, and to avoid this and other disagreeable symptoms of quinine poisoning, a physician told me to take my doses of quinine at night, on retiring. I did so, and many a time on rising in the morning I have been so dizzy from that bitter drug as to be almost unable to stand; and on attempting to walk I have staggered like a drunken person.

But this is only part of the story. The malaria and quinine together brought on indigestion, which was worse, if possible, than the chills or the fever, and I had a very narrow escape from chronic dyspepsia. The very thought of having to eat was repulsive, and yet, one must eat to live. Is it any wonder that people so cursed and fettered make up their minds, as they often do, that life isn't worth living?

We removed to Harlem five years ago, and the malaria arising from the river, and from the building operations in our neighborhood, tended to increase my trouble, and no form of treatment seemed to do any good. I kept on taking quinine because the physician prescribed it, and because it appeared to be understood that if quinine failed to break up malarial fever there was nothing else to be done.

Hitherto I had been comparatively free from malaria in winter, but, whether it was gaining a deeper hold upon me, or for some other reason, I cannot tell, yet it is certain that in February, 1886, I was confined to my bed with it. It was at this time that I was advised to try the merits of Kaskine, the new quinine. Having not the slightest faith in it or hope from it, I tried it nevertheless, and in less than one week I was on my feet once more, with a healthy appetite. It seemed too good to be true, yet it was true. Continuing with Kaskine the disease completely disappeared, and not a sign of it has returned to this day. The indigestion gradually left me with the malaria, and I may sincerely credit the result to Kaskine, the new quinine, which has the double excellence of curing this tedious disease without producing a single unpleasant symptom by the using.

You may publish this if you think it will be of use. I will also answer letters of inquiry about Kaskine, if any are addressed to me—which you may be sure I shouldn't do if I did not thoroughly believe in it. HELEN IRENE ESRAY, 440 East 115th St., New York.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

GOLD LEAF.

How, Where, and by Whom It Is Manufactured.

Gold leaf is manufactured in about twenty shops in New York and its suburbs, says the New York Evening Sun. It is estimated that 20,800 ounces of gold are consumed annually here in making gold leaf. Gold can be beaten so thin that it will take 12,000 leaves to equal the thickness of the sheet upon which this paper is printed. An ounce can be beaten down to 2,500 leaves 3¼ inches square.

At an establishment in Hudson street a reporter was told that the gold is bought of brokers in small ingots, which are melted into bars about a quarter of an inch thick. These are rolled into a ribbon as thick as note paper. After passing through the hands of the beaters it is put in books interleaved with manilla tissue, and twenty books are put in a package. The ordinary sells for $7 a package, and the best $7.50 to $7.75. No dross comes from the gold as it is beaten, but there are ragged edges which drop off. The leaf is used by gilders, bookbinders, dentists, and sign painters.

"The wages of gold-beaters are $11 a week. A piece hand gets $5 a beating. A good one can possibly do two a week, and as many as nine in a month have been done. Extra is paid if the workman beats the gold below five grains to a book. Some can do four and a half, and even four, grains per book."

"How thin can you get it?" a beater in Broome street was asked.

"It is beaten to one three-hundred thousandth of an inch at five grains to the book. If it gets down to four grains it is one three-hundred-and-sixty-thousandths of an inch. The New York system employs men only, with girls to do the cutting. The German system employs children of 8 to 9, which system Hastings, of Philadelphia, tried to introduce here, but his workmen struck, and he lost his lead. On that system men do the beating and girls do the priming and filling."

"How is the gold beaten?"

"It is beaten in molds made in London from the intestines of cows, cleaned and varnished with a secret preparation manufactured by Puckridge & Nephew, of London. The skins are put in packages of 900 skins each, and three of these molds go to a beating."

"How much gold is there in a beating?"

"Fifty pennyweight in a beating. The ribbon of solid gold is divided into 170 or 180 pieces, each about an inch square. These are put into a cutch made of French paper four inches square. This is beaten until we get the gold to the edges. It is handled with pincers at that time. It is beaten half an hour. The pieces are then piled twenty on top of each other. Then they are cut in four and doubled over, making 720. They are then put in a 'schoder,' or finer mold cut down. We fill the schoder with these leaves in the middle, and break it out to the edges. We beat it about two hours, until we draw about ten pennyweights off the schroder."

"Does it have to be kept dry?"

"We have to keep the windows shut; but the cutches, schoders, and molds take up so much moisture that they have to be put in a hot mold to press the moisture out."

"Don't that finish it?"

"Oh, no. The leaves are cut away again into four with a tool called a wagon, making 2,880, but the molds hold only 2,700. The molds are beaten four hours, at the end of each hour there being what is called a close, when they are heated. Then the beater is through with it, and the cutter takes it. This is the only work done by girls in New York. They can cut from thirty-to sixty-four books a day, at 2½ cents a book. The leaf, when it gets into a book, is so thin that it is handled only with the breath."

"How is the work tested?"

"Only with the eye. There is no rule about the business, but it is surely a matter of skill and judgment. The best is the kind used on glass, which shows all imperfections."

"I notice that gold-beaters usually work in basements. Why is that?"

"A firmer blow can be given. If on the first story, there is a jar, which deteriorates the quality."

"Is there any adulteration in the business?"

"The Germans beat what is called a metal leaf with an alloy. It is sold very cheap. It is the oleomargarine of gold leaf, and will tarnish. Much of it is used by bookbinders."

"When did the trade start?"

"It is very ancient. It is mentioned in the Bible. Gold was used on Solomon's temple. The Chinese beat gold leaf, but it cannot compare in quality with American leaf. Some of the Chinamen had trouble with their employer, but they soon ended it. They got the employer into their lodge room and then one after another took a bite out of his flesh."

Charles Reade in his memoirs says of Ellen Terry: "Ellen Terry is an enigma. Her eyes are pale, her nose rather long, her mouth nothing particular, complexion a delicate brick-dust, her hair rather like tow. Yet, somehow, she is beautiful. Her expression kills any pretty face you see beside her. Her figure is lean and bony, her hand masculine in size and form. Yet she is a pattern of fawn-like grace. Whether in movement or in repose, grace pervades the hussy. In character impulsive, intelligent, weak, hysterical—in short, all that is abominable and charming in woman."

The Latest Sunbeam.

The New York Sun recently published what purported to be the full text of an original confidential statement of stock contracts made for the Leavenworth & Kansas Railway Co. by Gen. J. C. Stone and Thomas Ewing, Jr., to secure the passage of the Pacific Railway bill of 1862. Among the names on this list appeared that of "Blaine of Maine," who was said to have received $10,000 and a right to 200 acres of land, "not issued and non-assessable," the word "right" being annotated opposite this entry.

The Sun added that there was another confidential statement showing the number of acres of land conveyed to certain persons without consideration. It contained among others named, the following: W. P. Dale, commissioner of Indian affairs, 1280 acres; Blaine of Maine, 100 acres; Marston of New Hampshire, 200 acres of government land right; and Blaine of Maine, 2,500 acres of government land right.

The natural supposition, of course, on reading this, would be that Hon. James G. Blaine, who is "Blaine of Maine" if anybody is, sold his influence in Congress in aid of the Pacific Railway bill, for the consideration named. And "Marston of New Hampshire" instantly recalls the name of the gallant soldier, Gen. Gilman Marston of Exeter. Concerning the latter a correspondent of the Boston Post sent the following from Concord, N. H., on the 12th:

In an interview with a member of the legislature this morning your correspondent was informed, regarding the memoranda published in the New York Sun, and which contained the name of "Marston of New Hampshire," that at that time there was in Washington one George Marston, from Sandown, N. H., who was doorkeeper of the national house of representatives. "It must have been this man," said the informant of your correspondent, "to whom the published list refers as among those given stock in the Pacific railroad, presumably for their influence. It could not have been our General Gilman Marston of Exeter, who at the time was at the front serving as a bulwark against rebel bullets." No one in New Hampshire who knows General Marston believes that he is capable of deceit, and no one could believe him guilty of selling his influence or using it in a wrong direction.

George Marston of Sandown was well known in this city some years ago; he was for two or three years, about 1870, chief accountant at the navy yard, having a salary of $1800 and a clerk with a salary of $1200, and nothing whatever to do. At that time he was commonly alluded to in the Times (whose then editor is now himself drawing a salary—much less than he should draw—as a clerk at the yard) as the "Marquis of Sandown," he being rather pompous in manner and dictatorial in speech. Afterward he was sent on some kind of a mission to Alaska, at a good salary, and later on, being shelved by the republican patronage-dispensers, became an ardent democrat, as we have been informed. But his name in the Sun's list is not to be taken as proof that he ever received what is placed against his name in that list. It is an easy matter for a man or set of men, in accounting for the disappearance of stocks or money, to make out a "confidential" list of prominent men to whom it was given as bribes, when it is almost certain that the parties thus implicated, whether innocent or guilty, will never hear of the manner in which their names have been used. It is quite possible that George Marston of Sandown, if alive, has first learned of how much he received at that time, through reading this list. It is quite certain that the amounts credited to "Blaine of Maine" were apocryphal, for the Pacific Railway bill was passed in 1862, by the 37th Congress, when Mr. Blaine was not in any public office, his first election as representative having been to the 38th Congress.

BOON ISLAND.

[From Aunt Molly's Rambles.]

Any one who has never visited this place can have no idea what a busy, contented life one may lead on a lone rock in mid ocean. It is a lonely life in stormy winter weather. It is not exactly pleasant to know that you are miles from any land, and that to reach shore is impossible, however great may be your need or desire. But in the summer months when the sea is smooth, and the sky is blue, and the air so exhilarating that it makes one glad just to be alive and breathe such air, life is neither lonely or monotonous.

The only earth on the island is that carried there to fill the flower pots. In the windows you will find house plants in full bloom, and out on the rocks in places you will see boxes filled with plants. Farming cannot be carried on there; but in the spring and autumn, fishing occupies the greater part of the day. The fish cured there are of the best. They are sent to all parts of New England, and the demand far exceeds the supply.

The shells and pretty pebbles which are found in abundance among the rocks are varnished, and the shells are made into pretty little pin-cushions. Besides the canary birds singing in the windows, there are wild birds that have been tamed by the inmates. In the cold storms of winter, flocks containing several hundred birds come to the island for food. There is nothing there for them to get, and many of them die, in spite of the efforts of the dwellers, who try to feed them all. Hunger makes them so bold that they will fly into the house when the door is opened. A great many birds are killed on the passage to and from the south, by flying against the lighthouse in the night. Some mornings the rocks will be covered with the little bodies. The wings, tufts and breasts of the prettiest ones are carefully cured and mounted by the women. These with the pebbles and shell pincushions find a ready sale among the summer visitors.

Hardly a day passes during the summer season that the place is not visited by an excursion party from some of the seashore hotels. Sometimes seventy-five persons land on the island at once. Then you can hardly see the rocks for people. On the western side of the island is an old wreck, bottom up; the bottom is flat, and affords a fine place for lunch.

Daily papers are left at the island by steamers running between Portland and Boston, and fresh vegetables are exchanged for fish and lobsters. The keeper and first assistant have their families with them, so quite a company of people are on the island in cold weather. There are three men, two women, one girl and one boy. They have an organ and an accordeon, and make their own music. They have a nice library supplied by the government. It is a fine place to do fancy work in winter. You have no neighbors to call and hinder you, but you can work all day long if you choose. The temperature is so even that a cold is seldom known there, but on coming to the main land one is almost sure to take a severe cold. It is a pretty, picturesque spot in summer. There is always a breeze from some direction. The waves wash the rocks a stone's throw from the front door at high tide in fair weather, and in storms the spray dashes on the house. The house is built of stone, and has charming deep window seats. During the ice storm last winter the whole island, building and tower, were coated deep with ice; it was like a scene in fairy land, that shining white island surrounded by the dark blue ocean.

Here the sun and moon rise out of the ocean, and sink to rest in it again. Afar in the distance can be seen the blue hills of Maine and the cloud-capped mountains of New Hampshire. One never tires of watching the overchanging ocean views. Here the dwellers are far from the world, and the world comes to them. For health and a good appetite give me a vacation to be spent on Boon island.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have those diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PRELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, impaired weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discussed their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

THE BARBERS' PICNIC.

The second annual picnic of the Portsmouth barbers, at Rye beach on the 14th inst., was a highly successful affair, and greatly enjoyed by the participants. About 8:30 o'clock the Portsmouth Barbers' Association, with the American band, marched to the Creek to receive the Dover barbers and invited guests, who to the number of fifty or more arrived in barges at about 9:30, and were escorted to the Parade, where the entire party took barges for the beach, where a large tent and two smaller ones had been put up, and where some 600 persons gathered to enjoy the chowder, lemonade, games, ocean air, etc. Barges and beach wagons made many trips between the city and the beach, and the single teams were very numerous, there being dozens on the beach, while the woods were full of 'em. The chowder and other eatables were excellent, the lemonade had both lemons and sugar in it, the sporting events were well contested and excited much interest, and when the throng returned in the early evening everybody seemed plessed with the day's experience.

The athletic sports took place in the afternoon, in the following order:

1st. Tug of war between teams of Dover and Portsmouth barbers; prize, a silver cup. Portsmouth team—Daniel Nason, anchor, Oscar L. Johnson, Edward S. Paul, John Safford. Dover team—Michael Sherry, anchor, Frank L. Sherry, C. H. Prime, John McClinty. The "tug" was easily won by the Portsmouth team.

2d, Putting the shot; prize, a silver vase. Contestants, Gay Smart, Everett Trefethen, Fred F. Randall, Daniel Nason, Archie L. Jenness, Ed. S. Paul, John Maloy, James Holland, Edward Ackley, John S. Trest. The vase was won by Gay Smart, with 27 ft. 7 in., Everett Trefethen being second with 27 ft. 1 in.

3d, Three standing jumps; prize, a silver cup. Thomas Mahoney covered 26 ft. 7 in.; Archie L. Jenness 27 ft. 2 in.; Daniel Barrett 27 ft. 3 in.; Cornelius Quinn 30 ft. 2 1-2 in.; John Maloy 30 ft. 4 1-2 in.,—and the latter took the cup.

4th, Hundred-yards dash; prize, a silver shaving-mug, gold lined. There being eleven entries, the contestants were divided into two sets, the winner in each set to race the deciding heat. 1st set—M. Staples of Eliot, A. L. Jenness of Rye, F. Crockett of Lynn, T. Mahoney, H. Morley of Portsmouth; heat won by Morley. 2d set—Gay Smart, Wm. Harrington, Will Deane of Kittery, M. Sherry of Dover, John Maloy, Charles Kingsbury of Portsmouth; Smart and Kingsbury made a tie. Deciding heat—Morley, Smart and Kingsbury, the first-named taking the heat and the mug.

5th, Sack race, best two in three; prize, a silver cup, gold lined. 1st heat—Daniel Barrett, Gay Smart, Prof. Erni and A. L. Jenness, reached the goal in the order of their names. 2d heat—Daniel Barrett, Gay Smart, A. L. Jenness and Prof. Erni. Barrett having won two heats, a third one was not required. Barrett and Erni have each but one leg, but they went over the ground at a good rate, Barrett finishing each heat far ahead of all others.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The democrats of ward one held a caucus in the Elm street ward room on the evening of the 14th inst., and chose a ward committee as follows:

John F. Magraw, Charles M. Newton, Frank M. Dennett, John E. Locke, Ozro J. Hobbs, Albion Littlefield, Michael Crowley, Frank Garland, Edward Watkins, Charles H. Foote, Abram Kay, James Ward, Dennis J. Carroll, Marcellus Eldredge, Isaac Furber, James Quinn, Samuel R. Gardner, Edgar D. Stoddard, Robert Stott, John J. Grogan, William E. Littlefield, Fred J. Haddock, Leslie Whitehouse.

MARITIME NOTES.

The sloop yacht Susie, Capt. J. F. Sears, arrived in this harbor from Boston at six o'clock A. M. on the 14th inst., having on board as guests Messrs. A. H. Hardy, James P. Tripp and George Bowker. She was bound next on a fishing trip to the vicinity of the Shoals, and afterward on a cruise along the Maine coast as fancy might lead.

The British schooner Mellaconee, from Sidney, Cape Breton, with 163 tons of culm coal, arrived at this port on the 13th inst., and the British schooner Bonnie Belle, from the same port with 218 tons similar coal, arrived on the 14th, both to J. Albert Walker. The Mellaconee brought two female immigrants, who proceeded to the interior of the state.

The wind was blowing a young gale on the 14th inst., and though it was off shore it made the sea as hubbly as the numerous excursionists on the steamer Oceanic cared to have it.

The steam launch built at the navy yard for the United States fish commission started for the headquarters of the commission, Wood's Hole, Mass., on the evening of the 13th inst., with Capt. Charles Frisbee in command, Mr. Edwin C. Neally as engineer, and a boy as crew.

The yacht race from Annisquam light around the Isles of Shoals and back was sailed on the 13th inst., the contesting boats being the White Swan, Wona, Viola and Black Cloud, the Wona being a cutter designed by Burgess, and the others sloops. The start was made at nine o'clock with a fair breeze, which died away almost to a calm in Ipswich bay, but in the afternoon on the homeward run there was all the wind required. The Black Cloud finished at 9:24 in the evening, and the White Swan at 9:35, the Viola and Wona being left far astern. The winner got a cash prize of $100.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Percy I. Lowd of New York is visiting his sisters on State street.

Mrs. Fendall and daughter, Miss Marion Fendall, will next week go to Digby, Nova Scotia, to pass the remainder of the summer.

Mr. Charles P. Brown of Boston, son of Mr. E. Washington Brown of this city, is spending a vacation of several weeks at his former home.

Mrs. Horace Morison and daughter, Miss Lizzie Morison, have gone to their summer home in Peterborough for the season, where Mrs. James R. May and son will join them at a later date.

Fred Beesley of Scott road, who was drowned in the north millpond, picked up outside of Whale's-back with his head caved in and ribs broken, etc., has arrived home from a trip inland, and was on the street last Thursday morning, quite unconcerned at the fatal disasters by which he so numerously perished.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, July 14th.

Fred Messee, James Gillen and John Clark, three drunks, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs, and all ordered to Brentwood.

William Welsey, another drunk, was allowed to depart on promising to get out of the city at once.

NOTHING SLOW ABOUT THIS.

The house in course of construction by Mr. Wm. A. Hodgdon for Mr. Nathaniel Hanscom at Christian Shore is twenty-eight by thirty feet on the ground, two stories high, and has two bay windows. The sills for this house were on June 25th at Mason's mill; in one week from that time, on July 2d, the sills had been placed on the foundation, the frame raised and boarded up, two floors put in, and the roof put on and shingled, the gang engaged in the work consisting of only four men. After the 2d inst. two more men were employed, making six in all; and on the 14th the inside finish was nearly all in place, and the lime was slacked on that date in readiness for the plasterers to commence work the next day. If any gang of men of the same number want to beat this record, especially when the intense heat which has prevailed is considered, Mr. Hodgdon's men have no objections to their trying.

Both branches of the city councils meet this (Friday) evening.

One of the morning trains to this city over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, on Wednesday of this week, when not far from the Greenland station came suddenly upon a hand-car in which were four railroad hands, who had barely time to stop the car and get clear before the engine struck the obstruction, knocking it into smithereens; no other damage was done.

It was reported on Thursday that Police Officer Thomas Leary has resigned his position on the force, to accept the position of assistant brewer at the Portsmouth brewery.

If any one had doubted that the half-rates between this port and the Shoals on Mondays and Thursdays, the "excursion days" of the steamer Oceanic, would prove popular with the people of Portsmouth, such doubt would have been dispelled by a sight of the throng who took advantage of the low fare last Thursday; there were scores of them.

The night of Wednesday, the 13th inst., was the most oppresively warm of any this season up to about two o'clock, when a brisk breeze arose quite suddenly, and made the temperature a little less unbearable. At Newcastle the breeze took the shape of a heavy squall, and made everything loose rattle.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

The New York board of health has decided to handle cases of diphtheria, measles and scarlet fever in the same manner as cases of small pox.

Telegrams from St. Jago de Cuba state that the number of cases of small pox is increasing.

Diphtheria is spreading in the country districts around Quebec.

The milkmen during the recent excessively hot weather complained of great trouble from the "churning" of the milk, the heat making it very susceptible to disintegration by continued jolting; but as no butter was produced, probably the greatest annoyance occurred to the frugal housewife who gazed with doubt upon her daily supply.

The Juvenile Templars of Temperance of this city had a picnic at the Bayside, Stratham, on the 14th inst., going and returning on the Concord railroad trains.

Beacham & Son have a new picnic wagon for two horses, which will accommodate thirteen persons. It is called the Ko-Ko.

The act to amend the city charter of Portsmouth has been referred to a committee consisting of Representatives Conn, French and Cronin of this city, democrats, and Warren Brown of Hampton and John Templeton of Exeter, republicans.

The Hero of the Mystery Disaster.

The name of the colored man who did such good work at the sinking of the sloop yacht Mystery off Long Island on the evening of July 10th, is at last made known. An account of the awful affair says:

John Booth and John Schneider, who were on board the other yacht, saw their wives struggling in the water. Hastily divesting themselves of their boots and coats they jumped overboad, and were able to support their wives and a couple of children until the savior of all the rescued, Andrew Robinson, a colored man, could give them his attention. Robinson was leaning against the cabin of the coal schooner Reaper, which lay at the crib dock, Barren island, when he saw the accident. Jumping into the schooner's dory, he rowed with all his might to the scene of the death struggle. His boat was small and frail, but he got magnificent service out of it. Several women grasped the gunwale as he reached the spot where the Mystery had sunk. He shook his head and cried, "The children first!" The man worked with the energy and strength of a gladiator, but with far more skill, for in spite of the roughness of the water and the limited capacity of his boat he managed to save seven persons until the tug J. C. Deane came to his assistance and relieved him of his load. Robinson thought so little of his splendid work that he went back to his schooner and left in her for Perth Amboy the next morning. Crossman Lyon, president of the Life-Saving society, failed to find the brave fellow, but it is not likely that the work of the colored cook on that Sunday evening will be forgotten or overlooked.

An Indignant Swordfish.

The schooner Hattie Ellen, of Fall River, Mass., on a recent swordfishing trip, when ten miles southeast of Brenton's reef lightship struck a very lively fish, which came near ending the career of one of the crew. When this fish was struck he ran an hour with forty fathoms of line and a large keg. A man in a rowboat was following his swordship, and when the fish stopped the man began hauling in the line, thinking the fish dead. But, instead, the fish was very much alive, for it started from the bottom, and coming to the surface with a rush, struck its sword up through the bottom of the boat and stove it in. The boat was nearly capsized by the shock, and the sailor had a narrow escape from being impaled on the sword. Seeing, however, that the fish had obligingly come to him, he decided to keep it there, and, and accordingly tossed a clove-hitch about the sword sticking through the bottom of the boat, and held the fish until the schooner bore down upon him and picked him up. The fish weighed 250 pounds.

Jacob Sharp, the millionaire bribe giver of New York, was on the 14th inst. sentenced to four years in Sing Sing penitentiary, and to pay $5000 fine.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with wile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

Mrs. Sarah Small, one of the oldest women in Maine, died in Bowdoinham, Monday night, July 11th. Her age was 104 years and eight months.

The well known strengthening properties of iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Joseph C. Kennedy, aged seventy-five years, a highly respected citizen of Washington, D. C., was murdered July 13th on the street by John Daily, a laborer aged fifty years, who charged Kennedy with wronging Daily's father in a business transaction many years ago.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Ten thousand dollars have been forwarded to Mr. Parnell by the New York parliamentary fund association.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations said to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than

SANFORD'S GINGER.

At Key West, Fla., during the day ending at noon on the 14th inst., there were twelve new cases of yellow fever, but no deaths.

At Providence, R. I., July 12th, Mary Retzloff, ten years old, tried to light the kitchen fire to prepare her father's supper, as her mother was too drunk to attend to that duty. She essayed to use a can of kerosene, as she had observed her mother to do, and an explosion followed. The child was wrapped in flames and her body was burned to a crisp, though she lingered a few hours before dying.

Report from Newport, R. I., says Wednesday, the 13th inst., was the hottest day ever known there. The thermometer was in the nineties.

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the region of the liver, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

A three pound fragment of stone from a blast by laborers on the city farm, Dover, on the 12th, went through the window of Richard Rothwell's kitchen and struck the back of the chair in which he sat reading, knocking chair and occupant over on the floor.

The Boston Star

Says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on diseases, its causes and home cure, with fine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to anybody who sends three two-cent stamps, to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Some time ago the police authorities of Calais, Me., ordered the Salvation Army to stop their demonstrations in the streets. They paid no attention to the order, and on the night of the 13th inst. the whole band, fifteen in all, were locked up.

Relief from sick headache, drowsiness, nausea, dizziness, pain in the side, guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. These complaints are nearly always caused by torpid liver and constipated bowels. Restore these organs to their proper functions and the trouble ceases. Carter's Little Liver Pills will do this every time. One pill is a dose. Don't forget this. Price twenty-five cents.

The strike of the horseshoers on the Boston street railroads promises to be a long one.

Economy and strength are peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true.

The sultan persists in his refusal to sign the convention with England in reference to Egypt, in its present form, notwithstanding he is urgently advised to ratify it by both Germany and Italy.

Must not be confounded with common cathartic or purgative pills. Carter's Little Liver Pills are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Speaker Carlisle says the revenue will be reduced in the next Congress.

All associations of field sports use St. Jacobs Oil. Cures pain and bruises.

In New York, July 14th, Lily Schwabach, twenty years old, and a bride of three weeks, committed suicide with "rough on rats." She recently married Julius Schwabach, a well-to-do hoop-skirt manufacturer, who installed her in squalid apartments over his shop in a disreputable portion of the city. She begged him to provide her with a comfortable home such as she had been used to, and as he refused, she took her life.

Defections From the Knights.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says: From figures given out lately by Mr. Powderly (not to reporters, however) it is ascertained that the membership of the order of the Knights of Labor has fallen from 1,000,000 to less than 600,000 within the last fourteen months. The loss has been steady and is increasing, while the accessions to the order grow fewer each month. The losses have been greatest in New York district assemblies. Number Forty-nine has lost half its members within fourteen months. The first defection was that of the International Cigarmakers' Union, which left the assembly in a body on account of interference with its affairs during a strike. The Knights of Labor lost 28,000 men by this move alone. Afterward there were similar troubles with the bakers, the brick-layers and almost every other class of artisans, resulting in the retirement from the order of various unions and individual members.

"I keep the good (Athlophoros), and have sold more of it than of all other remedies for rheumatism for two years past," is a brief recital of the experience of Frank Emerson, a prominent druggist of Lawrence, Massachusetts.

The jury in the case of Henry B. Chamberlain, charged with the murder of Margaret Ernst at New Haven, Conn., brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree, the penalty for which is imprisonment for life.

Dr. Robt. Newton says: "I found 'Digestylin' an excellent aid in Atonic Dyspepsia. There is no reason why doctors should not prescribe it in preference to any other digestive remedy."

Sold by all druggists, $1.00 per bottle, or W. F. Kidder & Co., Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John st., N. Y.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a fearful disease should not make it the object their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful pallliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathesome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Zeal.

There is a suburban church, situated not far from a very attractive and fashionably-patronized slum, which a practice, generally on Sunday, after the Sunday-school services, of distributing the greater part of the flowers that have served in the decoration of the church among the poor children of the school. This distribution is almost as popular with the street children as is the Christmas distribution of gifts and confectionery.

One Sunday recently, after the mass of the children had been given a few flowers, the Sunday-school superintendent saw two hoodlumish small boys whom he did not recognize standing near by very wistfully caps in hand.

"Well, boys," said he, cheerfully, "what do you want?"

"S'm' flowers, mister.

"Belong to the school? I don't seem to remember you?"

"O yes, sir," said the bigger of the two; "don't you remember me? I'm the feller that run away from the school last New Year's!"

"Indeed! And what is the connection of your friend here with the school?"

"Oh, he's the cully that coaxed me to run away."

The superintendent felt that such zeal should not go unrewarded, and gave the boys a handful of bright flowers.—Boston Transcript.

The Sex of the Satan.

The sex of the devil is no longer in doubt, at least in the mind of one female school-teacher, of whom the Syracuse Journal tells the following:

There is a young woman teaching in one of the city schools, who, if her power of persuasion equals her zeal, will work discord among the sexes, annihilate matrimonial prospects, and produce a decidedly "bearish" effect on the man market. If she were a dominie at Andover she would be on trial for heresy within a week. A few days ago one of her pupils, a snuffling and droning schoolboy, undertook the herculean labor of parsing this sentence: "And the devil shall be chained for a thousand years." The outlook was that his satanic majesty's entanglement would begin before the parsing ended. But the boy finally got to the devil, where, no doubt, all the listening class and the nervous teacher devoutly wished him. "Da-a-v'l," he drawled, "is a naoun; pro-o-per naoun; third person; sing'l-er number; common gen——"

"Stop!" screamed the schoolma'am. "Masculine! Always masculine!"

Nearly "Fremont and Lincoln."

There are very few who remember that the Republican ticket in 1856 came near being Fremont and Lincoln. We quote from the Century Life: "However picturesquely Fremont for the moment loomed up as the standard-bearer of the Republican party, future historical interest centers upon the second act of the Philadelphia convention. It shows us how strangely to human wisdom vibrate the delicately balanced scales of fate; or rather how inscrutable and yet how unerring are the far-reaching process of Divine Providence. The principal candidate having been selected without contention of delay, the convention proceeded to a nomination for Vice-President. On the first informal ballot William L. Dayton of New Jersey received 259 votes and Abraham Lincoln of Illinois 110; the remaining votes being scattered among thirteen other names. The donning thought of the convention being the assertion of principle and not the promotion of men, there was no further contest; and though Mr. Dayton had not received a majority support, his nomination was nevertheless at once made unanimous. Those who are familiar with the eccentricities of nominating conventions when in this listless and drifting mood know how easily an opportune speech from some eloquent delegate or a few adroitly arranged delegation caucuses might have reversed this result; and imagination may not easily construct the possible changes in the history which a successful campaign of the ticket in that form might have wrought. What would have been the consequences to America and humanity had the Rebellion, even then being devised by the southern hotspurs, burst upon the nation in the winter of 1856, with the nation's sword of commander-in-chief in the hand of the impulsive Fremont, Lincoln, inheriting the patient wariness and cool blood of three generations of pioneers and Indian-fighters, wielding only the powerless gavel of Vice-President? But the hour of destiny had not yet struck."

The authors publish the following in a foot-note:

"Mr. T. S. Van Dyke, son of one of the delegates to Philadelphia, kindly writes us: 'Nothing that Mr. Lincoln has ever written is more characteristic than the following note from him to my father just after the convention—not for publication but merely as a private expression of his feelings to an old acquaintance:

SPRINGFIELD ILL., JUNE 27, 1856.

HON. JOHN VAN DYKE.

"MY DEAR SIR: Allow me to thank you for your kind notice of me in the Philadelphia convention.

"When you meet Judge Dayton present my respects, and tell him I think him a far better man than I for the position he is in, and that I shall support both him and Colonel Fremont most cordially. Present my best respects to Mrs. V., and believe me, Yours truly,

A. LINCOLN."

The Railroad Fight.

The Boston Post's special of July 14th from Concord, N. H., says: "The railroad hearings of the past day or two have brought out a few important facts. One is that Colonel Sinclair and his associates in the Worcester & Nashua railroad deal made the snug little sum of $480,000 out of that transaction. Another is that B. A. Kimball, managing director of the Concord road, soon after Colonel Sinclair purchased a large block of stock in the Manchester & Lawrence, offered him $200,000 for his (Sinclair's) option in not more than 5001 shares and not less than 4500 shares. The trade fell through for the reason that the directors of the Concord refused to authorize the purchase, although Colonel Sinclair had agreed to sell under the terms aforesaid. Still another matter which has been brought out is that the Canadian Pacific, through an official of the road in an unsolicited letter, denies having any interest in this fight, and further states that consolidation with the Boston & Maine or any other road in the states is forbidden by the Dominion laws, and would not be tolerated for a moment by the Dominion parliament. From the testimony of B. A. Kimball before the railroad committee it would appear that the affairs of the Concord road have been managed in a large degree by counsel for the road, and that the directors intrusted nearly all matters to the charge of such counsel. The situation to-day is enigmatical. The Boston & Maine has undoubtedly gained strength in the last two days, but how long it will retain it is another matter. The evidence yesterday was not favorable to the Concord road. The end, however, is yet a long way off, and the result no one at present can anticipate."

A Great Man Departed.

Freiderich Krupp, the well-known German metal-founder and gigantic steel gun manufacturer, died July 14th at his villa near Essen, Rhenish Prussia.

Herr Krupp of Essen, as he insisted upon remaining, despite repeated offers of patents of nobility, was born at Essen in 1812. Of all the subjects of Emperor William, the Rothschilds alone enjoyed a large income, and not even these princely bankers set in motion so many hands. In the cast steel works of Essen there are employed 8300 men, though in these times of peace and depression the staff is considerably reduced. With their wives and children, 16,200 souls in all, they inhabit 3277 houses. Two thousand children and 256 adults attended the industrial and training schools. A steam flour mill and a bakery produce for the subjects of Krupp 215 tons of bread every month; a slaughter house, eight breweries and a mineral water factory are kept busy supplying their other gastronomic wants, while twenty-two shops for the sale of clothing, shoes, furniture and miscellaneous articles never lack customers. There are outlying colonies of 5300 workers in the German coal and iron mines and in iron mines at Bilbao, and five of Krupp's steamships, besides other vessels, annually bring 200,000 tons of iron metal from Spain.

The factory walls inclose a space of 968 acres, of which 185 are covered with buildings. There are 1648 furnaces, 298 steam boilers, seventy-seven steam hammers, eighteen rolling mills and 294 steam engines, with a collective horse power of 11,000 horses. The average daily consumption of the works is 1800 tons of coal or coke and 4,041,730 gallons of water. The various departments are linked to each other by thirty-eight miles of telegraph wire, with forty-four stations; there is a broad gauge railroad twenty-five miles long, with fourteen locomotives and 537 cars, and a narrow gauge line, twelve miles long, with ten locomotives and 210 cars. Eight steam fire engines, with as many companies of firemen, guard against all conflagrations. The place is lighted by 21,215 gas burners, of which 1778 are used to illuminate the roads.

When all the machinery is at work Essen can turn out in one day 19,125 metres of rails, 350 tires for car wheels, 150 axles and 180 complete wheels and 1500 shells. Up to 1877 there had been cast at the works 15,000 steel guns of every caliber, a number probably doubled in the last ten years. There can be produced at these works in one month, complete, 260 field pieces, thirty 15-centimetre guns, fifteen 24-centimetre pieces, eight of 28-centimetres and one of 35 1-2-centimetres. For the purpose of trying the guns there is a range at Dulmen almost five miles long, and a new one was provided at Meppen in 1879 even greater in extent.

Herr Krupp leaves one son, who will continue the immense business created by his father. The son, now rising thirty years of age, and Herr Krupp's brother-in-law, have long been at the head of a committee to which has been intrusted the practical management of the little empire of Essen. For the past ten years Herr Krupp rarely visited the workshops, but in a darkened room, or in the saddle, his favorite place for work, he was constantly evolving improvements in mechanism or construction, to be afterwards practically tested by his managers at Essen.

Great Fire in Bath.

Fire in the New England Shipbuilding Co.'s yard at Bath, Me., July 15th, caused a loss of $100,000, a thousand-ton schooner about half finished, the frame of an 800-ton schooner, and the tug Cochece, ready for launching, being burned, a barkentine on the ways repairing partially burned, and timber and other property destroyed. Portland, Lewiston and Brunswick were telegraphed to for aid, but a change of wind enabled the local force to cope with the fire.

The canvass made by the Toledo Blade to get an expression of republican opinion as to the preference of the country on the presidential question, shows a decided preference for Mr. Blaine.

Dr. McGlynn claims that he is still a good Catholic, but his bitter tirades against pope and archbishop and "papal machine," give him the appearance of a very earnest Protestant.

Senator Blair's educational aid bill has been endorsed by the National Educational Association in session at Chicago. It is a weighty endorsement.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 29, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle. Athlophoros or 1 50c. for Pills.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Joseph H. Emery of Georgia is visiting his daughter, Mrs. George W. Hall of Middle street.

Dr. Daniel W. Jones left the city on Thursday with his two children for a visit of two weeks to New York.

Mr. Henry Fernald of Davenport, Iowa, is with his wife and family visiting his father, Mr. Wm. D. Fernald, on Deer street.

Mrs. Langdon Marden of Kittery Point, accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Lilla Marden of this city, on Friday went to Maynard, Mass., to visit a married daughter there.

Mr. Henri L. Bates and wife, of Cabot street, started on Friday for Saratoga for a stay of several weeks. They propose being absent from the city until about the 1st of September.

Dr. Willis W. French, a native of this city, has been appointed an inspector on the board of health of the city of New York, a position which required a severe examination. Dr. French will be the inspector of one of the tenement house districts of that city, with reference to its sanitary condition.

Mrs. James N. Tarlton of New York is visiting her son, Capt. Herman A. Tarlton of this city. Mrs. William Ellis, who has been visiting here for some time, returned to her home in Worcester, Mass., last Thursday, taking with her Master Harry Tanton, Capt. Tanton's son, for a stay of several months.

PENNED UP.

A carriage containing two young men and drawn by two spirited horses was on the way out the of city toward Kittery on Wednesday afternoon of this week, and just as it crossed the Concord tracks near the Noble's island bridge the gates on the bridge were swung across the highway to allow an incoming train to pass. Looking back, the young men were surprised to see that the Concord railroad gates had been dropped across the street behind them, and they were penned in the narrow space between the two sets of gates, with no possibility of retreat either way. Jumping from the carriage each man took a horse by the head, and though the animals manifested a good deal of uneasiness they were held until the Boston & Maine train had passed and the gates were again opened, when they went on their way at a lively gait. Such a position would be not only an unpleasant but a dangerous one for ladies to be placed in.

MARITIME NOTES.

The tug Ann will have to do the towing on the upper Piscataqua for awhile yet, the new boat Cocheco, built at Bath, Me., to take her place, having been burned on the stocks in the great fire there on the 15th inst. She was valued at $10,000, and was ready for launching.

The steamer James Sampson, which has been making extra morning runs to Kittery Point for the past four weeks under contract with the York Harbor & Beach railroad, for carrying workmen to and fro, made the last of those trips last Friday morning.

THE STREET LETTER-BOXES.

The United States mail-boxes for the streets of this city arrived at the post-office last Thursday, and on Friday a blacksmith was at work fastening them to lamp-posts. A box will be placed at each of the following-named places:

South mill bridge; corner of State and Water streets; foot of Daniel street; corner of Bow and Market streets; Bow street at Eldredge's office; corner of Hanover and Bridge streets; Market street, opposite Jones' office; corner of Green and Market; Congress and Vaughan; Union and Middle; Islington and Cass; Islington and Cabot; Langdon and Cass; Vaughan and Deer; Dennett and North; State and Summer; Miller avenue and Rockland street.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT IN DOVER.

Shortly before four o'clock Friday afternoon, as Dr. Stackpole of Dover was taking a drive behind a pair of spirited horses, the animals took fright at a train, and turning suddenly, threw out Dr. Stackpole and his hostler, who was driving, and ran furiously down the street. The Dover Times, from which we take this account, says that "Police Officer Stott, of Portsmouth, made a desperate effort to stop them in front of Ham's block, but failed." The horses kept on to the post-office crossing, where Miss Mary Ann Durgin, aged about sixty years, and whose left hip was broken a year or two ago, was slowly crossing the street, and being from her lameness unable to get out of the way, was struck by the carriage pole, which passed clear through her body, killing her instantly. She was carried along for a moment, and then dashed under the horses' feet. A short distance farther on the carriage struck a post, and the horses fell and were caught.

The bondsmen of Dennis J. Lynch, late treasurer of the St. Mary's Benevolent Association, have been sued by the society to recover $185, alleged to be in Mr. Lynch's hands, belonging to the society. Verdict has been rendered against the bondsmen.

A horse attached to one of Hett's express wagons ran away on Vaughan street, Friday forenoon, and collided with Boynton's pop beer wagon, which was standing in front of the Webster house. Boynton's wagon was capsized and a general average made among the bottles, while Hett's horse was thrown down and a number of packages pitched about the street. The wagons were somewhat damaged, but no person was hurt.

A Much Abused Privilege.

A notice in another column over the mayor's signature calls attention to the fact that there is a very serious abuse by some citizens of a great privilege which all have enjoyed for some years past. We refer to the custom of some residents of placing in the ash barrel, the contents of which the city teams cart away to the dump twice each week, swill and offal of various kinds as well as other still more offensive filth. The city teamsters have entered complaint against this practice, as we are informed, and there seems to be good reason for their so doing. We can hardly imagine, in a civilized community, persons so filthy and with such lack of good breeding, and sense of common decency as to impose on the city authorities in such a manner as has been done, so report says, by some citizens within a short time past. It ought to be enough to ask the city workmen to handle ashes and like refuse twice each week, but it is certainly an abuse of such a privilege to place on the public streets on these occasions decayed swill swarming with a crawling mass of vermin too offensive to be taken away by swill men. Mayor Eldredge, when apprised of this state of things, at once revolted and has determined to put a stop to this practice at once, as will be seen by the notice referred to above. The teamsters have been directed to remove "ashes and like substances only," and in case they again find offensive matter spoken of above they are instructed to leave it and inform the health officers of the city who are to take the necessary steps and see that the proper penalty is inflicted upon the offenders. We trust that this action will have the desired effect and any future offenders of the laws of the city and decency publicly exposed, and punished to the full extent of the law.—Times.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

The use of crude petroleum on locomotives has been successfuly tried on the Pennsylvania railroad, but will not be generally introduced on that road because the supply is not sufficient. That company alone it is said could use about one-third of all that is at present produced, and its general introduction would raise the price to a point where it could not compete with coal.

The well known strengthening properties of iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

The five-thousand-dollar fine for Jacob Sharp was nothing, but the four years imprisonment was sharper than a serpent's tooth.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

A mother and daughter who had not seen each other for eighteen years have just had a sad reunion in a house of correction at Milwaukee. They express a determination to start life anew together.

Notice to Citizens.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH,
MAYOR'S OFFICE, July 15.

ATTENTION is called to the fact that the city only ashes and like substances placed upon the sidewalks in boxes and barrels for removal. And as many persons are now placing, with ashes, swill and offal offensive to the senses and injurious to the public,—NOTICE is hereby given that hereafter, under no circumstances will such matter be removed by the city teamsters, but the Health Officers will be notified and action taken by them against all parties offending.

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret nostrum but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the recalcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

THE BRINK OF THE PRECIPICE.

The Slight Step that has Proven Fatal to So Many Men and Women.

Recently Senator Pike, of New Hampshire, while talking with a friend suddenly threw up his head, gasped, and without a word fell to the ground dead. Gen. McClellan went out for a drive, came home and died in his chair. Wm. H. Vanderbilt is conversing with Mr. Garrett of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in his own house, and suddenly falls to the floor dead. A prominent citizen of Boston, hastens to catch a train at the depot, and dies before the train leaves the station. A well-known society lady of Hartford while dancing at a reception, suddenly becomes faint, and before she can be conveyed from the room has ceased to breathe. These are a few of the sudden deaths of which we hear, but the vast number of which we do not hear is thousands. Are they all caused by heart disease? Do the mysterious beatings of that delicate instrument, that works day and night without ceasing, stop of their own accord, and thus bring death at once?

FELL DEAD.

Mr. Henry T. Dodge resides at East Providence, R. I. About six months ago he felt a shortness of breath, a peculiar faintness and occasional shooting pains at his heart. He noticed that his pulse was irregular and would once in a while skip a beat. These symptoms were not continuous and some days he would feel as well as usual, but at other times he would be painfully aware that he had a heart and that it was diseased. Finally his body began to bloat, and he consulted a number of doctors. They all pronounced his trouble heart disease, but would not prescribe for him, because they said it was beyond their reach. Mr. Dodge then went to Dr. George D. Wilcox, one of the best physicians in New England. After a careful examination Dr. Wilcox told him there was but one thing that could cure him, and to try that as a last resort. With but little hope, Mr. Dodge consented. In two days the bloating disappeared, the pain departed, the pulse became full and regular, and Mr. Dodge is well and in perfect health to-day because Hunt's Remedy saved him from death.

THE DOCTOR'S CALL.

Dr. Wilcox, in conversation with the writer on this subject said: "With a careful observation extending over twenty years, I have found Hunt's Remedy in vast numbers of cases of an organic nature exceedingly efficient and acting very promptly. Its power is best illustrated in valvular heart lesions with dropsy, also in simple enlargement of the heart without valvular disease. When the heart becomes weakened and unable to circulate the blood, Hunt's Remedy is so valuable that I have been in the habit of naming it 'Heart Tonic.'"

ONE OUT OF FIVE.

This is what one of the ablest physicians in this country says about this wonderful remedy, which has won its way to such popularity solely on its merits. One out of every five men, women and children has functional disease of the heart and one out of every eight organic disease of the heart! This is a terrible fact, but a solemn fact, nevertheless, and it is cause for gratitude that a remedy has been found which will not only check this disease in time, but prevent its increase after the first symptoms are observed.

"A word to the wise is sufficient."

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

It can do no possible harm to tell the whole truth about the Yellowstone, and to acknowledge that while the great park contains certainly the seven wonders of the world in natural magnificence, the great spaces between these different wonders are immense distances of utterly uninteresting scenery, which one traverses over roads covered with a white blinding dust which is very nearly intolerable. It is true that the hot springs, and the geysers, and the Paint Pots, and the falls, and the canon, and the lake, and the many-colored pools, are worth any amount of trouble in getting to them; but it is also true that they are worth taking any amount of trouble to lessen the trouble; and since it could all be removed by so simple a thing as a few rails and a locomotive, it is certainly a pity that a state of things should be left existing which prevents the very young, the very old, the very fastidious, or the very weak, from enjoying the real wonders of such a journey.

In the mean time, however, there is no railway, and our friends, as the next best thing, would hire special teams and camp out. . . .

Joseph was pressed into service as guide. It was very cool in the corridors of the hotel, but a single step from the piazza proved their light satteen traveling dresses more comfortable than the blue flannel gowns still waiting for the reputed frost of the Yellowstone. Colored glasses were necessary to shield the eyes from the intense glare in the sunlight of the snowy terraces, dropping one after another for two miles from the dark pine woods above and around them, like a series of beautiful frozen cascades.

"I noticed there is only one man who has the courage for figures," said the Man of Sense, referring to his guide-books as they crossed the white plateau at the base of the extinct springs, and paused at the foot of Old Liberty Cap, the cone of an extinct geyser, towering fifty feet into the air. "He seems to know all about it, and declares that it took just fifty-four centuries to build up this thing."

"I can tell you who he is," said the knowing Joseph, with a laugh. "He the man that tells you the Boiling River puts fifty thousand barrels of hot water into the Gardiner every twenty-four hours. I've often told him he'd ought'er have let us know when he was going to measure it."

"Any estimate of the age of the lower terrace would be purely conjectural," read the Man of Sense from another guide-book. "Still, I suppose there is no doubt about its being a matter of centuries. In that case, how soon do they expect to finish repairing the Devil's Thumb?"

For they had walked over to the smaller column, which was not only extinct, but crumbling with age and decrepitude. Art was endeavoring to assist nature, and repair the waste by bringing water from the hot springs just above in wooden troughs, letting it trickle down the sides of the cone and evaporate, to leave its snowy deposit to repair the ravages of time.

"Well, that feller that knows so much about the figgers," explained Joseph, "says the Orange Geyser builds a foot in a century. And he says the hot springs will deposit a sixteenth of an inch in four days. All I know about it is that I can put a beer bottle under some of the falling water, and turn it round once or twice, and have it beautifully coated over, with a white crust that won't crumble, in a day or two."

"Question: if you can coat a beer bottle in a day or two, how long will it take to build a geyser cone? Come, Mabel, you were last at your books."

"Fifty-four centuries," answered the Maiden, promptly.

"Correct. You may go up to the head;" and the Imperturbable pointed to the upper terrace towering above them.

It was not at all a steep climb, but they had to be wary about stepping into the little rills of hot water trickling down from the upper springs.

"What is that dust?" exclaimed the Convert, suddenly. "I never saw dust rising from ice before."

"Well, marm," said the smiling Joseph, "in the first place 'tain't dust; and in the next place, I tain't ice. The dust is steam, and the ice is formation."

"Of course," said the Convert. "I ought to have known. But I can't divest myself of the idea that all this white rock is arctic snow."

"Well, I don't know," said the Imperturbable; "this isn't exactly what I should call arctic."

He had been, with the Maiden, the first to reach the top, and was gazing into the depths of the first of the mammoth Hot Springs. The wind had blown toward him a sudden whiff of the hot sulphurous steam, and he had stepped back quickly, only to find that he had stumbled into one of the innocent-looking rills, that was decidedly warm enough through his boot.

But what a magnificent sight it was! The whole snowy mass that had looked cold and silent under the pale moon the night before was now glowing, gleaming, pulsating with life under the morning sun. For perhaps a hundred acres the white surface was studded with brilliant pools, set like jewels, as clear as diamonds, lovelier in color than opals, in rims of fretted frost delicate as lace and firm as marble. Over these coralline edges trickles softly the gentle overflow of the lovely lakes, falling, falling, tremulously and without a sound, over the fluted reed-like columns of the terraces below, only to leave them harder than they were before.

"Isn't it incredible," said the Man of Sense, "that water so particularly clear should hold anything in solution so particularly hard?"

"I don't know," murmured the Imperturbable, dreamily. "It's like the careless remark of a woman who has packed her trunks for Europe that some time she would like to go to the Yellowstone; it sounds remarkably simple, but you will find before long that there is an adamantine purpose at the bottom of it."

They had reached by this time the curious little lake with hot springs bubbling up on one side of it, so that by choosing your spot you could have a bath at any temperature you pleased.

They looked patiently at all the curiosities which Joseph insisted upon their seeing in the woods, but were glad to emerge at another part of the terraces, where the view seemed even finer than before. Nothing but the warm bright air about them served to remind them that it was not winter. Even the exquisite coloring of the water, a lovely robin's-egg blue, and the almost gorgeous coloring of the terraces where part of the deposit had formed in columns or streaks of the richest orange and red, or of the daintiest pink or creamy yellow, failed to detract from the general effect of acres upon acres of snow and ice.

It seemed almost as if in this vast area every square inch was worth bending down to examine. They took a last lingering look at Cleopatra's Bowl, and then began the easy descent. How softly and slowly these noiseless little rills, not in the least like restless, turbulent cascades, slip over the rim of their beautiful basins and down the fluted walls of the terraces, may be judged from the fact that Joseph told them they could only go down the way they were descending, because the wind that day was blowing the overflow toward the other side.

"Oh!" said the Maiden, with a happy sigh; "it has been like going to Pompeii and Venice and the Alps and the Milan Cathedral and the Arctic regions all in one morning."—Alice Wellington Rollins in Harper's.

A Daniel Come to Judgment.

Col. Hall of Dover, who has seen with tearful regret the election of Mr. Chandler to the office of senator instead of his patron saint, Rollins, is carefully considering his own chances for a nomination as representative to Congress. It occurred to Daniel that if the Boston & Maine railroad enlarged its field of operations in the second district his chances in the first might be diminished. By what process of mathematics this result was reached we wot not. At any rate, as Mr. Rollins' mouth-piece Hall has deplored railway legislation concerning the Hazen bill as likely to be detrimental to the future of his political friends.

Mr. Chandler has no "investments" in railway shares. He may have "state pride," as he should, but it does not pivot upon a big speculation in the stock of the Montreal road. He is able to view the situation of the contending factions dispassionately. He sees prominent democrats arrayed against each other, and though there is always a cohesiveness on election days which warms the cockles of the democratic heart, there is likely to ensue a coolness at other seasons. In fine, Mr. Chandler does not believe that the republican party should be induced by a specious set of intimidations to extract the chestnuts of any set of speculators from the legislative coals.

In this Mr. Chandler is correct. He is far-seeing enough to know that if the republicans either pass or refuse to enact measures properly sought for economic reasons, the party of course must suffer the consequences. Mr. Chandler's vision is also broad enough to see that between the progressive and advanced ideas which seek to develope the railway interests of New Hampshire, and a narrow, confined policy which would sacrifice all our opportunities to gratify a small clique of railway speculators, there is but one course for a public man, or for a political organization to elect.

To suppose that Mr. Chandler as he today "bears his blushing honors thick upon him" is to march in the political procession in a path behind his quondam rival, is to underestimate the senator-elect, who in regard to all questions before the legislature concerning which his opinion will be sought, will have the good sense and political tact to look toward the Orient and not to the Occident when he scans the political horizon.

Who Has Lost a Child?

A party of negroes calling themselves gypsies were at Portland, Me., one day last week, and had with them a little white girl about five years old. The negress who had the child claimed it as her own, but many did not believe it. She also abused the child very much, and had to be stopped or she certainly would have done the child injury. A lady who saw the child and heard the story did not believe it, and stated that she had read in some paper an account of a child being kidnapped somewhere in New Hampshire. Accordingly dispatches were sent all over the state inquiring if any body had lost their child, and also requesting the newspapers to publish the facts.

Gen. Butler indorses the jury system, and criticizes Mr. Faxon's proposition to try criminal causes before a court composed of three judges. Butler is a lawyer and therefore well aware that while justice would undoubtedly have a much better show before a court of judges than before a jury, the lawyers would not stand half so good a show of being able to make the worse appear the better cause. Faxon is cranky enough on some points, but he is sound on the jury question.

At St. Thomas, Ont., July 15th, an excursion train on the Grand Trunk railroad ran into an oil train of the Michigan Central road, which there crosses the Grand Trunk tracks. The oil took fire, burning both trains and a number of buildings. Many persons were burned to death in the wreck of the excursion train, and a large number of citizens were injured, several fatally, by the explosion of one of the oil tanks. Nine bodies were taken from the wreck in a few hours after the disaster.

The Flying Yankee, while on its way to Boston last Saturday evening, when passing through Lynn at about nine o'clock struck Mrs. Ellen F. She was a widow, aged fifty-six years.

The names of the new Pullman vestibule cars run by the Boston & Maine road on the Bar Harbor limited express are as follows: Raymond, Katrina, Elsinore, Alexis, Chloris, Beatrice, Adela, Bianca, Eudora and Hardee. The last named four arrived in Boston on Friday of last week from the manufactory.

The supreme court, law term, at Concord last week, in the case of Quinn against the city of Portsmouth, claim for compensation for services as special fire watchman rendered after plaintiff was dismissed by the mayor, the court decided against Quinn, ruling that if he was legally appointed the same power could legally dismiss him, and if he was not legally appointed he had no claim under this writ. As to the board of aldermen having voted to pay the claim, the court held that it had no bearing as to sustaining the validity of the claim, it being under the circumstances merely a vote to present Mr. Quinn with a gratuity, which the board had no power to do.

A meeting of the executive committee of the veteran association of the 10th Reg't N. H. Vols. was held at Manchester last week, the Portsmouth veterans being represented by B. A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

Some twenty-two years ago while in the U. S. Navy, quartered at New Orleans, I like many other sailors, by constant exposure became afflicted with an attack of rheumatism, for which I was treated by the doctors with all sorts of medicines, liniments, etc., but no matter what I did take the relief was for a few moments only, and the pain, that terrible pain, came on me again worse than ever. Why the pain was so sharp and sudden as to almost fell me to the ground as though I had been struck on the head. I continued in this condition for years, one week in every four. I was confined to the house one day hobbling around when a friend who had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros asked me why I did not give the medicine a trial. I had taken so much medicine and got no better I felt sure there was nothing to cure rheumatism, but thought again it could do me no harm and so bought a bottle. The very first dose of Athlophoros took hold of me in such a way I knew it would do me good. I continued until two bottles were used, and my rheumatism of so many years standing, that everything failed to touch, was at last gone, and I have never suffered the least mite since. I tell you Athlophoros will do the work every time. I can't say enough for it.

CHAS. O. V. BAGLEY, Grocer,

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather, to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve the leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

Mrs. Harriett Buell of Chicago is visiting Mr. Joseph Harlow and wife, on Islington street.

Mrs. Aaron Mudge of this city, whose 76th birthday was last Sunday, is visiting her brothers in Quincy, Mass.

Mr. R. Edwin Rider of Chicago arrived in this city on Saturday, on a visit of a month or so to his former home.

Mrs. Frank Robinson of Newton, Mass., and children, are visiting Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. Haley, on Richards avenue.

Dr. James Warburton and wife, of Charlottetown, Prince Edward island, are visiting Mrs. Major Hooper and family of this city.

Mr. George W. Watkins, of the staff of the New York Sun, arrived at his former home in this city last week to pass a brief vacation.

Mr. John Tebbetts of New York arrived in town on Saturday, to pass a vacation from business with his parents, Mr. John M. Tebbetts and wife, on Miller avenue.

Mr. Howard D. Lowd of New York arrived in this city on Sunday, for a summer visit to his sisters, the Misses Lowd of State street. Mr. Percy I. Lowd left for New York that day, after a two weeks visit here.

It was Richard I. Walden of ward four who was elected a member of the board of instruction by the aldermen last Friday evening, and not Richard H. Walden, as the name was printed in the report. There is no person of the latter name in the city, so far as we are aware.

Mrs. Ann Wright, wife of George A. Wright, who died on Saturday at her home on Daniel street, aged about eighty-nine years, was daughter of the late John Nutter Nelson of this city. Her first husband was Mads Danielson, a native of Norway, to whom she bore a family of children, several of whom are now living. Mr. Danielson for many years kept a seaman's boarding house, under the name of the "Mariner's house," in the large building on the corner of Daniel and Bow streets, where Mrs. Wright lived up to the time of her death; and he was also a shipping-master at this port. Some years after his death his widow married Mr. Wright, a native of Italy, who survives her. She leaves descendants of the third generation. Her funeral takes place this (Monday) afternoon at the Episcopal church, of which she was many years a communicant.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, July 16th.

Patrick Sheehan was ordered to the county farm for ninety days, and to pay $6.90 costs, on a charge of being a common vagrant.

Joseph Brown, for being a common drunkard, was sent to the county farm for six months. The court estimated that it was worth $7.67 to decide Brown to be a common drunkard and send him up for six months, and accordingly charged that amount; but we know plenty of people about town who would have been glad to have adjudged Mr. Brown not only a common drunkard but a very uncommon nuisance, and to have railroaded him to the county farm for five years, without making any charge whatever for the service.

A young fellow whose self respect was not quite equal to the job of keeping him out of a mild scrape, but would prefer the public not to know it, paid the usual $9.90 for his fun, and departed.

THE IDEAL MAN.

"What is man that thou art mindful of him, and the son of man, that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and crowned him with glory and honor."—Ps. 8th, ver. 4, 5.

This is the text used in the Universalist church yesterday. David first sings under the inspiration of the grandeur of nature; then, as if overcome by his own ecstasy and religious genius, he rolls forth a period to the divine in man. Thus do extreme views of man's duty on the one hand, and his depravity on the other, need qualifying.

Here is the key to our highest hopes of man. If man were by nature a sinner, we should not feel shocked at his sin. Neither would the sinner himself. We are not depressed or moved when the tiger slays the buffalo; it is his nature. The truth is, the soul of every human being contains an Ideal Man. This is the reason of the scorn of the pessimist, and of his unexpected companion, the pietist. In a strange unity they both make great concessions to the existence of the ideal man. They recognize the angel that is a little higher than man, and are shocked at our ignorance of what they know, and what we know we ought to be.

And our only ground for these misgivings and for these noble truths is in the very thing that they condemn,—human nature. In all its attitudes, toil, noble passion, aspiration, sorrow, sin, we find that the sentiment is one,—the working for, or the grief for, an ideal. Life, God, eternity, immortality, are the demands of the ideal man. These are the thoughts of angels. The words "mean," and "degrading," sound forth our very sense of the noble and elevating. The Prodigal was noble when he came to himself. This is the attribute that still dwells in the dark grandeur of the soul, the beams of original light, the lightning-like countenance of the angel of the Lord, of which amidst the thickest darkness we are never deprived.

When the ideal man asserts himself we are not lower than the angels.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, from Bangor with lumber and slate to John H. Broughton, arrived on Saturday. The schooner John Lenthall, Perkins master, arrived the same day from Hoboken, with coal to E. F. Sise & Co.

A dredging machine arrived at Little harbor on Saturday evening from Portland in tow of two tugs, and operations will be begun to-day. The line of work is indicated by three red and white flags on poles on the western shore of the harbor.

The steamer Mystic made her first Sunday trip to the Shoals with the mails and Sunday papers on the 17th inst. The day was a perfect one for an excursion to the islands, the air being warm, the breeze gentle and the sea smooth, and about sixty persons, including a good number of young ladies, went out on the boat.

A VERY NICE THING,

Which comes to use in a round about way, is the action of a gentleman in this city who is making extensive improvements on his grounds, toward the workmen in his employ. Undoubtedly he would have wished his own premises complete in the shortest order, but as the story comes to us he said, in effect, when he stopped work July 2d, "Haying will now be the order of the day; you can all secure work for yourselves and horses just at present, and when the rush is over we can finish out my job."

Although the weather on Saturday was very favorable for travelling, the number of vehicles in town was unusually small for that day of the week, the country teams being noticeable only from their almost total absence,—probably because the weather was as favorable for getting in hay as for travelling. There were fewer beach teams than usual, also, though there were more of them than of the farmer's teams. The Wentworth tally-ho coach—clumsy, heavy, ill-looking carts the tally-ho coaches are, too, costly and fashionable though they may be, and so charmingly English, you know—came in with a merry party of pleasure-seekers, and went out by way of the new Maplewood avenue—new name, not new avenue—probably to see if a road by any other name is just as good to travel on.

The Bradley Fertilizer Co., of Boston, request us to correct the statement that they propose establishing a fertilizer factory on Preble's island in Portsmouth lower harbor, it having no foundation in fact, neither the company nor any person connected with it having leased the island for that or any other purpose.

The Advent society of South Eliot voted last week to invite Rev. Wm. P. Israel of this city to become their pastor.

At the meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen last Friday evening the bit of street extending from Hanover to Hill streets along the easterly end of the Portsmouth Machine Co.'s property, was named Autumn street.

Mr. Carey of Cambridge, Mass., will at once erect a fine house near the Governor Wentworth mansion at Little harbor.

A large number of teams from Rye beach and the Wentworth were in town on Sunday forenoon, most of them bringing people to attend divine service at the different churches of the city.

William H. Jones had one of his fingers broken and another badly jammed by a machine at the shoe factory on Saturday. The injured hand was dressed by Dr. Folsom.

The Dover cricket club expected to play the Portsmouth club on the Dover grounds, Saturday, but they did not appear, so a single-inning game was played between two elevens of the Dover club.

There was an unusually large attendance of beach visitors at St. John's church on Sunday forenoon. There were three clergymen engaged in the service, not including the rector, who was absent in Lowell, Mass.

The Court street Christian society last week voted to extend a call to one of the brothers of the late pastor, Mr. Hainer.

Mr. A. Hett of this city has received and now has running a new express wagon, built by his brother, who is a wagon builder in New York. There is no better-running wagon in the city.

Civil Engineer E. O. Maxson has been relieved from duty at the Boston navy yard, and placed on waiting orders. Civil Engineer H. S. Craven has been ordered to duty at the Boston navy yard.

There were ninety arrivals at the Wentworth on Saturday evening.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

The Cross-Eyed Clerk.

During the late Christmas holidays a large firm in——employed as an assistant clerk a young man who was exceedingly cross-eyed.

The especial duty assigned to him was to act as watchman, and prevent the peculation of all sorts of small fancy articles that were lying about the counters for exhibition at that time.

One day a half-grown boy came into the store, and after looking around, pricing first one thing and another, among which were some very nice socks, he finally started to go out of the door.

At this moment the new clerk touched him on the shoulder, and inviting him to come to the back part of the store, said to him, politely, "Oblige me by giving me at once the socks that you have in your back pocket."

"How do you know I have any socks in my back pocket?" demanded the boy, in a bold tone.

"I saw you put them there," said the clerk, very gently.

The boy looked up into the young man's face in utter amazement. "Are you looking at me now?" he asked, earnestly. "Do you see me this very minute?" he asked still more earnestly.

"Of course I do," replied the clerk.

"Good Lord, mister!" cried the boy, with a blanching face; "here's your socks." And with a bound he was out the back door, over the fence, and away, having learned a lesson concerning all-seeing eyes which it is to be hoped he may never forget.—Lucy Underwood McCann, in Harper's.

Miss Alice Freeman, President of Wellesley College, is a young woman whom most of her sex look upon as born under a lucky star. With her erect figure, dark hair, big brown eyes and the glow in her cheeks, she looks the embodiment of nineteen century womanhood, conscious of strength, rejoicing in new opportunities, and eager to put her just realized powers to the proof. Miss Freeman is a graduate of the Michigan University. As a woman her influence over women is marked. Professors and students of Wellesley alike are loyal to her, and commencement visitors have odd experiences now and then when they seek the President's room of an evening and find a disconsolate graduate or two sobbing away in the darkness over a forgotton glove or a bit of lace while the unconscious owner is enjoying the festivities of the hour somewhere outside.

REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances. E. G. LOVE, Ph.D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. "H. A. MOTT, Ph.D."

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

NOTE—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair-minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

A violent wind and rain storm, with much lightning, passed over New York city about noon on Sunday. Owing to the intense heat of the forenoon many hundreds of sailboats and small craft were out at the time, and many of them were capsized. The police patrol boat at once steamed out into the bay, and rescued thirty persons. It is feared many lives were lost.

Covetousness in Disguise. The wonderful success of James Pyle's Pearline has given rise to a flood of imitations with an "ine" in their names, evidently to have them sound like Pearline. Enterprises of this sort are quite liable to be more selfish than beneficial.

The new combination of smart weed and belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters, has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smartwood and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

They Never Fail.

No. 3 Fulton Market, New York City, January 26, 1884.—I have been using Brandreth's Pills for the last ten years. They are a wonderful medicine. There is nothing equal to them as blood purifiers and liver regulators. But I wish to state how remarkably they cure rheumatism, and how easily; I was affected by rheumatism of the legs. My business (wholesale fish dealer) naturally leads me to damp places. I was so bad I could not walk, and at night I suffered fearfully; I tried balsams, sarsaparillas and all kinds of tinctures, but they did me no good and I was afraid of being a cripple. I finally commenced using Brandreth's Pills. I took two every night for ten nights, then I began to improve. I continued taking them for forty days and I got entirely well. Now, whenever sick, I take Brandreth's Pills. They never fail. J. N. HARRIS.

NINETY YEARS OLD LAST MARCH.

The venerable gentleman whose letter we here introduce is the oldest and one of the most respected citizens of Bridgeport, Conn. On the occasion of his ninetieth birthday, in March, 1887, nearly a thousand people of that city personally called on Mr. Thompson to offer their congratulations. He has resided in the house now owned and occupied by him on Water street, for about sixty years. His faculties are apparently as strong and clear as ever.

I am now a very old man. If I live 10 years more—which it is quite possible I may—I shall have been exactly one century in this world. In my ninety years I have seen and passed through a great deal. Of course I have outlived nearly or quite all who started life with me. Although I may be supposed to have much of the wisdom that comes of experience, I have found out recently that one is never too old to learn something new. The weight of infirmities that naturally attend so advanced an age as mine would seem to be burden enough, but added to this I have suffered considerably of late from malaria. I first became aware of the complaint by a feeling of unusual fatigue, a sense of nervousness, attacks of headache and pains in the limbs. In fact I may go further and say there was not a spot on my body the size of your thumb nail that did not ache. There was a bad taste in the mouth, I slept badly, and my appetite was uncertain and poor. I would have chills running up my back, and at times would have considerable fever. My stomach, too, seemed to be out of order; there would be some distress after eating, and between the periods I perspired a good deal more than was natural after any unusual exertion.

This state of things made me uneasy and anxious, and I consulted a physician who prescribed quinine. By the way, I should mention that I had a good deal of aching in the back, as though I had done a hard day's work, or carried a load too great for my strength. I took quinine in large doses for a long while, and with very disastrous effects. I took twelve grains a day and sometimes increased the dose to thirty grains a day, and it was not long before I began to feel the effect of so large a quantity of this powerful and dangerous drug. It seemed to stupefy me as certain poisons are said to do. Then came dizziness and a terrible ringing in the ears, with deafness, so that I had great difficulty to understand the speech of those who spoke to me. There was also roaring and other very unpleasant and annoying sounds in the head. I am not sure but it is better to endure malaria than to run the risk of trying to cure it with a medicine like quinine.

When the immediate effects of the quinine passed off there would be a great depression of spirits, a feeling of languor and fatigue and a general disturbance of the nerves, trembling of the hands and marked weakness and prostration.

This was the second attack of malaria I had ever had in my life. The first occurred in Ohio seventy years ago, when I was a youth. The last I attribute to the malarial influences here on the shore of Long Island Sound, of which there seems to be more than there was many years ago.

At all events, what with the the malaria and the quinine together, I was in a miserable condition when Kaskine, called the new quinine, was first mentioned to me as a remedy for malaria. I tried it merely because I wanted to do something; and, as quinine did more harm than good, I was obliged to take the chance of some strange drug or other. I can now honestly say that Kaskine has helped me wonderfully. It has broken up all my worst symptoms, and it has caused me to gain in strength and increased my weight from 160 to 182 pounds. Nothing that I have taken has done so much towards re-establishing my health. It has not produced any of the bad effects of quinine, and I am sure it will take the place of quinine everywhere as fast as people become acquainted with its merits. My deafness is now very much better and I hear with but little trouble. In conclusion you may say to to the public that I most cheerfully testify to the healing and curative virtues of Kaskine, which is worthy to be known as the new quinine.

GIDEON THOMPSON,
201 Water St., Bridgeport, Conn.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Fighting Fire Nearly 2,000 Feet Under Ground.

The Comstock Lode is of itself one of the world's wonders. It is moreover wonderful as a spot in which the greatest marvels of mining have been performed. When the great bonanza was being worked 3,000,000 feet of timber were lowered into the deeps and set in place monthly for probably forty months. Well, that mass of timber has been on fire for two or three years past, and has at last become so terrible a feature that it must be subdued or that portion of the great lode abandoned. Some time ago it was hoped that the fire might be arrested by bulkheads, and so solid walls of masonry were built sixteen feet in thickness to ward off the terrible fire. But the walls soon became hot and the fatal gas generated by the fire found its way out into the open chambers of the mine. Something else had to be done, and so it was determined to try to drown the fire with carbonic-acid gas. The trial is now under way and Dan De Quille, in the Enterprise, gives a description of it. It reads like the description of a battle between mortals and gnomes. From the intensely interesting statement we condense some naked facts. A furnace for the manufacture of the gas is placed in position on the Ophir mine. The furnace is iron, like a steam boiler, lined with brick, and the material used for the manufacture of the gas is coke and charcoal. The furnace is fed at one end and the gas is discharged through a twelve-inch pipe at the other. "The draft through the furnace is very strong, and when the doors are open the flames within roar like a blast-furnace. Cast-iron, or any ordinary metal, would be melted in a moment in the great heat." The furnace makes 40,000 feet of carbonic gas daily, and it is estimated that fifty days will be required to subdue the fire, as it is believed that it fills 2,000,000 feet of the mine. The pipe is a white heat when the gas leaves the furnace. This is carried down into a tank or flume eighty feet in length over which ten inches of water flows constantly and cools it. "Then the pipe enters the main incline, still lying in the trough, and goes down seventy feet to the 1,750 level. The water dashes down through this trough and over and around the pipe with the noise of a small Niagara." On that level the pipe enters the bulkhead, which at that point is twenty-four feet in thickness. The pipe is tamped in with clay and which is kept constantly wet. The account says:

A tremendous draft inside the bulkhead sucks in the carbonic-acid gas brought there through the pipe. When the bulkhead was cut through for the purpose of inserting the end of the pipe, all were astonished at the draft that was disclosed. It was so great that the workmen were obliged to be on their guard against being sucked in and carried into the region of interior fire. This may appear to be an exaggeration, but an anemometer placed in the current of air showed it to have a velocity of 500 miles an hour. On the surface of the earth eighty miles an hour is thought to be a fearful gale, but here is a gale of 500 miles. This brings into one's mind at once thoughts of the tremendous gaseous disturbances to which the surface of the sun is subject.

Of course this draft was not long left open, the inrush of atmospheric air, combining with the carbonic-oxide gas within, being liable to form an explosive compound. The pipe was in readiness, with its lower end closed, and it was at once thrust through the opening and the work filling in around it begun.

As the gas passes in behind the bulkhead it settles down into the lowest part of the inclosed space, being heavier than the carbonic-oxide gas within, and also heavier than atmospheric air. It will go down to the 1,900 level. There it will be stopped off and prevented sinking further by water. Thus all the inclosed space in which are the smoldering timbers will be filled up with carbonic-acid gas, which will displace the carbonic-oxide gas, just as water poured into a bottle displaces the air.

When all the section has been thus filled up, the fact will be known by carbonic gas flowing out through the pipe on the 1,500 level through which the gas from the fire is now escaping into the old Consolidated Virginia shaft.

It may be stated that after the inclosed section shall have been filled to overflowing with the carbonic-acid gas it will be allowed to so remain a month or two before any of the bulkheads are opened. The opening will be very cautiously done, and only after the carbonic-acid gas has taken the place of the carbonic-oxide gas at the escape pipe. This may be known by several tests. A very simple one is to introduce the gas into lime-water, when a precipitate will at once be formed of the contained lime.

The rock in the mine will retain heat a long time, but this may be overcome by the use of water thrown on through a hose, once the fire is out and the gas gone.

The glowing furnace at the 1,700 level of the Ophir, where the gas is made, presents a novel and striking scene—a scene almost startling to an old Comstocker coming suddenly upon it from a dimly lighted drift. It sends a red glare all about the station, such as one sees in a big foundry where small rivers of molten iron are flowing about. The men, too, look in the red glare like beings belonging a little lower down in the subterranean regions where old Satan is firing up. It was yesterday compared with the furnaces in the hold of a big ocean steamer, but here the fire is much fiercer. The coke and charcoal under the strong—fearfully strong—draft bring all inside the furnace to a white heat. The heat and glare are so intense that no one feels all the time as though there were danger of something giving way or blowing up. Then, besides the roar of the furnace, there is the roar of the falling water in the incline, the rattle of cages, and the clank of machinery. All these sights and sounds taken together constitute a small pandemonium which it is worth while to experience, as it jolts one out of the every-day, jog-trot scenes and sensations of life.—Salt Lake Tribune.

At a recent trial of bloodhounds at the convict camp at Friars' Point, Miss., a negro under ten years' sentence was released and told that he could have his liberty if he escaped the dogs. The convict had three hours' start, but the dogs ran the poor fellow down before he had gone twenty miles.

A Good Appetite

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Philadelphia baker who imparted a rich, golden color to his buns with poisonous chromate of lead, has been held to await the action of a grand jury. The poor baker had innocently fed his own children on these facinating buns until six of them had died.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. Cohen of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength, and increases the appetite."

The roughs and hoodlums of Natick, Mass., have been behaving so outrageously toward the Salvation Army that a large meeting of citizens was held last week to demand that the authorities put on police enough to protect peaceable people from aggressive ruffianism.

All Medical Authorities

Agree that catarh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passages.

Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affection of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician ever attempts to do so.

It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The facts justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

Tropical Temperature.

Advices from all over the Union indicate that Sunday was one of the hottest days ever known in this country. The following are some of the records:

At Galesburg, Ill., 104 degrees above zero, four cases of prostration from heat; at Augusta, Ga., 104; at Detroit, Mich., 100; at Washington, D. C., 99, two deaths; at Baltimore, Md., 99, six deaths; at Pekin, Ill., 103, four deaths; at Pittsburg, Pa., 101, six deaths; at Joliet, Ill., 100 at daybreak, 113 at noon, two convicts died; at Fort Wayne, Iowa, 102, two deaths; at Rockport, Ill., 104; at Wheeling, W. Va., 101 to 108; at Chenoa, Ill., 106: at St. Louis, Mo., 104, eleven deaths; at Indianapolis, Ind., 100, two deaths; at Louisville, Ky., 99, eight deaths; at Nashville, Tenn., 97, two deaths; at Milwaukee, Wis., 100, two deaths; at Philadelphia, Pa., 102, thirty sunstrokes, fourteen deaths; at Chicago, Ill., 102, forty-five sunstrokes, eighteen deaths (including the previous day, nearly 150 cases of prostration, and sixty-two deaths;) at Cincinnati, Ohio, 104, eighteen deaths.

Slanders Refuted.

The crew and remaining passengers of the wrecked steamship Merrimack arrived at Liverpool, N. S., last Friday, on a tug. The crew and their effects were searched and not a trace was found of any of the property which some of the passengers stated had been pilfered from their baggage by the seamen. The first stories about the bad conduct and want of discipline of officers and crew, given out by two men who were first to leave the wreck, are pronounced to be utterly false by the other passengers; the best discipline prevailed, and the seamen did everything they could to aid the passengers.

A Superfluous Policeman.

At Long island, Portland, July 16th, Mr. H. W. Ripley, an elderly and respectable citizen, was assaulted in a hotel by a woman named Chase, wife of Policeman Napoleon B. Chase, whose removal Mr. Ripley was seeking. The virago scratched his face and pulled his whiskers, struck him several times, and abused him violently with her tongue. Mr. Ripley escaped from her, and went for an officer to arrest her, but her husband came up and arrested him, ironed his hands behind his back, and took him to Portland in that condition, where he was at once set at liberty by the officer in charge of the station. Chase admitted that his wife assaulted Mr. Ripley, and that he did not touch her; also that when he arrested Mr. Ripley he did not know that he had committed any offence, and had no charge to make against him. Mr. Ripley will at once commence suits against this remarkable guardian of the public peace.

The New York Times is of the opinion that "if Grand Army encampments are hereafter to be successful the schemes of politicians to use the organization for their purposes will have to be rebuked and suppressed." The proposed visit of Candidate Cleveland to St. Louis on the occasion of the Grand Army encampment was one of these "schemes of politicians" to use the organization for their purposes. It seems to have been suppressed.

The wooden statue of Justice which has long stood upon the dome of the court house in New York city, has been taken down. Since the conviction and sentence of Sharp there is no longer need of a sign upon that building.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, July 18th.

We regret to learn that E. P. Young, Esq., was thrown from his carriage, fracturing several ribs, a few days since; but he is able to walk to his shop.

Mrs. Walter Drake recently sustained a painful accident, her hand being pierced by a splinter of wood, requiring a surgical operation for its removal.

The beach was visited on the Sabbath by loads of out-of-town humanity, good, bad and indifferent. It would be far better for our beautiful summer resort if this kind of immigration could be transported to some other terrestial,—or better still, some celestial sphere, whence they might not return here as a moral and social plague. The Rye beach and Portsmouth four-horse coach, loaded with boys and youth, was an especial nuisance, disturbing the evening church services on their hilarious homeward way. Their mothers, if they have any, should spank them well and keep them under home and guard hereafter.

The old and unsightly fence on Islington street in front of the shoe factory grounds, long ornamented with quack medicine advertisements, pictures of animals unlike anything in the heavens above, the earth beneath or the waters under the earth, men performing with the greatest of ease the most impossible feats, and other customary decorations of a city bill-board, has been removed, and in its place a neat and strong fence has been built, with wooden posts and iron piping for rails. The grounds between the factory buildings and the line of the street are to be graded, and the whole when finished will make a great improvement in the appearance of the locality. In fact, a very great improvement has already been effected.

In Saco, July 16th, some boys set fire to a pile of rubbish near a small stable, which took fire from the rubbish and was consumed. The fire spread to Thornton block, which with a block adjoining was partially destroyed. The buildings were valued at $8000; insurance $3000. The other losses were as follows: J. F. Stearns, furniture store, stock valued at $12,000; insurance $4000; partial salvage. H. B. Kendrick & Co., stationery and fancy goods, stock valued at $5000, badly damaged; insurance $3000. Phineas Kelley, crockery, stock valued at $3000, badly damaged by smoke and water; insured.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

Some twenty-two years ago while in the U. S. Navy, quartered at New Orleans, I like many other sailors, by constant exposure became afflicted with an attack of rheumatism, for which I was treated by the doctors with all sorts of medicines, liniments, etc., but no matter what I did take the relief was for a few moments only, and the pain, that terrible pain, came on me again worse than ever. Why the pain was so sharp and sudden as to almost fell me to the ground as though I had been struck on the head. I continued in this condition for years, one week in every four. I was confined to the house one day hobbling around when a friend who had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros asked me why I did not give the medicine a trial. I had taken so much medicine and got no better I felt sure there was nothing to cure rheumatism, but thought again it could do me no harm and so bought a bottle. The very first dose of Athlophoros took hold of me in such a way I knew it would do me good. I continued until two bottles were used, and my rheumatism of so many years standing, that everything failed to touch, was at last gone, and I have never suffered the least mite since. I tell you Athlophoros will do the work every time. I can't say enough for it.

CHAS. O. V. BAGLEY, Grocer,

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into substence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discussed their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

PERSONAL.

Asst. Marshal Hurley is on his annual vacation of ten days.

Mrs. M. R. Pearsall of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting the Misses Lowd on State street.

Capt. I. H. Washburne, U. S. M. C., and family, have taken rooms at the Hayward cottage, Newcastle, for the season.

Mr. Frank Harmon, formerly wine clerk at the Rockingham house, has gone to Bar Harbor to take a similar position in a hotel there.

Mr. Harry W. Gardner, employed at the Electric light company's works in this city, left Monday for a month's sojourn among the White mountains.

Miss Ida L. Marston and Miss Alice M. Marston will leave this week, for Bethlehem, N. H., to spend a number of weeks among the mountains of New Hampshire.

There are 200 guests at the Oceanic, among them being W. H. Crane, the comedian, Ex-Senator Kellogg, Hon. Peter Butler, and Hon. C. E. Rymes. The Eastern yacht club squadron is expected at the islands this week.

Miss Annie E. Smart, principal of the Haven school, started for Saratoga Springs on Monday to remain for several weeks; and on her return eastward will stop at Cambridgeport, Mass., with her sister, Mrs. A. A. Adams, of Prospect street, for a few days.

Mr. William T. Rand, bookkeeper and cashier for Fields, Boulevant & Fields, wholesale leather dealers at No. 44 South street, Boston, with his wife arrived in this city on Saturday last on a week's visit to his parents, Mr. Alexander L. Rand and wife, of Islington street.

Mrs. William F. Noyes and two sons left this city on Monday for Newport, Me., Mrs. Noyes' native place, to spend a month or two. Mr. Thomas D. Noyes, her eldest son, has recently finished a course of studies at Bryant & Stratton's commercial college, Boston, Mass., and on his return will probably enter some business house in Boston. His friends hope to see him return with renewed health, and ready to begin the battle of life he has before him, as a number of his classmates have already begun.

NO CAN SEE.

A despatch of July 16th from this city to the Portland (Me.) Press is as follows:

A special liquor constable from Waldo county, Maine, has been here this week to examine the special tax record in Collector Page's office, for the purpose of ascertaining the names of persons who have paid a retail liquor tax in Waldo county, with the intention of prosecuting them under the Maine liquor law. Collector Page refused to allow the party access to the official books, as they were in use by the clerks in his office, and he said he did not regard himself justified in retarding public business for the purpose of aiding Maine law Dowites in their efforts to prevent the United States officers from collecting the taxes under the revenue laws.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The sailmakers employed at the navy yard were all discharged last Friday evening, and the prospect for any more work there in their line, for some time to come, is very poor.

Messrs. Benj. M. Parker and Michael J. Leary of this city, helpers in the general store at the navy yard, suspended about a week ago on account of lack of funds, were required again last Saturday morning. Mr. D. C. Church was also called on as store helper in the department of yards and docks.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The cut of the York Harbor & Beach railroad through the ledge at Government grove, Kittery Point, was finished on Sunday, the last shot being fired late in the afternoon, and the tools cleared away by nine o'clock in the evening; and the men engaged on the work were paid off and discharged early Monday morning. Three steam drills have been used on the ledge, operations being prosecuted at both ends of the cut. The roadbed is now nearly finished from Kittery junction to Bra' Boat Harbor bridge, and the iron will be laid that distance this week. The bridges are somewhat less advanced toward completion than the other work of the road, but Chief Engineer Bissell, of the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine road, says he proposes to put on men enough to rush things right along, and that the line will probably be completed by the first of August.

The Manchester Union says: "The travel over the Concord and Portsmouth road has never been so heavy as this season, and the demand for an additional early afternoon train and also trains on Sunday would appear to be emphatic enough to warrant the management of the road in putting them on."

The Boston & Maine railroad sells excursion tickets this summer from Boston to Long Island, Wolfeboro, Center Harbor, Biddeford, Weirs, Lake Village, Saco, Old Orchard, or the Isles of Shoals, for $4 for the round trip; to Alton Bay, or Union, for $3.60; to Wells, for $3.40; to Kennebunk, for $3.59.

The following are among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Eliot—Nathaniel Frost to Joseph D. Frost, woodland for $900; Joseph D. Frost of Eliot to Elias Baker of York, woodland in Eliot for $910. Kittery—George W. B. Jackson to Josiah W. Lewis, land and buildings for $56.25; Franklin W. Blaney of Hubbardston, Mass., to Josiah W. Lewis of Kittery, real estate in Kittery for $200. York—Charles A. Grant of York to James W. Goodwin of Portsmouth, land and buildings in York for $1000; Benjamin Kennard of Eliot to Charles H. Chase of York, real estate in York for $125; Charles L. Worthen of Concord, N. H., to George E. Gordon of Suncook, N. H., land and buildings in York for $800; George W. Sawyer of Franklin, N. H., to Albert W. Gale of Concord, N. H., land and buildings in York for $1800.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, July 18th.

Charles McLaughlin, for drunkenness, was sent to Brentwood for thirty days, and ordered to pay $6.90 costs.

After the service in the Court street Christian church, Sunday afternoon, a meeting of the society was held, and a call was extended to Rev. John A. Hainer of Millbridge, Me., to assume the pastorate of the church.

The railing along the westerly side of the Maplewood avenue bridge is in a somewhat precarious condition, and a person leaning too heavily against it as he gazed toward Woodbury avenue in the distance might possibly fall through into the limpid waters of Lake Boston & Maine.

Mr. Charles H. Downs of this city has been appointed inspector on the part of the government, of the construction of the new life-saving station at Jerry's point, Newcastle, at a compensation of $3.50 per day.

Officer Robert A. Stott of the Portsmouth police force has been appointed one of the special officers at the August reunion of the veterans of the state of New Hampshire at their grounds at the Weirs.

We think we will be supported in what we say by anybody who will take the pains to inspect,—that Portsmouth is the best city of its size, in its sidewalks, in its suburban drives and its sails, in its neatly painted and well repaired habitations, in its densely shaded streets, in its venerable mansions, and in its newer buildings for public or private convenience. Not a day passes that we would not be able to specify four or five little items wherein householders have made some slight change or improvement, tending to the furtherance of the grand whole. It is a laudable spirit to keep your premises looking as well as your neighbor's, and doesn't detract from him.

Considerable amusement is now afforded by cunner fishing. John W. Stott caught fifty-three large ones Friday last before breakfast, fishing from the rocks at Dow's point, Rye.

The old north mill is a most inviting fire-trap in its present condition, for though it would probably not burn very briskly, it would be an easy matter for a fire-bug to touch it off, there being free access through the window casings, the windows having been pretty much all stove out by the boodiums. The boys go in through the front openings, and out through the back ones on to the rear platform, to fish. The old rattletrap should be torn down, or at least have its windows and doors boarded up, not for its own preservation, but to prevent the fire department from having an unnecessary turn out some night.

I see by a newspaper item that M. V. B. Stimson, engaged in developing the mineral deposits of the Franconia mines, proposes to erect "smelting works" at Portsmouth. I had an idea that for the last two centuries or more the smelting works of Portsmouth had been in active operation. However, we are not Canadians, and can stand one more.

PISCATOR.

Much hay was garnered in this city on Sunday afternoon, on strength of anticipated rain, but probably ten times as many tons were housed on the Sabbath day preceding.

The foundations and sills of Hon. Moses H. Goodrich's bark mill at Christian Shore are being put in good condition. Mr. George A. Jackson is doing the stone work.

There was a Scotch mist on Monday, and Vaughan and Islington streets were in an almost impassible condition in consequence of the loam lately deposited thereon being turned to mud.

The religion of summer guests at our seaside resorts cannot be contemned, if we may judge by the fine equipages fastened or held in the near vicinity of our places of worship on Sunday. There is a wide range of doctrine in the city, and it is a credit to the birds of passage that they take pains to come miles to drink from a fountain similar to that whose draughts refresh them at home. Some of the prettiest chapels on our coast have been created or sustained by summer boarders.

X.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Flying Eagle on the 18th inst. brought in 1500 good mackerel, and the sloop Helena brought in 1000. They reported other vessels in below, with mackerel on board.

It is rumored that in case the projected improvement at Little harbor is carried out to such an extent as to give free ingress and egress, and good anchorage, for small craft at all stages of tide, the New York yacht club will build a club house near the harbor, and make the place a kind of headquarters for their yachts when in eastern waters.

The old brick building on the southerly side of the south pond, formerly the "head house" of the Johnson ropewalk, was being torn down on Monday. The property is reported to have been purchased by Mr. Gardner, of Perkins & Gardner, ice dealers.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "gingers," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

OUT-DOOR COSTUMES—LAWN DRESSES—BATHING AND TRAVELLING SUITS—COUNTRY HATS.

Loose blouse waists are well-nigh universal in all kinds of out-door costumes; the favorite model being gathered by a draw-string at the waist and falling deeply over the hips. Sailor collars are much liked, and sashes arranged more or less effectively at the waist may fall at one side. Yachting and boating costumes are most stylish now when of stiff material, but the irrepresssible blue flannel trimmed with white or cream braid maintains its position. Sleeves are full and finished with waistbands, while skirts are usually without gores.

BATHING DRESSES

Are made for the most part of serge, twilled or striped flannels, or jersey webbing; the stripes being about an inch wide, and usually of blue or red. Sometimes there are combination suits, as where the skirt is striped, with blouse and drawers plain. Blue suits trimmed with red or white braid sometimes have chemisettes made by fancy rows of braid; the skirt and sleeves ornamented in keeping, and there are some pretty white bathing suits trimmed with the same. Jersey bathing suits fit the figure more closely in every part, and sometimes a broad sash is substituted for the skirt. But these rather risky costumes are worn chiefly by swimmers. Bathing robes may do duty in the way of modesty, and the favorite shape for these are a circle gathered or a box plait at the back, though many like the peignoir design, full around the neck, with wide square sleeves. Some stylish travelling suits lately furnished by Lord & Taylor are of mohair striped in quiet colors, such as tan-dust or steel. Other costumes of plain mohair are trimmed with rows of stitching.

LAWN COSTUMES

Are very fanciful, for the most part thin wool figured goods being chosen; oftentimes striped and flowered, again with polka dots or covered by small blossoms of various hue. Hair lined serges form a pretty change, and with numerous country walking or lawn dresses, a jersey of contrasting or harmonizing color is liked because of comfort, and forms a change from the blouse waist. Percale is a popular material, and in very gay patterns of stripes and flowers is trimmed with velvet ribbon. White Irish linen dresses are also in vogue, and trimmed with blue bands varied by fine linen braid, afford variety.

SAILOR HATS

Of felt are in great demand for out-door sports, such as mountain walks, tennis, boating, etc., but the costumes worn with them are of some thick and serviceable material. More dressy shade hats are of white or colored mull shirred on wires, and not infrequently, the parasol is to match with corresponding bouquet of flowers. Rough and ready hats are as much as ever in vogue, and trimmed fancifully with flowers or at times with silk mull secured in a bold style in front, by some of the many fancy pins of the day. The most elegant shade hats however are of fine Leghorn drooping in different ways, and handsomely enriched by fine French flowers, lace or gauze. Other desirable country hats are of smooth colored straw to match the dress and trimmed with flowers, or if economy is studied, a smooth black straw trimmed to fancy, can do duty with different dresses.

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the re-calcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

Sealing Vessels Captured.

The Alaska Commercial company's steamer Dora, which arrived at San Francisco on the 18th inst., from Ounalaska, reports the seizure of two vessels for sealing within the limits prescribed by the United States government. The crafts are an American schooner, the Challenge, of thirty tons, from Seattle, W. T., and the British steam schooner Annie Beck, hailing from Victoria, B. C. Both seizures were made by the United States revenue cutter Richard Rush.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, biotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. A Fortunate Brakeman once of Scranton, Pa.

Mr. Frank Corcoran, in the employ of the Ill. Central R. R., in this city, was interviewed. He drew $10,000 on two-tenths of ticket No. 75,860, which took the second capital prize of $50,000 in The Louisiana State Lottery in the drawing of May 10th. He took his good fortune as a matter of course, not being elated thereby. He was well off financially before. He expects to continue right along as he has been for many years, brakeman on the steam tracks. He is a bachelor, about 48 years of age, is of Irish parentage and came from Pennsylvania in 1853. A Wonderful Discovery.

W. M. Lee, the well-known fruit-grower of Tacoma, gives the particulars of a wonderful discovery of bones of extinct animals in Washington territory which attract the attention of students of natural history and archæology all over the world. In a letter to the Ledger from Spokane Falls he says:

"The face of the whole territory shows unmistakable evidence of great volcanic upheavals. On my trip through Spokane county I stopped at Latah, and in conversation with Mr. Coplen of that place regarding the volcanic formation of that section he informed me that he had examined some large bones of great antiquity. Accompanied by Mr. Coplen I went to the spring where the relics were dug out. It is located on a low strip of springy prairie. The excavation around the spring is twelve or fifteen feet deep and thirty or forty across. The bones were covered by several distinct layers.

"The first layer was ancient peat then gravel, then volcanic ashes, then a layer of coarse peat. From this spring were taken no less than nine elephants, of different sizes, the remains of a cave bear, hyenas, extinct birds, and a sea-turtle. The dimensions of some of the bones of the larger mammoth were wonderful to look at. The horns were a sort of tusk and protruded from the head just below the eyes, extending downward below the jaws partially resting on the ground, giving support to the head, which is estimated to have weighed a ton.

"The horns were worn away several inches deep at the bottom of the turn, or half circle, indicating constant use by rubbing on the ground or rocks. One of these horns was ten feet and one inch long, and twenty-four inches in circumference. It weighed 145 pounds. One of the tusks measured twelve feet and nine inches in length and twenty-seven inches around. It weighed 295 pounds. The jaw weighed sixty-three pounds. The molar teeth weighed eighteen pounds each. Some of the ribs were eight feet long. The pelvic arch was six feet across, and an ordinary man could walk erect through this opening. This huge and antique monster was eighteen feet and six inches high, and was estimated to weigh twenty tons."—Tacoma Ledger.

Japanese and Stair-Climbing.

There are many funny things in New York boarding-houses, as most people know or believe, says a writer in the Brooklyn Citizen. But I am told that among the most amusing incidents are those afforded by establishments where Japanese students are domiciled. Hundreds of these young men are in New York in attendance at the various academies and colleges, private and public. They have been sent here to get an "American" education, and most of them have taken the higher branches of mathematics and engineering. Few of them seem to care for the classical course, or for any language but English. The funny part of their life is learning to go up and down stairs. It seems that in most parts of Japan, particularly the rural regions, stairways are unknown. The houses, too, are seldom more than two stories high, and access to the upper floor is almost universally had by means of a ladder, upon which the Japanese run like sailors. Hence, when these young men come to New York and are lodged in boarding-houses their apartments are generally in the third or fourth story. To reach their rooms they are compelled at first to go up very cautiously and with the aid of the balustrade. Some do not even hesitate to go up cat fashion, on all fours, from step to step. The trouble is that they have not learned to balance the body so as to ascend and descend as we do. Our agility in going up and down stairs is really an acrobatic feat, but we are unconscious of it because we have practiced it from childhood. Now, the young Japanese are determined to perform this feat, and I am told that they often spend hours in the most persevering practice to acquire so simple an accomplishment. You can fancy what a ludicrous scene they make. They soon learn to go up the stairs. It's the coming down which gives them trouble. The decensus is not facilis in this case. The retrograde passus constitutes the labor and the opus. When the novice essays to come down stairs his companions watch and guy him as he totters in the effort to keep an upright position. When, for any reason, he is in a hurry, he has to do the sailor act and come down on all fours, stern foremost.

It is remarked by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that the shoemaker's wife and the blacksmith's horse go unshod, and the state that expects only its lawyers to make its laws is likely to be legally lacking.

A Philadelphia car-building company has nearly completed a contract for building 350 cars of various kinds for a railway company on the La Plata river region, in South America. The road is two hundred miles long, traversing a level plateau similar to the western frontier. Each car is drawn by three horses, which are changed at stations ten miles apart. The road is operated much cheaper by horse-power than by steam, as coal is $12 a ton and horses only $20 a head. Some of the cars are sleepers, with two tiers of berths, the upper one being closed up to the ceiling in the daytime, and the lower transformed into seats.

Catarrh to Consumption.
Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the constitution of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.
But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and ever-failing.
Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

A Vacuum in the Treasury.

The government is certainly giving out. It become seedy every now and then, impecunious, and out at the elbows. It ceases to be respectable, because it cannot pay its bills. No class of citizens are more ashamed of this, or are caused more frequent inconvenience, than the innocent democrats who have been unwilling sacrifices, immolated upon the altar of Randall. This time it is the strong box of the quartermaster's department of the army which sends the sponge into the air. Great Cæsar! has it come to this? Is there no help for the bold soldiers of the quartermaster's brigade?

Suppose, for example, some quartermaster stationed in the west, should find himself at the east! How is he to be transported back to his station? Shall he travel upon that part of the face so often displayed to the conductor? Will he violate the law he has sworn to support, by asking and receiving a railway pass, or will he be compelled to forage over some mail route, or what is to become of the absentee who desires to reach his post of honor if not of profit?

If there is anything for which we can find it in our heart to criticise the economical leaders of the democratic party, it is that they should have failed to make a proper appropriation for the quartermaster's department. When funds fail here, all is chaos and confusion along the line. Even Mr. Cleveland's substitute in the army is aware of this military fact. Let us hope that when the next Congress convenes the experience of the present depleted camp chests of the quartermaster's department will be a lesson in political tactics not to be forgotten. The quartermaster's department bankrupt! Well, well! It takes time for these democrats to become accustomed to the administrative harness.

Ireland As It Is.

With characteristic enterprise, the Boston Globe some time ago despatched to Ireland Mr. Virgil G. Eaton, a thoroughly capable all 'round newspaper man—energetic and persevering as a reporter, a ready and pleasing writer, and with the genuine Yankee (Mr. Eaton was born and brought up in the state of Maine) faculty of seeing things as they are in spite of obstables that may intervene—to make a personal investigation of the condition of the Irish tenant farmers, and write the case up just as it exists, divesting it of any extravaganoes and exaggerations in which he might find it to have been clothed by either home rulers or the agents of absentee landlords. Several of his letters have already been published in the Globe, and are intensely interesting; the sufferings of an oppressed and helpless people do not furnish a pleasing subject, but it is a subject which in the interests of humanity should be considered by those in happier circumstances; and the Globe's missionary in Ireland is doing a good work in giving to the world a graphic pen-picture of how the condition of the Irish people appears to a free-born American citizen.

Naval Intelligence.

The United States ship Ossipee left Halifax on the 18th inst., for the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The flagship Richmond and the Yantic of the North Atlantic squadron are expected at Halifax early next week. The Richmond arrived at Boothbay, Me., on the 16th.

The practice ship Constellation, with naval cadets on board, sailed from Newport, R. I., for New London, Conn., July 18th.

The navy department has ordered the steamer Hassler, of the coast survey, to be prepared to convey Queen Kapiolani and her suite to Honolulu from San Francisco. The steamer takes a detail of forty seamen and marines.

In Lewiston, Me., on the night of July 15th, Patrick Flaherty, aged sixty years, had a fight with his wife Margaret, and she hit him on the head with a stove cover, breaking his skull and inflicting injuries which were supposed to be fatal. Last year Patrick broke several of Margaret's ribs in a domestic discussion, and was jailed for it. The happy pair have been married about two years.

The murderers of Mrs. Ernst at New Haven, Conn., have been sentenced to state prison for life.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., July 19th.

Miss Nellie F. Todd, one of our resident teachers in district No. 9, is passing a portion of her vacation among relatives and friends in Newburyport, Mass.

Engineer Alex. Dennett, U. S. R. M., is on leave of absence from duty, and is visiting his old home in West Kittery.

Miss Florence E. Sanderson and Mrs. D. Ed. Hill are with several other friends passing a few days at Epping camp-ground, N. H.

Mr. Willard E. Paul and wife, of Malden, Mass., are visiting Mr. Paul's parents, Mr. Warrington Paul and wife of West Kittery, and Mrs. Paul's parents, Mr. Joseph R. Holmes and wife of Portsmouth.

Mr. Rodman, the medicine man of Kittery, recently gave notice in one of the Portsmouth papers charging James Quinn and another young man with damage done his premises on the night of the 4th of July. Stephen Quinn, the father of the young man, informs us that he and his son have offered to settle for the damage done by the boy, but Mr. Rodman will not accept his part unless he pays for the whole. We understand that the amount asked for is exorbitant compared with the damage done, and Mr. Quinn does not propose to pay for injury committed by other parties. The whole affair does not amount to anything, and is a sequel to the axe scrape.

Mr. Wm. Stewart, son of Mr. Wm. P. Stewart of New York, who with his family is summering at Sagamore, Portsmouth, was last week visiting his uncle, Mr. Dennis M. Shapleigh of North Kittery.

Mr. John J. Lambert has offered a prize to the member of the First Methodist Sunday school of North Kittery who gets the most new scholars into the school in a given time. Last week Mr. Lambert gave the school a free ice-cream supper at his house.

Kittery has another sensation. Two young men of reputable parentage got on a lark Sunday evening, and one of them, whose father is sexton of the 2d Methodist church, got the keys of the edifice, and the pair entered and commenced holding services after their own fancy. Finding the organ in the vestry to small for their enlarged ideas, they adjourned to the upper room, and proceeded to produce "Home, sweet home" on the big organ, one pounding the keys and bowling at the top of his voice, while the other pumped the instrument brim full of wind. While the concert was in full blast, the minister and a constable with a body of citizens arrived at the church and demanded admission, but the roysterers had locked the doors, and at first denied the party entrance; they soon thought better of it, however, and were glad to get away without being arrested, which their disgraceful conduct richly merited. SUB ROSA.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

Some twenty-two years ago while in the U. S. Navy, quartered at New Orleans, I like many other sailors, by constant exposure became afflicted with an attack of rheumatism, for which I was treated by the doctors with all sorts of medicines, liniments, etc., but no matter what I did take the relief was for a few moments only, and the pain, that terrible pain, came on me again worse than ever. Why the pain was so sharp and sudden as to almost fell me to the ground as though I had been struck on the head. I continued in this condition for years, one week in every four. I was confined to the house one day hobbling around when a friend who had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros asked me why I did not give the medicine a trial. I had taken so much medicine and got no better I felt sure there was nothing to cure rheumatism, but thought again it could do me no harm and so bought a bottle. The very first dose of Athlophoros took hold of me in such a way I knew it would do me good. I continued until two bottles were used, and my rheumatism of so many years standing, that everything failed to touch, was at last gone, and I have never suffered the least mite since. I tell you Athlophoros will do the work every time. I can't say enough for it.

CHAS. O. V. BAGLEY, Grocer,

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. "I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

Mr. Hartley W. Mason leaves town this (Wednesday) morning for Boston, to take passage on the steamer Scythia, sailing from that port for Europe on the 21st. Mr. Mason is accompanied by his son.

Judge James W. Locke, United States district judge for the southern district of Florida, has arrived at his summer home in Kittery for the season, from Key West. His family has been in Kittery for some weeks.

Mr. Charles Davis of Michigan, son of Mr. Edward P. Davis, who formerly resided on the farm at Little harbor next to the Wentworth bridge, now owned by Hon. Frank Jones, is with his family at the Rockingham house for the summer.

Capt. G. D. Amee of Kittery Point, for the past two years watchman in charge of the naval hospital station at Widow's island, Me., has been spending a furlough of two weeks in this vicinity and in Massachusetts. Mrs. Amee will remain at the Point for a time, rejoining her husband at the hospital station later in the season.

BIRD ENGINEERING.

One evening not long since a lady living on State street found in her garden a little unfledged bird, which had evidently tumbled out of its nest, being unable to even attempt to fly. Not knowing what to do with it, she gave it to some children living near by, who put it in a cage and hung it in a grape vine, leaving the cage door open. Early the next morning an earnest twittering was heard near the cage, and two old birds, a male and female, were seen consulting, and evidently considering what was to be done in the case. At length the female flattened herself upon the bottom of the cage, with one of her outstretched wings under the young bird, and the male scolded and pushed the little one until it was on the mother's back, between the wings, when the mother bird flew slowly upward into a neighboring tree, which probably contained the nest, the male all the time keeping above her and holding the little bird in place with his beak.

GOT WATER.

Early last year operations were commenced at Hon. Frank Jones' suburban residence, in putting down an artesian well in hope of procuring a more copious supply of water than was afforded by the numerous common wells on the farm. The hole for the first hundred feet down was drilled large enough to take an eight-inch pipe, and below that, a six-inch pipe. The drill was broken in the hole several times, causing a good deal of trouble, but operations were persistently continued until this week, when at a depth of 201 feet a vein of water was tapped, and commenced flowing out of the top of the pipe, which is about fifty-five feet above mean low water. The water gushes out about three inches above the pipe, the delivery being about 100 gallons a minute; the supply is amply sufficient, but the flow has not continued long enough for the quality of the water to be tested yet.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., July 19th.

The past week was an exceedingly fine one for harvesting the hay crop, and the farmers heartily obeyed the old injunction to "make hay while the sun shines."

The population of the town of Eliot is rapidly increasing; within the past year there have been four births, the latest on Friday morning, July 15th, when a daughter was born to Mr. Fred L. Paul.

Major A. White will return to New York this week, but his family will remain in Eliot until fall.

Miss Annie Paul, of Boston, is spending her vacation here with the family of her uncle, Mr. Charles E. Paul.

Mr. Alexander Dixon of Newburyport has been spending a few days with relatives and friends in this town. Mr Dixon is a native of Eliot, and the people are always glad to welcome him to his former home.

Mr. Albert Libbey has several of his friends from New York stopping with him this season.

Eliot is becoming quite a noted place as a summer resort to which people from the cities can come and quietly pass their vacations, and probably the time is not far distant when a summer hotel will be erected on the banks of the Piscataqua, affording most beautiful views both up and down the river; the up-river view at sunset, from the neck, is one which for quiet beauty can hardly be excelled. Many people who have visited the large watering places year after year until weary of their bustle and crush and jostling, are now regular summer visitors to this place, where they find quiet, pure air, lovely river and land views, and real rest. HARRY.

As Mr. William K. Hill, manager of the Wentworth and Rockingham hotels, was driving from this city to the Wentworth on Monday night, when in the woods this side of Sagamore bridge he turned out to allow a team moving in the other direction to pass, and another team going from the city collided with his, throwing Mr. Hill out upon the rocks, and badly damaging both carriages. Mr. Hill's horse clearing himself from the wreck and running home to his stable. Mr. Hill was taken up insensible, and bleeding freely from several cuts about the head, but was able to attend to business on Tuesday.

Dr. D. D. Pennoyer, magnetic healer, was summoned before a magistrate on Monday on a charge of practising medicine without a license, and was held in $500 for the grand jury.

The new chimney at the Portsmouth shoe factory has attained the height of over seventy feet. The factory is now turning out seventy cases of shoes per day—said to be the largest out-put of any one factory in New England.

Barnum's circus passed through this city about four o'clock Tuesday morning, bound for Biddeford, where it was to show that day. There were three trains, comprising in all about fifty cars.

A letter-box was on Tuesday placed at the corner of Middle and Austin streets. This will prove a great convenience to very many persons in that neighborood. The boxes will be visited by the carriers seven times a day between 7:30 A. M. and 6:30 P. M.

Ladies of the missionary society connected with the Unitarian church had a picnic at Kittery Point on Tuesday, going and returning by the steamer James Sampson.

Mr. Edward S. Paul, the tonsorial artist and athlete, went on a vacation this week, and for fun went to Newington to labor on a farm. He went to work hoeing, Monday, and the mud was so deep that it got in over the tops of his low shoes and filled them full, whereupon he immediately graduated. He will pass the remainder of his vacation in the quiet seclusion of home at Moss Bank, where there is no mud, and where the cooing of the baby will cause him to forget that he ever got into any.

The hotel Wentworth is reported full, every room being engaged during the month of August.

During the week ending July 8th the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York paid death claims to the amount of $91,435.16, and endowments amounting to $44,596.09.

The citizens of Biddeford on the 18th inst. voted to build a new high school house, at an expense of $30,000 for building and lot.

Mr. Parker Fall, who died in Charlestown, Mass., July 6th, at the age of seventy-nine years, was a native of Berwick, but when a young man went to Kennebunk and opened a blacksmith shop, and for many years did nearly all the horse-shoeing and other blacksmith work for the Portsmouth & Portland Stage Co., until that company dissolved in 1843, about which time he removed his family to Charlestown, where he remained until his death. He married in 1832 Miss Dorothy Stewart of Kennebunk, and was one of a committee of three who built the Baptist church in that village in 1840.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

The Chinese of Worcester, Mass., have united to resist the efforts of the board of health to eject two of their number from a cellar under the post-office, and have secured aid from New York. The board of health pronounces the place unfit for human habitation.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid Cheap and dangerous imitations said to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than

Must Hang Somebody Sometimes.

At Barnwell, S. C., July 19th, Axey Cherry, a colored girl twelve years old, was sentenced to be hung next September for murdering an infant left in her charge by filling its mouth with concentrated lye. The press report of the trial says:

The young murderess all through her trial seemed to have no idea of the terrible nature of her deed, and when she was sentenced to be hanged she gazed stupidly at the judge and grinned as she played with the buttons on her dress. As she was being carried back to jail she saw her father, and made an effort to go to him. She cried for the first time when she was told that she could not go home, but must go back to jail to await the day for her execution.

This evidently thick-witted child would seem hardly fit for the gallows, notwithstanding the horrible character of her crime; but as South Carolina does not punish white men for murdering negroes it will probably be considered necessary to hang her, in order to show that justice is not wholly asleep in that state.

The Postal Revenue.

The reports of postmasters of first-class offices are nearly all in for the fiscal year just closed, and the showing is very gratifying to the head of the postal service. The returns for the quarter ended June 30th show a handsome increase over the corresponding period of a year previous, and the indications are that the postal service, notwithstanding the reduction in postage, will soon be back to a paying basis.

At a conference of republican political leaders held at Little Rock, Ark., last Saturday night, a letter from Senator Wm. E. Chandler was read, in which it was stated that Sherman would accept the second place on a presidential ticket with Blaine at the head; but Chandler was in favor of Blaine and Allison, and this was the sentiment of the meeting.

Retiring Reverend Mother Francis is appointed mother superior of the convent at Nashua.

John O'Connor has been sentenced to a year in the house of correction for assaulting an officer during the Cambridge horse railroad strike last spring. Patrick H. Carroll, another convicted rioter, was not sentenced, exceptions having been filed in his case.

The Boston Star

F. E. Seagrave, of Providence, R. I., a well known astronomer, in company with Winslow Upton, professor of astronomy of Brown university, will go to Moscow for the purpose of observing the eclipse of the sun on Aug. 19th.

All Medical Authorities

Agree that catarrh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passages.

Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affection of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician ever attempts to do so.

It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The fact justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the region of the liver, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

Religious fanatics in Russia have attempted to murder the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, because she remains a Lutheran instead of joining the Greek church.

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.

Professor David T. Todd of Amherst college, in charge of the eclipse expedition to Japan, has arrived at Yokohama safely with the outfit furnished by the navy department.

Cured of Malaria.

22 FLORIDA ST., ELIZABETH, N. J., March 17, 1884.

I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters for the last five years. Some two years ago, after having been sick for upward of six months with malaria, I found myself with an enlarged spleen, dyspeptic, and constantly troubled with a headache, and my kidneys did not act very well either. Having spent much of my money for medicine and medical advice, I thought to save expense I would use Allcock's Porous Plasters, two on the small of my back, one on spleen or ague cake, and one on the pit of the stomach, just under the breast-bone. I continued using the Plasters about thirty days, changing them every week. At the end of that time I was perfectly well, and have remained so ever since.

Women with pale, colorless faces, who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Ella Morrin, a French girl seven years old, fell from the roof of a barn to the ground, a distance of nearly thirty feet, in Genic on the 18th inst., and received probably fatal injuries.

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents.

Two little boys in Dover, while playing on the 18th inst., got into a large chest partly filled with mason's tools, and closed the lid, which shut with a spring lock, so that they could not get out. After being prisoners some time their cries were heard by a sister of one of them, who lifted the lid and let them out, half suffocated and badly scared.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. — FOR —

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been in them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

The Useful Maguey Plant.

At Ozumba, where the road begins to descend, we breakfasted very well for 50 cents in a rude shanty, on eggs, rice, beefsteak, three or four other kinds of meats and stews, sweets, pulque, and black coffee, says Charles Dudley Warner, writing on Mexico in Harper's Magazine. The pulque is best in these high regions. It is a viscous milk-white fluid, very wholesome and sustaining, and would be a most agreeable drink if it "tasted good." In fact it tastes, when it has been a few days fermented, like a mixture of buttermilk and sour cider. But many strangers become very fond of it. The older it grows the more intoxicating it is. As the reader knows, probably, it is drawn from the maguey plant, called by us the "century," which grows on these elevations to a great size, and is the cleanest-limbed and most vigorous and wholesome-looking product of the region. When it matures it shoots up a stout spike ten or twenty feet high from the center, bearing brilliant orange flowers. When the plant is ready to tap the center stalk is cut out, and the sap collects in the cup thus formed. It is dipped out or sucked out by a tube, and when first drawn is mild, cool, and refreshing. In about three days it begins to ferment. As it is often carried to market on the backs of natives in pig or goat skins it gets a disagreeable flavor. The maguey plant has many uses. It is eaten cut up and preserved like melon rinds. Its long, tough fiber is used very extensively in making ropes and cordage. The end of each leaf terminates in a hard, sharp, black thorn. Break off this thorn and strip down the fibers attached to it, and you have a capital needle and thread for coarse sewing. The muleteers use it to mend their saddles and broken harness straps. What encouragement is there to industry when nature furnishes in one plant drink, food, needles and thread and a rope for lariats?

Napoleon's Legacy to France.

Between 1804 and 1815 he has had slaughtered more than 1,700,000 Frenchmen born within the boundaries of ancient France, to which must be added, probably, 2,000,000 of men born out of these limits, and all for him, under the title of allies, or slain on his account, under the title of enemies. All that the poor, enthusiastic, and credulous Gauls have gained by confiding their public welfare to him is two invasions; all that he bequeaths to them as a reward for their devotion, after this prodigous waste of their blood and the blood of others, is a France shorn of fifteen departments acquired by the public, deprived of Savoy, the left bank of the Rhine, and of Belgium, despoiled of the northeast angle by which it completed its boundaries, fortified in unnecessary number, and, using the words of Vauban, "made the field square;" losing four millions of new Frenchmen which it had assimilated after twenty years of life in common; and, worse still, thrown back within the frontiers of 1789, alone diminished in the midst of its aggrandized neighbors, suspected by all Europe, and lastly surrounded by a threatening circle of distrust and rancor.—H. Taine, in New Princeton Review.

It is related in Buffalo, N. Y., that a faithful workman who had injured his hand while engaged in extra dangerous work was having it attended to by a surgeon when the foreman hurried in and said: "Sam, what time was it when you got hurt?" "About 4 o'clock. Why do you ask?" "So I may know when to dock you."

"I ain't much in a city like New York," said Col. Blood, who had been drinking all the evening at Dumley's expense, "but down in the blue grass region I'm reckoned a pretty big gun." "Yes, Colonel," asserted Dumley as he paid for another round, "you are a big gun, and it costs money to load you up."—New York Sun.

"Will you trust me for a cent's worth of gum?" asked the small boy, the top of whose head was on a level with the counter. "Why, yes, I'll trust you. You look like an honest boy." "O, yes, I'm honest, but you'd better give me the cent and let me buy some candy next door. I prefer candy to gum."—Detroit Free Press.

A London paper says that the latest patent is "a combined bustle and chair, which must prove a very great convenience." Not for courting purposes, however, where one chair accommodates two persons. A combined bustle and young man would prove more satisfactory. She could then sit on him, as usual.—Norristown Herald.

One of the most tender-hearted men in this country lives in a adjoining county. For nearly two years he kept the cremated remains of his first wife in a handsome jar on the mantelpiece. A few days ago, during sleety weather, he got down the jar and sprinkled the ashes on the front steps for fear his second wife might slip and break her neck.—Norristown Herald.

"Croquet," said a vivacious Bryn Mawr lady the other day, "used to be a pleasant, graceful summer pastime years ago, but it is no longer in favor, lawn tennis having largely superseded it. A preposterous innovation killed it. When the enthusiastic players discovered that the way to win the game was to prevent your opponents from winning, the game was changed into as disagreeable a form of amusement as was ever devised. It ceased to be a scientific play."—Philadelphia Call.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of THE RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

They Endorse Him.

Several Washington office-holders visiting Boston have been interviewed by the reporter of the Herald. These patriots, with one voice, maintain that "Mr. Cleveland is both a great and good man. He ought and will be renominated and re-elected president." It is noticeable that the higher the salary of the interviewed office-holder, the greater and better the president seems to be rated. Now for an opinion from the "outs." The New York democrats insist that the grave blunders of the president should not be succeeded by the graver blunders of his party. If this is to be the programme, the next president will be the nominee of the republican convention.

A number of citizens of Boston have offered a cup to be sailed for by the Royal Nova Scotia yacht squadron during the jubilee celebration regatta at Halifax.

Two boys were found drifting off Barnegat in a large sloop which had been stolen from Prince's bay, Staten island. They said that they had had nothing to eat or drink for two days.

—West Point cadet (to young lady): "I am surprised that Corporal Callow has been punished. Did you learn what his offence was, Miss Smith?" Young lady: "I believe, Lieutenant Shoulderstrap, that it was conduct unbecoming either an officer or a gentleman, but I have forgotten which."

—"I am going to buy a light coat to match these pantaloons," he remarked to his wife the other day, "and a light pair of gloves to match the coat, and a light soft hat to match"—"Your head, I suppose," interrupted the spouse gently.

—A patriotic youth in Buffalo was given a $5 bill with which to purchase a hat and pair of shoes, with permission to spend what was left over in fireworks, and he brought home a 35-cent pair of shoes, a 15-cent hat, and $4.50 worth of fireworks.

—An Illinois farmer smashed all the windows in a schoolhouse because the teacher refused to accept his attentions. There is no telling what a tender-hearted man won't do when he is thoroughly grieved.

—"Hurry! Hurry!" cried Brown, impatiently up the stairs, "we'll be too late for church." "Oh, no, dear," replied Mrs. Brown, buttoning her gloves, as she came down, "we can't be too late. I've got on my new suit."

—Jones (to Williams): "So you are trying the Fandango Springs hotel this summer?" Williams: "No; it is trying me—severely."

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

MYSTIC VETERANS.

The Mystic Veterans are notified to get their glasses—spy-glasses, of course—polished up, have their sextants examined and chronometers rated, in readiness for a voyage from Portsmouth, N. H., toward Government grove, Kittery Point, Me., on the steamship Mystic, whereof for this voyage H. W. Trefethen is master, departure to be taken Wednesday, July 27, A. D. 1887. PER ORDER.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

[Correspondence of Boston Herald.]

A recent number of the Eastern Argus contained a well-merited editorial to the memory of the late Bion Bradbury of Maine, a gentleman beloved for his many excellent and attractive traits. In the obituary in the same paper the writer seems to have hit wide of the mark in sketching the ancestors of his subject. Mr. Bradbury's father was Jeremiah Bradbury, a lawyer of Biddeford, and for twenty years, from 1820, clerk of the courts in York county. The writer says: "The mother of Bion Bradbury, Mary Langdon, was the daughter of Capt. Seth Storer of Saco, and grand-daughter of Mrs. John Storer of Wells, who was a sister of George Langdon of New Hampshire, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence." The "George" referred to is doubtless Gov. John Langdon, who was born in Portsmouth and was president of the senate in the first Congress after the adoption of the constitution, which met in New York in 1789. There being at that time neither President nor Vice President installed, he is said to have been the first "acting President of the United States." As president of the senate, he informed President Washington of his election in the following letter:

Sir: I have the honor to transmit to your excellency the information of your unanimous election to the office of President of the United States of America. Suffer me, sir, to indulge the hope that so auspicious a mark of public confidence will meet your approbation, and be considered as a pledge of the affection and support you are to expect from a free and enlightened people. I am, sir, with sentiments of respects, your obedient servant, JOHN LANGDON.

In January, 1776, Mr. Langdon was selected a delegate to the Congress which issued the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Langdon did not sign the declaration. In the records of the colony of New Hampshire is the following:

"Jan. 23, 1776. Voted that Josiah Bartlett, John Langdon and William Whipple, Esquires, be and hereby are appointed delegates to represent this colony in the Continental Congress at Philadelphia for the term of one year from this time, any one of them, in the absence of the other, to have full power to represent this colony, and that not more than two of them attend at one time," etc.

This was presented by Mr. Whipple, and he with Josiah Bartlett was in Congress July 4th. This explains why Mr. Langdon's name was not signed to the document. Matthew Thornton, whose signature is affixed, was neither present nor chosen a delegate until Sept. 2d, 1776, and then for one year from the date of his election, as appears from his certificate presented Nov. 4th, 1776, and the three names being signed are at variance with the vote of the colony. Langdon, at the time, was busy in building vessels of war, serving as speaker of the House of Representatives of New Hampshire, and providing means to carry on the war on land and sea. He doubtless was the most active and energetic of the three delegates, and accomplished his great work in New Hampshire, and, as his grandson says, "missed having his name immortalized in the celebrated document the historical importance of which is exceeded by none."

Mr. Langdon did not sign the declaration and his name was not "George," all of which goes to prove that the reporter of the Argus was not present 111 years ago when the paper referred to received the signatures of the gentlemen who, on that occasion, mutually pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

THEY FRATERNIZED.

A gallant rescue was made about noon one day in the early part of this week, by a resident of this city who as an officer of the late confederate army took part in the battle of Shiloh, the rescued party being an ex-soldier who carries the marks of wounds received in the service of the union, and who on the day mentioned was earnestly striving to find some way by which he could manage to mail a letter in one of the fire-alarm boxes. The grey took the blue from the vicinity of the dangerous red box, showed him the green box across the street, and mailed the letter for him. Then they shook hands, and the union veteran spoke disrespectfully of the fire-alarm box. The era of good feeling between the blue and the grey in this city is now brighter than ever.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Bard P. Plummer of Boston is visiting the Misses Tarlton on Livermore street.

Miss Kate Bigelow of Boston is summering at Mr. Albert Shedd's on Sagamore road.

Mr. Frank A. Wendell and family, of Salem, Mass., will pass the greater part of the season in this city.

Mr. William T. Raynes of Lowell, Mass., formerly of this city, is passing the hot season at Bethlehem.

Mr. Michael Morrissey, formerly of this city, and a member of the old Granite State base ball club, is on a visit here with his family from Worcester, Mass., where he has resided for a number of years.

Messrs. Robert and Frederick Bradford, sons of Capt. Robert F. Bradford, U. S. N., commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard, arrived here on Monday evening for a summer visit, from Keokuk, Iowa, where they are engaged in the railroad business.

Mrs. Hilton, whose husband, the late Capt. Frank W. Hilton, was for a number of years, and up to the time of his death, the energetic and efficient manager of the Rockingham house and hotel Wentworth, is summering at the Belleview house, Bethlehem.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, July 20th.

The police station was lively with vocal music on Tuesday night, the quantity being all that could be asked, though the quality may sometimes be surpassed on the operatic stage. Wednesday forenoon there was quite a grist for the judicial mill, although the tolls taken were not such as to enrich the city in any marked degree.

Patrick McLaughlin, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90, which he paid and departed without any special sign of rejoicing.

Lizzie Murphy was drunk two dollars' worth more than Mr. McLaughlin, but was charged less for the trouble of assessment, the total charge against her being $10.76, which it was thought likely would be paid by somebody.

Edward P. Philbrook, the principal soloist in Tuesday night's concert, was requested to hand over $11.90; but being unable to comply, having expended all his floating capital in his musical education, he was sent to the country for a time, the entertainment given by him seeming not to have been considered at all by the court.

William Clark, another drunk, was ordered to Brentwood for sixty days without the option of paying a fine, costs in his case being taxed at $6.90.

Simon G. Smith was sent up for thirty days, time enough for him to get sober in, costs being $6.90 in his case also.

Capt. Dow of the Riverside boat club has resigned.

The schooner John Lenthall, Capt. S. S. Parker, completed discharging on the 20th inst., and sails this morning for Bangor to load lumber for New York.

The foundation for Mr. Henry A. Yeaton's new house, corner of Union and State streets, is being put in by Mr. Jos. R. Holmes.

Limbs have been trimmed from the Lombardy poplars on the late Elm street, and from shade trees in other parts of the city, wherever they came in contact with the electric light wires.

Many citizens who have hitherto rented lock-boxes in the post-office are having lock-boxes affixed to the front doors of their houses, in which the carriers can deposit mail matter addressed to them without having the trouble to call any person to the door. The revenue from box-rents will probably show a material falling off during the present quarter, but possibly the increased postage on drop-letters may make it up.

At the Oceanic on Wednesday, the 20th inst., were sixty permanent guests more than on the same date last year, though last season was the best one in the history of the house; and every room in the spacious hotel is engaged throughout the month of August. The "excursion day" half-fare rates to the islands on the steamer Oceanic, Mondays and Thursdays, and the splendid dinner served at the Oceanic for a dollar, have made it quite the thing for a large number of the ladies and gentlemen of this city to take a trip to the islands on the days named, this very desirable class of transient custom being many times greater this year than ever before. Landlord Frisbee would more likely be taken for the jovial, even-tempered skipper of some big river steamboat than the keeper of a large summer resort, but he knows how to keep a hotel, and his popularity with his guests is equal to that of the "Laighton boys" with the habitues of Appledore, which is about as high commendation as the English language affords.

Mr. Thomas A. Sterling, while at work Wednesday afternoon of this week on the house of Mr. Richard Seeley on Maplewood avenue, fell a distance of about twenty feet, and was quite badly hurt.

A brass band was drawn about the streets on Wednesday noon of this week, in a beach wagon having placards setting forth that Hilton & Co.'s Mammoth Pavilion shows would exhibit that evening, and the remaining evenings of the week, in a big tent pitched in a field on Richards avenue.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

It is reported that a lady who crossed the river from this city to Kittery in the steamer Mystic on Wednesday of this week, on reaching the other side found that her watch, a very valuable one, was gone, and immediately returned in hope of finding it; and that almost immediately on landing she saw the watch lying in the street, but so close to a moving team that she was unable to notify the driver in time to stop, and a wheel passed over it, crushing it to pieces. Such is the story.

The Pearson Motor & Steam Appliance Co. was organized in Kittery on the 18th inst., with a capital stock of two millions. Officers were elected as follows: Edwin Rice of Boston, president; Nathan H. Daniels of Boston, treasurer; Moses A. Safford of Kittery, clerk. The company propose to run street cars by steam, without noise or offensive smoke.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that it has not met with immediate response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Cardiac food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Cold Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations and to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the recalcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

A peculiar case of distributing counterfeit money has come to light in New Haven, Conn., but after much correspondence the officials allowed the important witness to step away.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

John Chase of Webster, sentenced to state prison for a year, last October, for raising a check, has been pardoned by Gov. Sawyer and council.

The new combination of smart weed and belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters, has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smartwood and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

TORN BY A TORNADO.

The Worst Experience He Ever Went Through Near Enough to Drowning to Clutch at a Straw.

Several weeks ago I wrote to you about Kaskine, as I was afraid to use it until I could find out what it really was and what it was able to do. I want to say, in plain words, that I have been cursed with fever and ague, dumb ague, and malarial fever for eight years, and I never took any medicine that was worth the bottle that contained it, and I used everything there is for that purpose. I had the most aggravated and intolerable form of these troubles, and swallowed quinine in small and then in large doses until it reduced me to a living skeleton. This is true, and everybody in Crown Point, where I then lived, knows it. If I hadn't been blessed with a strong constitution I should have been under the sod long ago. I should say it was nearly fourteen months ago I had a worse attack than ever before and have not been able to do any business since. Indeed, I have been no better than a half dead man all that time, and have wished myself dead scores of times, and would have welcomed the idea that I shouldn't live another month.

Every day about noon the terrible paroxysm would come on; I would be deathly cold all over, with blue lips and hands, and rigors of chills running all over my body. I would lie down and cover myself up as warm as I could, but it was no use. My teeth would chatter, and I shook like a tree in the clutches of a tornado. My back and limbs acted as though as though I was being torn apart on the rack, as we read of it in history. Then followed the fever, with its terrific headache and awful sinking spells, as though the hour of my dissolution had come. I had no appetite, and after the fever passed off there came spells of sickness at the stomach. The sight of food sickened me, as it does a man who is experiencing the horrors of his first tempest at sea. As for medicines. I took the whole list of them, and I solemnly believe they hurt me more than the disease itself. Why, the quinine alone made me almost blind and deaf, and I got so nervous that I would be startled, you may say, almost out of my senses by the sound of a falling leaf.

This was the condition I was in when Kaskine was first recommended to me. But I had already been dosed almost to death, and I fairly hated the sight and thought of any more of the nauseous and useless stuff called medicine—whether patent medicines or prescriptions given by the doctors. Still, I said, I'll try it. It's a chance, and I was near enough to drowning to catch at a straw. But, I must say, it was a happy day for me when I began with Kaskine, the new quinine. At first I didn't notice that it helped me a particle, but after I had used two bottles I felt so much better that I cried out joyfully, "I really believe Kaskine is going to make a well man of me!"

If there is anything one-quarter as good as Kaskine is for such diseases, I never saw it or heard of it. It absolutely banished malaria from my system and ended the unspeakable misery I had suffered for years. It restored my appetite; I could sleep like a top; my strength came back and I am now able to resume my work.

Kaskine has none of the bad effects of quinine; no ringing in the ears; no pressure in the head. In fact I have not had a headache for weeks.

This is a true statement of my case and you are at perfect liberty to publish it wherever and whenever you see fit. I will stand by every word of it. THOMAS TOOLE, Schuylerville, N. Y.

P. S. If any one who reads this letter has any doubt whether it is true or not, let him write to me and I will certify to it over my own written signature. I want people to know that there is one honest and then a mass of solid truth in this world of advertising lies. T. T.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Yellow Jack.

Gladly earth and ocean saw the tyrant die;
From the fort above the harbor boomed the evening gun,
And the gulls rose screaming from the cliff on high.

Every ship in harbor with festal flags was dress'd;
For the crowded seaport town kept holiday,
And was fain to look her merriest and her best.

Every eye went seaward as the cannon spoke;
The echoes waked an answer and fell asleep once more;
And the flag past the headland, thro' the cloud of smoke,
Came a gallant ship, full sail, and straight for shore.

Defiant at her masthead the pennant fluttered free;
Past the fort and toward the harbor silent she bore on,
Dip of the flag nor sound of gun—no salute gave she.

From the fort's embrasure rang reminder loud;
Still the pennon fluttered, still no answer came.
"Lo, our flag insulted!" cried the watching crowd.
"Give them solid shot, their insolence to tame!"

With unswerving prow the vessel onward need,
And they hailed and shouted, and reply was none.
One she crushed and sank, but silent held she on.

Hailed her—ran alongside—got them no reply.
Up her sides the crew went, swarming with a cheer,
"Now we'll teach them manners, or know the reason why."

Not a soul to meet them, and they stood aghast:
Empty was the deck—no helmsman at the wheel—
Only one dead sailor lay huddled by the mast,
Grinned as if defying their pistols and their steel.

Down the hatch they stumbled—back they rushed amazed—
For the crew and captain were lying dead below;
Helter-skelter o'er the bulwark to their boat fled again,
And back to shore in terror, hard as they could row.

Quickly as they landed rumor went before,
Pier, parade, and terrace emptied as they
For the king of terrors was steering for that shore,
And they recognized his colors now and knew his name.

Death, with his most dreaded henchman at his side,
Death, all fierce and famished, maddening to be fed;
But his appetite was glutted when the summer died,
And more than half the dwellers in that seaport town were dead.

Now the town has dwindled, now the fort is mute;
But men still remember, and ballad-singers sing
How they challenged death—grim death—himself for a salute,

—Herbert F. Clarke.

A Pistol Duel Across the Table.

A few days after the battle of Waterloo a Mr. Trevor and a certain Captain, while at a dinner party, quarreled about a lady. The Captain being a splendid shot and Trevor almost blind, the latter demanded that they fire at each other across a table. Some one secretly suggested that the pistols should be loaded without ball, and this was done. The two adversaries, who believed their last hour had come, were as pale as death; but if they were a prey to deep emotion, not a muscle trembled. "Who will give us the signal?" asked the Captain. The person who undertook to give the signal, said with a trembling voice: "Raise your pistols." The muzzles touched the breasts of the combatants. "When I count three, fire. One—two—three!" They fired and recoiled from the shock. "What's the meaning of this?" exclaimed the two combatants. "Who has dared to make fools of us? There are no balls in the pistols!" "Honor is satisfied," exclaimed the friends around them. Trevor ground his teeth. "The remedy is easy enough," said the Captain, pointing to some swords suspended from the wall. He took down two, measured them, and presented one to his adversary, who seized it eagerly. "Now there shall be no trickery!" he exclaimed. "Stand off, sir." They stood face to face, and the blades glistened. The contest was short. One of them soon fell—it was the Captain. He expired without a groan. "O, my God!" exclaimed Trevor. "What have I done? Is this a reality?" And in terrible despair he flung himself upon the corpse of his rival, which he shook convulsively, as though to bring it to life again.—Dueling Days in the Army.

Jealously Guarded Trade Secrets.

One has a chance to study a good many quaint trades in this land of "the Fair God," though the real secrets of their arts are jealously guarded by the Mexicans, having been handed down through successive generations from Indian ancestors who practiced them centuries before the coming of Cortez. Among the most curious is the pottery-making, in which the native "throwers," or molders, by a mere twist of the hand, a turn of the wrist, or a twirl of the fingers, form the yielding clay into the oddest shapes.

The editor of the Muddy Fork (Ark.) Bugle says: "It is our intention to make the Bugle the great literary and political journal of the west, which we can not do as long as we have to print our paper on a hand press turned by our wife, as we do now.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured. E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a few-ful disease should not make it the object their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Vigor and Vitality

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The blood is purified, enriched, and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

Secretary Whitney has not yet decided what action to take on the report of the second board of survey on the Hartford, Farragut's old battle ship. In the meantime work on her is being pushed under the orders issued by the secretary on receipt of the report of the first survey. It is the general impression that the secretary will direct that her repairs be discontinued now that he has learned that their cost would exceed the thirty per cent limit. Naval officers, however, are confident that the vessel will be repaired eventually, and that if the secretary feels constrained to stop the repairs now, he will ask for a special appropriation next winter to put the old vessel in a seaworthy condition again.

STIMONY OF CHARLES A. SINCLAIR,

The president of the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester, and Manchester & Lawrence railroads. He throws some light upon that grand scheme of stock jobbing and speculation whereby the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester was wrested from the old managers and was made to yield about a million dollars to himself and associates, by placing it, for fifty years, in the hands of the Boston & Maine combination.

Stock that was selling for $37 a share in 1883 was advanced to about $140 in 1885. A six per cent dividend took the place of a three.

The scheme took from the city of Nashua about sixty thousand dollars.

It is but part of the grand scheme now being urged before the legislature. The same men are in it—Sinclair, Jones, Cook and Armstrong, and their little tools who take small profits and do their jobbing.

The same men are in the Manchester & Lawrence "deal," and in it for the same purpose.

Honest citizens should consider these speculating schemes and their consequences—the millions gathered by the few are made up of the hard earned dollars of the many.

Mr. Sinclair's testimony shows plainly the object of these schemes, how they are accomplished and who the men are. The men who absorbed and turned the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester and Manchester & Lawrence over to the Boston & Maine are here now as the central figures, with their retainers and lobbyists, trying to do the same with the Concord road, and all that is left of the New Hampshire railroads.—People and Patriot.

The People and Patriot follows this tirade with Colonel Sinclair's testimony, and we take pleasure in asking the people of this state to compare his with that of Director Kimball of the Concord road. Colonel Sinclair is frank and open, and shows a desire to furnish all the information possible and to conceal nothing, while Mr. Kimball showed a determination to give as little as possible, and his inability to remember was the most remarkable on record. Sinclair offered to allow any of the Concord railroad counsel or any expert to examine their books, while Mr. Kimball declined to allow Mr. Mellen to examine theirs. Colonel Sinclair bought the Worcester & Nashua stock in the open market as an individual and like a man, and is not subject to any criticism for it. He is not asking for any legislation, and the most of the stock was purchased of the old management, some 3000 shares coming from President Turner and the directors of the road.

Under Sinclair's management, without increasing the rates, the road increased its net earnings. The stockholders received increased dividends. Stock appreciated in value and everybody connected with the road was happy. No stockholder ever found a word of fault, and now some four years after this terrible outrage (?) it remains for the people's champions—the Concord railroad and its annex, the Boston, Concord & Montreal syndicate—to endeavor to distract attention from their own shortcomings by dragging in a matter that has no possible connection with the case under consideration. As a matter of fact neither Mr. Sinclair, Cook nor Armstrong own a share of the Boston & Maine stock or ever did. Mr. Sinclair did lease the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester railroad to the Boston & Maine and as a result the rates on the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester railroad were reduced from five to seven cents a mile to a uniform rate of three cents a mile. Mr. Sinclair did succeed in wresting the control of the Manchester & Lawrence railroad from the Concord. He leased it to the Boston & Maine, and the people of Manchester and vicinity have also had an opportunity to see the benefits of this recent outrage (?) fares having been reduced twenty cents to Boston and freights correspondingly.

The people of New Hampshire will find no fault with Mr. Sinclair so long as his efforts tend in this direction. As to the city of Nashua making a loss, let us see. At the time Mr. Sinclair went into the road the stock of the city of Nashua was only worth $57. Within one year from that time the city, through the instrumentality of Mr. Sinclair, was able to dispose of its holdings at $100 a share, showing a net gain to the city of over $60,000. Had it held the stock which it disposed of at $60 or thereabouts before Mr. Sinclair assumed the management of the road, it would have made some $25,000 or $30,000 additional. The city of Nashua and the stockholders would unquestionably like to be interested in several more outrages of this kind.—Manchester Union.

A Great Honor to Boston.

BOSTON, July 21.—The announcement of the Globe that it sold 122,870 copies last Sunday has created a great sensation. As only 2,000,000 people can be reached on the day of publication in New England, while a New York paper can reach 10,000,000, the Globe claims that, in proportion to population, it has the largest circulation in the world. About every dealer in New England was sold out early last Sunday, but all will be better supplied on next Sunday.

John T. Murphy, catcher of the St. Mary's base ball club of Malden, Mass., while playing ball had his shoulder broken, while trying to steal to third base. He was removed to the Massachusetts general hospital. Henry Murphy, the second baseman of the same club, was knocked senseless by a pitched ball, and remained so for two hours, being badly injured.

Edward Lally, the young rough who was shot by Officer Herald of South Boston a few weeks ago, and has since been at the city hospital, is reported as in a critical condition. Inflammation has set in, and the hospital physicians say that it is not unlikely he will die.

Elizabeth Southwick, sixty or seventy years of age, living alone, was burned to death in her house in North Leicester, Mass., Monday night, July 18th.

A shark twenty feet long was found stranded on the beach at Savin Rock, Conn., after a heavy gale recently. He had a good deal of fight in him. Hundreds of people bathe at the spot daily.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

WHERE DO THEY GO WHEN THEY DIE?

Mr. Editor: This is is not a theological question, and I do not care where the respondents in question respond to questions after death. Birds, cats and other marine animals have a displeasing way of shuffling off this mortal coil and leaving no trace by which the ardent seeker after truth can construe the manner in which they flew thither from hence. Any good naturalist will tell you that of the innumerable host of birds who fill the trees with music, fill their stomachs with your choicest cherries and pull up all your best corn and most of your small truck, the very small percentage ever found dead is due to falling from nests, the clumsy shooting of awkward gunners, or the malicious mischief of the hoodlum. Where some birds, such as wild turkeys, ducks, snipe, woodcocks and robins, go after death I have a faint conception, but I never shall tell, (as I am not bound to criminate myself,) but the stern fact remains just the same regarding the mysterious disappearance at a natural death.

The death of a cat is regarded as slightly problematical, as he, she or it are averted to have come back three or four times after death. Many ladies are fully as fond of their cat as of their canary, (and the cat is fond of the canary, too,) and it grieves them when their feline pet leaves this entire sphere without leaving the slightest trace of the manner of exodus. Even the Kilkenny cats had the courtesy to leave "twice-told tales" behind them.

I know of highly prized cats that have disappeared forever from their doting owners, and, as in warm weather they are not so good to eat as the chickens of our neighbor, this seems mysterious to me. I have never heard but one instance in which the strange disappearance of a cat was properly accounted for, and as that fact was vouched for to me by Mr. George C——, then employed in the Chronicle office, I have hopes you can give me the other desired information that I may impart it to my Sunday class, who are greatly interested in the care and protection of dumb animals.

George (who lived across the river,) said his mother lost a valuable cat the year previous, but had never been able to find hide or hair of it. That morning, he told me, he had found hide, hair and skeleton, under the attic floor, with their new cat and a litter of five new-born kittens occupying the harness of the long-departed mouser; his attention having been called by the yowlings of the new arrivals. Please answer by free postal delivery, if you cannot spare space in your paper to reply. INQUIRER.

*The gentleman with whom I abide in this city regrets the untimely disappearance of two fine cats in the past two years, (untimely, because he didn't know just when they left,) and I had prepared a touching obituary of each for the columns of your valued journal, but as the most recent decedent has just returned in a battered condition after a death of only a few days, I spare you this evidence of my eleglac capability. I.

EDWARD B. WEST.

Edward B. West, Esq., whose funeral took place in this city on the 20th inst., was born in Concord, April 1st, 1822, and was graduated at Dartmouth in 1844, in the same class with Ex-Gov. Bell and Col. John H. George. After graduating he was for a year private tutor in the family of Gen. Jackson at the Hermitage in Tennessee, after which he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1848, first locating at Warner, and afterward in Nashua, where he was at one time a partner of the late Gen. Aaron F. Stevens. He came to this city about 1862, as paymaster's clerk under Paymaster Caleb J. Emery, then in charge of the department of provisions and clothing at the navy yard, and creditably filled that position for many years, winning the respect and esteem of all he was brought in contact with, by his quiet courtesy and genial disposition. For several years past he had been engaged in no active business, owing to failing health. He leaves a wife, daughter of the late Wm. D. Beasom, Esq., of Nashua, and one child.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Daniel N. Pickering of this city has been appointed a justice of the peace for Rockingham county.

Mr. Samuel L. Brewster of New York is with his wife spending a few days with Mr. John Tanton of this city.

Messrs. L. V. Newell and Charles H. Hatch are camping in the lake region of Maine with two gentlemen from Boston.

Mrs. Charles Nell of Stewart, Iowa, accompanied by her son, arrived in this city on Thursday evening on a visit to her uncle, Mr. Benjamin M. Bailey, and other relatives.

Mr. Charles A. Davis, formerly of this city, who has been teaching at Hyde Park, Ill., for the past year, has just been elected professor of natural science in Alma college at Alma, Mich., with a salary of $1500 the first year.

Mayor Eldredge left this city by the 8:20 train on Thursday morning to attend a family gathering at Chatham, Mass., in honor of his mother's birthday. The hope that these anniversaries may continue many years to come is a general tribute to the excellence of the lady so long and so favorably known to the people of this city, which must be almost a second home to Mrs. Eldredge, and which she evidently so considers from her liberality in various ways.

MARITIME NOTES.

Mr. F. R. Starr of Philadelphia, who is summering at the Pepperell house, Kittery Point, received on the 16th inst. a novel steam launch, petroleum being used to make steam instead of coal. The boat was built in Chicago and came to this port by rail, and was transported to the river on a truck team. She is of very handsome model.

Capt. E. O. Garland, of the schooner D. K. Ham, who had been quite unwell for some days with symptoms of pneumonia, and has been stopping at his home in Newington, was in this city last Thursday, and resumes command of his vessel on Friday, up the river. During Capt. Garland's illness the schooner has been sailed by Capt. James S. Brewster.

A dredging machine came down the river from Dover on the afternoon of the 21st inst., and commenced deepening the water at the new Concord wharf extension.

KITTERY, ME., July 21st.

Mr. Frank Bartlett, one of our most prominent citizens, died very suddenly at his home in North Kittery early Thursday morning of heart disease. The immediate cause of his death was probably excitement. He was awakened from a sound sleep by a noise in his hen-house, and taking a revolver went out without dressing himself, and found a skunk, which he fired three shots at, and killed. He then entered the house, and called to his wife that he was unwell. Mrs. Bartlett used all the means in her power to revive him, but in a few moments he breathed his last, in the presence of his wife alone. Mr. Albert Blaney, the nearest neighbor, was called, and a doctor summoned, but Mr. Bartlett was past earthly help. The deceased was a man beloved by all, a kind and obliging neighbor, and a loving husband and father; and in his demise the writer loses a dear friend, whose like is rarely found. He was prominent in town affairs, and for five years past a member of the board of selectmen. For many years he was foreman of the repair gang of Portsmouth bridge; and during the past three years has been much employed by Prof. Moses G. Farmer of Eliot, having charge of the stone work and improvements about his buildings in that town. He was brother-in-law to Justin V. Hanscom of Portsmouth, and to Charles Goodwin, agent of the Indian Orchard mills of Indian Orchard, Mass. He leaves a wife and two sons.—Wallace E. Bartlett of Hartford, Conn., formerly with Capt. Jos. H. Thacher of Portsmouth; and William F. Bartlett, now of Boston. His age was fifty-eight years. SUB ROSA.

Among the bills which were passed in the lower house of the legislature on the 20th inst., were acts to change the name of the Woman's Temperance League of this city, and to incorporate the Portsmouth Horse Railroad Co. The names mentioned in the railroad bill as grantees are Charles R. Corning of Concord, —— Frink of Boston, Mass., and George B. French, George E. Hodgdon, William Conn and William O. Sides of this city.

Mr. Charles H. Kehoe had his right arm badly torn at the wrist on the 20th inst. by the slipping of a belt he was adjusting at the Portsmouth Machine shop, and went to Boston next day for treatment.

It is said that there are large quantities of bricks at the up-river yards awaiting transportation, which will require the services of the whole brick fleet as long as the river remains open in the fall.

Sylvanus Cobb, the widely known story writer, died on the 20th inst. at his home in Hyde Park, Mass. During the war he was stationed at Fort McClary, Kittery, for several months, as an officer of Maine troops.

The coating of mastic has been removed from the southerly end of the Rockingham bank building, having peeled off in many places, and a new coating is to be put on.

The board of assessors meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to consider applications for abatement of taxes.

The contract for putting steam heating apparatus in the Haven schoolhouse has been awarded to the Portsmouth Machine Co.

The outside of the city building is being painted by Josiah Grover and his employes.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

A movement has been inaugurated among the leading business men of Buffalo to raise a fund of $100,000, to be offered as a prize for the best invention for utilizing the water power of the Niagara river. Competition will be open to the world.

The reopening of the divorce case of Alice M. Valensin, which has just been ordered by the supreme court of California, promises to make a big sensation in the golden state. There is a possibility that Mgr. Capel will be a notable figure in the new trial.

Elvin S. Newton of Manchester and Fred G. Newton of this city had a warm contest at rowing near Lunging Island, Shoals, on Tuesday of this week, in dories, the distance being two miles, and Fred winning the race by three boat's lengths. Mr. E. S. Newton returns to his business at Manchester to day.

The trustees of the Biddeford Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument Association on the 20th inst. were authorized to contract for a white bronze monument similar to the one erected in Salem, Mass., last year, to be twenty-seven feet high, and cost $2500; it was voted to ask the city to give a lot in front of the Universalist church for a site.

The democratic state convention of Ohio on the 21st inst. nominated Thomas E. Powell for governor, and of course endorsed the Cleveland administration.

Miss Jennie Collins, "the working girls' friend," died at Brooklin, Mass., July 20th. In her death the cause of humanity has suffered a real loss.

The Color of the Eyes.

Generally speaking, blue eyes signify constancy and devotion to friends.

Black eyes denote as a rule a sensuous character and an inconstant, fickle disposition. However, there are some special exceptions to this rule.

The main characteristics of the violet eye, which is called the woman's eye, are affection and purity, chivalric belief, and limited or deficient intellectuality.

Gray eyes are the most expressive of all eyes and denote strong qualities of mind and soul. Persons with grey eyes usually have a great deal of patriotism.

Self-satisfaction and conceit are commonly the characteristic traits represented by the green eye. When the tinge verges on yellowishness it denotes that the possessor is gifted with strong powers of imagination.

The very light blue eye is characteristic of the Northern races, and in a woman it suggests constancy and truth, steadfastness, simplicity, courage, and purpose. In a man it is apt to denote a phlegmatic disposition.

Brown eyes are the eyes of the South and East and denote as a general rule passion and lack of originality. In women they mean jealousy and cruelty very often, and in men courage, superstition, and mild recklessness.

Blue eyes usually go with light hair, but when they go with dark hair and complexion there is coupled with the affectionate qualities a tendency to deceive, stimulated by an ambition for conquest and leading to the gratification of admiration.

Hazel is a very difficult color to determine, there are so many different varieties. As a general rule eyes of this color suggest a good deal of strength of character and generally a sense of mischief and trickery. A blue-gray with bronze streaks radiating from the centre, comes nearest to hazel.

The famous Dismal swamp is no longer used as a shelter for runaway negro slaves, of course, but it is believed to be the hiding-place of at least a hundred white men who for various reasons want to retire to private life for a spell.

The Boston Star

Says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on diseases, its causes and home cure, with fine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to anybody who sends three two-cent stamps, to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

There have been severe snow storms recently in the Swiss Alps, and six tourists were lost on the Jungfrau.

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents.

The notorious "Doc" Wilson is lying at the point of death.

Smart weed and belladonna, combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters, make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

R. M. Y. Hunter, of Virginia, a former United States senator, and secretary of state of the confederacy, is dead, aged seventy-eight years.

All Medical Authorities

Agree that catarh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passages.

Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affection of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician ever atiempts to do so.

It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The facts justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. A "Wild West" Sensation.

At Clinton, Iowa, on the evening of July 19th, four people were shot during the Wild West performance of Sells Bros.' circus. George Harrington, aged seventeen, was shot in the forehead, and will die. Mrs. W. A. Lamberson was shot in the left breast just above the heart, dangerously. Wallace Phillips, aged sixteen, was shot on the top of his head; he is not very seriously wounded. One of the Indians was shot; how badly is not known, as he was immediately taken away. No cause is given for using bullets, except that a cowboy by mistake got the wrong revolver. It was done during the encounter of the cowboys and Indians performing in the ring. That particular Wild West performance will not be very popular in that town any more.

Mrs. Lydia H. Folsom, widow of Isaac L. Folsom, formerly secretary of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company of Exeter, died on the 19th inst. at the residence of her son, Mr. Charles E. Folsom of Dorchester, at the advanced age of ninety years.

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the region of the liver, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was not using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and to conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactively, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

Rev. W. H. Moreland, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Nashua, will spend August at his old home at Charleston, S. C.

Women with pale, colorless faces, who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Rev. A. S. Stowell, of the Baptist church at Derry Depot village, recently baptized seventeen persons.

How Unpleasant

it is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

W. F. Poole, formerly of the Athenæum library in Boston, but now of the Chicago public library, has been selected as librarian of the Newberry library in that city, for which there is a fund of over $2,000,000.

The new combination of smart weed and belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters, has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smartweed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood, it imparts new vigor to every function of the body.

Women Flogged by the Boers.

The editor of the Eastern Province Herald writes from Port Elizabeth calling attention to Boer brutality in the Transvaal. The accuracy of the account is vouched for:

My name is Sara. I am about 24 years of age. On Monday last I was discharged from the Pretoria jail, after being imprisoned for two months. I was sent to prison because I was said to have been impudent to a white woman. I was not impudent, but, Mrs. D. said that I had enticed the girl Rachel to run away. The fieldcornet came with a black constable and said: "Catch the impudent woman and take her to prison." Maraba said that I should be taken to the landdrost. First I was taken to the landdrost. The landdrost said that I must pay a fine of £3 or go to the tronk for two months and receive twenty-five lashes. Mrs. D. said that I had come to entice the girl away, and that Charlotte was the impudent one. Charlotte was fined £1 10s., which was paid. Rachel was fined £1 10s., which was paid by S. Coetzee, and she had to work it out. I was fined £3, but as I could not pay I was sent to tronk and ordered to get twenty-five lashes. I was locked up for three weeks, and then the landdrost came to the tronk and ordered me to receive the twenty-five lashes while he stood by. I was tied up by my wrists and legs and was flogged until I fainted. The blood came out my back where I was flogged. I had all our clothes taken off with the exception of my chemise, which was held around my loins. It was after breakfast that I was flogged. When the landdrost came I was washing his clothes. When I recovered from my faint I found myself on the blanket. In the night ot the day that I was flogged they sent for a doctor. He pulled open my mouth and put some stuff to my nose. I think he came in the middle of the night. The next day I was told to go and finish the washing of the landdrost's clothes. The landdrost's maid, Mavisa, who was in the tronk, told the landdrost that I would not wash the clothes. I did not say so, but I could not as my back was too sore. Mavira had been twice flogged by order of the landdrost. The first time she had fifteen lashes, which were inflicted in the men's yard. She was stripped, her chemise being tied about her as mine was. She was then flogged on her shoulders. She was put in the tronk for two days on that occasion. When she got out she went to the landdrost's house, and as she refused to work in consequence of her back being sore she was sent back for four days and to receive a flogging of twenty-five lashes. As her back was too raw to be flogged again in the same place I was told to roll up her chemise so that she could be flogged lower down. That flogging took place in the women's yard. Mr. Van Reenen was present, and the women were flogged by "Jack." Van Reenen would not let me be beaten at first, because, he said, I was too weak. About three weeks after I was put in the tronk the landdrost came up in order to see that his sentence on me was carried out, and I was tied up and flogged in his presence, the landdrost standing in front of me. When the landdrost was told that I would not finish the washing of his clothes he ordered me to be put in the stocks, and I was kept in the stocks for two days and two nights, and kept without food the whole time. I know of six women being flogged while I was in the tronk. All were flogged with the cat-o'-nine tails, and all were beaten by "Jack," who does all the flogging in the jail.

The Habit of Reading Fast.

It is plain that the knack of reading very fast ought to be more cultivated. It should be more encouraged in schools. Aloud, for the benefit of others, the child should be taught to read as slowly as the intelligence of the particular audience in view may seem to require; but silently and for his own benefit, he should learn to read like lightning. I would set a class of reading a page or a passage "to themselves," and whoever could prove, by giving an accurate account of the matter some time afterward, that he had read thoroughly, and still had come out ahead, should be (as the boys say) "the best fellow." Again, I notice that some people have to read any item or article in a paper "clear through" to see whether it is anything they want to read; and only to find, generally, that it isn't. One should learn to find out by the ear marks in the twinkling of an eye. In doubtful cases this can commonly be tested by the end better than by the beginning. Of course there are many cases not in the least doubtful, where the heading, or the first sentence, assures you that this is one of those things that seem intensely interesting to newspaper writers but are of no earthly interest to any other human intelligence.—Atlantic Monthly.

A curious relic was discovered a few days ago near Phœnix, Arizona, by a farmer while digging a well on his ranch. At about nine feet below the surface he came upon the skeleton of a man, the bones of which, however, fell to pieces when he attempted to move them. He has no doubt that this prehistoric citizen was a giant, as the thigh bones were nearly four feet long and the feet were more extensive than those of the proverbial St. Louis girl. Under the body was a large and heavy war club, made from mesquite or iron wood, and this was in a state of perfect preservation. It is now on exhibition.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured

E. T. PARKER, 379 Nordhampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this foul disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Do not even those concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of breathing so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

Satan Rebuking Sin.

A more pathetic appeal to the members of the legislature to protect the people from the rapacity of the speculators, than is contained in the People and Patriot's recent man'festo directed against our townsman Col. Sinclair, we have not lately read. One would suppose that in this railway contest all the virtue was to be found upon the side of the speculators in the Montreal railroad shares, who say through their organ "Let us alone; we have a good thing, and state pride ought to allow us to complete our speculation." The absurdity of the argument of the opponents of the Hazen bill is seen, when they charge selfish purposes upon the part of its advocates. Railway investments are not made as a public charity. Projectors of new routes and purchasers of constructed lines, while incidentally they have in view the development of localities and the general increase of wealth, have at the same time an eye to their own benefit. In the present instance the issue seems to present itself, Will the state have the benefit of the Hazen enactment, so that the people of the state can go from one part of the country to another at low rates, and have their freight carried on better terms, as has followed every instance in this state where railways have extended their mileage by leasing, or will it permit a set of men composed in their make-up of just as selfish kind of clay as their neighbors, to deprive the state of the benefits of extensive railway facilities, and become bottled up, so to speak, or controlled by a few men whose projected speculation in the shares of the Montreal road may be consummated.

According to the papers of the opposition, Col. Sinclair has achieved his speculation, and like the warrior of ancient times, he has no more worlds to conquer. And now the other gentlemen of the syndicate want their chance. The fact seems to have been that Mr. Sinclair, years ago, with a foresight which enabled him to perceive not only that certain railway property was not being managed as ably as it should be, but was capable of better results, went into the market and purchased the shares, which of course advanced in the market price as soon as he had. Like Columbus, demonstrated the egg theory. It is easy enough to possess a hind-sight; but a foresight,—there's the rub. Every one is glad that the enterprise of Mr. Sinclair was remunerative. It deserved this. Railway property developed so that the public are accommodated, business increased so that freights are carried more speedily and at lower charges, passenger trains run more frequently at lower fares, better and more comfortable cars—indeed all this is a natural result of the development which will follow the passage of the Hazen bill.

To contend that the policy evinced by the people who are represented by the P. & P. is one which is likely to benefit any one in the state outside the little band of holders of the Montreal stock, for which they have such great expectations in case of the defeat of the Hazen bill, is simply to negative the history of these men. They might at once benefit the public as well as themselves, by a policy broad and comprehensive, if they had the ideas possessed by the men whose conduct they so freely criticise. But no; their business vision is bounded by a line of policy which seeks to enrich themselves at the expense of the state, instead of by a growth and improvement of the entire community which shall redound to the good of the people and at the same time bring grist to their mill.

From St. Louis comes the statement that on Sunday, July 17th—the hot Sunday—6000 people in that town witnessed a game of base ball, and only two of them were prostrated by the heat, although the mercury stood at 108 degrees in the shade. Of those who did not go to the ball game 100 were prostrated, and eighteen died. It is hard to pull much of a moral lesson out of such information, but the advocates of Sunday games will probably point to it with pride. Perhaps the religiously inclined will say that people who attend Sunday games of base ball are too tough and hardened to be hurt by the hot sun, and that a much more fervent heat will be necessary for them.

A train on the Erie railroad dashed without warning through a gang of Italian laborers near Hohokus, N. Y., July 21st, grinding fifteen of them to pieces and wounding many others.

All Medical Authorities

Agree that catarrh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passages.

Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affection of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat them as such. No conscientious physician ever attempts to do so.

It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The facts justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

T. D. Loring, late superintendent of the Knickerbocker Ice works at Boothbay, Me., fastened a bag of iron to his neck on the 20th inst., and drowned himself. He had been in poor health for a year. His daughter drowned herself near the same place two years ago.

Prices of Sheep and Lambs—In lots, $2 50, $3 75 @ $4 00 each; extra, $5 00 @ $5 25, or from 7¾ @ 8½c ₩ lb; spring lambs, 6 @ 7½c ₩ lb.

The condition of the cattle market has not visibly changed. We should be inclined to note that buyers are obtaining rather better cattle for their money. The western were of good quality and selling at a range from 4¾ @ 4¾c ₩ lb, live weight. Excellent cattle have been put upon the market from the western ranches, and at the above low figures. Supply of northern beef cattle very light.

Fat Hogs—Supply quite extensive, and prices steady on western live and northern dressed.

The Sheep Cattle—The arrivals of country flocks are this week limited, with a quicker tone. The lamps were of fair quality, and their disposal were at 6 @ 7½c for the best offered; none at 8c noticed.

LITTLE PILLS

— WILL CURE —

Sick Headache, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Distress after Eating, Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Pain in the Side, Coated Tongue, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sallow Skin, and all disorders caused by a bilious state of the system.

They do this without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, and there is no pain, gripe or discomfort attending their use. It is no longer necessary to scour one's insides out with the old-fashioned purgative pills, and they are fast giving way to the gentle action of this mild and pleasant remedy.

Dr. Booth's Little Pills are entirely unlike all other pills, and are a marvel to all who use them. They are very small, strictly vegetable, and as the dose is only one or two pills, they are readily taken by young or old without a thought of the presence of medicine. If you try them you will certainly be pleased. In vials at 25 cents, or five for $1.00.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discussed their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a vegetable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts, and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

WARD TWO.

The Republican Committee of ward two will meet at the Court House this (Saturday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. Important business is to come before the meeting.

A SLIGHTLY EXTRAVAGANT CORRESPONDENT.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Advertiser states that "Every young lawyer and old lawyer who could be hired is here for one or the other side" in the railroad controversy. This would show that the lawyers in this city could not be hired, as we are informed that of all the numbers of legal lights in Portsmouth, but one is retained in this controversy. The statement that every politician is interested is also somewhat wide of the mark. It is not unlikely that the controversy may prove the rock upon which may be wrecked the hopes of more than one ambitious politician; but the state is full of politicians, or of men who take a hand in politics, who do not go to Concord or range themselves upon either side of the question. Perhaps there may be found among this latter class, those who will come before the next congressional conventions without the smell of the fire of this fight upon their garments, and who will walk away with the nominations while the present expectants of the honor will be learning how easy it is to lose what they never had acquired.

N. H. S. P. C. C.

The following statement of the work done by the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children during the six months ending June 30th, was made by the president of the society, Hon. T. E. O. Marvin, at a late meeting of the directors:

Number of children found neglected by drunken parents, ten;

Abused children provided with suitable homes, four;

One infant was found dying of neglect; and three guardians were appointed. Seven children are now under the guardianship of the society.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lillian G. Caldwell of Newburyport is visiting in this city.

Miss Mary E. Cate of this city is sojourning at the White mountains for some weeks.

Mr. Daniel E. Leavitt and wife are travelling through the mountain region of New Hampshire in their private carriage.

Mrs. Albert R. Hatch last Thursday afternoon broke her left arm near the wrist, by a fall in the garden of her house on Livermore street.

Miss Ann W. Peirce of Haymarket square, and niece, Mr. Joseph W. Peirce, Mrs. George L. Treadwell and Miss Carrie Treadwell, left on Wednesday morning, 20th inst., for Littleton.

Mrs. Robert B. Adams and children, formerly of this city, are on a visit here from their present home in Charleston, S. C. Mr. Adams will arrive here in a week or two for a brief stay.

Miss Janet G. Hutchins of Lawrence, Mass., who was tendered the principalship of the Portsmouth training school for teachers, declines to accept it, having been offered a similar position at Lewiston, Me., at a salary of $1000.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Grace Choate came in with 1800 mackerel on the 22d inst.

The Harding weir at the mouth of the harbor has been taken up, the catch being too small to pay for keeping up the business any longer.

The British schooner Sarah A. Townsend, from Cow Bay, Cape Breton, with culm coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on the 22d inst.

The last load of piles for the railroad bridge at York harbor was towed around from this port on the 22d inst. by the steamer James Sampson.

The schooner Elvira, from Port Johnson, and the Lucia Porter, from Baltimore, both with coal to E. F. Sise & Co., arrived at this port on Friday, July 22d.

The new sloop yacht Volunteer had a trial trip on the 22d inst., from Boston to Marblehead, and gave promise of much speed, easily beating the cutter Bedouin, and standing up well.

The well-known schooner yacht Rambler was sold at public auction in New York on the 20th inst., by order of the executors of the late Commodore W. H. Thomas. But two bids were made, of $4750 and $4600 respectively, and at the latter figure the craft was knocked down to J. S. Sandford.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

Mr. Smith Emerson, station agent at Dover for the Boston & Maine railroad, has tendered his resignation.

Vice President H. E. Evans of the York Harbor & Beach railroad has issued a circular announcing that the road will be open for traffic on Monday, Aug. 8th; also that D. W. Sanborn has been appointed superintendent of the new line, D. J. Flanders general passenger agent, W. J. C. Kennedy general freight agent, and H. Bissell master of maintenance of way. Seems as though we had heard these names before, in connection with railroad matters.

Two handsome compartment passenger cars have just been completed in the Boston & Maine car shops at South Lawrence, Mass. It is announced that every passenger car on the Boston & Maine system is to be fitted with gates to the steps, so that no person can tumble off, or get on or off, while the car is in motion. This will be a good thing, but probably for a time will cause annoyance and the occasional loss of a passage to persons who have been accustomed to wait till the last moment, and swing on to the steps of the last car by aid of the hand-rail as the train moved past.

Heavy iron gratings have been placed at the outlet of the water course at the Spring market, instead of the planks formerly there, so that in case of heavy rains the floods which run down the hill may have free egress; but how much better it would be if the boatmen landing at that place could have free access to the cold water which drips down, to allay their thirst, instead of being nearly tantalized as they are now by the sound of it trickling away. A substantial railing has been placed at the commodious landing, so that people can approach without danger. V.

The story of the destruction of a lady's watch through its being run over by the wheel of a heavy team, as related in Thursday morning's Chronicle, was unluckily true. It was a very fine watch, extra jewelled, and valued at $300, and was a gift to the lady who lost it. When discovered by the loser it was on the wharf from which the Mystic starts, and close to a wheel of Mr. Broughton's lumber wagon, the weight of which in passing over ruined it. It is not a little remarkable that the watch should have remained so long in such an exposed position, without being discovered by some of the gamins usually so numerous in that locality.

Mr. Wm. Conn is on a business tour in Vermont. His heavy sales of late having made it imperative to secure additional sources of supply. When a trader deals in only first class goods, the public are sure to find it out.

C. H. Hayes & Son had one of the most valuable horses on their farm die on Wednesday of this week. Mr. McCue, the stable keeper, also lost a horse, and one of the horses belonging to Frye & Co.'s express died, on Thursday night.

A look through the new Park-field hotel at Kittery Point shows that the house is sensibly and conveniently arranged as to halls, parlors and sleeping rooms, and quite handsomely finished and furnished. In constructing the house every care was taken as to sanitary matters, the plumbing including the use of the most approved models appliances, and the position of the house being such that it was easy to secure perfect sewerage, the waste matter being discharged near low-water mark.

Rev. H. B. Smith, of Nashua, will speak in the Pleasant street church tomorrow. Subject, "The Earth our Teacher."

Commodore David B. Harmony, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, visited the Portsmouth navy yard last Friday morning, and received the regulation salute.

The New York Sun says that it is learned from private letters of a naval officer that serious damage was done to the cruiser Atlanta by the firing of her eight-inch guns during the recent test at Annapolis. It is alleged that guns of that calibre will be too large for use on the Atlanta and her sister ship, the Boston. Officers of the vessel deny the statement, and they surely ought to know of the matter.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain but ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.
It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.
Unrivaled for impure water, and unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Disease, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Sinking Spells, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.
Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations said to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than Jurisprudence Johnson's Demise.

"It ar' my painful duoty to remark, das Brudder Jurisprudence Johnson ar' dead," said the president as the triangle sounded. "He war an honorary member, libin' in Montgomery, Alabamy, an' he was generally referred to by de gineral public as Prof. Johnson. He had de high konsh of bein' de only col'd gentl'an in de city who was admitted to de meetins of de White Man's Drug Stoh club. Sometimes he could be found in de barber-shop under de Exchange hotel talkin' 'bout de way Dan'l got out o' de lion's den without a scratch on his pussun, an' sometimes he could be found at de newsstan' in de post-offis relatin' his pollytickle experiences an' hopin' somebody would buy him a paper of tobacker. He was one of de airly members of dis club an' de only reason he was nebber present at any of our anyual meetin's was bekase freight charges am so high.

"Yes, de purfessor has drapped off by de wayside while makin' de dusty journey of life. I knowed him pussonally fur many y'ars. While I can't say dat he bettered de world much, I know dat he never harmed it. As his eulogy I would say: 'Neither rich nor great—neither a philanthropist nor a statesman. Jist simply a man who died widout an inemy.' De usual emblem of mournin' will be put out in de usual way, an' if he owed us any back dues we will call his account squar to a cent. A Comparison Favorable to America.

The amount annually spent by the European countries to keep up their armies and navies is £181,120,000. The amount spent by America is about £8,000,000. Adding therefore, the cost for war debts and for armaments together, it will be seen that Europe pays £394,760,000, and America £18,000,000 per annum. How possibly can Europe hope to hold her own against her trans-atlantic rival when she handicaps herself, in the struggle for commercial supremacy, with the stupendous charge of £376,000,000 per annum? As if this were not enough, is each year increasing her burden, while America is each year reducing hers.—London Truth.

For Vacation Time
At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,
A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite long, acked association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable, and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

A Flood.

The Old Folks at Home,

Or elsewhere, need a tonic now and then to sustain them under growing infirmities. No safer or more thorough invigorant for age and the delicate can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a seasonable medicine in those ailments of commonest occurrence—liver complaint, indigestion and bowel disorders; a pure botanic safeguard against malaria, and a reliable means of counteracting rheumatism. To the convalescent, it is a valuable aid in the recovery of strength, and to the debilitated, nervous invalid it yields tranquil slumber and renewed appetite—two prime factors in the restoration of vigor. Being of purely botanic origin, it is free from those objections urged against mineral remedies difficult or impossible of assimilation by the system, and which impair the tone of the stomach, which the Bitters, on the contrary, strengthens and regulates. It is indorsed and prescribed by the medical fraternity.

Natives report that Russia is secretly negotiating with the governor of Yarkand, in Chinese Turkestan, for permission to pass troops across the country.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Emperor William has sent $1200 to the family of each of the five members of the life-saving crew who were drowned last January while attempting to save the men on a German ship stranded on the Virginian coast; he also sent a valuable gold watch to each of the two survivors of the brave crew.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

A sad drowning accident occurred at Arden, Ont., one day last week. Mrs. M. B. Mills, her two daughters and a sister-in-law went into the lake near there to bathe; one of the daughters got beyond her depth, and the others went to her rescue. The result was that all, excepting the younger daughter, were drowned.

At the inquest in connection with the late railway disaster at St. Thomas, Ont., where twelve persons were killed, and a large number burned by an oil explosion, witnesses swore that the engineer was under the influence of liquor, and unfit to control the train; also that the conductor had been drinking, though he was not intoxicated.

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite limited association, become a jolly circle of acquaintance—a "little community by themselves—far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

A FATAL DELUSION.

The Fancied Security and Appalling Perils of People Revealed.

The eminent scientist and author, Dr. Joseph F. Edwards, of Philadelphia, relates the following wonderful experiences:

"During my term as resident physician in the medical wards of the Philadelphia Hospital, it was a common occurrence for an ambulance call to be received from one of the down town station houses. Upon reaching the place designated, we would be shown a man or woman who has been found unconscious on the street and supposed to be intoxicated. He would be removed to the hospital, where he would linger unconscious for 24 or 36 hours and then die. In the majority of these cases a post mortem examination would reveal a most horrible state of affairs which I will explain hereafter."

AN AMBULANCE CALL.

"A lady in apparently good health, who rarely complained, and then only occasionally, of some slight and transient ill feeling, as nearly every one does at some time or other, took a long walk with her husband, and, upon returning home (feeling partiparly well) went to her room to remove her bonnet, and, while standing in front of the mirror, fell to the floor in a convulsion, followed by twenty-four hours of unconsciousness and death without a return to consciousness. A post mortem examination revealed the true cause in a most horrible form."

"A young married man for years suffered from dyspepsia, for which he consulted many physicians. After suffering in this way, and having no other symptoms of disease, he awoke one morning to find a very slight swelling, scarcely more than a puffiness under one eye. In less than a month he was dead."

Now, the real and terrible cause of all these deaths was Bright's disease of the kidneys, and, they might all have been avoided, had the unfortunate victims known what a horrible malady was fastened upon them. But Bright's disease has no symptoms of its own. It steals into the system like a thief, and deceives its victim by showing the symptoms of nearly every other disease.

But what can be done?
Take it in time.

If you feel unaccountably tired; if you have peculiar passing pains; if your appetite is uncertain; if your head aches occasionally; if your sleep is irregular; if the fluids passed are profuse or scanty, do not delay, but use the best known means for escaping agony and death—Kidney-Wort—before it is too late. For this purpose there is a remedy and that one only that has ever proven absolutely certain. But this Remedy has never been equalled and it is the only absolute cure known to the medical profession. There are thousands of men and women to-day who enjoy perfect health who would be in their graves had it not been for this wonderful remedy, and there are thousands of others who require it without an hour's delay. This is no idle statement, but truth drawn from cases which are beyond

Superstitions About Birds.

In France the handsome white owl with its plumage is accepted everywhere as a forerunner of death. As if that were not enough to draw upon it the animadversion of all, this bird is often accused of sacrilege, for in Provence and Languedoc it is charged with drinking the oil of the church lamps. In the south of Germany the crow bespeaks good luck, but in France anything but that if seen in the morning. The same with the magpie—ill-luck if it flies on your left; if, on the contrary, on your right, you may be assured that the day will be a fortunate one. In England the influence of the appearance of this saucy bird upon current events is governed by the numbers in which he appears, and is thus summed up:

One for sorrow,
Two for mirth,
Three for a wedding,
Four for a birth.

Among the negroes of the southern states the moaning dove means to save a man's soul. To kill one of these doves is a sign of death, but more frequently the death of a child. A buzzard or a crow upon the housetop is believed by these same people to be an invariable sign of death or disaster; a visit at the door from a rooster, the approaching visit of a friend; the notes of the screeching owl or "shivering" owl, are a bad omen of many interpretations, while, if the common owl hoots on your right good luck will follow, but bad luck should he take up his position on your left side and hoot therefrom. The reputation of all night birds, great or small, is no better; but southern imagination has discovered a remedy for all their spells. It consists in throwing a pinch of salt into the fire as soon as the sound is heard.

If a chaffinch perches on your window-sill, beware of treachery. It was the wren which aided Prometheus in stealing the sacred fire of knowledge from beneath Jove's throne in heaven. Accordingly, he who kills a wren will have his home destroyed. If you have money in your pocket when you hear the cuckoo for the first time, it is a good omen, and you will have your pockets well lined during the year; if, on the contrary, you have no money, cultivate your friends, for you will be in need of their assistance before long. The blackbird which crosses your road brings you good luck. No physician should fail to procure a bed of partridge feathers. A patient laid upon such a bed, no matter what his disease, will never die of it, although he will not necessarily get well.—St. Louis Republican.

Curious Things in Cuba.

A Havana letter to the Jewelers' Journal contains the following: "Do you know that for a fact Havana has no window-glass, no fire places, no stoves, no chimneys, no carpets, and, just to think of it, no boarding-houses, it also has, as a rule, no sidewalks and no sewers. In the old city proper it has some sewers, and no sidewalks. In the new part it has some sidewalks and no sewers. The sidewalks are not properly so called, for in most cases they are narrow stone ledges, twelve to eighteen inches wide, and intended pricipally to keep the wagon hubs away from the walls and windows.

These windows are huge openings, extending down the entire front of the one story houses. They are guarded on the outside in every case by massive iron bars, and on the inside by heavy wooden shutters, which in turn have wickets in them and peep holes. When you have seen one of these windows you have seen them all. The door of the house is big enough to let a stage through it, and in it is a small door for persons on foot. It is at the barred window that the caballero woos the senorita, who sits within beside her duenna—for not until after marriage can they ever be alone together for a moment. A young Cuban, whose acquaintance we made and who is soon to be married, told me his experience (he now lives in the United States) and excused himself, saying that he was going to see his inamorata.

"That is something I have never been able to do for myself," though we have been sweethearts for six years and engaged for three, and I have never seen her alone yet."

Think of that, young men and maidens of free America, and thank your stars that you were born where the eagle screams and iron gratings and duennas are unknown, and where Cupid walks abroad unhampered, clad only in a bow and quiver and innocence, and where the sighing lover, instead of hanging on the outside of iron bars, with donkeys crowding him and cart-hubs rasping his back, is bidden to "come in and shut the door, John.

I must tell you in this connection of a good thing said by our Cuban friend, in which he "knocked out" a fresh young man from Chicago. Said the latter: "We don't have to put our American women behind bars to protect them."

"Yes, I know it," said the Cuban, "but the Cuban women are very beautiful."

It was the crushing reply of a gentleman to an impertinence.

Mr. Labouchere now and then slips in his jokes and allusions. Recently, wishing to call Mr. Goschen a Shylock, he said that he believed Mr. Goschen's ancestors came from Venice, and that Mr. Goschen was a lineal descendant of the famous merchant who once lived there.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

The Epistle of Jacob.

Dr. Gallinger, member of Congress from the second district, has printed a letter concerning the part he has taken in the railway controversy before the legislature. The Doctor's newspaper training does not seem to serve him in this role. He writes too long a letter. The public care not for the position of a public man when it cannot be defined in a column. Very few men in official life have regretted that they did not write letters for publication. These often turn up to plague the writers. The issue was simply—did the Doctor use his position as chairman of the republican state committee to aid the speculation in the stock of the Montreal railroad? If he did, the shorter his letter the better. If he did not, he should say so succinctly. It is not important in this issue to prove the impropriety of Mr. Putney's conduct. That kind of retort is simply bringing forward the old case of Concord vs. Manchester. Nor is it essential that the political integrity of the democratic leaders be brought in question at this especial hearing. The Doctor says he is not a paid lobbyist, but is influenced solely by honorable, conscientious motives. Now that ought to be sufficient. A three-line letter would have contained this plea. Let Mr. Kimball, the managing director, cut this letter out and send it down the river to the careful treasurer of the Concord road and have the copy kept on file, and when the legislature of '89 calls for a statement of the sums the Concord road expended for "services" before the legislature of '87 the record will show a vindication more lasting and substantial than columns of letters.

The Democratic Machine in Boston.

Boston has the benefit of a postmaster who was appointed to the office not because he sought the position, but for the reason that he was well qualified for the discharge of its duties. While he is a good democrat he believes that the most important office in New England should be administered upon business principles. In short, he prefers to have as his assistants efficient clerks, even if they happen to be republicans, rather than be annoyed by incapable men, even if they are democrats. While this course meets the approval of business men of all parties, not only in Boston but throughout New England, a Boston politician is making a hue and cry that Gen. Corse does not carry out the democratic programme, and discharge competent and valuable men and put in their places men of doubtful ability, at the dictation of one or two political wire pullers who claim to run everything in the way of patronage. The postmaster will be sustained by the president. Mr. Cleveland, to the disgust of very many democrats, has in this case endeavored to observe the rule as to efficiency. He has at times been compelled to yield, against his own judgment, to the importunities of politicians, but his great hold on the people is the belief entertained by many that should he be re-elected there will be nothing like dictation from politicians during the second term. It is this alone which gives courage to Gov. Hill, who is ready to represent the machine in politics, as against the promised reform of Cleveland.

A BAD "SELL."

There was a decided "sell" in Dover last week. A man named Samuel W. Jordan died rather suddenly on Thursday, and some hours after his death the story was circulated that two doctors had found a bullet hole in the abdomen, though they were unable to trace the bullet, and the man before death had said nothing of having been shot, nor had his mother, at whose house he died, heard anything of any trouble. There was considerable excitement over the mysterious death, a report of which was sent over the wires to the associated press; and one of the Dover dailies (all of which are evening papers) got out an extra edition Friday morning, with a startling account of the strange occurrence. Oil was spread on the troubled waters by Undertaker McMahon, who as soon as he heard of the suspicions entertained explained that the fatal bullet hole was made by him with a knife some time after the man was dead, for the purpose of injecting a preserving fluid. This of course ended the sensation.

Our Daily Bread.

Heavy and sour bread or biscuit has a vast influence through the digestive organs upon the measure of health we enjoy. How important to our present happiness and future usefulness the blessing of good health and a sound constitution are, we can only realize when we have lost them, and when it is too late to repair the damage. Notwithstanding these facts, thousands of persons daily jeopardize not only their health, but their lives, and the healthis and lives of others, by using articles in the preparation of their food the purity and healthfulness of which they know nothing. Perhaps a few cents may have been saved, or it may have been more convenient to obtain the articles used, and the housekeeper takes the responsibility and possibly will never know the mischief that has been wrought. Paterfamilias may have spells of headache, the children may have lost their appetites, or look pale; if so, the true cause is rarely suspected. The weather, the lack of out-door air, or some other cause, is given, and the unwholesome, poisonous system of adulterated food goes on. Next to the flour, which should be made of good, sound wheat and not ground too fine, the yeast or baking powder, which furnishes the rising properties, is of the greatest importance, and of the two we prefer baking powder, and always use the Royal, as we thereby retain the original properties of the wheat, no fermentation taking place. The action of the Royal Baking Powder upon the dough is simply to swell it and form little cells through every part. These cells are filled with carbonic acid gas, which passes off during the process of baking.

The Royal is made from pure grape acid, and it is the action of this acid upon highly carbonized bicarbonate of soda that generates the gas alluded to: and those ingredients are so pure and so perfectly fitted, tested and adapted to each other, that the action is mild and permanent, and is continued during the whole time of baking, and no residue of poisonous ingredients remains to undermine the health, as has been lately shown, in some brands, but if the directions are followed, every article will be found sweet and wholesome.

Senator Chandler denies having written or authorized the letter imputed to him regarding the candidacy of Blaine and Sherman, or Blaine and Allison, on the presidential ticket; neither has he expressed the preferences alleged, or others. There can be no doubt that Mr. Chandler's preferences will be made known when he gets ready; he knows how to say what he wants to.

Dr. McGlynn, speaking at a business meeting of the Anti-Poverty society in New York on the evening of July 21st, said that the United Labor party would make no compromises with any party, but would nominate candidates for all offices at each election, including those for president and vice president of the United States.

At the meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editors' Association in Indianapolis on the 21st inst., Editor Ray of Shelbyville made a bitter speech against President Cleveland and his cabinet. He said Mr. Cleveland could not carry Indiana if renominated.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often disuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

At a meeting of the democratic city committee, held at the Court house last Friday evening, it was voted to hold the party's mayoralty caucus on Friday evening of this week. Major Davie Urch was chosen chairman of the city committee, to hold his office until Sept. 1st, 1888, and Thomas J. Donovan was chosen secretary. It was also voted that the city committee be composed of twice as many members from the several wards as there are aldermen elected in each.

The ward three democratic caucus will be held at the ward room on Thursday evening, July 28th, to nominate candidates to be supported at the coming municipal election.

The democrats of wards one and two will hold their caucuses on Wednesday evening, the 27th.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Lewis Drake of Boston is visiting his mother, Mrs. Olivia S. Drake, Mark street.

The family of Mr. Samuel S. Fletcher of this city are summering in a cottage at Kittery Point.

Mr. Daniel Mugridge and family, of Chicago, are visiting relatives and friends in this city.

Mr. Thomas Salter of New York is visiting his mother, Mrs. Henry P. Salter, on State street.

Miss Susie C. Hosmer of Dorchester, Mass., is visiting Mrs. Cushman-Tilton, on Washington street.

Mrs. George K. Haines of Manchester is visiting her mother, Mrs. Wm. A. Vaughan, on Manning street.

Mrs. Joseph H. Gardiner of this city is visiting her sister, Mrs. Eva Holbrook, at Peak's island, Portland harbor.

Mr. Emil C. Pfeiffer is second day-clerk and cashier at the Profile house, White mountains, for the summer.

Mr. Wm. Henry Fernald and family arrived from the west last week on a visit to his father, Mr. Wm. D. Fernald, of Deer street.

Mrs. Andrew P. Wendell and family will on Wednesday of this week open for the season their summer residence at Salisbury beach.

Mr. R. Hamilton Perkins and family, of Chicopee, Mass., arrived in this city on Saturday, on a visit to Mrs. Perkins' parents on Jefferson street.

Miss Susie Spalding is passing a few days at York beach with a friend, Miss McKim of Boston. Miss Lizzie Spalding will shortly go to East Derry, this state, for a summer sojourn.

Mr. William H. Pepper of Lake Villarge, wife and child, registered at the Kearsarge house last week. Mr. Pepper is a native of this city, but for thirty years past has been a resident of Lake Village.

MARITIME NOTES.

The fishing schooner Etta Clark, of Portland, arrived at this port on Friday of last week, and sailed from Sise's wharf Saturday afternoon with a party of ten persons from Haverhill, Mass., bound on a week's fishing excursion which they will probably extend as far east as Bar Harbor.

The schooners D. K. Ham, Triton and Estella, loaded with bricks for Boston, were towed to the lower harbor on Saturday morning. The Hattie Lewis, Capt. George Lowe, came down to Portsmouth bridge from Rowe's brickyard at Sturgeon creek, and went below at slack water in the afternoon.

The steamer Williamsport, from Philadelphia with 1664 tons of coal, the schooner Wm. H. Jourdan, from Baltimore with 735 tons, and the schooner James Warren, from Elizabethport with 210 tons, arrived at this port on the 23d inst., all to J. Albert Walker.

Two unknown fishermen, while pulling past C. E. Walker & Co.'s coal pocket in a dory on Sunday evening, heard a loud splash, and pulling into the dock rescued from the water Mr. James Crosby, who had accidentally fallen off the wharf.

Though the weather was not favorable on Sunday the Mystic made a trip to the Shoals with mails, mails and papers for the hotels, and a small party of passengers.

The schooner Agnes E. Dowes, Downs master, arrived in the lower harbor on Sunday from Block island, and reports mackerel very scarce there. On the way here she fell in with a small school, and took twenty-five barrels of large mackerel, which she salted. She also brought in two sword fish.

A despatch of July 22d from Glasgow, Scotland, announced that the cutter yacht Thistle would sail from that port for New York on the 25th, with a crew of forty men; and that her owner and captain are quite confident of capturing the America's cup.

Monday, July 25th, "Dog days begin." That is what the almanac says. If the weather is to be any hotter and more sticky than that of the past two or three weeks, it would be just as well to omit the usual dog days this year.

Mr. Thomas J. Sheehan, representative in the legislature from ward two, died on Sunday night about ten o'clock.

Mr. John E. Locke, one of the aldermen from ward one, it is said declines to be a candidate for re-election.

The frame of the building for the Catholic parochial school on the corner of Austin and Winter streets is up, and partly boarded.

The copious showers of Saturday afternoon and Sunday seemed to have no effect toward cooling the air; in fact, the temperature was higher on Saturday afternoon and evening than in the forenoon before the rain began to fall. There was considerable thunder with one shower, Saturday afternoon.

As Mr. John G. Parsons was mounting his horse on Saturday afternoon to ride him to water, the animal was startled by a piece of board on which he stepped, and which broke under his weight, flying up against him, and making a sudden jump to one side, threw Mr. Parsons off, his right wrist being badly broken by the fall.

A gang of telephone linemen were last week engaged in taking down the "dead" wires about this city. When the job is completed but about fifty of the original 250 lines will remain.

A barge carrying a large number of persons, apparently a picnic party, passed through Richards avenue and down Sagamore road early Sunday morning. They must have found picnicking rather moist pleasure, unless they picnicked in a barn.

Barnum's circus exhibited in Dover on Friday, and a special train was run from this city in the evening, returning after the performance was over. The number of passengers who went up was not large.

The York coaches went out all day Saturday with full loads of passengers and baggage for the beach houses, and the river and Shoals steamers were crowded with people for the harbor and island hotels. The Wentworth and Rye beach coaches also carried heavy loads, and on their evening trips were crowded, inside and out.

Many of the farmers in this section had large quantities of grass cut during the latter part of last week, and the rains and high temperature of Saturday and Sunday caused it to deteriorate rapidly. Unless they have a chance to "make" it before long, much of it will be of very inferior quality when cured.

The water-front of the buildings on Market street near Appledore wharf, occupied by Garrett, Strickland, Ward, Coleman, and Elder & Cotton, have been or are being repainted by W. J. Sampson & Co.'s force, thereby adding much to the good looks of things in that locality, especially as viewed from the river.

The Boston Traveller of last Saturday says "Rev. James DeNormandie's church is one of the few that will be kept open all summer."

The house of Moses Lord of Dover had a hole as big as a hogshead knocked in the roof, and the cellar wall put six inches out of line, by a stroke of lightning during the shower Saturday afternoon.

THE BAR HARBOR LIMITED EXPRESS.

The Boston Post, of Saturday in its railroad column said:

The experiment—for at first it appeared to be an experiment—of the Boston & Maine, Maine Central and Pullman Palace Car companies of running a fast limited train, composed entirely of vestibule Pullman cars, from Boston to Mt. Desert, has been eminently successful, and now the "cyclone," or the "duke train," as others style it, may be regarded as a permanent summer fixture between Boston and Mt. Desert. Since the first train of this kind left the Boston & Maine station on July 4th they have been running full, and again and again have been obliged to turn passengers away owing to lack of room. The Pullman Palace company have been building four elegant additional vestibule cars of the finest description, with all the improvements which experienced taste in car building could suggest, and at an expense of from $75,000 to $100,000, in order to meet the demands of this increased travel. These cars are expected to arrive in Boston some time the coming week, when the Bar Harbor limited will run with its full complement of cars. A full train as then made up will consist of a baggage car, dining car and four parlor cars, and as a whole it will be without exception the finest train in the country. The dining cars are fitted up with taste and elegance, and the menu presented would tempt the appetite of the most dyspeptic of travellers. This train, as it is now run, makes the fastest time of any similar train on the continent, running the 300 miles from Boston to Mt. Desert Ferry in less than 500 minutes. The time made is better even than that of the fast limited on the Pennsylvania, which, by the way, is the only other road in this country that runs vestibule Pullman trains. The New York & New England is now running through trains to and from Washington in connection with the Boston and Mt. Desert limited.

The Pepperell Manufacturing Co. of Biddeford has declared a dividend of $80 a share, and the Laconia Co. a dividend of $12 a share.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

ONE BAD DOG less.

One Barney McKone of Dover, being very ill one day last week, Father Murphy was requested to call and see him, and did so. As the clergyman entered McKone's house he was received by a huge Newfoundland dog, which seized him by the calf of one leg, and had to be beaten off. Father Murphy reported the case to the city marshal, who immediately despatched an officer to McKone's to despatch the dog, but when he got there the dog was gone, and information as to his whereabouts was refused. As this was the second time McKone had concealed the dog to save his life after he had bitten a person, legal measures were at once taken by the marshal to compel the dangerous brute's owner to produce him, and on Friday evening a bullet from an officer's pistol was put through the dog's head.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is the often singular that those afflicted with a fatal disease should not make it the object of their lives to find themselves of it. Deceptive remedies occupy thousands of pretentious to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful paliatives.

But there is never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be painful, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and dangerous cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Naval Intelligence.

Capt. Rush R. Wallace will be relieved of the command of the Washington navy yard in September by Capt. Richard W. Meade, now a member of the naval inventory board.

Commodore James A. Greer has been detached from duty as president of the examining board, July 31st, and ordered to command the European station, August 24th.

Lieut. J. V. B. Bleecker has been ordered to duty as inspector of steel for the new cruisers.

Lieut. Downs L. Wilson has been detached from torpedo instruction, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. J. M. Robinson has been detached from the Minnesota, and ordered to duty as steel inspector for the new cruisers.

Secretary Whitney on the 22d inst. appointed the following board of officers to test the capacity of the new cruiser Atlanta for carrying the eight-inch rifles which form part of her armament: Commander Caspar F. Goodrich, Lieutenant A. R. Cowden, Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn, and Assistant Naval Constructor Lewis Nixon. This board will accompany the Atlanta on an extended cruise, and subject her and her guns to a severe test in all sorts of wind and weather, to determine whether she is thoroughly fitted for naval warfare as at present armed.

At Lawrence, Mass., July 22d, Horace E. Stone, a brakeman on the Boston & Maine railroad, slipped from a car which had been backed upon a siding in the Boston & Maine freight yard, fell beneath the wheels, and was almost instantly killed. Deceased was an Englishman about forty years old, and leaves a wife and three daughters.

How I Felt.
Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—ROBERT DAVIS, American House, Boston.

The water furnished the people of Exeter by the Water Works Co. is pronounced by Prof. Angell to be unfit for any domestic purpose, being full of animal and vegetable matter. The board of health has ordered that no more water be taken from the pond which has been the main source of supply.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Price, 50 cents a box.

Judge Gardner, of the Massachusetts supreme court, has improved so much in health that his London physician pronounces him fit to travel, and it is expected that he will reach home Aug. 8th.

"I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla half enough," says a mother whose son, almost blind with scrofula, was cured by this medicine.

Joseph C. Cram of Deerfield is said to be the oldest singing-school teahcer in New England. He has taught 372 schools during the past fifty-two years, and in that time he has had 20,000 scholars.

This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Old Folks at Home,

Or elsewhere, need a tonic now and then to sustain them under growing infirmities. No safer or more thorough invigorant for age and the delicate can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a seasonable medicine in those ailments of common occurrence—liver complaint, indigestion and bowel disorders; a pure botanic safeguard against malaria, and a reliable means of counteracting rheumatism. To the convalescent, it is a valuable aid in the recovery of strength, and to the debilitated, nervous invalid it yields tranquil slumber and renewed appetite—two prime factors in the restoration of vigor. Being of purely botanic origin, it is free from those objections urged against mineral remedies difficult or impossible of assimilation by the system, and which impair the tone of the stomach, which the Bitters, on the contrary, strengthens and regulates. It is indorsed and prescribed by the medical fraternity.

Ex-Congressman Asa A. Glover died last week at Georgetown, Ky., from heart disease, aged seventy. He was a relative of President Cleveland, and a native of New York.

James Pyle's Pearline is highly indorsed by housekeepers and others who have tried it. No soap is required, and cleaning is done with a saving of much time and labor. All housekeepers should use it.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

The expenditure of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

KASKINE,

THE NEW QUININE.

No Bad Effect.
No Headache.

Cures Quickly.
Pleasant, Pure,

A Specific for Malaria, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration, Dyspepsia, and all Germ Diseases.

A powerful Tonic that the most delicate stomach will bear. The most Scientific and Successful Blood Purifier.

Twelve years ago I was a Hudson River pilot, and contracted malaria—the first real illness I ever had; and it held me in its grip for six years. Many times have I stood at the wheel with my overcoat buttoned to the chin, shivering in the hot summer sun. For six years I took quinine in large doses, with no lasting good result, although there was plenty of its bad. In 1887 I saw an advertisement of Kaskine, the new quinine. "That's what I need," I said "anything but the old quinine, which, with malaria to help it, had nearly used me up." After some weeks' use of Kaskine it cured me thoroughly, made me well, and I have never had a particle of malaria since.
WILLIAM TEED,
183 East 124th Street, New York.

Seven years ago I had an attack of bilious remittent fever, which ran into intermittent malaria. I tried all the known remedies, such as arsenic, mercury and quinine. The latter was administered to me in heavy and continued doses. Malaria brought on nervous prostration and dyspepsia, from which I suffered everything. Last winter I heard of Kaskine and began using it. A few bottles of the wonderful drug cured me. Malaria and dyspepsia disappeared, and as you have seen a June day brighter for the summer storm that had passed across the sky, so the cloud left my life and my health became steady and strong.
MRS. J. LAWSON,
141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I contracted malaria in the Michigan Lake District, and for eight years suffered from a chronic type of intermittent malarial fever with all its distressing symptoms. Used all the leading remedies, including quinine, under the best medical advice, but received no radical benefit. In the summer of 1886 I first tried Kaskine, the new quinine, and it cured me. It was a true scientific healing, and results so real cannot be disputed."
DAVID J. NORTON, State St., Albany, N. Y.

I live in a malarious neighborhood, and though a strong man, contracted dumb ague in its worst form about two years ago. The poison went all through and nothing was able to touch it—I often took thirty grains or quinine at a dose. It broke up my sleep, made me nearly wild, and so weakened my stomach that it finally refused to tolerate any more quinine. In 1885 I ran down from 175 pounds to 97, and was a mere bundle of bones. My doctor gave me up. He said: "I might pour pounds of quinine down your throat and it would don't help you." I then gave up quinine and concluded to take my chances. I heard of Kaskine, and without the least faith began using it. In one week I was better, began to sleep, have appetite and gain strength. In a month I was back at my work. Never had a day's sickness since. Malaria was killed in my system. I am an astonishment to myself and friends. If Kaskine didn't do this I don't know what did.
FREDERICK A. MILLER,
630 East 157th Street, New York.

P. S.—For the absolute truth of the above statement I refer to the following gentlemen, who are personally acquainted with the facts: Mr. Alexander Weir, 626 158th St.; Mr. George Seelman, 158th Street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. A. I will also reply to letters of inquiry.

"In its power to eradicate malaria from the system Kaskine is a medicinal revelation. Mine was about as bad a case of this disorder as could be, and yet Kaskine thoroughly cured me after I had been dosed to no purpose with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœia."

The Great Problem.

Following closely on the heels of the labor question come another which supplements it and adds features of great importance. It is: How shall the increasing excess of female population be supported?

In the United States the female population preponderates in seventeen states, and these are among the most populous in the Union. They are Alabama, Connecticut, Georgia, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. The women in these States aggregate a decided majority. The large number of workingmen out of employment naturally deprives many women of the support to which they have been previously accustomed, while the corresponding proportion of women who are turned off from places where they were formerly able to win a subsistence greatly increases the number of this dependent class. It is estimated that in the United States 150,000 workingmen are suffering from enforced idleness. There must be also a large number of women who are alike sufferers. All are hoping for good times to come, when prosperity will visit all these distressed persons. But if good times should never come what then? The prices of all articles of prime necessity are very low and no increase of production is demanded. Many mills and factories are idle because they are not needed to do the work. The army of the unemployed may be able to live on hope for a season but finally the end comes. They cannot keep up that indefinitely. What then?

This is a great problem which is to be solved. A destructive war or a terrible pestilence which would kill of some of the superfluous human millions would even up the account in some respects. But war would only increase the number of women in proportion to the men, and many a bread winner would be lost to them. In every way the prospect is not bright for the softer sex. In default of any other remedy the men might been driven from the clerkships and places in stores and offices and sent into the West and South, where there are lands to be tilled. True, they would overcrop the markets, but then they could eat their products. The agriculturist need never starve. And while the men are occupying the vacant lands the surplus women can take their places in stores, offices, factories, and in all places where the labor is suited to the female condition. All this may seem useless and absurd now, but these are problems which are to be solved sooner or later, and sooner than many expect. The discussion may be premature, but it is practical. If not, why?—New Orleans Picayune.

Oats and Matrimony.

When the waving surface of the green oat-fields begin to assume a golden tint, when the swelling heads of Indian corn hang heavy on their stalks, and the sweating peasant prepares for the last act of his hard summer labor, then also do the good wives in the village begin to talk of matters which have been lying dormant till now.

Well-informed people may have hinted before that such and such a youth had been seen more than once stepping in at the gate of the red or green house in the long village street, and more than one gossip had been ready to identify the speckled carnations adorning the hat of some youthful Konrad or Thomas as having been grown in the garden of a certain Anna or Maria; but, after all, these had been but mere conjectures, for nothing positive could be known as yet, and ill-natured people were apt to console themselves with the reflection that St. Katharine's day was a long way off, and that there's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip.

But now the great day which will dispel all doubt, and put an end to suspense, is approaching—that day which will destroy so many illusions and fulfill so few; for now the sun had given the last touch to the ripened grain and soon the golden sheaves are lying piled together on the clean-shorn stubble-field, only waiting to be carted away. Then one evening when the sun is sinking low on the horizon, and clouds of dust along the high road announce the approach of the returning cattle, a drum is heard in the village street, and a voice proclaims that "to-morrow the oats are to be fetched home." Like wildfire this news has spread throughout the village; the cry is taken up and repeated from mouth to mouth with various intonations of hope, curiosity, anticipation of triumph—"To-morrow the oats will be fetched!"

A stranger, no doubt, fails to perceive anything particularly thrilling about this intelligence, having no reason to suppose the bringing in of oats to be in any way more interesting than the carting of potatoes or wheat; and to the majority of land-owners the thought of to-morrow's work is chiefly connected with dry, prosaic details, such as repairing the harness and oiling the cart-wheels; but there are others in the village on whom the announcement has an electrifying effect, and for whom the words are synonymous with love and wedding-bells.—Among the Transylvania Saxons, in Popular Science Monthly.

Proof Better Than Assertion.

With such proof as the following letter from W. H. Dean, of No. 278 Seventh St., New York, it is not necessary to make the bare assertion that Allcock's Porous Plasters cure lumbago. Mr. Dean says:

Some ten days ago I was taken with a very violent pain in the small of my back. It was so severe that I could hardly breathe; every movement caused great agony. I finally found out it was lumbago. Being entirely helpless a friend sent to a druggist and got two Allcock's Porous Plasters; these were well warmed and applied to my back, one above the other. In half an hour, to my great delight and surprise, I found the pain began to abate. In two hours I was able to work out and attend to my business, the pain being almost gone. Next day I was all right, but continued wearing the plasters for a week.

Much damage was done by the flooding of culverts, washing of streets, etc., in Manchester, Hooksett and other places in this state, by the recent heavy rains. Roads were badly gullied, and in many places made impassable.

No Wonder They Protest.

Washington despatches say that a recent publication issued under the authority of the navy department, containing all the general orders and circulars issued by the department from 1863 to 1887, has created quite a stir in naval circles. One of the features of the publication is a list of names of all officers who have been court-martialled. There is nothing said about the charges against the officers, or whether they were convicted or were found not guilty. Such of the officers interested as are yet in the naval service have vigorously protested against the further circulation of the book until a feature so obnoxious to them has been eliminated. There have been 450 naval officers tried by court-martial since the war ended. Fully two-thirds of these were commissioned officers, and are still in the service. As a majority of them have taken occasion to protest, the mail of the secretary has visibly increased.

Some slight indignation on the part of the officers alluded to is not unnatural. Many of the men whose names appear in this "black list" were honorably acquitted; others were charged with minor infractions of discipline, or slight offences which in no wise compromised them as gentlemen, officers and seamen; others were court-martialled for what were clearly accidental happenings; none of those still remaining in the service, it is to be presumed, were justly charged with any disgraceful offence; and as all have once paid the full penalty affixed to their respective fault, error or misadventure, the propriety and justice of renewing and continuing their punishment by such a publication of their names is not apparent.

Unlucky Poachers.

The Gloucester fishing schooners Col. J. H. French and Argonaut were on the 24th inst. engaged in fishing off East Point, Prince Edward Island, their boats being close in shore with their seines down, when the Dominion cutter Critic pounced upon them and captured seine-boats, seines and the crews of both schooners, with the exception of one man on each vessel. The ship-keepers ran away from the cutter with the schooners, but it was thought could not get home with them, as the Col. J. H. French is over eighty tons, and the Argonaut about seventy-four. The latter is owned by James G. Tarr & Bros., and the other by Capt. John Christopher.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., July 25th.

Rev. Hezekiah Mitchell of the Methodist church at Old Orchard, accompanied by his daughter, arrived at his brother's (Mr. Lemuel Mitchell) during a drenching shower Saturday evening, for a few days' sojourn here among friends. He preached yesterday at the Christian church, the desk of which remains vacant since Elder Maben's resignation and departure.

Mayor Sheldon of Haverhill, Mass., and Cashier Jacques of the First National bank of that city, arrived at the Fairmount house on Saturday.

Despite the rain there were many arrivals on Saturday, and York has more patrons to-day than ever before at this time in the season.

The railroad will soon be finished as far as Hotel Bartlett, though not in season for the writer to lose his wager of a hat.

The postmaster at York Corner, and who lives in the same building, has got the following notice posted on the front office door:

"We don't want the earth! but we do want Sunday for ourself. This office will be open on Sundays hereafter as follows: From 9:00 to 10:00 A. M., 12:00 to 1:00 and 6:00 to 7:00 P. M., for the accommodation of patrons. During all the rest of the day, all persons are requested to not loiter around the store nor about the premises."

Tremendous showers Saturday and at night set in for a storm, and it did storm nearly all night; then Sunday came with copious showers throughout the day, and at this writing (six o'clock A. M. Monday) the fog is thirteen inches thick. There are hundreds of tons of hay out which must spoil. Miller C. Moulton has ten tons out.

We do not wish to charge any man with robbery, but we say boldly and with impunity that one James E. Barrett of Epping, N. H., has robbed York of one of the very fairest of its daughters, in the person of Miss Lizzie, the eldest daughter of Mr. Benjamin Trafton. They were married July 12th, and are passing the honeymoon at the home of the bride's parents. We sincerely wish them a long and pleasant journey through life, with all the happiness attainable. May success ever attend them.

Farmer's samples of fruit and produce, also fresh fish and beef steak, will be accepted at the office of the writer, and such notice taken of them as the size of the samples and quality thereof will merit. The columns of this paper will announce all receipts. The larger the quantity the larger the "obituary."

A plank sidewalk is being laid from Norwood Farm to the beach at York harbor, a distance of half a mile or more.

Mrs. Juliette Jennings, nee Trafton, and her husband, have been spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. Benjamin Trafton and wife. They leave for Haverhill this morning, happy as on their wedding day.

A postmaster was asked the other day if he knew the language of postage stamps. He said "Yes; a stamp put anywhere except upon the upper right hand corner, and right side up, signifies, 'I am a fool.'" P.

If the democrats should prove to be such confounded fools as to nominate Cleveland they would not carry a single state nor get a single electoral vote north of the old Mason & Dixon line, and they would lose Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee south of that line, and ought to lose everything. You can't fool straight democrats a second time with the same hypocrite.—Foster's Democrat.

That would seem to dispose of the case as far as Cleveland is concerned, although we may expect democratic journals which sustain the administration which sustains them, to advance, even if their editors do not hold to, a different opinion.

The Nashua Telegraph, whose editor is a member of the legislature, and one of the committee before whom is being heard the railroad controversy, seems to be decidedly hostile to the Boston & Maine railroad. Of course the editorials taking sides in the contest are not written by the representative, but somehow the journalists in and about the legislature have doubles who adopt the style and manner of their editors, so that oft-times their editorials are thought to resemble the regular editors' productions even more than those of the editors themselves. It is a strange world.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discussed their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as the oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

The republicans of ward two will hold a caucus in the court house at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 27th, to nominate candidates for ward officers to be supported at the coming municipal election. PER ORDER.

A QUEER NESTING PLACE.

As Mr. George E. Hobbs, brakeman on the 8:20 A. M. train from this city to Boston, was passing through the cars last Saturday morning, he thought he heard the twitter of a bird, which he finally traced to the stove, on unlocking and opening which he discovered an English sparrow's nest, on which was a sparrow, sitting on four eggs. He took the bird out in his hand, and on putting it back it settled down on the eggs again as though the interruption were the most common thing in the world. The car, No. 20, is in constant use, and the stove has been locked since the advent of warm weather, so the birds must have carried the material for the nest down the funnel, and down hundreds of miles in doing it. The construction of a nest in such a place and under such adverse circumstances speaks well for the enterprise and persistence of the little intruders, but not much for their good judgment, as the constant jarring of the car when running is about as likely to make batter of the contents of the egg shells as the bird is to hatch young ones from them.

MARITIME NOTES.

The vessels which dropped down to the lower harbor on Saturday and Sunday remained there through Monday; the wind was southerly, and the weather very thick outside. The lower harbor was crowded with vessels lying at anchor.

The sloop Screamer, Capt. Littlefield, arrived at this port on the 25th inst. from Rockport, Mass., with 118 tons of granite to S. Philbrick & Co.

The schooner A. H. Howe, from Newport News with 610 tons of coal, the Lizzie Heyer, from Elizabethport with 592 tons, and the T. F. Dixon, from Rondout with 1300 bbls. cement, arrived at this port on the 25th inst., all to J. Albert Walker.

PERSONAL.

Mr. George Shea of Philadelphia is a guest at the residence of Mr. C. H. Mendum on Middle street.

Mr. M. M. Collis and family have gone to Palmer, Mass., where Mr. Collis formerly lived, for a summer vacation.

Messrs. E. P. Burleigh of Boston, A. A. Payne of Worcester, Mass., E. S. Owen of Kansas City, Mo., and Joseph E. Odiorne of Louisville, Ky., all formerly of this city, are now visiting relatives and friends here.

Messrs. Smith R. Treadwell of Brooklyn, N. Y., and James P. Treadwell of Boston, arrived in this city several days ago on a visit to their father, City Treasurer Treadwell. Mr. Smith R. Treadwell returned to Brooklyn on Monday, but his family will remain here for the present.

Mrs. Harry Salter of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting her parents, Mr. E. A. Peterson and wife, of Greenland. Mrs Wendell Peterson, infant and maid, of New York, are also on a visit there.

Mr. Charles H. Morss, superintendent of schools, is with his wife at Middleboro', Mass., and Mr. John Pickard, principal of the high school, is at Canterbury, this state.

A night-blooming cereus in the open window of Mr. Josiah Grover's residence on State street attracted the admiration of the passers-by on Monday evening, the fragrance from two beautiful flowers being perceptible many feet away. There are twenty-three more buds on the plant, which is a very fine one. It had many visitors throughout the evening, up to a late hour.

St. John's and Christ church Sunday schools have a picnic at Seavey's island, navy yard, to-day. The Methodist Sunday school will have a picnic at Stratham to-morrow.

The St. Mary's Benevolent Association of this city will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday, August 3d, at Pinkham's grove, Dover point.

The Court street Christian society will have a picnic in the grove near Jenness' beach, Rye, on Wednesday, if fair weather.

The Rockingham County Temperance association will meet at the Hedding camp grounds on Thursday, July 28th.

The Granite State base ball club of this city challenge any club in Portsmouth to play a game at any time. For further information address George Hector.

The Strafford Guards Veteran Association, of Dover, will hold their third reunion on Thursday, July 28th, at Fort Constitution.

It was announced on Monday evening that a gentleman who has been engaged in active business as a manufacturer in this city for several years past, had been arrested and taken before a United States commissioner on a charge of having embezzled a large sum, $3000 or thereabouts, from the government while a paymaster's clerk in the navy, and that he had been held in custody in default of the bail required.

At South Berwick, last Saturday night, five members of a fire company and a horse that was assisting to haul a hand tub to a fire were prostrated by lightning, the men being insensible for some time, and one having his feet burned. The horse was knocked down, but not much hurt.

The latest exposition of adulteration in food concerns lard, which some of the large manufacturers mix with beef suet and cotton-seed oil. This mixture is not harmful, unless some of the acid used in treating the cotton-seed oil fails to be extracted; but it is not lard. In this city there need be no trouble in getting lard which the purchasers can be sure is hog's lard and nothing else, as Charles H. Clark & Co. have still on hand, in tubs and cans, lard of their own rendering and packing, put down last winter.

We have received from Lieut. W. I. Moore, U. S. N., attached to the Adams, now at the Hawaiian islands, the Hawaiian Gazette (weekly, $5 per year) of June 28th, and the Daily Bulletin Summary (semi-monthly) of July 5th, both published at Honolulu. Both are largely filled with matter relating to the recent revolution in that kingdom, then in progress, and the "government" is spoken of in very plain terms. Walter Murray Gibson, the obnoxious minister of foreign affairs, is called "W. M. Kipikona" in Kanaka, and the Summary announces "by authority" his resignation on July 1st, and the appointment of another man in his place. The Summary also gives a six-column report of the celebration of the 4th of July. A dance was given on board the Adams by the officers on the afternoon of June 29th.

Chief Engineer Thom Williamson, U. S. N., has been appointed superintendent of the state, war and navy departments building at Washington, vice Snyder, deceased. Chief Engineer Williamson was formerly fleet engineer of the Pacific squadron, and has at times been on duty at this station; of late he has been at his home in Warrenton, Va., waiting orders. It is said that he was not an applicant for the place, but was selected by the secretaries of state, war, and the navy.

A gang of bridge-builders were sent from Portsmouth bridge last week to assist in constructing the railroad bridge at Brave Boat harbor; about five sections of piling remained to be driven on Saturday. J. C. Stewart & Co., the contractors, have a number of teams engaged, hauling the bridge materials from York. The rails were on Saturday in place from the Kittery station to the crossing of the Brave Boat Harbor road, near the house of Daniel Bedell, which is within about two miles of York river. Stewart & Co., who are also the contractors for the York river bridge, are pushing the work on that structure, and will have it finished in a few days.

The Marshall house, at York Harbor, had 200 guests on Saturday night. Mr. Bragdon's lease of the Marshall house stable expired last year, and this year it is conducted by Mr. Marshall, who has re-stocked it with fresh horses and new carriages; Mr. Moses H. Tilton of Portsmouth is superintendent, and harnesses up some of the finest turn-outs to be seen at the beach.

There are two tents of Oldtown Indians camped back of the beach at York harbor, near the Marshall house. They arrived there the middle of last week, and are doing a thriving business selling small articles of their own manufacture to the many summer visitors.

There are ten stores, besides a barber shop, bakery, pool room and several minor establishments, on the ocean front between the end of York beach and Union Bluff.

The mail between York village and Cape Neddick is carried by Mr. G. W. S. Putnam; there are two mails each way daily.

"Handsome is that handsome does." The reporter of the Monitor, in describing the attendants upon a session of the legislative committee on railroads, speaks of the "handsome president of the Worcester & Nashua and Manchester & Lawrence railroads."

The Boston Post remarks: "Eugene Higgins, appointment clerk in the United States treasury department, and Morris A. Thomas, indian commissioner, appear to have taken an active and unseemly part in controlling the recent political meetings in Baltimore. These men ought never to have been appointed; they ought not to be retained."

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

As one of Barnum's circus trains was leaving Dover for Nashua shortly after midnight on Friday night, a locomotive and two cars left the rails. A wrecking crew went to Dover from this city, and at six o'clock Saturday morning the delayed train started for Nashua, six hours late.

T. J. Garion's barn in Rollinsford was burned by lightning on Saturday night, with its contents. Loss $1500; partially insured.

The freshet in Lamprey river at Newmarket on Monday morning carried away a large part of the old dam of the Newmarket cotton mills, also the foundation of the No. 1 picker mill. The engines and derrick employed for some time past in constructing a new dam were swept away. The loss cannot be estimated at present. This accident will not interfere with the running of the mills, which are provided with steam power in case of damage to the dam, or drought.

Two men from South Berwick and two from Eliot were arrested in Dover on "circus day" for drunkenness, and fined in the police court next day.

BASE BALL AT YORK HARBOR.

The York Harbor base-ball team has been organized for the summer of '87; B. E. B. Mitchell of Boston has been elected captain, and Dr. Stackpole has kindly allowed them the use of his field at the harbor for playing grounds. The first game was played Thursday, the 21st inst., with the team from the Sea Cottage. The nine played a good game, but showed lack of practise, particularly in the pitching department. The Sea Cottagers played a steady game; Herson pitched well, while Brooks at second took all that came in his way. The full score:

The Augustinian Trouble.

News has been received in Lawrence, Mass., that Rev. Father Gilmore has been deposed from the office of provincial of the Augustine order, and father McEvoy placed in that office. The change grew out of the failure of the Augustinian bank four years ago. Father Gilmore was then pastor of St. Mary's church, and half a million dollars disappeared. Father McEvoy was elected to pay off the debt, and did so to the extent of $100,000. Then father Gilmore, who caused the trouble, was elected to succeed him. The election was fraudulent, and is now declared void.

I have not been troubled with the rheumatism since being cured by taking Athlophoros, and can recommend it to all as being the only medicine that I ever found that seemed to help me at all in that disease. Edwin Sears, Provincetown, Massachusetts.

Francis M. Kellar has murdered his wife near Shelbyville, Ill. She had six toes on each foot and six fingers on each hand, and when children were born to them they were marked in a similar manner. This caused trouble in the family, and finally resulted in hatred and murder. Judge Lynch will probably dispose of him.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—ROBERT DAVIS, American House, Boston.

Michael J. Dixon and John P. Ryan of New York city were killed by lightning while fishing from a small boat on Princess bay, Staten island, on Friday afternoon last. Dixon's body was knocked overboard and lost, and Ryan's was stripped almost naked. Isaac Smith, also in the boat, was knocked senseless, and did not recover for half an hour.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Price, 50 cents a box.

In the Francis J. Cutting will case at New York referee Cole has decided that General William Cutting should pay back to the other heirs $1,925,169.85.

Pimples, boils and other humors are liable to appear when the blood gets heated. To cure them, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Harry, the seventeen-year-old son of Captain H. A. Pitcher of Rockland, Me., was drowned at Bangor, Friday afternoon.

Toothache is cured by St. Jacobs Oil. It acts like magic. Price fifty cents.

Mrs. Dora Randall is supposed to have eloped from New Bedford, Mass., with Eben Rounseville, a recent graduate of the reformatory prison.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unrips fowl, Impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

The Old Folks at Home,

Or elsewhere, need a tonic now and then to sustain them under growing infirmities. No safer or more thorough invigorant for age and the delicate can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a seasonable medicine in view of the sickness of commonest occurrence—liver complaint, indigestion and bowel disorders; a pure botanic safeguard against malaria, and a reliable means of counteracting rheumatism. To the convalescent, it is a valuable aid in the recovery of strength, and to the debilitated, nervous invalid it yields tranquil slumber and renewed appetite—two prime factors in the restoration of vigor. Being of purely botanic origin, it is free from those objections urged against mineral remedies difficult or impossible of assimilation by the system, and which impair the tone of the stomach, which the Bitters, on the contrary, strengthens and regulates. It is indorsed and prescribed by the medical fraternity.

Life in Kentucky.

A bloody fight began Saturday in Ball county, Ky., and at last accounts was still progressing. The sheriff summoned a posse to arrest the Turners, living on Yellow creek in that county, who resisted, and in the fight that ensued George Thomas of the posse, and George Turner of the other side, were killed. Each side has been reinforced, and the fight is raging hotter than at first. It is probable that the government will be called upon to enforce order.

I was troubled with neuralgia severely at intervals. I obtained a bottle of Athlophoros and have experienced great relief from it. I consider it a very good medicine which will do all it is warranted to do. Matthias R. Wheeler, Three Rivers, Mass.

The children who died on the 24th were the only ones remaining to the afflicted parents.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a loathsome disease should make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of taste are affected so to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. "Turn The Rascals Out."

Railroad Commissioner Putney's brother is still kept in place in the revenue office at Portsmouth, to the disgust of every democrat in the state, except this same little coterie of bosses.—People & Patriot.

That is about as much as the editor of the P. & P., who attempts to kill two birds with one stone, knows about it. The office of collector of internal revenue is one requiring a vast amount of detail clerical work. It had been brought from a comparatively indifferent condition to rate with the best conducted offices in the country. This was in a great measure due to the clerical ability and official training of Deputy Putney, who is a man abundantly capable of earning a good salary anywhere. He did not ask to be retained, and was ready to aid the new collector in giving him all the information in his power needed for a successful conduct of the office. The newly appointed collector, when he saw what was required of a deputy in the office here, and witnessed the excellent mode in which the books had been kept, was not slow in appreciating the fact that a trained man in a place where the officer is under a heavy bond and is charged with every possible kind of shortage in the accounts, was too valuable an aid to be exchanged for any new or uninformed clerk. The collector had the courage of his convictions. He regarded the obligations of his bond and the duties and responsibilities of his office of some consequence. These places are not mere sinecures. The proper discharge of their duties requires a degree of accuracy in book-keeping and familiarity with accounts, etc., which many persons, even after long effort, fail to acquire. There are instances all over the country where newly-appointed officers entered upon their duties with no intention of in any sense disregarding the reasonable claims of their political associates; but where it has been found that the oath of office, the bonds required, the duties involved, could only be guarded by the aid of men either experienced or at least capable of an immediate grasp of the peculiar duties of the place, old clerks have been retained. The new incumbents have soon learned that he serves his party best who serves his country first, and a successful administration of a public office is of far more consequence politically as well as practically, than is the yielding to the hue and cry of men who either do not know concerning what they complain, or if they do, seem to delight to rebuke some official under the guise of advocating the rights of the party, in the belief that the average democrat will not stop to consider the circumstances, but will conclude with the editor that the official is indifferent to his party obligations.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., July 26th.

Mr. Henry F. Blaney and Miss Carrie E. Clough were married by Rev. Eugene E. Colburn on Sunday evening last; they will reside in North Kittery. We wish the young couple many happy anniversaries of their wedding day.

The X. L. C. R. club gave a very pleasing dramatic entertainment in the Second Methodist church vestry on Monday evening of this week; the choir received some fine selections, and refreshments were served. The room was well filled with an appreciative audience. The home talent displayed was of a high order, and we cannot do justice to the occasion by any terms of commendation we might add at this time. This club is composed mainly of the young people of the Methodist society, who have since its organization about a year ago given several first-class entertainments, which have been well attended and the proceeds liberal, which will be devoted to purchasing a new organ for the Sunday school. We regret exceedingly that it has not been our good fortune to attend any of these entertainments before, and we came near missing this one; however, we got there, and what looked like a bad beginning proved to have a very pleasant ending.

Mr. Moses G. Berry left town this week for Moosehead lake, where he will be employed in the construction of a new railroad.

Miss Bertha J. Grovenor, daughter of Rev. Francis Grovenor, who has been passing a portion of her vacation at her home in the village, will this week go to Hallowell, Me., where she will pass the remainder of the vacation with her sister before opening her school at Rollinsford, N. H.

The funeral services of the late Frank Bartlett, Esq., at his residence in North Kittery on Saturday afternoon last, were conducted by Rev. Francis Grovenor; despite the pouring rain the house was filled with mourning relatives and friends of the deceased. The floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful. A delegation from Piscataqua Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Portsmouth, were in attendance and conducted the services of the order.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., July 25th.

The heavy rains of the past week, although very much needed by growing crops, have been very undesirable for the haymakers. But there is no great loss without some small gain somewhere, and the abundant rain has started the grass so that there will be a bountiful crop of fall feed.

Mr. Jonathan P. Fletcher of South Acton, Mass., is spending a few days here with his sister, Mrs. Wm. J. Paul.

Miss Inez Remick returned home on the 22d inst. from Great Falls, where she has been engaged at dressmaking.

Charles B. Remick, employed by the Boston & Maine railroad as brakeman, was at home Sunday, the 24th, at the residence of Mr. John W. Remick.

Miss Mary A. Staples of Haverhill, Mass., is for a few weeks at home with her mother, Mrs. R. H. Staples of this town.

Miss Lizzie A. Brooks is contemplating a trip to Kansas the last of August to visit her aunt, Mrs. Conklin, and will pass two or three months away. Miss Brooks is organist at the Congregational church; she will be greatly missed, and the people will probably appreciate her services more highly than ever on her return. We hope she may have a safe and pleasant visit to the west.

Mrs. Frank Kennard of Marblehead, Mass., is here with her son a visit to her father, Mr. Oliver Athorne.

Mr. T. F. Staples, who is employed in Boston, spent Sunday with his family here, returning to-day.

Mr. Albert Shapleigh, employed in the Salem car shops, spent Sunday at his home near the Congregational church in this town.

Mr. T. M. Dixon, the photographic artist of South Berwick, was here Sunday on a visit to his parents, Mr. Samuel Dixon and wife.

A large number of young people belonging here but employed elsewhere are now or have been at home on summer vacations.

Sick Headache, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Distress after Eating, Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Pain in the Side, Coated Tongue, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sallow Skin, and all disorders caused by a bilious state of the system.

It is no longer necessary to scour one's insides out with the old-fashioned purgative pills, and they are fast giving way to the gentle action of this mild and pleasant remedy.

Booth's Little Pills are entirely unlike all other pills, and are a marvel to all who use them. They are very small, strictly vegetable, and as the dose is only one or two pills, they are readily taken by young or old without a thought of the presence of medicine. Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often disuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

The Mystic Veterans are notified to meet at Mystic wharf this (Wednesday) forenoon at ten o'clock, for the annual picnic of the association. PER ORDER

WARD TWO.

The republicans of ward two will hold a caucus in the court house at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, July 28th, to nominate candidates for ward officers to be supported at the coming municipal election. PER ORDER.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, July 26th.

James Ryan, for assaulting Mary P. Martin, was fined $3, with $6.90 costs; paid.

Mark Kelly, for drunkenness, was ordered to Brentwood $9.90 worth, in default of the cash.

George W. T. Brown, for drunkenness, was ordered to the county farm for ninety days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Fred A. Scadding of this city is visiting friends in Connecticut for a few weeks.

Mr. William Maloon and wife of High street have as guests Mr. L. A. Bruce and wife of Winchester, Mass.

Mrs. Samuel G. Hooper of Nashua, formerly of Portsmouth, is passing a few weeks here with her daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Shannon, and other relatives.

Mr. George Watkins, of the New York Sun, who has passed the last ten days in his native city, leaves to-day for New York and new work. He looks vigorous enough to make the round trip.

STEAMER OCEANIC.

On and after Aug. 1st the running time of the steamer Oceanic will be changed, as follows:

Leave this city for Isles of Shoals at 8:00 and 11:15 A. M. and 5:45 P. M. Returning, leave Star Island at 6:00 and 9:20 A. M. and 3:30 P. M., and leave Appledore at 6:10 and 9:30 A. M. and 3:45 P. M.

Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays will be "excursion days," when half-rates will be charged, instead of only Monday and Thursday as heretofore.

The boat on her afternoon trip from the islands will connect with the 5:15 train for Concord, thus giving people from the interior of the state an excellent opportunity to visit the islands and get home the same day if they so wish.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

Bad wash-outs are reported on the Maine Central railroad, and four trains were stalled at Augusta on the 26th, their 250 passengers being quartered at the hotels, the railroad paying the bills.

The Flying Yankee did not arrive in this city on Monday evening until nine o'clock, an hour and a half behind time. The afternoon train from the eastward, due in this city at three o'clock Tuesday, was over an hour late, and an extra train was made up at this station to connect with the regular train for Boston at Newburyport.

The ticket office of the Boston & Maine railroad at Cliftondale, Mass., was entered by burglars last Saturday night. The safe was blown open, and about $30 in cash and other articles taken. The explosion badly wrecked the office, and the safe was totally ruined.

Excursion tickets are now sold at Manchester, good for a ride to this city on the Concord & Portsmorth railroad on Saturday and returning on Monday, at $1.15 each; and as in conjunction with these tickets, half-fare tickets by stage from this city to York and return are sold, the hotels and boarding houses at York beach have many transient guests on Sunday. Tickets from Manchester to the Shoals and return, including steamboat fare, Mondays and Thursdays, are sold at $1.70 each.

THE FLOOD.

The reports of losses by the great rainfall of Saturday and Sunday continue to come in. By the gauge in the yard of the Cocheco Co. at Dover the total rainfall for seventy hours, up to Monday morning, was five inches. W. H. Twombly, who lives at Knox marsh, had fifty haycocks carried off by the Bellamy river, and Isaac L. Lucas had 60,000 unburned bricks ruined. The Cocheco river was up to within three inches of the lower timbers of the railroad bridge between Farmington and Rochester, the highest ever known there. Mad river at Farmington overflowed its intervales to the depth of three or four feet, and carried off eighteen tons of hay belonging to Charles Dame. Freeman Babb of Dover had ten tons of hay cruising about in a small lake, which covered the fields near Garrison hill up to the tops of the fences. In Gonic the losses of the brickmakers foot up $2500. The heaviest loss hereabouts was at Newmarket, where the carrying away of the old dam which had stood sixty-four years, the wreck of a bridge and damage to picker-house, etc., caused a loss to the Manufacturing company of $50,000, the contractors for the new dam losing $8000 on engines, derricks and other gear. The old Piscataqua showed no indication of the floods in its tributaries, except that its usually clear waters were slightly discolored.

MARITIME NOTES.

The tug Nellie, Capt. Thompson, bound from New York for Boothbay, Me., where she is to be employed in towing, ran into this port on Tuesday, July 26th, and came up to Sise's wharf to remedy a trifling leak in the boiler. She left New York on Tuesday, the 19th.

The Gloucester fishing schooner Annie W. Hodgson, Capt. Morrison, was seized at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, July 25th, by the Dominion cutter Advance, Capt. Knowlton. Capt Morrison says he was fishing on Brown's bank on the 24th, and lost two men in a fog. After hunting fruitlessly all day, the schooner ran into Shelburne, found the missing men at Sand point, and was getting under weigh when seized by the Advance. The charge against the fisherman is a violation of the customs regulations in not reporting at the custom house. It is probable that a fine will be imposed, and the vessel held until it is paid.

The work of deepening York harbor is progressing finely, the dredgers having moved up the river from where they commenced operations, on to the middle ground.

The Portsmouth cricket club were to have played a game at Dover last Saturday with the Dover club, but it did not come off, the cricketers not being used to playing the game in boats. The postponed game will be played next Saturday, if the weather will permit.

The children of St. John's and Christ church Sunday schools, to the number of about seventy, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Hovey and several ladies, took passage on the steamer Emerald at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday forenoon, for their annual picnic at Seavey's island, navy yard.

Mr. Conn has sold since the middle of last February nearly two car-loads of lard, 13 1-2 tons of lard to the car; he has large sales in Dover, Great Falls, Berwick, York and other neighboring towns. He will receive this week about 300 tubs of June butter, from Vermont.

The property of the Granite State Manufacturing Co. of this city was on Tuesday attached on a writ in favor of Paymaster Putnam of the navy against Richard H. Paine, manager of the company, to secure the paymaster from loss by the defalcation of Paine as his clerk.

The Central avenue Baptist Sunday school, of Dover, will have a trip down the river in the tug Ann on Thursday, July 28th, visiting Fort Constitution and Kittery Point, and having a picnic.

There were 325 people at the Appledore house on Monday. Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, the eminent actors, were expected to arrive there on Tuesday.

MAYOR ELDREDGE DECLINES A RENOMINATION.

Last week a paper expressive of the very general and high approval of the administration of Mayor Eldredge for the past two years was signed by many of our citizens, and presented to him, with request that he would again permit the use of his name as a candidate for the nomination of mayor at the democratic caucus to be held on Friday evening. The following is his reply:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, July 25th, 1887.

GENTLEMEN.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your very complimentary letter of the 18th instant, requesting me to allow the use of my name at the democratic mayoralty caucus, soon to be held, as a candidate for the position of mayor of our city at the coming election.

I assure you that this flattering expression of your good-will is very pleasing to me, and having tried, as I think I have, simply to do my duty during the two years I have served as your mayor, it is gratifying to know that my course has met the approval of men of such large business experience and acquaintance with city affairs as I know you to be.

If my business and my personal convenience would allow me to accept the nomination for a third term your letter would go far to cause me to renounce my already expressed determination not again to accept the nomination. But as the nominee by the democratic party will be elected, and as if elected I should be unable on account of the requirements of my business to accept the office, I am compelled to decline the honor you wish to confer upon me, and cannot allow the use of my name at the caucus.

Thanking you for the honor you have done me, and trusting that among the many good men in our party you will find one who can give to the office all the time and attention required to properly perform its duties, I bespeak for him your hearty support and triumphant election.

I am very respectfully,
Your obedient servant.
M. ELDREDGE.

The canton of Patriarchs Militant of this city went to Hampton on Monday evening in Beacham's barge, returning at a late hour.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "gingers," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that I set the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

AN APOLOGY.

PROSPECT HOUSE,
SHELTER ISLAND HEIGHTS,
July 25th.

Mr. Editor: Allow me through your columns to ask the sympathy of my friends, your lady readers, in view of recent and severe illness. I am now at Shelter Island Heights, than which no more lovely and healthful resort can not be imagined. Beautiful walks and drives perpetually vary the landscape, while boating, bathing, yachting and fishing afford continual amusement. These and other delightful influences are fast restoring me, and I hope to be well in time for my August letter. LUCY CARTER.

[Shelter island is in Suffolk county, New York, in Long Island sound, opposite New London, Conn.—Ed.]

The only discrepancy found in examining the books and accounts of Ex-Treasurer Jordan before turning the office over to Mr. Hyatt, was a shortage of $2.50 in a bag of coins of that denomination. This was evidently due to an error in counting the coins when the bag was filled, and the clerk who did the counting has made good the amount.

The cause of the mysterious sickness at the Conshaicut Park hotel has been found. It was a broken drain pipe.

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by curtailing association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

Farming in Iowa.

A subscriber (Mr. T. A. Whittle) writing from Vinton, Iowa, under date of July 15th, says:

We are having extremely hot weather; one hundred and fifteen in the shade, and a good many have died during the season. We are now in the midst of harvesting our grain; one can hear the self-binders in every direction by day and night. Wheat is a failure in this county, also barley, on account of chinch bugs; they have destroyed it all, have somewhat injured the oats, and are now going for the corn. There is now a good prospect for a great crop of corn. We have sixty-five acres of corn this year, and seventy-five acres of oats; our sow has cut and bundled sixty acres of oats with the self-binder, and has about sixty more to cut, of our own and others. Water is very scarce, as we have had no rain for over a year, only a few light showers. We have twenty-six head of cattle to drive a mile to water, and eleven horses and colts that we make out to water at home. Cattle are very low, only worth three cents a pound alive; hogs are worth four cents; chickens 3 1-2; eggs nine cents a dozen; number one washed butter, thirteen cents a pound at the refrigerator; corn twenty-five cents a bushel, oats the same. Come out west if you have got any money, and get fat.

Mr. George M. Simpson, the well known butcher of Cape Neddick, on a recent Saturday disposed of 5500 lbs. of meat, besides poultry, at York beach and the harbor.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—ROBERT DAVIS, American House, Boston.

The cholera is again raging in Italy. Forty-nine new cases of cholera and twenty-two deaths were reported at Catania, Sicily, on Saturday. At Frankfort twenty-four new cases and several deaths were reported. At Patrano twelve cases and six deaths. Few deaths were reported in other towns.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Price, 50 cents a box.

Charles Sanders was rescued last Thursday afternoon, after an imprisonment in the Grand Junction mines, Iowa, for 110 hours. The other miners, who were caught by the caving-in of an old shaft, had been rescued, and he was supposed to be dead. He was uninjured, but quite hungry.

The liver and kidneys must be kept in good condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a great remedy for regulating these organs.

Frederick Webber and C. M. Moore, agents of the New York Life Insurance company who were arrested two weeks ago for soliciting insurance in Massachusetts without the requisite license, returned to Pittsburg last Friday and were at once re-arrested.

Emperor William, of Germany, is reported to be failing in health very fast.

SKIN & SCALP
Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Hyacinth, Va.
Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.
E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a fearful disease should not make the object their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

KITTERY POINT.

The tides of March in youth's bright morn did bring Scenes to which my heart through memory still doth cling;
And though the forms of each in distant view grow dim,
Imagination fills it to the brim.
The dear old home that saw my infant smile,
O'erlooked the harbor, lighthouse, and the isle
Where much was done, while I were rock and gown,
Of interest to the neighbors and whole town.
'Twas there the blackened clouds of pitch and tar
Rose high in air as in a naval war;
While others, still as fragrant now, as then,
Were quickly wafted o'er the creek and fen.
These signals by the seamen' crews thus given,
Were quickly noticed by the boy of seven;
The inspiration in the wind that blew
Seemed whispering to the smaller boys "we'll get a chew."
The pitch-pot boiling on the beach beside
The "plaque," hauled, and left beyond the tide,
With a green bottom from the water-line so true,
Below which, Neptune's artists colored with a blacker hue.
Of tar and pitch, well heated to the boiling point,
Put on with mops, concealing every joint;
The calking mallet while the buzz were carried,
Kept time with oars resounding on the tide,
The sound of hammer on the upturned boat
Or clinching washers on a long iron bolt;
The ringing saw in the white oak timber,
While boys with axes cleared every timber;
The rolling blocks through which the cordage ran,
Piped out the tocsin, Spring has just begun;
The rising sails bound to the masts with hoops,
Crack in the breeze when all their peaks do droop—
These were the things that brought the boys together,
That gave them cheer regardless of the weather.
We gathered round the tar pot as it colder grew,
Eagerly waiting its condition for "a chew."
Not wholly useless were the boys to many,
For numerous errands turned them many a penny,
Though some but thanked for many a come and go.
We always got the chink from "Uncle Joe."
It seems just now as though they are beginning
On Seaward's boat, the blunt but safe "Old Ellen,"
And "Uncle Joe" is driving in the oakum
To fill the seams and cracks of her load-colored bottom.
When the time came for taking in the salt,
No urching ever heard a mother's cry to halt,
But sight of the train filed on the brow and wharf
To watch the crews and cast the schooners off.
And if by chance there was a "stove out"
Who looked, when safe in stream, from deck, to say,
"Boys, I am off, they can't put me ashore,"
We all regretted though there was a score
That we'd not had the wit to hide, in lid or hold,
To share the story "Sam" would soon unfold.
We watched the crafts with colors bright and gay
With snow-white sails all sliding from the quay;
And if by chance there was a "stove out"
Who looked, when safe in stream, from deck, to say,
"Boys, I am off, they can't put me ashore,"
We all regretted though there was a score
That we'd not had the wit to hide, in lid or hold,
To share the story "Sam" would soon unfold.
We watched the crafts with colors bright and gay
With snow-white sails all sliding from the quay;
Upon the flood they quickly disappear
And out of sight they round the Portsmouth pier.
The sail on board, the craft assumes her trim;
Next come the "traps" with pick-knacks in a bin,
The first Northwester with a clear bright sun,
The anxious skipper seeks to make the run.
Up go the stars and stripes—"To old Fort Point,"
With flowing sheet the merry fleet heads for the Western Bank.
No other scenes supplant the early springtime day,
The flakes are spread for those just gone away;
With fresh brush they are overlaid with care,
For curing cod brought in by the "first fare."
Down Chauncey's creek crafts laden to the gunwale,
Come filled with laborers smoking of the "pigtail,"
John Phillips steering, with a crew of women,
Comes quickly down to make the first beginning;
While "Howard" with his crew
Tossed round the brush like children's toys.
Ere May did pass, each early clearing morn,
The anxious "checkmen" scanned the horizon
To see if aught there was of hull, or sail in view,
That he might greet with smiles the long-haired crew,
And learn from scales strongly strewed in brine,
The counted store of fish, and who, "high line."
Each all that round the point did shoot her grassy side,
Raised doubts or hopes that varied with men's pride.
Did not the hull swim deep with colors set,
Conclusion stamped upon the visage—"salt not wet;"
But "scuppers in" on even keel, and ensign high,
Oh! who can picture all that filled the eye,
While for the buoyant, flagless, tossing craft that came,
The looks that spoke, 'twould be not kind to name.
One thing was true, of those who pulled the line,
Arrived, they were a jolly set, without the fish or brine.
And when the "fares" had come from craft to shore,
They made the busiest place of Island Moore,
The south wind wafted odors of the cod indoors,
While merry voices echoed round this isle of Moore's.
Women and men in lively chorus chaffed away
The sunny hours of many a live long day,
While smaller boys found some old cabin like a rat,
To pilfer pancakes left, well soaked with fat.
How nice they tasted, none will ever know,
Save those of us, who watching, stole below.
The "hard-tack" fever, which we have the blues,
Struck terror to the common fishing skipper.
But yesterday I chanced to stray upon the self same isle,
Where not a flake, not even a wharf, or solitary pile
Is left where once the graceful shapes of many a craft,
Whose names like household words in memory dwelt.
The Ocean, Palm, Mechanic, Herald, and Priscilla Brown,
Decatur, Edwin, Royal George, and Crown,
The Jane, Sea Flower, Olive Branch, and Agnes, Morning Star, Augusta, Cecilia, and Otis.
Where these once lay no sound disturbs the ear,
Upon the pebbled beach no roistering crews appear
Washing the cod from Western bank or Chaleur bay,
As oft they did on many a former sunlit day.
The "gallows," where the fish were pressed and packed,
The shed for "kenching," broken down and wrecked;
But three old stores remain alone, serene,
Around which summer decks with robes of green.
The gray bare shores in thought I people once again
With forms familiar, wasting 'neath the main;
Some slumber in the church yards of the town,
While most who live, some are in other crews.
Gay dreams of boyhood's days, of youth's bright hour,
That pictured fancies tinsel o'er with such great power!
Because no other view life's camera can again impress,
With such bright tints, with colors in excess—
I dearly cling to you, nor wish to cloud the field
That brings to oft living hues these visions kindly yield.

The Old Folks at Home,

Or elsewhere, need a tonic now and then to sustain them under growing infirmities. No safer or more thorough invigorant for age and the delicate can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a seasonable medicine in those ailments of commonest occurrence—liver complaint, indigestion and bowel disorders; a pure botanic safeguard against malaria, and a reliable means of counteracting rheumatism. To the convalescent, it is a valuable aid in the recovery of strength, and to the debilitated, nervous invalid it yields tranquil slumber and renewed appetite—two prime factors in the restoration of vigor. Being of purely botanic origin, it is free from those objections urged against mineral remedies difficult or impossible of assimilation by the system, and which impair the tone of the stomach, which the Bitters, on the contrary, strengthens and regulates. It is indorsed and prescribed by the medical fraternity.

Passed Asst. Engr. Horace E. Frick is detached from the Chicago, and placed on sick leave.

Who Said Them?

Who wrote the letters of Junius? It is generally conceded that Sir Philip Francis did, but there is no certainty about it. It has been well said, however, that the time spent in trying to find out who Junius was would be better expended in learning to write as well as Junius wrote.

"God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb" was long believed to be from the scriptures. But Sterne wrote it in his "Sentimental Journey."

This is the time when these questions come up like Banquo's ghost ("Macbeth," scene 2, act III.), and will not "down" until traced to their proper lineage.

A correspondent asks: "Who originated the phrase, 'Pouring oil on the troubled waters.'" That discussion came up here in Detroit some five years ago. A lady riding in a Cass avenue horse-car asked another lady if she knew. Then a gentleman offered to write to a friend of his, a fellow of Edinburgh college, and, taking the address of the lady, he gave his own. In the course of some months the letter came, and Dr. Samuel Leggett copied this part of it into his Webster's Dictionary of quotations, where it is recorded in his fine, scholarly handwriting:

"The venerable Bede says: 'A priest called Utta was sent into Kent to fetch Lanpleke, King Edwine's daughter, who was married to King Oswin, A. D. 617. Before his departure Utta visited Bishop Sida and besought his prayers for a prosperous journey. The bishop blessed him and gave him a pot of oil, saying: "Remember that you cast into the sea this oyle that I will give you, and the wind being laid comfortable fayre weather shall ensue on the sea."'"

This has nothing to do with that familiar phrase burning the midnight oil.

Whence is thy learning? Hath thy toil
O'er books consumed the midnight oil?

This couplet was written by Gay and used by many of the English bards.

There is another popular quotation which has been run to the ground recently:

Where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise.

This was written by the poet Gray in a poem on Eton college.

"When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war," is a popular misquotation from "When Greeks joined Greeks, then was the tug of war," written by N. Lee, who died in 1692.

The majority of readers will insist that "cleanliness is next to godliness" is in the bible, but it is not. John Wesley said in this wise: "Certainly this is a duty, not a sin; cleanliness is, indeed, next to godliness." From whom did he quote?—Detroit Free Press.

Kate Chase at Home.

Washington society sees but little of Mrs. Chase, says a New York Mail and Express letter. She is some distance out of town, although from her library windows the dome of the capitol can be seen looming up a mile away. She has the saving adaptability of all people of sense. She is interested in her gardening and in her daughter's education. She rides and drives and fills up a life that would seem singularly empty. She makes no apology or explanation of her altered style of living. Probably she inherits her father's incapacity for moneyed affairs. Whatever might have been said of her, the invincible courage she has shown in misfortune commands respect. The old house is full of relics of splendor. Some of the finest carved mahogany in this country is in the big, gloomy dining-room. A mirror over the fireplace has a frame that would put everything at Sypher's to shame, and a sideboard, a buffet, and a great carved sofa, brought from Italy, are fit for a palace. In the hall is an ancient carved marriage chest that is bewitching to a lover of antiquities. Everywhere shabbiness and splendor go hand in hand, but the shabbiness is not vulgar nor is the splendor obtrusive. It would be brave to rashness for one to pity Mrs. Chase for her surroundings, or for anything else about her. She makes a certain fitness and seemliness for herself out of it all.

Gladstone's Physical Strength.

To return a moment to Mr. Gladstone. A medical gentleman who knows him very well—professionally, too, if I am not mistaken—tells me that he is still one of the strongest men physically in the whole gentry of England. It is a marvelous thing to see him stripped to the waist, so superb is his frame, so notable is the absence of an ounce of superfluous flesh on the hard sinews and muscles. My informant added that, in his belief, there was scarcely a man in the House, young or old, whom Gladstone could not whip with his fists if he tried. This is an interesting illustration of the value of exercise which Americans would do well to ponder.—London Letter.

The latest improvement in New York apartment houses is an arrangement which enables the tenants to mail letters without leaving their rooms. A sluce is in every room, the missives are dropped in, and as fast as they accumulate they are deposited in a post-office box. It is further proposed to regulate all the clocks in the house by electricity, change a calender in each suite every morning, and show the direction of the wind by means of a dial.

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. Seasonable Reading for Dog Days.

In a recently decided case against the city of Yonkers, the court of appeals of New York decides that a city must remove the snow and ice from sidewalks to make them conveniently safe for passage, after it has given the householder reasonable time to remove them; and when ice is formed on the sidewalk by a sudden change in the temperature a thaw may be awaited to put the ice in condition for removal. The court holds that a city may, and should, require householders when the danger is great to sprinkle sand or ashes on the ice in front of their premises, as a measure of precaution, but it is not responsible for their omission. It is no more bound to put upon ice, which it cannot remove, such foreign material, than to cover it with boards. The court holds that these emergencies of sudden freezes usually last but for a few days, and are such as are common in every street, and which the corporations are powerless to combat. In the latitude of Yonkers the court allows time for a returning thaw. In New Hampshire when a cold wave succeeds a thaw it is far better to sprinkle the sand than to take the chances of a verdict for alleged negligence.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., July 25th.

The people of Kittery Point have at last seen what they have long been anticipating, a train of cars running through our once quiet village. The capers cut up by the cattle in some of the pastures through which the train passes are extremely amusing. The first time the cars came through they elevated their heads and tails, took one look at the approaching monster, and—struck a bee line for home. Some of them returned quietly to feed the next day, while others spend their days in watching the trains. The cows had no idea that all these men were building a railroad. The cars are through to the Brave Boat Harbor road. The regular trains will soon be on. By the last report the station will be at Emery's Crossing.

A floating stage has been built by Mr. Noah Eaton for a landing place for the steam yachts, Uncas and Alert; it is in the jog at the head of the pier.

Quite a number of people gathered at the residence of Capt. James R. Amee last Thursday evening, to watch the opening of a night-blooming cereus. The plant is a young one, three years old, and has never bloomed before. It had two blossoms. They began to open at seven o'clock, and at ten o'clock were wide open. After that time they began to close, but did not entirely shut up until eight o'clock the next morning. It was exhibited at the Pepperell a short time during the evening, where it was greatly admired. Its fragrance filled the house, and could be detected some distance from the building.

The Pepperell house has over ninety guests to-day. This season bids fair to be the best for several years. The Misses Potter are among the late arrivals at this house. The steam yacht Alert, owned by Mr. Starr of Litchfield, Conn., who is spending the summer at the Pepperell, has arrived from Chicago. It is about twenty-five feet long, and is quite narrow.

Mr. George Parker and family are at the old Parker place on their usual summer visit.

Mr. Samuel S. Fletcher and family, of Portsmouth, are spending a few weeks here. They occupy the house next to his father's. The fine orchard in front of the house makes it a nice cool place in summer.

Green peas, string beans and new potatoes are now plenty. The vegetable gardens are looking thrifty and green. In a garden on Molly Miles' avenue is a fine-looking piece of corn. There is nothing that is prettier than a fine patch of corn; the tall stalks, broad leaves and waving plumes have a beauty all their own, that is quite as pleasing as the many-colored blooms of a flower garden. The flower gardens of Kittery Point are as pretty as usual. Mrs. Jarius Hoyt has a fine garden of geraniums, bordered with the plant called "dusty miller." The shrubbery and grounds around her house are very pretty.

There are seven yachts in the harbor to-day. The steamer James Sampson towed a raft of logs to York harbor yesterday morning, to be used on the on the Y. H. & B. railroad. The schooner Golden Gate has taken on board the tools used on the Point section of the road, at Frisbee's wharf, Kittery Point, and is now ready to sail for Boston. AUNT MOLLY.

PLANK WALKS.

Why not keep sober?—Boston Globe.

This item, like some almanacs, does not seem constructed for one latitude only. Fortunately Portsmouth boasts (?) of but few plank sidewalks, but those in use are very much used, and by a good class of people. About the case of keeping them in repair I know little and care less—I can walk in the street when the sidewalk is too bad—but the wooden walk on Miller avenue should have been repaired last fall, instead of this spring before the frost was really out of the ground. The men who made the repairs spoke feelingly on this matter, and avowed their belief that the work would not show the extra pains they had taken to try to overcome this difficulty. Miss Morgan's troop of seraphs has flown to more genial climes during the season of hay-fever, but our own revered Dr. Peabody holds the fort in their place, and our whole city would be pained if anything happened to him by the uprearing of one of the heavy spikes used for fastening these treacherous and decayed ties to the cross-pieces. Ex.

The last voyage of the French steamer Champagne from Havre to New York was the quickest on record.

LITTLE PILLS

— WILL CURE —

Sick Headache, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Distress after Eating, Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Pain in the Side, Coated Tongue, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sallow Skin, and all disorders caused by a bilious state of the system.

They do this without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, and there is no pain, griping or discomfort attending their use. It is no longer necessary to scour one's insides out with the old-fashioned purgative pills, and they are fast giving way to the gentle action of this mild and pleasant remedy.

Booth's Little Pills are entirely unlike all other pills, and are a marvel to all who use them. They are very small, strictly vegetable, and as the dose is only one or two pills, they are readily taken by young or old without a thought of the presence of medicine. If you try them you will certainly be pleased. In vials at 25 cents, or five for $1.00.

William D. Grace,

APOTHECARY,

GENERAL AGENT FOR ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

It is reported that at the democratic caucus in ward one, held Wednesday evening, the whole number of votes cast for aldermen was 150; necessary for choice 76; Albion Littlefield received 75, and Daniel Casey 65; whereupon Mr. Littlefield was declared elected. Queer mathematicians, hey! "Turn the rascals out."

Captain Harris of the American schooner Colonel J. H. French and the captain of the schooner Argonaut were both in their seine boats at Souris while the cutter Curlew was bearing down upon them, but they got into their dories and made for their vessels and got away. There were only two men of the first-named vessel caught and twelve of the Argonaut. The seines were tipped and the mackerel let go. The men appear to be a white elephant on Captain McLean's hands as he does not what to do with them. The fishermen will be cared for by the acting United States consul. Captain McLean of the Canadian cutter, says he would not fire at the poachers for fear he would injure some other vessels.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PAOUNDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite long-lenged association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—far from the madding crowd. To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

OBITUARY.

Jeremiah Morrissey, a promising young man, son of Representative William Morressey, died after a short illness at his home on Russell street on Wednesday afternoon of this week. "Jerry," the name he was known by by his comrades, learned the trade of a printer in the Journal office about ten years ago, and was always a great favorite with his fellow workmen. His health was never of the best, yet he complained not, but always performed his task faithfully and willingly. Two years ago he went south in hopes of regaining his health, but the dreadful malaria of that region was too much for him and he returned home, here to linger until the hand of death has claimed another victim. Words can but feebly express the respect with which poor Jerry was held among his comrades, and a more upright man, or a more Christian companion, will never be found than our late fellow-workman. He passed away as peacefully as he had been through life, and if we all could emulate the example of our beloved friend we could but be better men. R. I. W.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

The democrats of ward one made the following nominations on Wednesday evening:

Aldermen—Albion Littlefield, Ira C. Seymour, Charles E. Boynton;

Common Councilmen—Patrick Lindley, Nathaniel W. Lear, Fred J. Haddock, Charles M. Newton, Daniel Casey, Daniel Sullivan;

Assessors of Taxes—Moses H. Goodrich, Henry R. Stoddard, Samuel Maddock;

Overseer of Poor—Charles H. Garrett.

The democrats of ward two held their caucus Wednesday evening at the Court house. Walter H. Page was chosen chairman, and Thomas J. Donovan secretory. The following nominations were made:

Aldermen—Samuel S. Fletcher, John Conlon, John C. Stevens;

Common Councilmen—John H. Grover, True W. Priest, Mark H. Scott, Walter H. Page, Michael J. Ryan, Fred B. Haraden;

Assessors of Taxes—John H. Wells, Gideon H. Rundlett, George B. French;

Overseer of Poor—Willie B. Newton.

NEW COUNTERFEIT DOLLAR.

A new and dangerous counterfeit silver dollar which is in circulation is thus described: The coin is lighter in weight than the genuine, and the color is somewhat duller. The outlines of the head of Liberty, and also that of the spread eagle on the reverse side, are remarkably distinct, but the points of the stars in the circle on the date side are indistinct when compared with the genuine. The milling on the edge of the coin is poor.

RUN DOWN.

A man named Frank Howe, hailing from Laconia, N. H., stole $1000 from his employee in Patten, Me., last week. The authorities traced him west as far as this city, where they learned he had left Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. On Wednesday afternoon assistant-marshal Hurley, while standing on Market square, saw a man passing who answered the description of Howe, and arrested him. On his person was found over $600 in money, a gold watch, and several other articles of value. He acknowledged the theft, and will now take a free ride back to Patten.

MAN KILLED.

An Italian named Charles Berry, about forty-five years old, employed on the York Harbor & Beach railroad, while at work on a bank shovelling gravel into a car at Kittery on Wednesday afternoon of this week, a large boulder, weighing about two tons, fell from thirty feet overhead jamming him against the car, killing him instantly; the car had to be removed from the rails to recover his body. He leaves a wife and nine children in Biddeford, where his remains were conveyed.

ONE GARDEN IN KITTERY POINT.

[From Aunt Molly's Rambles.]

It is not far from the village street, and is shaded by apple trees and elms. As you open the gate and pass along the walk, you see posts with boxes on them filled with petunias. In one are the different colors of single blooms, the pure white, the rose, the pink and the beautiful striped ones. Then you see a mass of great double-fringed petunias drooping down over another box. A German ivy attracts the attention now. It has entirely covered the box it was planted in and is running in the grass and climbs a neighboring lilac tree. On one side of the door is a row of castor beans, with their tropical-looking foliage, and on the other side tall dahlias bend toward the path. Running up beside the door are green vines full of delicate pink blossoms, called by some "prairie roses," and by others "New York belles." Tall sunflowers nod across the way to their neighbors, the dahlias. We sit down to rest in an arbor covered by a large jessamine vine, and admire a fine fuschia drooping its pink and red bells among the jessamine blossoms. We continue our walk, and find whole gardens of bright geraniums in full bloom. In the shade of a tree is a lot of the purple heliotrope, almost black in the deepest shade. In one long garden are the old-fashioned flowers, the flowers that our grandmothers loved. There grow together in sweet confusion tall red balm and fragrant lavender, sweet peas and bachelor's buttons, the little velvet marigolds and brilliant nasturtiums, the daisy-like firefews, the scented geraniums, the scarlet sage, and among all the bells of the morning glory. In another place are the old-fashioned gilly flowers, now known as ten-weeks stocks. Down in a little round garden are quantities of verbenas, running out into the grass in all directions, with their clusters of dewey fragrant blooms. Tall white lilacs hold their waxy cups in the sunshine, and in one place is a night-blooming cereus with buds nearly ready to open, while all through the garden wherever there is room, are boxes of plants of different kinds. The most attractive feature of all is a hammock under a shady tree where one may lie on a warm morning and enjoy all the beauty spread out before them.

The names of Capt. Daniel Marcy, Edward S. Fay, William W. Cotton and George E. Hodgdon, are mentioned as probable candidates for the democratic nomination for mayor to be supported next Tuesday.

Ward two republican caucus at the court house this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A Friend in Need.
With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or care that has not met with instant response.
It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.
Unrips food, impurious water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that let set the traveller or household at his ease, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Caution.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get Allcock's Porous Plasters.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

An Australian physician advertises to pay one-half the funeral expenses in cases where he is not successful.

The report from Chicago of the death of a child ten years old from hydrophobia seems to show that it is not altogether a nervous disease.

An Unfettered Reformer.

Mrs. Sarah H. O'Day, of Springfield, Mo., on July 26th began proceedings for divorce against her husband, John O'Day, a millionaire, to whom she was married twenty-three years ago, alleging desertion. The court heard the testimony and at once granted a decree, awarded the plaintiff $40,000 alimony, homestead property valued at $12,000, and the custody of her youngest son. O'Day thereupon turned over to the plaintiff a check for $10,000, a deed to the homestead and other property, and the case closed with apparent satisfaction to all concerned. O'Day is first vice president of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, and chairman of the democratic state committee of Missouri.

The Old Folks at Home,

Or elsewhere, need a tonic now and then to sustain them under growing infirmities. No safer or more thorough invigorant for age and the delicate can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a seasonable medicine in those ailments of commonest occurrence—liver complaint, indigestion and bowel disorders; a pure botanic safeguard against malaria, and a reliable means of counteracting rheumatism. To the convalescent, it is a valuable aid in the recovery of strength, and to the debilitated, nervous invalid it yields tranquil slumber and renewed appetite—two prime factors in the restoration of vigor. Being of purely botanic origin, it is free from those objections urged against mineral remedies difficult or impossible of assimilation by the system, and which impair the tone of the stomach, which the Bitters, on the contrary, strengthens and regulates. It is indorsed and prescribed by the medical fraternity.

The Knights of Honor have during the past fourteen years disbursed $30,000,000,—$23,000,000 to widows and orphans as death benefits, and $8,000,000 by lodges for the relief of members while sick.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25 cents.

The old Irish magistrates will be placed on the pension list, and their places will be taken by younger and more active men.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

The developments in regard to the traffic in girls from twelve to fourteen years old at Ottawa, Ont., are said to be even worse, if possible, than the scandal in regard to English "gentlemen" exposed by the Pall Mall Gazette of London. Many members of the Dominion parliament are implicated.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions, to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore simply that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the nails so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

HER WORST TRIAL LATE IN LIFE.

Impelled by a Sense of Duty a Lady Writes a Chapter of Her History. Light Comes at Evening Time.

After one has been through an experience which may be of value to others, and which involves health and happiness, it becomes a duty to make it known. Such a sense of duty impels me to tell you, and through you, the public, the history of a very trying period of my life. I have lived in this world almost the natural span of life and have passed through as much as most women, but it was reserved for me recently to endure the most serious trial ever laid upon me. I was, when young, endowed with ordinary good health and for many years had nothing upon the whole to complain of in that respect. Yet I had a very sensitive stomach and was always obliged to use more or less caution in eating. As certain as I occasionally became careless in this matter, so certain was I to suffer more or less from such indiscretion. And in this, I am sure, I merely resemble multitudes of others who deem themselves relatively sound and well.

About five years ago I was called upon to pass through severe mental trouble. The grief occasioned by the loss of dear ones preyed upon my mind and so affected my general health. It is well known to all thinking persons that any great emotion, long continued, is certain to affect the appetite and digestion, and in the end may produce the most intractible form of chronic dyspepsia. So that in a few weeks after the beginning of the mental trouble I have alluded to, I was not surprised to find that I had the symptoms of that dreadful and tedious complaint dyspepsia. My appetite became very poor and what little food I did eat gave me a sense of great distress and of a weight on the stomach as though of the presence of a foreign body. Several hours after eating I would be attacked with colicky pains of greater or less intensity. My breath was laden with a foul or fetid odor and there would be eructions of foul and offensive gas. My physicians said this was putrid dyspepsia. It seemed that everything I ate underwent putrefaction shortly after being received into the stomach.

My bowels were very irregular; sometimes they were badly constipated and then again very loose. I suffered intensely from the headaches so characteristic of this disease. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. At this stage my appetite wholly failed. I ate so little I can scarcely imagine how life was sustained. My physicians said my condition was chiefly due to an insufficient quantity of gastric juice; but whatever the cause I can bear testimony to the reality of my sufferings. Sometimes, about one hour after eating, a terrible cramp would come on, during which my bowels would be greatly swollen and distended, caused by paralysis of the muscular coating of the stomach. While these attacks lasted I often wished I could have a fainting spell, utterly unconscious of all things around me. My friends would resort to every expedient to restore me and to keep life in my body. These spells always terminated in a severe attack of inflammation of the bowels, when I would have a very painful time indeed.

Of course this terrible experience produced great general debility and I got to be seriously nervous and run down. Something like a year ago malaria was added to my troubles. I noticed that on rising in the morning I felt badly all over, a feeling of lassitude and depression, something different in nature from the digestive ailment alone. My tongue was covered with a brown coating; I had alternate spells of being warm and then cold, aching pains all over my body, especially in the back and limbs, a terrible nausea and vomiting, during which I would throw off all the food I had eaten for days preceding. This was followed by a very high fever, which would rage for twelve hours. This fever came on at no particular time; I did not know when to expect it. Sometimes I would wake up in the night with a raging fever. Then again it would suddenly make its appearance in the middle of the forenoon or afternoon.

When the fever left me I was utterly exhausted. I remember one day, when the cold stage came on, I felt as though I were dying, and the physician said that I came as near having a congestive chill and miss it as possible, and that would have meant death. I took nearly every known remedy for dyspepsia; bismuth, the different forms of pepsin, but hot water gave me as much relief as anything I used. For malaria I took quinine in large quantities, but it was as much so to me as it seems to be to others who suffer in the same way; yet of its bad effects I experienced the full extent.

In what way, I do not now recall, but last September I heard of Kaskine, and with great reluctance consented to make a trial of it. I took it four times a day, in doses now known as pellets, but it was fully a month before I began to improve. I first noticed that my dyspepsia was better. My appetite grew stronger and I relished my food. My sleep became sound and sweet and I longed for night to come so as to enjoy it; strength returned, and from this time I began to mend very rapidly. I seemed to take a new lease of life and in three months was altogether well. Grateful for this unexpected deliverance, I am willing that my story should be published for the benefit of others who may see it and take hope.

MRS. EMILY A. MCKNIGHT,
139 East 71st St., New York.

May 23d, 1887.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

The Drudgery of Office.

But it seems almost heartless to dwell upon this idle gayety and silken leisure while a score of Mayors, Colonels, and Brevet-Brigadiers are toiling for their country in the great departments of the Government. Turn from the giddy throng, and come with me a moment to the grimy workshop of one of these sweating patriots. It is 10 o'clock in the morning. Lieut.-Col. Bounce, Assistant Thingabob-General, has just dragged his weary footsteps to the office. Compelled to rise at 8:30 or 9 a. m. while his window is but a "glimmering square," and when as yet the luxurious garbage man has not begun his rounds, this martyr has snatched a hasty breakfast and hurried as fast as battered limbs would carry him to save his native land. Only a rosewood desk with velvet footstool attachment; only a plain ebony and Russia leather arm-chair with pivots and rockers to ease his pains, only a row of electric buttons to call the insolent and fatted clerks from the rooms beyond, or to summon the doorkeeper from the hall, or to bring the valet to light his cigarett or move his hat, or pick up his handkerchief that has fallen to the floor. Only these and a few other mitigations of a fate that for sordid care and cruel toil has no parallel in the annals of immolation. Watch the scarred and battered old veteran as he stretches himself upon the sofa to struggle with the morning paper—neglected, weary, maimed, desolate, save for the sense of duty that thrills his every fibre. Watch him as he dozes for an instant while an unsympathizing minion stands over him to brush away the flies. This lasts nearly an hour. For as much as fifty minutes at a stretch—literally at a "stretch"—this barbarous drudgery goes on. Then the hero staggers to his feet and hobbles over to the Russia leather chair and is wheeled into position at the desk by the callous myrmidon. A touch on the C button is followed by a distant electric giggle, and immediately there enters to him a haughty clerk with a scornfully-wreathed lip, bearing three papers for signature. He gazes at them with a shudder. His sad eyes say imploringly: "Couldn't you make it two?" but the brave old lipless has no complaint. He signs those papers unflinchingly, and then—for he is but human after all—he faints away. For an hour and thirteen minutes he has been on the rack of duty. For an hour and thirteen minutes he has given his strength, his mind, his energies to an ungrateful but beloved country. It is too much—nature will endure no more. He faints away into his overcoat and hat—faints away to the sub—and not until nearly noon does he succeed in resuscitating himself on a deviled oyster and in rallying sufficiently to hold a hand at whist.

This is no fancy picture. It is typical of the lives of hardship and drudgery and self-denial led by dozens of devoted men in this proud nation's service. How, O! how can one think of the feasting and revelry at the paper hunt, while such scenes are being enacted at one's very elbow? —Washington Letter in the New York Tribune.

Growth of Botanical Science.

Botany has so changed, broadened and deepened within the past twenty years, that it may seem like retrogression to talk of flowers. The average botanist of to-day has gone so far beyond mere blossoms, as such, in his study of minute anatomy, or in his experiments upon vegetable physiology, that he sometimes almost forgets that there are such things as sepals and petals. He must confine himself to a single cell, or at most a group of cells, a tissue, or possibly a tissue system, or else his associates will speak of him as being so broad that he must be shallow. The division of labor, in fact, has gone so far that one person studies pollen for a lifetime, while another counts that day lost in which he does not gain some new fact upon the endless subject of chlorophyle. There are hundreds of noted botanists who pay no attention to flowering plants except as they are the hosts of and subject to destructive inroads from the almost countless species of cryptogamic plants belonging to the yeasts, smuts, blights, mildews, and molds.

It, therefore, requires much more courage in this age of advanced botanical thought to attempt to write upon a theme that is so broad as the one selected. "Spring flowers" bears the mark of wear, especially in the hands of those who can do almost anything better than to make rhymes. The practical eye of the penetrating student of plant-life has gone beyond the beauty in flowers and finds a golden thread of adaptation which the average "spring poet" has never dreamed of, even in his highest flights after the soul of things. However, for the genuine poets be it said that it was reserved for the immortal Goethe to first comprehend the true morphology of seemingly so simple a structure as a flower. —Popular Science Monthly.

Senator Stanford relates that he earned his first money when six years old by sending to market a lot of horseradish which grew in his father's garden. His second venture, which he declares was the most successful speculation of his life, was selling five bushels of chestnuts, which he and his brothers had gathered for family use, for $25.

A Positive Consul.

On July 27th Mr. George, United States vice-consul at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, telegraphed to Mr. Phelan, United States consul-general at Halifax, N. S., that the collector at Souris, Prince Edward island, refused to allow the fourteen men captured in the seine boats on Sunday, July 24th, to go home in a fishing vessel. These men when taken were only in their shirts and trousers, and the Charlottetown consul thought this was hard treatment and wired to Halifax for instructions. The reply of Mr. Phelan was promptly sent, and about its meaning there can be no mistake. It was to send the men home by the first vessel sailing, be she a fishing schooner or not, but to send them. The United States man-of-war Richmond, Admiral Luce, and the cruiser Yantic, are at Halifax, under the consul's order. The consul-general specifically instructed Consul George that if the slightest resistance was offered to let him know immediately, and he would take personal charge of the matter.

Another Bank President Gone.

The Citizens' savings bank of Leavenworth, Kansas, closed its doors July 27th, the president, R. P. Clement, having absconded after using up about $50,000 of the institution's funds in speculating in wheat and other ventures. Clement's real estate, worth $20,000, has been transferred to the bank. Clement is supposed to have gone to Canada.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Martha's Vineyard, with 400 excursionists on board, went ashore on Nobska point, near Wood's Hole, Mass., July 27th, backed off, and was again beached in an easy position, a hole having been stove in her bow. The passengers were landed in the steamer's boats, and walked to Wood's Hole.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call of this port, Call master, arrived at Augusta, Me., July 27th, from Fort Johnson.

A fishing boat at Vineyard Haven on the 27th inst. reported having seen, off the south side of the island, the bow of a large schooner, with anchors let go and apparently on the bottom. The wreck appeared to be that of a three-masted schooner, cut through just forward of her fore-rigging by some steamer.

The case of the Gloucester fishing schooner Annie W. Hodgson, seized at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, is similar to most of last year's seizures for customs violation, and has no connection with the fisheries treaty. The vessel, which had previous been only detained, awaiting orders from Ottawa, was on July 27th formally seized on the charge of violating the Canadian customs laws, and a fine of $400 imposed. The fine has been paid and the vessel released.

The steamer Martha's Vineyard was floated off the beach at Wood's Hole at noon on the 27th inst., backing off with her own engines, without aid, and proceeded to New Bedford in the afternoon. She is not so badly damaged as was feared, the injuries being principally confined to the starting of a few planks.

The lighthouse board gives notice that on or about Aug. 1st a fog bell, struck by machinery, will be established in the bell tower recently erected at Egg Rock light station, Frenchman's bay, Me.

Rear Admiral Chandler, commanding the Asiatic station, reports under date of Yokohama, Japan, June 30th, that the court of inquiry to investigate the circumstances of the death of several Japanese, caused by the explosion of a shell fired from the Omaha, when Captain Selfridge was in command, would convene on board the Omaha about July 5th. It was expected the repairs to the Brooklyn would be completed about July 7th, and she would then sail for Nagasaki, from Yokohama. The Marion was ordered from Chemulpo, Corea, to Nagasaki and the Essex would go to Corea from Yokohama about July 5th.

The U. S. S. Ossipee, Capt. Bainbridge Hoff commanding, went ashore on Point Pleasant shoal, Halifax harbor, July 28th, in a fog, but came off in about an hour, apparently unhurt.

Rear Admiral Chandler, in command, reports the following changes on the Asiatic station: Lieutenant B. T. Walling and A. V. Wadhams transfered from the Essex to the Brooklyn; Passed Assistant Engineer H. Heiwig, who arrived on June 23d, to be transferred from the Brooklyn to the Marion upon meeting with that vessel; Naval Cadet W. A. Lewis from the Brooklyn to the Essex; Lieutenant C. M. McCartney from the Monocacy to the Omaha, and Lieutenant W. H. H. Southerland from the Brooklyn to the Monocacy; Lieutenant Commander Washburn Maynard, executive officer of the Brooklyn, was transferred to the naval hospital at Yokohama, June 8th, with what was at first supposed to be typhoid fever, but afterward proved to be abscess of the liver. He experienced great relief from a surgical operation, but being unfit for further duty on the station will be sent home as soon as able.

The Boston & Providence railroad company has about completed its plans for the new Bussey bridge, and the work of constructing the same will be commenced at an early date. The new structure will be massive and sufficiently wide to allow of four tracks being run across it, if the business of the road should at any time demand so many.

It is reported that the steam sealer Allabeck was on the 2d inst. seized in Behring sea by the United States revenue cutter Challenger, and the crew sent to Sitka, Alaska. The Allabeck is registered at Victoria, where her owner resides. An immediate investigation will be demanded by the Dominion government.

A big snapping turtle measuring about two and one-half feet in circumference came down the Deer street sewer last Thursday morning, and was captured by one of Harry Keegan's gang of stevedores and taken into Peter Strickland's sail loft for exhibition.

Mrs. Dollie A. Chase, who died at her home in the eastern part of Eliot on Tuesday evening, July 26th, was buried on the afternoon of the 28th from the Christian church at Kittery Point.

The most of the names of the candidates nominated at the democratic caucus of ward one on Wednesday evening of this week are the same as appeared on the "liberal ticket" last year.

Can't See the Books.

According to the Kennebec Journal, Mr. T. J. Murphy of that city, who was one of Collector Redman's deputies, asserts that the state will be unable to gain any information from the books of Collector Page of Portsmouth, relative to the payment of a United States special tax of retail liquor dealers. He says Mr. Page will not show his books, and the state courts cannot summon him before them as he is a citizen of another state. But is it necessary to see the books? Internal revenue collectors are required by law to keep in their offices, for public inspection, alphabetical lists of all persons paying special taxes, together with a record of the time, place and business for which such special tax is paid in each case. There is no law obliging the collector to open his books for inspection, but he has no discretion about the list; and the list would seem to answer the purpose.—Portland Advertiser.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. Y. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by a little enforced association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

THE MYSTIC VETERANS' PICNIC.

The second annual picnic of the Mystic Veterans was held on Wednesday of this week, forty-three solid men mustering in time to take the steamer Mystic at 10:30 o'clock A. M. for government grove at Fort McClary, Kittery Point, and ten or fifteen others driving down in teams at a later hour, but in time for the chowder. The beneficial effect of salt air on the appetite was exemplified immediately on the arrival of the party at the grove, a quite general onslaught being at once made on the boiled ham, crackers and cheese, lemonade, etc., pending the serving of the chowder, which was announced to take place at one o'clock, and did; Mr. Al. Rowe, the chef de cuisine, and his assistant, Mr. Sides, at that hour placing on the table what was voted by the connoisseurs to be the very perfection of a chowder. The table was put a little farther back in the grove than last year, the old location having been cut away to allow the passage of the railroad; but that made no difference in the flavor of the chowder, or the respect paid to it by the party. After dinner was over and cigars lighted, several small squads of veterans went on rambles about the Point, but the bulk of the party took a trip to Brave Boat Harbor on the construction train, which by courtesy of its conductor and engineer halted at the grove to take them on board. Between six and seven o'clock the cooks served another meal, with fried cunners as the central dish; and shortly after, the good steamer Mystic having arrived at the old tumble-down wharf at the fort, the last of the cannon crackers were exploded and the party re-embarked for home, where they arrived shortly before eight o'clock, having heartily enjoyed every moment of the day's outing. The overplus of refreshments of all kinds was voted to the Old Ladies' Home; and it was also voted that next year all hands take another trip down the river with Capt. Trefethen.

A QUEER PET.

A young lady of this city on receiving a small box through the mail from a friend in Florida recently, was very much surprised on opening it to find a grasshopper or locust, about three inches long, and which flew from the box the moment it was opened, but was shortly captured and taken home. It had been confined in the box over five days, and the young lady thinking it would be hungry and thirsty, proceeded to feed it. She says she was surprised to see how much it drank. It is very handsome, and when it flies, shows a beautiful pair of red wings. This queer pet having been sent her from a very near friend, she wished to keep it alive, and for fear of losing it if she gave it its liberty, she tied a long piece of string around its body, and put it out in the yard, where it hops around and seems to take no notice of the string. There have been many visitors to see her pet. All that seems to be a difficult question now is, what she will do with it when winter comes. M.

A party of business men of Quincy, Mass., one hundred in number, dined at the Oceanic, Star island, on Tuesday, July 26th. They came down from Boston in the steamer City of Portsmouth, formerly of this port.

The steamer Oceanic carried out the largest party of the season on Thursday forenoon.

The brick work of the new chimney at the shoe factory has now been completed, and is ready for the iron cap. Its altitude is 105 feet and six inches.

The veteran association of the Strafford Guards of Dover had their third annual reunion and picnic at Fort Constitution last Thursday.

Two women, both drunk, one so far gone as to be unable to stand, were taken to the police station in an express wagon about one o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Martha Hazel, widow of John S. Hazel, and Elizabeth T. Rand, widow of Robert Rand, of this city, have been granted pensions.

The Bennett-Moulton Opera Co. will appear in Music hall early in September, with the Mascot, Patience, Chimes of Normandy, and Pinafore, making a star of three days and playing at popular prices.

The bill to incorporate the Portsmouth street railroad company was passed by the state senate on Wednesday of this week, and sent to the governor for his signature.

Mrs. Frank W. Miller has presented a portrait of her late husband to the New Hampshire Historical society.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad will be held in this city on Wednesday, Aug. 10th, to choose a board of directors for the ensuing year, and to transact such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

The steamer E. P. Shaw, from Haverhill, Mass., with a party of about two hundred on board, was at Appledore on Thursday. The scene in the dining-room at dinner time was a pretty tribute to the excellence of the Laighton cuisine. Numbers of the merrymakers climbed the heights to scan the difference between ocean and river scenery, while many others enjoyed a quiet fish for cunners from the side of the steamer at the wharf. Despite occasional unpleasant bursts of fog, yachts in fine trim were not at all scarce around the grand old islands all through the day.

Naval Lodge, No. 184, A. F. & A. M., of Kittery, held its annual election on the evening of July 27th, and elected officers as follows: Horace Mitchell, Jr., W. M.; Theodore Wilcox, S. W.; Thomas J. Billings, J. W.; Wm. W. Locke, Treas.; L. L. Goodrich, Sec.; N. Hurd, Jr., S. D.; F. E. Rowell, J. D.; Finance Committee, M. A. Safford, F. E. Rowell, F. T. Clarkson. The officers elect will be installed at the next meeting, Aug. 30, at which there will be work in the 3d degree.

Capt. Thrasher, principal owner of the fine schooner William H. Jourdan of Taunton, Mass., which arrived at this port July 23d with 735 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, being in this city this week on business connected with the vessel took advantage of the circumstance to have his next winter's ulster built for him by Mr. Charles E. Simpson, who had before done tailoring work for the massive and jovial ex-mariner. Mr. Simpson says that ulster is the mightiest garment for size that he ever constructed, and if it does all he hopes for it the bluff, hearty, whole-souled and ponderous captain, who makes warm personal friends of all whom he is brought in contact with, will not feel a chill all through the coming winter.

Col. George Rand of the St. Cloud hotel, New York city, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Rand, left New York on Thursday of this week for this city, for a visit to Dr. John W. Parsons and wife on State street, after which they will go for the rest of the season to the Oceanic, Isles of Shoals, where Mrs. E. G. Adams of this city will be their guest.

Mr. Theodore Zerega of New York arrived in the lower harbor on Wednesday evening of this week in his yacht, the Surf, on his way from Bar Harbor to Newport, R. I., and came up to the city for a visit to Samuel Adams, Esq. Mr. Zerega is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and the youngest member of the board; and is the only son of the late Capt. Zerega of New York and Mrs. Hattie (Ricker) Zerega of this city.

"Have Your Mail Addressed to Street and Number."

For some time previous to the going into operation of the free delivery system in this city the post office officials endeavored to have the public assist them and the carriers in the prompt delivery of their mail by stamping upon letters received: "Have your mail addressed to street and number," hoping thereby that the receivers of letters bearing this imprint would ask their correspondents to so address them. In a measure this has been complied with, but numbers whose letters are not so addressed, are unable to be found. The city directory is of but little aid—so many new families having moved into the city, and others constantly changing about. Letters addressed Mrs. Mary ——, or Miss Nellie ——, are amongst those most difficult to find. Were the public to comply with the request and inform their correspondents and ask that their mail be addressed to their place of residence, they would readily see its advantage.

The New Hampshire senate has passed a bill prohibiting the use of barbed-wire fences without a top rail or board of wood.

A Friend in Need.
With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.
It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.
Durbe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Cold-, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Lowell	43	22	65
Haverhill Blues	38	26	64
Manchester	39	27	66
Lynn	32	35	67
Lawrence-Salem	29	35	64

Only two National League games were played July 27th, it being "travelling day." The Detroits beat the Chicagos, 10 to 4, and Indianapolis beat Pittsburg with one earned run, the Pittsburgs scoring a cipher.

New England games, July 27th: Lynn 12, Lowell 0; Salem 8, Portland 6; Haverhill 5, Manchester 3. By this result Haverhill passes Manchester, which drops to fourth place in the record.

Great Engineering Operation.

The enlarging of the gateway to New York harbor across the Sandy Hook bar is an important event in navigation. Two great channels are to be deepened by means of the hydraulic pump, and are to be widened to 1000 feet. The sand taken up is carried by tugs to near the Scotland lightship, and dumped in sixteen fathoms of water. The transatlantic steamers will be able when this is completed to run directly up to the New York docks without waiting for high tide. New York's supremacy as a commercial centre is said to depend on deepening her harbor and permitting ships to approach without delay. The work is expected to be completed by January. The cost will be hardly less than a million of dollars. It is one of the most gigantic operations in civil engineering that the world has seen.

Railroad Disaster.

A collision occurred July 27th on the bridge near Hopedale, Ill., on the Alton railroad, between a construction train and a train that was on an excursion and ten dead bodies were soon taken from the wreck of the construction train, and eight men are unaccounted for. It is supposed that the missing men are dead in the wreck, in which case the number of dead is eighteen, with the probability that the list will be swelled to twenty-two, by the death of those supposed to be fatally hurt.

Ship Hotspur, reported wrecked while carrying coal from Australia to Manila, was owned by New Bedford, Boston and Bath parties, the New England Shipbuilding company, of Bath, owing one-eighth.

"I think I sold about two gross of your Athlophoros the last year. For rheumatism it has no equal," writes O. P. Atwood, a Pittsfield (Mass.) druggist, in commendation of the great rheumatism and neuralgia cure and its healing merits.

The Cocheco woolen mills at East Rochester close on Saturday for four weeks, while a new wheel is being put in. Three are 225 persons employed there who will take a vacation during the month.

Row I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—ROBERT DAVIS, American House, Boston.

Twenty-two boilers belonging to a blast furnace and iron works at Friedshutte, in Silesia, exploded, killing three men and wounding twenty others. After the explosion a fire broke out, which consumed six houses and and a shop.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Price, 50 cents a box.

The republican state convention of Ohio on July 28th renominated Gov. Foraker, and endorsed Senator Sherman for the republican nomination for president.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

A CARD.
To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those or rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which mullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and sooths the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

Fire in the bakery of Christian Essen at Chicago, on the night of July 28th, caused the death of two of his children, and the injury by burning or suffocation of ten or fifteen others, most of them fatally.

A nationalist convention at Newry, Ireland, voted to treat as a leper any one turning informer under the crimes act.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

At Carbon, Ind., July 25th, a wedding festival among Austrian miners wound up with a fight in which one man was shot dead and three others badly wounded; and another man was found dead on the street in the morning, with his head crushed in by a coupling pin.

Shall We Eat Meat Or Not?

Everybody will tell you now in this season of the summer that you ought not to eat so much meat. "Try vegetarian diet," they say; we have tried the vegetarian diet until we are sick of it. It is hard to get in America, and costly. And we believe anyway that a man is carnivorous to a large degree. Still, vegetables ought to be eaten in their season. The only trouble is one is so apt to get at hotels and restaurants only such vegetables as have laid in the sun and turned a "cholera green." Of course, there is risk in eating such food. Better protect yourself as well as possible by having always within reach some Brandreth's Pills. A dose of three to ten, according to your wish, will generally act as a preventive against all disease arising from eating impure food.

A terrible thunder storm prevailed in Franklin Falls and its vicinity last Thursday night, and great damage was done. The farm buildings of Carlos Abbott of Bradford were burned by lightning.

Where Irving is Buried.

From a paper by Clarence Cook, accompanied by a protrait, in the Century, we quote as follows: "I confess I heard not without a secret pleasure that the relic-hunters so chip and hammer the stone that marks Irving's grave as to make its frequent renewal necessary. It did not seem to me a grievous wrong, nor in any true sense a profanation of the grave, but rather a testimony to the lovableness of Irving's character, and an evidence of the wide extent of his fame, that, from filling the circle of the educated and refined among his countrymen, has now come to include that lower stratum of our common humanity which has only instinctive and, so to speak, mechanical ways of expressing its feelings.

"It would not have been easy to find a place more in harmony with the associations that gather about Irving's name as a writer than the spot in which he is buried. Even to-day, with all the changes that have been brought about by the growth of the neighboring settlement, the spirit of peace and quiet that used to brood over the region hovers there undisturbed. Irving's own words, in the 'Legend of Sleepy Hollow,' describing the graveyard, the old church, and the stream that plays about its feet, reflect with the faithfulness of a mirror the scene as we behold it to-day.

"Here is the church, a small building with rough sides of the country-stone, surmounted by a picturesque roof, and with an open bell-turret over which still veers the vane pierced with the initials of the Vrederick Felypsen who built the church and endowed it in 1699. In our rambles about the grave-yard we used to find the bricks of light-colored clay, brought from Holland, and of which, so tradition said, the church had been originally built, or which had, at any rate, been largely used in its construction.

"The church was seldom used, except in the summer-time. On communion Sundays the handsome seventeenth-century Jacobean table of oak brought from Holland, where plenty like it may still be found, was set out, as it is to-day, with the plain vessels of silver 'presented by Queen Anne,' as the formula goes, that used to please my childish taste for things that had about them the flavor of old days.

"The same budding taste for antiquities led me and some of my schoolmates to the old grave-yard, where we hunted up the oldest tombstones, scraping off the moss and lichens to decipher the names and dates, and enjoying many a laugh over their carved ornaments, scrolls, and cockle-shells, and sturdy, dew-lapped, Dutch cherubs, with their stumpy little wings scored like checker-boards for plumage. Many of these grave-stones were said to have been imported from Holland by the early settlers, like the bricks of which the church was built, the table in the church, and much of the furniture to be found in the farmhouses of the country-side, chairs and tables, cupboards, and even looking-glasses. The carvings, memorial verses, and scripture-texts upon these tombstones were cut by the more skillful workmen over-seas, and the names and dates were filled in here at home as occasion called."

A Pen-Picture of Louis Blanc.

From a personal paper in the Century, by Karl Blind, on Louis Blanc, whom he denominates the last great leader of the time of the Second Republic of France, we quote the following: "In society, the smallness of his stature, combined with the youthfulness of his visage, and his habit of shaving the whole face, several times led to very exhilarating scenes. Even many years after his arrival in England, he was repeatedly mistaken for a youngster. A relative writing to me from Germany just reminds me of the following laughable, but highly inconvenient, incident: "Do you remember the dinner at your house, when we waited so long, and in vain, for Louis Blanc? John Irish, housemaid had sent the 'boy' away, saying that you were engaged' Another dinner had to be arranged, in order to give my German relative a chance of meeting Louis Blanc. "When Louis Blanc's publisher died, and he temporarily found himself rather in financial straits, lectures were arranged for him, at my suggestion, in our St. John's Wood Athenæum. 'Mysterious Personages and Agencies Before the French Revolution,' was the title. Quite a crowd of literary and political celebrities were expected. By an oversight, Louis Blanc, on this his first appearance as a lecturer in the English language, himself almost became a mysterious personage to the distinguished audience, the desk being so high that his head would scarcely have been visible. Fortunately, in the nick of time, a footstool was provided, on which he stood all the while when speaking. The somewhat constrained attitude imposed upon him thereby perhaps accounts to some extent for the rather formal and academic manner of his delivery. In the French Assembly, too, he had made use of a stool!

Henry Ray, of Gilmer, Tex., has discovered the secret of the quail's being able to hide so well. He was walking in a field when a covey of birds was flushed. One alighted near him, and the moment it did so seized a dead oak leaf, crouched to the ground, and threw the leaf over its back, so that it was hidden completely from view. Mr. Ray said that he had to go and turn over the leaf before he could believe the evidence of his own eyes.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to, and undoubtedly leads to, consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with a fearful disease should not make it the object of their entire attention to rid themselves of a disease even which concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

Mr. Collins is Overhauled at Belfast.

It seems too bad that after Mr. Cleveland's prime minister of state should have stood, hat in hand, while the fishery business was properly apologized for, such treatment should be awarded the president's right hand man in New England and second choice for secretary of war, Mr. Patrick Collins, at Dublin on Thursday. Whether the excessive annoyance was inflicted just to show Mr. Cleveland that his representative man was not respected by Mr. John Bull after the Bayard subserviency, or for what cause, we are not able to conjecture. Fortunately for Great Britain, the Atlantis is just now not in condition to proceed to sea on a war footing, or we would knock the stuffing out of their miserable little island for their insult to Mr. Cleveland.

Bound to be Asked.

The prominent office-holders are now engaged in running the Cleveland boomlet by means of invitations to visit various cities. The friends of the president gently stir up the members of city councils, who sniff a junket, and the result is easily attained. The president having learned that numberless committee men had made attempts to violate the interstate laws by going to Washington either at reduced or special rates or upon free passes, now gives out that a message by mail is just as good an invitation as if sent by means of a formal committee. The object is to procure the invitation. Ever since the St. Louis affair the president has acted like a spoiled child upon the subject of being invited to go to the Mississippi.

He Means Well.

Representative Moore, in his efforts to be rid of the lobby, seeks to have legislative prohibition regulating the number of counsel who shall advocate a measure before the legislature, and scatter the large array of retained men who sit around the hotels and brush away the flies three days in a week at Concord. This is perhaps well. It is at least well meant. But it does not go far enough. It reaches the enlisted men, but what becomes of the volunteers? What is to prevent that unpurchased influence incited solely by honorable, conscientious motives of state pride, from taking a hand in these contests and becoming the great lever which shall move legislation and control far more votes than could the most eloquent speech from the member from Nashua? This element, if incapable of being reached by sense of propriety, could not be controlled by the most stringent legislation which the fertile mind of the editor of the Telegraph could suggest.

The President's Non-Partisan Pretences.

Speaking at Clinton, N. Y., last Wednesday, President Cleveland referred to the desperate anxiety of the democrats as "the mad clamor of disappointed interest which, without regard for the general good or allowance for the exercise of official judgments, would degrade the office [of president] by forcing compliance with selfish interests." A little investigation will prove that this same "mad clamor," notwithstanding its "degrading" influences and "without regard to the public good," has triumphed over the president's scruples. Here in Chicago, for instance, the "mad clamorers" have been so successful that "compliance with their selfish interests" has been the rule. Faithful public servants, veteran soldiers, men grown gray in the service of the nation, experts in their special work, have been driven from their positions without cause—other than that they are republicans—to make way for democratic ward-workers, strikers, and cheap politicians of the Mike McDonald committee order. There is hardly a republican left in any of the local federal offices. Some who were once republicans may have been retained, because they have apostatized or pretented to apostatize to the democratic faith. As it is in Chicago so it has been in New York, Boston and all the other great centres of population. Yet Cleveland goes up and down preaching non-partisanship, as he did at Clinton! Have his civil service reformers been imposing on him, or is it sheer hypocrisy on his part?—Chicago Tribune.

"The House at High Bridge," by Edgar Fawcett, constitutes No. 13 of Ticknor's Paper Series of Choice Reading. The Boston Traveller says of Mr. Fawcett's writings: "Few American authors have won more solid recognition and enduring fame than has Mr. Edgar Fawcett, poet, novelist and playwright. His works are more widely known and read than those of any of the younger novelists; and his vigor and vivacity of thought, combined with unusual delicacy of touch and charm of style, are recognized by the best critics of literature. The vigor of Mr. Fawcett's work is intellectually refreshing. His fiction is suggestive as well as interesting, and offers food for thought. The keenness with which salient points in life are pictured makes it more breezy and exhilarating reading." Ticknor's Paper Series are for sale by newsdealers, at fifty cents per number.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite lengthened association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

REPUBLICAN MAYORALTY CAUCUS.

The republican caucus to elect a candidate for mayor, to be supported at the city election on Tuesday next, will be held at the Court house, Saturday, July 30th, from four to eight o'clock, P. M.

DEMOCRATIC MAYORALTY CAUCUS.

The democratic caucus for the nomination of a candidate for mayor was held in the court house on Friday evening, and the official programme was duly carried out. Major David Urch, chairman of the democratic city committee, was chairman of the caucus, and Thomas J. Donovan secretary. The result of the ballotting was announced announced as follows:

Whole number of votes	458
Necessary for a choice	230
David Urch had	1
George E. Hodgdon	457

And Mr. Hodgdon was declared the nominee of the caucus. Samuel W. Emery, Michael Crowley and Walter H. Page were appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. Hodgdon and inform him of his nomination, and he appeared and in brief terms accepted the honor.

CONGRESSIONAL VETERANS.

The veteran Ex-Congressman John R. Reding of Portsmouth, now past his fourscore years, is in excellent health and as active as many a score of his years his junior. Mr. Reding was a member of the Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth Congress—1841 to 1845, forty-six years ago—and of his colleagues in the Twenty-seventh Congress only four now survive, as follows: Robert C. Winthrop of Massachusetts, Robert M. Y. Hunter of Virginia, and Harvey M. Watterson of Tennessee.—Foster's Democrat.

Since the above was printed Hunter of Virginia has died, reducing the number of survivors to three.—Portsmouth Journal.

Alexander H. H. Stuart of Virginia and Richard W. Thompson of Indiana, members of the Twenty-seventh Congress, and both men of the first rank in the republican party, are yet alive and I trust in good health. J. R. R.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

The republican caucus of ward one was held Friday evening, and the following nominations made:

For aldermen, George W. Pendexter, Robert King, Oliver W. Ham.

Common councilmen, James A. Waterhouse, Charles E. Hatch, Harrie W. W. Jackson, Lorenzo T. Burnham, George L. Hersey, Fred C. Young.

Overseer of poor, Charles F. Wells.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

At the democratic caucus in ward three, Thursday evening, July 28th, the following nominations were made:

For alderman, Daniel J. Ayers.

For assessor of taxes, James Douglas.

For overseer of the poor, Eugene Flynn.

WHO EVER HEARD A FROG SING?

We are told of the "merry cricket on the hearth," the most dismal sound on earth except the dropping of clods on the coffin of a particular friend. Also we are told about the singing of frogs. The idea that frogs every spring make night musical makes me tired. I have watched frogs from Maine to Texas, but I have never seen one that sang. I have been frightened nearly to death at night by the croak of a 14-inch frog in the "Brazos bottom;" I have tried in vain to capture these gentlemen (for their legs) in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, but as I say, I never heard a frog sing. Did any one? For mercy's sake answer, ye naturalists. Toads, the despised toads, are the brightest and prettiest singers that enliven the most dismal portions of our spring in its most dismal places. Everyone has seen them with their swelling throats, and listened to the beautiful music they produced singly or in chorus; but what I want to know is, "Who ever heard a frog sing?" for we are always told (or at least I have been for forty years) that when the frogs begin to sing it is a sign that spring has opened in earnest. J.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, July 29th.

Thomas Blute, a twelve-years-old son of Patrick Blute, who is now in state prison, was brought in on a charge of having the previous day thrown stones at Miss Lizzie Ham. He was a very scared youngster when he was brought into the presence, and was a great deal more scared before he got out; he promised most solemnly that not only would he not throw stones at Miss Ham again, but would never hereafter throw stones or anything else at anybody so long as he should remain on this planet. In consideration of his abundant sorrow at having been caught, and the fact that he has a good home with his respectable old grandfather, Judge Batchelder accepted his promises of good behavior, and allowed him to go on probation.

Addie Wells, who resides at an establishment known as the Bay View, and was picked up on the north millbridge Thursday and conveyed to the police station in a cart, was charged with having been drunk. There was hardly a chance to refute the charge, so she did not attempt it, and was fined $3, costs $6.90, which was paid.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lulu Emery of Boston, formerly of this city, is boarding at Sawyer's, Rye beach.

Miss Charlotte Flint of Newbury street, Boston, is visiting Miss Nellie Call on Pleasant street.

Mr. L. V. Newell arrived home last Thursday evening from a camping-out expedition in the woods of eastern Maine.

Mrs. Willis Knowlton and two children, from Saginaw, Michigan, are passing the summer with Mr. John Knowlton on Chapel street.

Councilman Haddock goes to Boston and New York on a ten days' vacation next week. This will be Mr. Haddock's first visit to the Hub, and we believe his first ride in the cars.—Penny Post.

Isa H. Leveen, Esq., formerly of this city, is practising law at Kansas City, Mo. He studied in the office of Gen. Roger A. Pryor in New York city, practised there for a while, and married a New York lady.

The Dover cricket club will play a game with the Portsmouth club on the grounds at Frenchman's lane this afternoon, commencing at 1:30 o'clock.

There was a good deal of talk among the democrats during the three days preceding the democratic mayoralty caucus, of endeavoring to defeat the nomination of Mr. George E. Hodgdon; but Mr. Jones appeared at the caucus, and not a man of the growlers ventured to yip, the gentleman selected having the unanimous vote of the party, except his own.

Mr. Hall Varrell of this city is officiating as clerk for Paymaster Putnam at the navy yard, in the place lately held by Mr. R. H. Paine.

The Portsmouth Athletic club have voted to have their second annual supper at the Hotel Wentworth on Friday evening, Sept. 9th.

The tug Nellie, from New York, which put into this harbor on Tuesday, July 26th, to make some slight repairs to her boiler, sailed for Boothbay on Friday, the 29th.

By order of the city authorities a very substantial rail fence was built by B. Stowe Laskey on Friday at the city property near the landing at the foot of Deer street. This is a very decided improvement, both for the protection of corporation interests and the prevention of accidents at the dock there.

One of the fire extinguisher companies turned out Friday forenoon, the whistle at the Eldredge brewery having sounded the alarm for box nine. Something was wrong with the wires. Toward evening the gong at the Portsmouth brewery was sounded twice by lightning.

A citizen very much honored and respected both in the state of New Hampshire and his native city of Portsmouth, was grossly insulted and abused by a scallawag at the democratic caucus held in ward four last Thursday evening. The wonder is that such things should be countenanced and allowed by the bystanders.

The sills of the new house being built by Anderson & Junkins at the corner of Lincoln and Miller avenues for C. E. Boynton, have been laid, and the work is rapidly progressing.

Mr. Charles M. Fernald, telegraph operator at the Boston & Maine station at Conway Junction, has been transferred to Kittery depot. Patsey Kane, recently messenger at the Western Union office in this city, has gone to the Boston & Maine telegraph station at the Kittery gravel pit.

W. H. Coolidge, Esq., of Boston, counsel for the Boston & Lowell railroad, was in town on Friday, making an examination of papers in the clerk's office of the United States circuit court.

The funeral of Jeremiah Morrissey took place at nine o'clock Friday morning, and was atteded by a large number of his relatives and friends. The floral tributes were beautiful, one piece being especially so—that contributed by his sisters and brother. Solemn requiem mass was observed at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father O'Callaghan officiating. Mr. Morrissey was a member in good standing of the Typographical Union of Boston.

The Dover Democrat says that a Dover man while visiting York beach the other day bought a bath ticket, received some towels, and was shown to a bath house on the beach. About half an hour later he opened the door a little, called the attendant to him, and inquired when the water would be up, and was told that it did not come up to the houses, and if he wanted to bathe he would have to go out to the surf, which was rolling in in good style. The gentleman replied that he was not going out there, and if they wanted him to bathe the water must be brought to the bath house. He was told that it could not be done, and so he put on his clothes and left the beach much disgusted with its bathing facilities.

"Never pass under a ladder" is an old and very sensible saying, but no one could pass in front of our City Hall (!) last Friday forenoon unless they violated this ordinance or took to the street. One ladder stood erect with its foot planted on the kerbstone, and another was suspended horizontally, with the workmen gaily distributing the debris of their labors on the pavement or passers below.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

I sat in my shop door a little before six o'clock Friday morning and watched the sun shining, a heavy fog drifting rapidly out to sea, and a brisk thunder shower falling—all at the same time. How's that for a combination?

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

A Congressman Abroad.

I heard a good story to-day about an ex-congressman from New Jersey who recently made a tour through Europe with a party of friends. When he got to Paris he sought out the American legation and burst in on the secretary in charge at the time, in a towering rage.

He complained to the secretary in very violent language that he had been robbed by the railway officials. They had refused to let him or his party out at the depot when they arrived in Paris, without the payment of a very considerable number of francs. He thought it an outrage that a distinguished American or his friends could not travel through France without paying tribute to brigands. He wanted the secretary of the legation to write at once to the president of the railway demanding the instant return of the money he had been unwarrantably compelled to pay.

"Tell him who I am," he said, "and he'll come down promptly with the ducats—francs, I mean."

Then the secretary, first soothing him with sympathetic expressions, drew from him some facts which he had omitted to state.

Yes, he had surrendered his railway ticket. His friends had surrendered theirs.

And yes, he had received a small piece of green paper in exchange.

Yes, it had some printing on it, but it was French nonsense of some sort—gibberish; he couldn't make head or tail of it.

"What did you do with it?" asked the secretary.

"Why, I threw it out of the window," he replied. "I didn't want it; some kind of trash, anyway. Then, when I got to Paris, and we started to walk out of the depot, just as we do at home, by George! they stopped us, and wouldn't let us go out because we didn't have that infernal piece of green paper.

"It took me half an hour to find out what they wanted, for none of them could speak English, and I couldn't understand their gibberish. But I finally made out that they wanted that piece of paper or the money I told you about. I saw there was no other way out, so I handed over the money."

The secretary understood it all then. He told the distinguished son of New Jersey that he would make the required demand upon the railway company at once, and so sent him happily to his hotel.

Then he sat down and made the best story he could out of it, in a letter to the president of the railway.

The latter replied in a politely sarcastic note, inclosing the money in question, expressing his regret at the occurrence, and winding up with an expression of his sympathy with the constituency represented in the American congress by such a man as the statesman from New Jersey.

The secretary of legation, of course, returned the money with the expression of regret, but not with the expression of sympathy. — Philadelphia Record.

A Small Blunder.

A lady, on the lookout for a steady nurse-girl to take charge of the children, entered a servant's registry, where her eye fell on a respectable young woman from Normandy, who looked the very picture of health. "I like your appearance," said madame, "but tell me why you left your former situation." "A simple oversight, ma'am. One day as I was nursing Mrs. L——'s baby, I looked out of a window to listen to a man who was singing in the yard, Mrs. L—— gave me twopence to throw down to him, but alas! instead of the money I dropped the child out of the window!" —Le Grelot.

Henry Detwiller, the man who dispensed the first homeopathic remedy in America died in Switzerland in 1817.

Miss Braddon can claim her jubilee. She is publishing her fiftieth volume.

The president has decided to visit St. Louis, but has fixed no date.

Rebecca Hunter, an aged woman of Providence, R. I., has drowned herself.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those of rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which nullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and sooths the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

The International base ball league has been quite generally praised for the stand it has taken against Sunday ball playing.

A Boon For Travellers.

The traveller who guards against sudden attacks of cold, headache, indigestion, diarrhœa, etc., ailments not infrequently brought on by changes of climate and water, is the sensible farseeing man. Always have ready in your valise or trunk a box of Allcock's Porous Plasters. Worn on the pit of the stomach they will so strengthen the digestive organs that you can eat almost anything, and travel without fear of taking cold.

Judge Noonan, of St. Louis, has decided that the Sunday law is not applicable to the national game.

Passengers over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, if seated on the right side of the car (going up) will notice, a few rods south of the state reform school at Manchester, a small family burial lot marked by a small granite monument. This is the last resting place of the old hero General Stark, and workmen are now engaged in clearing away the underbrush and other obstructions, preparatory to the erection of the magnificent bronze equestrian statue on the spot by the state of New Hampshire and city of Manchester.

Master of the Steamship Kazawha.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt tired instead of vigorous; nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep broken. He tried to overcome these feelings, but they would not go. He then noticed pains and irritation in the water channels, and that the fluids passed were often thick and with a scum on top or a brick-dust sediment at the bottom. All these were the sure symptoms of fearful disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, which has always been considered incurable, and they continued until the Captain was in a terrible condition. But he is the picture of health and vigor to-day, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Remedy. Capt. Greenwood says: "I am so certain of the great value of Hunt's Remedy, that I always carry a supply on shipboard for the use of my men, and I prescribe it whenever they are ailing. After curing me as it did, and restoring my wife, (whom the best physicians of New York said was dying of tumor,) to perfect health, I swear by it."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney Liver and Urinary Diseases.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. EVAN,
Cayuga, Livingston Co., Ill.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourth day of January, 1887. C. N. COE, J. P.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all palliatives and simply procrastinated sufferings, tending to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

In view of the fact that a number of contractors seemed to have counted on a postponement of the bidding for the new ships and are not yet ready with their paper, the secretary of the navy has decided to put off the opening of the bids until Monday, Aug. 8th.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and general debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Pure God Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, the will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisic, Scrofula and wasting diseases generally. It is very palatable."

A Vigorous Protest.

A document of vital importance to the organization of the Knights of Labor, and signed by such leading men as G. E. McNeill of Boston, J. Archibald and John Morrison and William Foster of Lowell, Mass., has just been issued. The circular has been sent to all organizations connected with the Knights of Labor in the form of a secret circular. The document says that, owing to the wide departure from the fundamental principles upon which the Knights of Labor was founded, there has been a large decrease in the membership, and unless the general assembly at the next meeting at Minneapolis in October make some important changes there will be still further decrease. The circular protests against the arbitrary methods by which the constitution has been altered. It appeals to members to instruct delegates to the general assembly meeting at Minneapolis to organize under the old constitution, and submits amendments.

Internal Revenue Statistics.

Joseph S. Miller, commissioner of internal revenue, has submitted to Secretary Fairchild a preliminary report of the operations of that service during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1887.

The total collections from all sources of internal revenue for the fiscal year just ended were $118,835,757, which amount has been accounted for and covered into the treasury. This is $1,932,888 more than the collections for the previous fiscal year. The cost of collection was about $4,075,000. The receipts from the different objects of taxation, as compared with the receipts of the previous year, were as follows:

Spirits, $65,829,322, a decrease of $3,262,944; tobacco, $80,108,067, an increase of $2,200,705; fermented liquors, $21,922,187, an increase of $2,245,436; oleomargarine, $726,948, all increase; banks and bankers, $4,288, all increase; miscellaneous, $247,945, an increase of $21,485.

The quantities of distilled spirits, fermented liquors, manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes, on which tax was paid during the year was as follows: Spirits distilled from grapes, apples and peaches, 1,211,532 gallons, a decrease of 344,462; spirits distilled from other materials, 66,168,859 gallons, a decrease of 3,126,502; cigars, 3,788,395,443, an increase of 277,406,955; cigarettes, 1,584,505,200, an increase of 273,543,850; snuff, 6,561,673 pounds, an increase of 295,826; tobacco, 199,937,648 pounds, an increase of 14,811,455; fermented liquors, 25,121,526 barrels, an increase of 2,410,593 barrels. The above figures indicate a decrease in the consumption of spirituous liquors and a corresponding increase in the consumption of malt liquors.

Lightning's Work.

During a severe thunder storm in Dover last Friday afternoon the residence of J. B. Quaid was struck by lightning. The roof was partially destroyed. Several trees in Rollinsford were torn from the roots, telegraph poles were smashed, and several minor casualties are reported.

The barn and outbuildings of Richard Morgan of New London, this state, were burned by lightning July 29th. Six horses and a cow were consumed; loss $2500; no insurance. A thunder storm or unusual violence, with hail, touched various points in that vicinity that morning.

At Hanover, on the night of July 28th, the "old pine" in the college yard, said to be 100 years old, one of the landmarks at Dartmouth, around which every Dartmouth class for many years has smoked its farewell pipe, was struck by lightning. Considerable bark was torn from the trunk, but the tree may not be killed.

At Barton Landing, Vt., on the night of July 28th, the house of Harvey Fletcher was struck by lightning, instantly killing his wife and paralyzing himself, while they were asleep in bed. He will recover.

Twenty-two cases of heat prostration were noted in New York on July 29th, five fatal. In the evening a severe thunder storm occurred. The Y. M. C. A. building in Brooklyn was struck by lightning, and several occupants stunned.

Stephen Douglas' house and barn in Stowe, Vt., with contents, were burned by lightning on the night of July 29th; loss $1500.

At Salem, Mass., July 29th, lightning burned out fifty telephone boxes, including three police boxes. It also struck the tower of No. 2 mill.

At South Acton, Mass, the barn of Luther Billings was struck by lightning and destroyed, with live stock, farm implements, etc. Loss $2000.

Sanford Eddy's barns in Waterbury, Vt., containing three horses and forty tons of hay, were burned by lightning July 29th.

The United States fish commission steamer Grampus, Captain Collins, which left Gloucester June 30th on a scientific expedition, to collect specimens at Bird rocks, of the Magdalen islands, arrived at St. John's, N. F., July 17th, took Captain Baxter as pilot, and left on the 20th for the North Main. The object of the expedition was to obtain the bones of the great auk, an extinct sea bird, larger than the goose, not seen for thirty-five years, but once abundant there. In all the museums of the world there are to be found only nine skeletons and seventy-two skins. The Grampus went to Funk island, and Captain Collins and Messrs. Lucas and Palmer and two seamen landed and remained two days. They were most successful in finding the desired skeletons and specimens of everything the island contains.

The steamer Stamford was run into in Boston harbor on Saturday by the schooner Grace Webster of Portland, in a fog, and had to be towed back. No person was hurt.

The trial races for the selection of a competitor against the Scotch cutter Thistle, for the American cup, will be held during the first week of September, but the days have not yet been named. The dates for the international contests have been fixed. The first race will be sailed over the New York Club course on Tuesday, Sept. 27th. The second race will be twenty miles to sea from the Sandy Hook lightship and back on Thursday, Sept. 29th, and if a third race is necessary it will be sailed on Saturday, Oct. 1st, over an outside triangular course.

The fire insurance men in New York are much discouraged. But one company in that city has made anything during the past six months. Some of the companies, if large fires keep up as has been the case for the last sixty days, will have to cease business. The annual amount of losses averages about $100,000,000.

A cyclone on the 29th ult. demolished over half the buildings in David City, Nebraska, including Union Pacific and Burlington & Missouri depots, a large brick schoolhouse, Methodist and Congregational church, several stores and many dwellings. Damage, $200,000. One life was lost.

Hon. Patrick A. Collins, whose luggage was severely searched in Belfast, Ireland, lest it might contain explosives which could shake the British throne, says that "a bottle of bay rum elicited the deep attention of the officer who scrutinized the baggage." This is all very well for Patrick to tell us, but do we not know that when the freedom of the city of Dublin was conferred upon the illustrious ex-member of Congress, there was also given a bottle of Roe's whiskey? The disappointed myrmidons of the British lion should be brought to a proper sense of their wrong, by the navy department sending the Ossipee, for instance, if she does not leak too much, at once to Belfast, to inform them, officially, that a bottle of whiskey does not last an American congressman who travels with a party, any longer than it would remain with an Irish member of Parliament.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. C. Backwaxwa, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." Mrs. C. A. M. Hubbard, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. Lovejoy, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." Mary L. Peele, Salem, Mass.

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite long-tenured association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the maddling crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a give or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

Early last Saturday morning Joseph Solomon Dinsmore Sewall, the fifteen-years-old son of John William Sewall, the well known colored man who lives on Pine street, Christian Shore, left his home to gather cat-o'-nine tails. Between eight and nine o'clock, as Conductor Garland's train from this city for Boston was near Drake's bridge, between Greenland and North Hampton stations, the boy was seen sitting beside the track with a bundle of cat-tails under his arm, apparently asleep. Engineer Green thought the train would pass him all right, but when the engine was close to him he suddenly started, threw his head back, and was struck on the shoulder and thrown down the bank. The train was stopped and the boy taken to North Hampton; he was living when taken up, and opened his eyes after arriving at North Hampton, but died immediately after; there were no marks of injury on his body, but his neck was broken by the blow from the engine.

The train which left this city at 7:55 o'clock Saturday morning for Concord over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, when near Hooksett ran upon a side track through a switch having been left open, and collided with a mixed train from Pittsfield on the Suncook Valley branch, which had been switched on the side track to allow the up train to pass. At the time of the collision Brakeman George Barney, of the Pittsfield train, was engaged in coupling a car to the train, and was buried under the engine Passaconaway of the up train; he was terribly mangled, and though got out alive died in about half an hour, after stating that his brother brakeman on the Suncook line, George Salter, who was badly but not fatally hurt, was responsible for the disaster, having left the switch open for the train from this city. Both locomotives were badly wrecked; also the baggage and mail car of the Portsmouth train, and two freight cars of the Suncook Valley train. The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped when they saw that a crash was certain, and all escaped serious injury. The tender of the engine of the Portsmouth train telescoped the baggage and mail car, and Mr. George B. French of this city, residing in the house on Daniel street remodelled from the old Methodist chapel, was caught by the neck between the end of the tender and a barrel, and instantly killed; he was messenger for the American Express Co., had lived in this city about two years, and was very highly respected by his employers and by all others who knew him. Fireman George Salter, of the Concord passenger train was somewhat bruised, but not very seriously; Engineer Frank Carter sustained only trifling hurts. None of the passengers were seriously injured. Mr. French, the express messenger, leaves a wife; the deceased brakeman, Barney, was unmarried.

PRESENTATION.

Capt. William Robinson, the efficient and popular captain of the steamer Oceanic, was called into the office of the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals, last Friday evening, and presented with a splendid marine glass purchased by the guests of the hotel as a token of appreciation of his ability as a commander and his care for the comfort of his passengers. Hon. Stillman B. Allen of Boston made a witty and effective presentation speech, to which Capt. Robinson, although entirely unprepared, (the affair having been kept an absolute secret from him,) responded in very neat terms. The office was especially illuminated and dressed with flowers, and very many of the lady guests of the house were present in evening toilette for the occasion.

Hon. John A. Andrew and party of Massachusetts, Prof. Tucker and wife of Andover, Mass., G. M. Bogue, stock broker of Chicago, J. K. Manning, W. H. Sands and family, and J. B. Winslow of Boston, were among the arrivals at the Oceanic last Friday.

Col. George W. Rand of the St. Cloud hotel, New York, his mother, Mrs. Thomas Rand, and Mrs. E. G. Adams of this city, arrived at the Oceanic hotel, Isles of Shoals, last Friday, for the rest of the season. Col. Rand signalized the day of his arrival by catching a 45-lb. codfish, the heaviest of the season thus far.

MARITIME NOTES.

All the boats on the river and all the teams at the stables were out on Sunday.

The steamer Oceanic, Capt. Robinson, made her first Sunday trips to the Isles of Shoals on the 31st ult. She carried out a large party on the forenoon trip.

The tug Clara Bateman towed down on Sunday at one time the big three-masted schooners Wm. H. Jourdan and A. H. Howe, and a two-master. She took them down in good style.

The schooner Flying Eagle, of this port, seined fifty barrels of nice mackerel near Boon island on Saturday. She came into the lower harbor on Saturday evening, procured ice, and sailed for Portland with her catch.

The sloop yacht Daisy, of Boston, Capt. Edwin M. Baker commanding, arrived at this port on Saturday and remained over Sunday, occupying a berth at Union wharf. On board of the yacht were the owner, Commodore George F. Knight of Boston, and friends, bound on a cruise to the eastward. In company with the Daisy was the steam yacht Warren Gowin, Capt. Gowin, a finely modelled and beautifully finished little craft, whose owner and captain is a close friend of Commodore Knight. Capt. Baker will be well remembered as the first commander of the steamer Appledore between this port and the Isles of Shoals.

The Portsmouth and Dover cricket clubs played a game on the grounds at Frenchman's lane, Saturday afternoon, the Dover club winning by a score of thirty to twenty-five, in one inning.

The Royal Templars of Temperance of the New England states are to hold a grand Temperance camp-meeting at Old Orchard the last week in August.

The big snapping-turtle which came down through the Deer street sewer one day last week, and was captured by a northend stevedore, has gone to the Isles of Shoals to become an inmate of the Appledore aquarium.

Workmen discharged after the building of the York railroad were passing through this city in considerable numbers during the latter part of last week with their packs. They were all well behaved, and were as well treated.

Master George Russell, about nine years old, got beyond his depth while bathing near the foot of Hunking street last Friday afternoon about three o'clock, and would have drowned but for the assistance of James Horace Peverly, a son of Assistant Marshal Peverly, who pulled off his clothes, jumped in, and held the other boy up until Mr. Thomas Carlton arrived in his boat and pulled both boys out of the water.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

The hop at the Wentworth on Saturday evening was largely attended. Many persons were present from this city and the navy yard.

Mr. T. Gerrish Furber of Newington on Saturday brought in a quantity of sweet corn—not "pudding" corn, but the old-fashioned sweet variety—which was far ahead of anything previously brought into this market this season. He placed it where it would do the most good; we had some for our Sunday dinner.

Gypsies of dark complexion, presumably from the south of Europe, were on Market street last Saturday with baskets and trinkets for sale to the transient passers-by.

Frank L. Roberts of Dover, who attempted suicide recently by hanging, killed himself Saturday morning by placing the muzzle of a shot-gun under his chin, firing it, and blowing his head to pieces. He was between fifty and sixty years old, and highly respected. Long continued ill health caused the act.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those or rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which mullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and soothes the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

The half-brother—or a half-brother, for there is a large and select assortment of them—of the king of Siam, arrived in New York on Sunday, July 31st, from Europe. He has been "doing" the jubilee business.

A Boon For Travellers.

The traveller who guards against sudden attacks of cold, headache, indigestion, diarrhoea, etc., ailments not infrequently brought on by changes of climate and water, is the sensible farseeing man. S., were drowned on the 31st by the capsizing of a boat in which they were sailing with a party; two men and five young ladies were saved.

On Saturday afternoon last a party of twelve persons, including two men, one woman, and nine boys and girls from two to eighteen years old went to Plum island from Newburyport to spend the day. In the evening on the trip home the boat was capsized, and Albert Stevens, aged eleven years, and Mina Goodwin, aged fourteen, were drowned. The others were rescued by boats from the schooners Addie E. Seavey, Anna M. Nash and James Baker.

The sloop yacht Minerva, with twelve prominent business men of Philadelphia on board, capsized just below the city July 30th, and two persons were drowned.

It is announced that "Charges are to be preferred against those federal officials who recently, in violation of the president's order, took an active part in the democratic state convention in Maryland." Bosh! The mugwumps and civil service reformers may prefer all the charges they wish, and that is all it will amount to. Eugene Higgins and the other democratic "fine workers" who left their duties in Washington to marshal and direct the roughs of Baltimore in the interests of Cleveland and reform, and effectually bullied and flattened out the reform wing of the party in the democratic primaries, are much too valuable men to be disturbed merely because they openly violated a presidential order which it was never intended should be observed. Higgins and his pals knew what ground they stood on before they left Washington.

A Celestial Sunday-School.

There is no doubt about a Chinese Sunday-school being an interesting place to visit. There is one of them in Sixth avenue, conducted by the Baptists. A Mail and Express reporter strolled in there a recent Sunday afternoon. There were about seventy-five pig-tailed Celestials seated demurely side by side. The pupils listened to the proceedings with inflexible gravity and sang with earnestness and considerable melody.

A Sunday-school hymn rendered into laundry English is a curious thing to hear. The first song they rendered was the good old hymn, "Shall We Gather at the River?" As sung by the Mongolians, it sounded something like this:

Shall we glathel atter livel,
Whale blight angel feet have tlod,
With its clystle tide folevel
Flowing by the thlone of Glod?

After that the teachers began their individual labors with their almond-eyed pupils. The raw recruits were first taught to read. Those who had been there before received instruction in the foundation of the Christian religion.

It was hard work, and the teachers did not make progress rapidly. An excellent and elderly lady, who has given the best part of her life to this kind of work, struggled with the Oriental density of Sam Wind and Charlie Lee, two Bleecker street Celestials. She was trying to teach them the lesson of Divine forgiveness.

"Now, Sam," she said, with an encouraging smile, "what would you do if your friend Charley should do you a great injury—should come into your laundry, perhaps, and throw dirt all over your clean clothes?"

"I clutlee his healt out, all same Melican man," said Sam, proudly.

"What does g-r-i-e-f spell?" said a hard-working young woman who was expounding the mysteries of the English language to Wun Lung and Wah Low.

"Gleef," said Wun, promptly.

"No, no. Like this," said the teacher, opening her mouth to show how the Caucasian overcomes the troublesome "r."

Wun opened his mouth and took long breaths and labored hard, but the sound wouldn't come, and after a while the teacher gave it up in despair and began to read the story of the Prodigal Sun, explaining as she went along.

She followed the adventures of the prodigal with interest. They could understand most of it, especially the reference to the fatted calf, as the Chinese are fond of roast veal. But when the teacher made the final application, a look of blank and unrelieved stupidity overspread each face. That was evidently too much for them.

She Was Right.

A teacher was endeavoring to find out the proficiency of her little friends in mental arithmetic, and took the following method of ascertaining what she desired to know:

"Now, children," she said, "suppose I have two squash pies and divide one of them into ten pieces, which would you rather have, a piece of the pie that was divided into ten pieces, or of one that I should cut into one hundred pieces?"

There was an absolute hush for a moment, and then a little girl answered timidly:

"One of the one hundred pieces, please."

"Why?"

"Well, ma'am, I don't like squash pie."—Boston Beacon.

The Empress Eugenie Still Beautiful.

An Italian newspaper thus describes the Empress Eugenie as she appeared recently on the promenade in Naples: Slender, erect, and with a superb figure, she is at once to be recognized as a grande dame. Her bright and vivacious eyes justify the old fascination and the episode of the diamonds in the Forest of Compiegne. Her still rosy complexion is admirably preserved, and is perhaps owing to the mild climate which has renewed the ancient beauty in her cheeks; her hair, not yet white, still shows tints of pale gold. The Empress was, as always, in deep mourning, and wore a long crape veil. Although she carried a parasol in her left hand, her right hand held the well-known stick, on which however, she did not lean.

A new industry is being established in South Staffordshire, England, in connection with the steel trade. A complete plant has just been laid down at the works of the Staffordshire Steel and Iron Ingot company, Bilston, for the grinding of basic slag for agricultural fertilizing purposes. A slag-house, 140 feet long, by 50 feet, has been built for the accommodation of grinding machinery. The process is divided into three stages. The last completely pulverizes the slag, making it of such a fineness that it will pass through a mesh of ten thousand holes to the square inch. The slag, being composed of forty per cent. of lime and from 15 to 20 per cent. of phosphoric acid, its value as an agricultural fertilizer is becoming increasingly appreciated.

The Journal does not vouch for the story, but it is said that a gentleman of Boston, who has a dog in Hingham, had him brought to a telephone in the latter place, and when his master in Boston called him, the dog went wild with delight.

BABY HUMORS

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. RYAN,

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its strong hold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives and simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

The President And His Mugwump Friends.

Were it not so painful a sight it would in many respects be amusing to witness the attitude of the mugwump press on the Higgins question.

The mugwumps loudly proclaim that Higgins, who has so frequently set the entire civil service statutes at defiance, and was honest enough to understand that when the president issued his orders as to office-holders running political machines, it was but a tub to the mugwump whale, and not an edict to be followed by any obedience on the part of the democrats, must go! Higgins knows better. He will remain. The president's "attention has not been called to his sin."

This is a kind of presidential prevarication which surprises the mugwumps, and a political lie which delights the democrats. To suppose that the president is to offend the great bulk of his party by heeding the cautions of the mugwumps is of course absurd. Perhaps in Massachusetts, where the influence of the fishermen as well as the mugwumps must be conciliated before the state can be secured for the democracy, there will be some attention paid to the blue bloods who contribute their wealth toward keeping Boston an Irish-governed city. These men prefer a regime of the saloon keepers to a government such as was once the pride of every reputable Bostonian. But to expect that in the latitude of Maryland, where Senator Gorham holds sway, that any attention is to be paid to the Pickwickian orders of the president, is just as reasonable as it is to presume that the invitations to visit western cities come spontaneously from the people.

The mugwump papers will continue to demand the dismissal of Higgins, and when he does not go they will with one voice demonstrate to their credulous readers why it is that the president is unable to remove him. No matter what is the outcome, these papers are in for a general apologetic defence of the president.

WHAT COLLECTOR PAGE THINKS.

Calvin Page, Esq., collector of internal revenue, whose territory embraces the state of Maine, has written the following letter in response to an inquiry as to his regulations regarding the examination of the records of his office touching the payment of special tax by retail liquor dealers. The letter, which has the merit of clearly defining the collector's position in regard to the examination of his books with a view to liquor prosecutions, is as follows:

U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE,
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, DIST. OF N. H.
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 27, 1887.

To the Editor of the Kennebec Journal. SIR—I would say that my duty requires me to collect the internal revenue, and to do so with as little annoyance and trouble to the taxpayers as possible. I do not intend that the payment of a tax by any person promptly and honestly to me, shall cause such person any injury, persecution or prosecution if I can prevent it; nor do I intend to allow any person to hinder and retard me in collecting the taxes and doing my sworn duty.

All persons desiring to co-operate with and aid me in collecting the taxes can have free access to such records in my office as are not required to be kept private, but all persons whose object it is to annoy me or the taxpayer, or retard, delay, hinder or prevent the payment and collections of taxes will be denied such access.

My records are kept to aid in the performance of my duties and to secure the United States from loss, either through my default or from the non-collection of taxes; and I am not able to see how any parties not acting for me or the United States, can have any pretence or right to examine them. Very respectfully,

Concerning this subject, the Belfast (Me.) Journal gives the following account of the visit of a Belfast constable to this city in search after evidence on which to base prosecutions against retail liquor dealers in that section of Maine:

The revised statutes of the United States read as follows:

"SEC. 3246. Each collector of internal revenue shall, under regulations of the commissioner of internal revenue, place and keep conspicuously in his office for public inspection, an alphabetical list of the names of all persons who shall have paid special taxes within his district, and shall state thereon the time, place and business for which such special taxes have been paid."

Friday, July 15th, J. W. Mitchell, state constable, went to Portsmouth for the purpose of seeing this list and using it in evidence. Mr. Page, collector, upon learning his errand utterly refused to exhibit such a list. He declared that he should "protect his customers," that no one had seen or should see it; that the records were out of the jurisdiction of this state and it would take more than one state officer to get them; that it were better that he should go to jail than they if he exhibited the list, as it was—he mean business to collect a tax from a man one day, and the next day give it in evidence against him. When his attention was called to the statute quoted above, he refused to allow Mr. Mitchell to see a copy of the Revised Statutes of the United States, declaring that "law or no law" he would never show those records until he was compelled to, and that he would be backed up in his position and would fight before he would exhibit the records. Mr. Prink, United States district attorney, crisply declared that Mr. Page must be a fool if he did show the list, and would give no further attention to the case. This in view of the law is rather cool. Although the collector refused to show the records, the list was procured in spite of him, and it shows that two of our druggists and several others have paid the tax, and are liable to prosecution.

John V. Hubbard of North Berwick, Me., on Friday evening of last week started on the train for Dover. At South Berwick station he got off, stood on the platform until the train was moving out, and then jumped on in safety. At Rollinsford he got off again, and after the train started again attempted to jump on, but fell between the cars and the station platform, and had the bones of one leg so shattered that after being taken to his home in North Berwick it was found necessary to amputate the limb just below the knee. He is a young man, unmarried, had worked for the Boston & Maine road as a carpenter, and was used to jumping on and off the cars when in motion. The proposed gates to be placed at the steps of every passenger car on the Boston & Maine lines will obviate such accidents as this.

The monthly test of the fire alarm apparatus was made on Monday, and everything found to work all right. The probable cause of the eccentric action of the indicator at the Eldredge brewery one day last week, when it first gave notice that an alarm from box nine had been pulled in, and afterward one from box fourteen, was discovered, at a point where the alarm wire, a telphone wire and a telgraph wire were in close proximity, and one of them had been broken, and guyed out of the way by some person in such a manner that there evidently must have been contact with the alarm wire while it was being done.

Elder Wm. P. Israel of this city preached in the Advent church at Dover last Sunday. Mr. Israel has declined the call to the pastorate of the Advent church in Eliot, Me., believing he can do a larger work as an evangelist.

The Boston & Maine railroad station at Essex, Mass., was burglarized last week, the safe blown open, and $75 taken.

Samuel Walton's house in Seabrook was burned by lightning July 29th; loss $2000; insured.

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite longtended association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the maddling crowd." For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, variable winds, slightly lower temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 70 degrees above zero.

ELECTION DAY.

To-day the city elects a new mayor, board of aldermen, common councilmen, and board of overseers of the poor. The republicans have nominated as candidates men who are worthy the full party vote, and should receive it. The polls open at 9:00 o'clock A. M., and close at six in the afternoon, no votes being received after that hour.

WARD FOUR.

The republicans of ward four held a very harmonious caucus on Monday evening, and unanimously nominated the following ticket:

Aldermen, Elvin Newton, Joshua M. Vaughan.

Councilmen, William S. Jackson, Gilman B. Randall, Jr., John O'Connor, Caleb N. Lord.

Overseer of the poor, Sherman T. Newton.

ACCIDENT.

Mr. Plummer Spinney, the well known job-wagon driver, was on Monday afternoon engaged in moving some household gear into a house on South street, when he slipped and fell with a stove, and the stove struck one of his legs in such a way as to break the bone below the knee, the fractured bone protruding through the flesh. Mr. Spinney being over seventy years old, the accident is a serious one. Within a year past Mr. Spinney's mother broke one of her hips, and his wife broke one of her shoulders.

NEW LIGHTNING BUG.

Mr. George Scott, of Market street, during the thunder storm of last Friday picked up an insect which seemed to have come down with the rain, and which from the velocity with which it moves about in a bucket of water be calls a lightning bug. It crawls out from the water also, and moves about over dry land very readily, though with much less speed than in the water. When examined through a microscope it shows a wonderful organization, suited either for land or water residence.

DEATH OF OSCAR G. SAWYER.

Oscar G. Sawyer, one of the best-known newspaper men of the country, died in the Chambers street hospital, New York, on Sunday last, from the effects of the intense heat. Mr. Sawyer was one of the children of Dr. Sawyer, dean of the faculty of Tufts college. He began active life at the age of sixteen years as one of six employes in the New York office of the Western Union Telegraph Co., Ex-Gov. Cornell of New York being one of the six. He soon dropped telegraphing for reporting by telegraph, and became one of the best in his line; he spent many years in China, Russia and other distant points, as reporter for the New York Herald, and the files of that paper contain his despatches from almost every part of the world then reached by wire. From 1880 to 1884 he resided at the Rockingham house in this city, filling the position of secretary to the commandant of the navy yard, and also acting as naval correspondent for the Herald and the Army and Navy Journal. On leaving this city he went to reside on an estate belonging to his family on Staten island, New York, which has since been his home. He was a man of fine presence and pleasant manner, and made many friends. His age was about forty-five years.

PERSONAL.

E. S. Newton and family, of Manchester, are visiting friends in this city.

Mr. R. C. Beaumont of New York, formerly of this city, is on a brief visit here.

Miss Grace Tompson of Duluth, Minnesota, is visiting Mrs. F. W. Miller and sisters at Lincoln Hill.

Col. George F. Towle, U. S. A., arrived in this city on Monday from Chicago, for a stop of a few days.

Superintendent Trafton of the Portsmouth fire alarm, with his family, leaves this (Tuesday) morning for York beach on his annual vacation.

Mrs. C. E. Dixon and son went to their cottage at Ocean park, Old Orchard, Me., on Monday. Mrs. Jeremiah Sanborn and Miss Abbie Chapman leave for Old Orchard to-day.

Mr. Harry Tanton was reported on Monday morning as being apparently much better than on the previous day. We trust we may be able to report his steady progression to perfect health.

Mr. Gouverneur Kortwright of New York, and wife, are at the Wentworth. Mr. Kortwright is fleet captain of the New York yacht club and chairman of the regatta committee, and leaves this week for New London, Conn., to meet the yachts at that rendezvous.

"THE RIGHT TEMPERATURE."

The text in the Universalist church on Sunday was Rev. 3, 16: "I would thou wert cold or hot."

A misplaced switch kills my neighbor, and we are in sorrow. A misplaced enthusiam is killing a thousand of my neighbors, hideously torturing them out of all human semblance. We are glad when they go.

A sleepy boy sits half-unconscious upon a side track. He dies, amid our pity, compassion and sympathy for his parents. A million boys are started upon a side track, and are killed slowly. Their taking off is a relief. Yet we are moved to pity by the first, and vote for the second. The first is preferable.

Misapplied power is murderous. Misapplied enthusiasm is disastrous. John requested the Laodiceans to be either hot or cold in regard to Christ, that is, to follow him or not follow him, for the sake of the ever susceptible world that looks on. Be pagan, and have it understood so, or be Christian and have it understood so. Lukewarmness in the church in regard to any human truth provokes God to spew us out of his mouth.

Few people are enthusiastic regarding the church of Christ. They are many who are enthusiastic about sociables, forms, observances, and the social standing of the members of the society. These are the lukewarm for Christ. Note the penalty.

There are next those who on account of the above facts, and calling that the best expression of the church, ignore the term church entirely. These are among the wisest of the world, at present. They are the cold, and are better than the lukewarm.

Lastly, there are the hot; those who see the church grasping every new development of human truth and reason; those who recognize religion as the science of living, and see in Christ old things pass away and all things become new; those like the good Russian Count Tolstoi, the great novelist, who with his doctrine of non-resistance of evil, and abhorrence of the ghoul-like church which lives on the dead, is drawing Russia out of serfdom and exile. The church of Christ must be hot or nothing.

A GREAT DAY AT OCEAN PARK, OLD ORCHARD.

Wednesday, August 10th, is to be observed as "Children's day" at Ocean park, Old Orchard. This has come to be recognized as the great day of the season at this popular beach. This year the attractions will be more than ever. There will be bands of music on the grounds during the day, interesting exercises in the spacious temple, and various amusements, such as bathing, ball playing, croquet, swings, etc. There will be a band concert and brilliant fireworks in the evening. We are glad to announce to our people that arrangements are made by which they are to have a special express train running direct to Old Orchard via North Berwick, and not via Dover, as in other years. The train will leave Hampton at 7:00 A. M., and Portsmouth at 7:30. It will stop for passengers at Kittery, and arrive at Old Orchard at 9:00 A. M. Returning, it will leave Old Orchard at 5:00 P. M. Fares for the round trip from Portsmouth, Hampton and Kittery will be but $1.25 for adults, and fifty cents for children. Thus it will be seen that our people will have eight hours at this most delightful beach, at little expense, and have an express train both ways.

MARITIME NOTES.

A government steamer on lighthouse and buoy service anchored in the lower harbor on Monday evening.

The fine four-masted schoner Eva B. Douglass, of New York, which arrived on Monday, attracted much attention as she lay at anchor in the lower harbor.

The schooner Wm. A. Mitchell, from Port Johnson with coal to E. F. Sise & Co., arrived at this port on Monday, and will discharge at Concord railroad wharf.

The excavation of Little harbor was materially retarded by the fog of last week. The men operating the dredging machine could not see the signal poles by which the line of work was defined.

Among the freight charters reported last week were the brig Canadian, 282 tons, from Sydney, C. B., to this port, Salem or Boston, with coal at $1.75 per ton, and the brig American Union, 298 tons, from Sydney to this port, Salem, Lynn or Boston, with coal on private terms.

The schooner E. C. Allen, from Baltimore with 793 tons of coal, the Maggie Smith, from Newport News with 1175 tons, the Katie E. King, from Perth Amboy with 370 tons, and the Eva B. Douglass, from Newport News with 1735 tons, arrived at this port on Sunday and Monday, all to J. Albert Walker.

A coaching party of ten couples started from the Rockingham at five o'clock Monday afternoon in a tally-ho, for a drive to the Farragut.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lowis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

New Hampshire and the Next Centennial.

A despatch from Concord to the Boston Journal says: "Much interest is being taken by the national guard on the subject of having New Hampshire well represented at the centennial celebration at Philadelphia of the adoption of the United States Constitution. Prominent officers have been interviewed, and they are unanimous in the opinion that if our state is to be thus honored, that it should send a military detachment large enough to be creditable to all concerned. It is proposed that in addition to the governor and staff, and the brigade and regimental staffs, that a battalion of infantry, composed of the best companies from the different regiments, should be detailed to take part in the escort on that occasion. It is thought that the new uniforms could be secured for the battalion before the celebration takes place. New Hampshire was the ninth state to act, and her vote completed the number requisite to secure the adoption of the constitution."

It is to be hoped that Governor Sawyer's recommendation for a creditable representation of New Hampshire at Philadelphia this fall, on the occasion of the centennial anniversary, will be approved by the legislature. Massachusetts will be represented by her governor and a military escort of 1,000 men.

Flood in Georgia.

The Savannah river was on a disastrous tear on the 1st inst. Augusta, Ga., was flooded from one to twenty feet deep, and 200 boats were engaged in removing people from their houses, many of which were submerged to the second story. Lombard's immense iron foundry and the Enterprise cotton factory were surrounded, and in great danger. Hamburg, on the other side of the river, was swamped, and its inhabitants all on the hills. Yachts were sailing about the streets. The damage done is incalculable, the farmers along the river having it is said lost a million dollars or more.

The brig Energy, which arrived at Boston on Sunday, July 31st, reported that on the previous night in a thick fog she ran down and sank the fishing schooner Monmouth, bound from Gloucester for Georges bank. The Energy rescued the Monmouth's crew of twelve men.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

It is alleged that Jay Gould and the "American silver ring" have founded an American-Chinese bank at Shanghai with a capital of $200,000,000.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

We Caution All Against Them.

The unprecedent success and merit of Ely's Cream Balm—a real cure for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head—has induced many adventurers to place catarrh medicines bearing some resemblance in appearance, style or name upon the market, in order to trade upon the reputation of Ely's Cream Balm. Many in your immediate locality will testify in highest commendation of it. A particle is implied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those of rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which nullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and sooths the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

The town of Sassow in Galicia, Austria, has been destroyed by fire. Fifteen corpses have been recovered from the ruins, and twenty children are missing.

The managers of the Harmony mills at Cohoes, N. Y., again say that they cannot pay the 12 1-2 per cent increase in wages asked by the operatives. Three thousand of the 3400 hands are now out.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, tremblings, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

The Little rolling mills, the largest industry in East St. Louis, have closed down on account of a strike among the stokers. The proprietors of the mill say they can close down for two weeks to advantage.

Imitators and Imposters.

The unequalled success of Allcock's Porous Plasters as an external remedy has stimulated unscrupulous parties to put forth imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of Allcock's. It is absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine and original porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority or equality with Allcock's a false pretence. The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring Allcock's Porous plasters the best external remedy known.

The Columbian bank of Philadelphia, a state bank, and one of the leading banks of the city, has totally collapsed. The failure of the Baltimore & Ohio "deal" is given as the cause.

At Lake View, Mich., July 30th, two women were killed and a girl fatally injured by a train.

The shoemakers' strike in Beverly, Mass., has ended, both sides having agreed to a compromise.

William and George Doherty were struck by a train at Crescent beach, near Boston, July 30th, the former dying of his injuries, and the latter having a leg broken.

In Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 1st, Geo. Whetstine, aged seventy years, shot his wife three times because she refused to live with him, wounding her fatally, and then blew his own brains out. Mrs. Whetstine was thirty years old.

A New Anti-Poverty Society Successful.

The great attraction of June 14th at New Orleans was the 205th Grand Extraordinary Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery Company, when $1 055,000 dispersed in 3,136 prizes all over the world, thus proving to be a true anti-poverty organization, far more efficient than the schemes of cranks and dreamers. Any information as to organization can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

MUSKMELONS AND HOMONY.

Why a Lady Ate This Food for Three Summers. A Story of Great Interest to Dyspeptics.

You know that the young are apt to take cheerful and hopeful views of the coming years. You can hardly persuade them that there are experiences to come that will, at least for a while, cloud all the brightness from their lives and make them almost wish they had never seen the sunshine. Personally I learned this as others must learn it, and it may be the brief details may interest and profit those who read this letter.

About ten years ago I had a severe catarrhal affection. The droppings from my head during the night found their way to the stomach, and the acrid accumulation, at last produced catarrhal poisoning of the blood, which disturbed the functions of the stomach and brought on dyspepsia. I first discovered that something was wrong by a distress at the pit of the stomach and a tendency to vomit after eating, with a sense of heat in the region of the stomach. This sensation of heat increased during the night, when there would be a rising of acid matter into the throat and mouth, leaving a burning and smarting feeling in the throat and a continual and peculiar sour taste in the mouth. Of course I put myself under medical treatment and followed my physicians instructions faithfully. My appetite was very fitful and I got so bad that I could eat nothing sweet, white pastry especially would increase all the unpleasant symptoms. As time went on I became utterly unable to take any starchy food, as it would be continually coming up into the mouth, leaving a bitter and acrid taste. It would also produce a sense of weight and pressure, with twinging pains in the region of the stomach, with palpitation of the heart. There were also dyspeptic disturbances affecting the nerves of the stomach, with severe cramps and aching pains in the region of that organ and a very disagreeable sensation when the stomach was empty. This was felt chiefly between meals and would subside after I had eaten something.

This was neuralgic dyspepsia or gastralgia. I was now greatly run down; my rest was broken so that I rarely or never enjoyed a good nights' sleep. The effects of this on my spirits and general health I need no more than mention. I was so weak and prostrated that I had to be carried up and down stairs. On the floor I could walk, but with difficulty and by making a tiresome effort. All this while I was under constant medical treatment. I took soda and the various forms of pepsin by the pound. I often took from fifteen to thirty grains of soda at meal times, and large quantities of salt dissolved in water between meals. I also drank largely of mineral waters, such as vichy and the carbonate and alkaline waters, and so far as I could see without the slightest benefit.

To make matters worse malaria appeared about three years ago and deprived me of what little remaining strength I had. For three successive summers after this period I lived almost entirely upon muskmelons, small quantities of boiled homony and meat almost raw. Please understand that I did not actually eat the meat, but only sucked and swallowed the juice of it. There were high fevers, coming on once in three or four days, which would last for eight hours, preceded by chills and accompanied with a racking headache. My nights were seldom free from fever, and in this way I became so reduced that I had fearful sinking spells and took large quantities of alcoholic stimulants to keep up my strength. So low spirited and disconsolate was I that I would often break down and have crying spells sobbing like a child.

With all this I had a terrible cough, and grew so thin and white that everybody thought I was going to die; and, indeed, I thought so myself.

Last August a friend spoke to me about Kaskine, the new quinine, and advised me to try it, but I had taken so much medicine uselessly that it was only after considerable persuasion on the part of my husband and friends that I was finally won over to do as they desired. I did begin the use of Kaskine, however, taking six or eight bottles before the good effects of it became apparent. I took it for some four months and my improvement was very slow. Still I persevered. First I saw that I slept better. Then my appetite improved. I began to eat and really relished my food for the first time in years. My strength came back and from this time I grew better rapidly. I could eat anything and felt always hungry. Kaskine expelled the catarrhal poison from the blood out upon the skin in eruptions that covered my body. My cough left me, my spirits rose, my nerves recovered their tone, my complexion cleared, and I am now hearty and well and sincerely believe I owe my recovery to the great and efficient remedy known as Kaskine.

MRS. E. A. COMSTOCK,
138 East 71st St., New York.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which sound Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Wild Bill Was Married.

"With the six-shooter he was simply wonderful," said Capt. Jack Crawford, speaking of "Wild Bill" Hickok to a Kansas City Times reporter. "Witness the double shot he made out at Hays City, Kas., in the early days, when he shot two soldiers, one in front of him and one directly behind him, each endeavoring to shoot him before he could draw his gun. He killed one and mortally wounded the other, and the two reports of the revolver seemed almost as one. The marvelous feat was the talk of the country for a long time. In fact, when I came by there a few days ago one of the residents who witnessed the killing mentioned it to me and said he could scarcely believe it after seeing it. Bill never missed his mark. I have seen him take a pistol in each hand and fire right and left pistol at a can thrown in the air, hitting it with both bullets. By the way, I heard a very funny story told on Bill some time ago. If you remember, he married Mrs. Agnes Lake, widow of Lake, the circus man. Bill fairly worshipped his wife, but despite his great love for her she never could induce him to quit drinking. He would come home full of bad whisky, and one day Mrs. Hickok said to him:

"Bill, if you don't quit this drinking pretty soon you will actually begin to see monkeys."

"Monkeys?" said he. What do you mean, little one?"

"Why, you know, when people back east drink too much of the kind of whisky they get back there they see snakes, but this awful stuff out here makes them see monkeys."

Bill laughed at her and did not give the matter a second thought, little dreaming that she had 'put up a job' to break him of his intemperate habits. There was a tame monkey in the town—Cheyenne, I think it was—and Mrs. Hickok had induced its owner to loan it to her for a fortnight. Bill came home that night comfortably drunk, and after he had gone to sleep his wife secured the monkey and chained it to the foot of the bed. Then turning down the light a little she, too, retired and awaited results. Bill woke up in the night burning with thirst and raised up into a sitting posture, intending to get out of bed and get a drink of water. There, perched up on the footboard, was the monkey, staring him in the face with hideous grimaces. He rubbed his bleared eyes, looked again, and a horrible suspicion came into his befuddled brain. Had she told him the truth? Did he really have 'em? Finally, he sprang out on the floor, seized his six-shooter, which lay on a table near, leveled it at the grinning creature, and said:

"Now, old man, if you are a monkey your in a bad fix; if you ain't a monkey I'm in a bad fix." At the same instant he fired, and the monkey fell over in the agonies of death. His wife, who had been watching the working of her scheme, sprang up in the bed with a scream, and Bill, turning to her with a broad smile of the most intense satisfaction, said:

"Little woman, congratulate me, for I have just had a wonderful escape. I ain't as drunk as I thought I was, an' there's a monkey layin' there on the floor that'll never intrude itself into the domestic felicity of another happy family and make a gentleman think he's got the jim-jams."

The Staunton, Va., Vindicator relates the case of a citizen of that place named Joshua Stover, who was recently sent to the penitentiary for six years by the Staunton hustlings court "for stealing a hot flat-iron from off a stove." It adds: "There would seem to be something radically wrong in a law that demands one-fifth of the average lifetime of a man for the larceny of a trifle, for which a boy would get off with a switching."

Mme. Caroline Popp has just completed her fiftieth year as editress of the chief Liberal paper in Flanders—the Journal de Bruges. She entered upon her office the 4th of April, 1837, and has remained at the post (not without many difficulties) for the last fifty years. Thus her editorship is only seven years younger than the independence of Belgium as a State. Mme. Popp has earned some distinction in her native land as a poet and story-teller. Her "Nathalie" and her "Legends and Tales of Flanders" have been translated into German.

The South Australian Register's returns in connection with the wheat harvest in that colony show that the net increase of cultivated land is 20,000 acres, the total area being 1,097,600 acres, yielding 10,835,000 bushels, or 6 bushels 31 pounds per acre. After deducting 2,000,000 bushels for seed and 1,732,500 bushels for food the surplus for export is estimated at 7,103,500 bushels, or 190,000 shipping tons. This is 115,000 tons more than last year's exports, but 130,000 tons less than in 1885. The two last seasons together did not yield as much as in 1884 and 1885 by 50,000 tons. If each of the last two seasons had been equal to those of 1884 and 1885 the colony would have been richer by £4,500,000.

An aged colored woman in a Georgia town recently signified her intention of joining the church. She was reputed well-to-do, and two rival churches strove to win her. One of them sent a deacon of great eloquence to employ upon her his rare arts of persuasion. In normal circumstances it is probable that his mission might have been successful, but the aged woman recognized him as a person who had owed her $5 for fourteen years, and she joined the other church.—The Epoch.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. SYLAN,

Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofula. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I did so, and in a day or two I grew better and better, until I am as well as ever. I thank you for it very much, and would like to have it told to the public.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderfu semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it sets into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, suffering and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives and simply temporary remedies, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

The Maine Sentinel of Biddeford last week published a communication signed by Henry W. Ripley of Portland, which charged Judge Gould of the Biddeford municipal court with dishonesty in connection with a recent sale of real estate on Long Island, Portland harbor. On Monday, Aug. 1st, Judge Gould swore out a warrant, and Editor John Hanscom was arrested on a charge of criminal libel, arraigned in the Biddeford municipal court, pleaded not guilty, waived a hearing, and gave bonds in $1000 for his appearance before the supreme court at Alfred in September. Postmaster Shaw was his bondsman. Sheriff Goldthwaite went to Portland and arrested Henry W. Ripley, the writer of the article, on a similar charge. He was taken to Biddeford, arraigned before Judge Hamilton, pleaded not guilty, and gave bonds to appear before the supreme court.

It Was Their Own Ox This Time.

Last week there was a warm discussion in the state senate over the application of John F. Hall, democrat, for a recount of votes in the 12th senatorial district, the returns of the town clerks having shown that there was no choice. The democratic senators argued that all they wanted was fair play—a verification of the returns by recount of the ballots; they made no charge of fraud. The republican senators argued that there was no law by which the votes could be recounted; that the records of the town clerks established the fact that there was no choice; that Mr. Charles H. Looney, the republican candidate, had been elected by the legislature to fill the vacancy; and that no reason had been shown why the ballots should be counted. The senate decided, by a straight party vote, against a recount, and re-affirmed the election of Mr. Looney by the joint convention of the two houses.

The People and Patriot, the Concord organ of the democratic party—or one wing of it, just now—thereupon boiled over with indignation at the outrage of the republican senators upon democratic rights; in fact, it was as indignant that the democrats should be refused the recount demanded on the senatorial question, as it was over the demand of the republicans for a recount some months previously, which demand was not acceded to by the republican governor and council. Our neighbor the Times, speaking of this case, remarks:

> We have not a word of fault to find with this decision. It is just and right. Mr. Hall's case was similar to that of Haynes against McKinney in the congressional election, and we are suprised that democrats who saw no reason for a recount in the one case should ask for it in the other, and that the democratic paper at the capital, which argued that Haynes had no case, should charge the republicans of the senate with outrage upon democratic rights because they did just what the same paper said was right in the case of the congressional contest.

A lady from Russia is boarding at Ogunquit, and is writing up American politics for Russian newspapers. She is somewhat perplexed over the problem of the president's ignorance of the Higgins practices, and none the less confused to read the law concerning special taxes to be paid by persons selling liquor and tobacco, and to learn that it is enforced only at the will of the officers. This peculiar mode of administering laws she attributes to the fact that the laws are made by the people in a free country, and after the enactment of statutes the question of their being enforced remains solely with the governed. It presents to the czar's people an entirely new phase of government.

The house of the author and poet Edmund C. Stedman, in New York, was entered on Sunday evening last by a colored burglar named Charles Smith, who put on three coats, pocketed shirt studs, sleeve buttons, scarf pins and rings, etc., and left in a hurry on being discovered by Mr. Stedman's son Arthur, who was the only person in the house at the time. The young man gave hot chase, shouting "Stop thief" as he ran, and not stopping to pick up the coats the thief divested himself of as he fled; and after quite a long run the thief went plump into the arms of a policeman, and was taken to a station, where ten pieces of stolen jewelry were found on him. Next day he pleaded guilty to a cargo of larceny, and was held in $1000 for a higher court.

Foster's Democrat rises to remark: "The Boston Herald says that the real basis of the mugwumps is 'hatred of lying, deceit and hypocrisy.' If that be so, they must hate themselves the worst kind."

The Indianapolis jury failed to convict the fellows charged with election frauds, although their guilt was clearly proved. But the criminals were all democrats, and the democrats on the jury sustained them by a strict party vote. Democratic reform must be supported.

Gilbert & Sullivan are said, on the authority of a London newspaper man, who is very close to the D'Oyley Carte management, to be preparing an opera on an American subject with special reference to the Wild West craze, which Buffalo Bill has made fashionable in England. A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite longdistance association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

Tuesday, Aug. 2d, was the election day in this city, though no stranger driving into town would have suspected it from any stir that was being made. The day was favorable, being cooler than many recently preceding ones, and a light rain in the morning just laid the dust; but such a quiet, uninteresting political contest—if contest it could be called, where one party sauntered listlessly to the polls, and the other side kept away altogether—was never before known, within our memory. The total republican vote, for mayor, was but 321, just about one-half the full republican vote of ward two alone; and that the democrats, under such circumstances, could manage to cast a larger vote than last year, when there was at least a pretence of opposition by the republicans, speaks well for their discipline.

About seven o'clock, as the ward clerks were making their returns to the board of inspectors of checklists, a band struck up on Market square, and there was a general laugh at the assumed exhibition of democratic enthusiasm; but it was only the band of the condensed circus, drumming up patrons for the evening's show.

We tender our thanks to the several ward clerks, Messrs. Frank M. Dennett, Walter H. Page, Daniel D. Waldron and Richard I. Walden, for their prompt courtesy in furnishing us with the returns; also to City Messenger Gardner for favors extended.

CITY OFFICERS-ELECT.

Mayor—George E. Hodgdon.

Aldermen—Charles E. Boynton, Ira C. Seymour, Albion Littlefield, ward one; Samuel S. Fletcher, John Conlon, John C. Stevens, ward two; Daniel J. Ayers, ward three; David Urch, Henry Wendell, ward four.

Common Councilmen—Patrick Lindley, Nathan W. Lear, Frederick J. Haddock, Charlie M. Newton, Daniel Casey, Daniel F. Sullivan, ward one; John H. Grover, True W. Priest, Mark A. Scott, Walter H. Page, Michael J. Ryan, Frederick B. Haraden, ward two; George W. Scott, Patrick Mahoney, ward three; Charles E. Grover, Charles E. Pinder, Rufus M. Adams 2d, Daniel N. Cox, ward four.

Assessors of Texas—Moses H. Goodrich, Henry R. Stoddard, Samuel Maddock, ward one; John H. Wells, Gideon H. Rundlett, George B. French, ward two; James Douglas, ward three; William P. Bennett, Stephen A. Preble, ward four.

At the August meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held Monday evening, the monthly report of the state agent was accepted. Mrs. Pickering reported, among other contributions, the gift of $100 from Mrs. Farmer, wife of Prof. Moses G. Farmer; and a donation of $50 to the permanent fund, by Miss Ann Wigglesworth of Boston. Prof. Farmer, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Sarah J. Farmer, and Mr. M. F. Keefe, were elected life members of the society.

D. E. Taylor, a boarder at the Oceanic, Star island, caught a cod-fish on Monday that weighed fifty-one pounds; this is the heaviest cod-fish taken thus far this season by a boarder at the Shoals.

The August meteors should be looked for this year on the nights of the 10th, 11th and 12th.

The funeral of the late George B. French of this city, killed in the railroad accident at Hooksett, took place in the First Baptist church at Concord on Tuesday, Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., of this city, officiating.

Rev. John A. Hainer of Millbridge, Me., who was recently called to the pastorate of the Court street Christian church to succeed his brother, the late Rev. Charles D. Hainer, declines the call, solely on account of his health.

There was an examination of the gutters of the government building in this city last week, made by the Machine company's men with a view of estimating the cost of needed repairs.

The schooner Flying Eagle brought in on Tuesday 1400 mackerel, which were bought by J. O. Downs & Co.

Capt. James Burke, assistant keeper of Boon island light, was in from the island on Tuesday, returning the same day.

The Dover Navigation Co. paid a semi-annual dividend to the owners of schooners Charles H. Trickey, John Bracewell, B. Frank Nealley, Thomas B. Garland, Zimri S. Wallingford, John J. Hanson and Jonathan Sawyer, on the 25th ult.

Joseph S. Doyle, a well known hotel man in Massachusetts, died at Nantasket last week. Mr. Doyle was known to many New Hampshire people from his long service at the American house in Boston, and subsequently at the St. James. Of late years he had managed the Ocean and Nantasket houses at Nantasket. He was a native of Providence, R. I., and brother of Wm. J. Doyle of this city.

The manager of Miss Clara Louise Kellogg, the celebrated prima donna, informs us through a letter that it is probable that we shall have this distinguished singer in our city some time during October. The announcement of a probability of her coming will create an interest that will insure a large audience, for her appearance here would undoubtedly be the musical event of the season.

About forty-five members of Strawberry Bank lodge of Good Templars, of this city, had a most enjoyable trip down the river on Monday evening in the steamer Mystic.

Quite a popular amusement with those who have the time to spare, is to visit Appledore wharf in the afternoon and watch the arrival and departure of the Shoals steamer. The wharf in the rear of the buildings, sheltered from the afternoon sun, and open to the breeze from the river, when there is any breeze, is about as cool and comfortable a spot as can be found.

A train from Boston on the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad, last Saturday afternoon, was over half an hour late in reaching Dover. The cause of the delay was that the brakes on one of the Pullman cars was set after the train left Exeter, and the condition of affairs was not discovered until the train reached Newmarket, when it was noticed that the wheels were sliding along the rails instead of rolling over them. The brakes were then let off, but the wheels were worn so much by the long slide that it made it impossible for the car to run, therefore when the train reached Durham it was side-tracked. On Monday the car was taken to the car shops at Lawrence, Mass., to have a new set of wheels put under it.

The Gloucester fishermen who were captured in their boats by a Canadian cruiser off Souris, Prince Edward island, are on their way home. They say that they set their seines far outside the three-mile limit, but seines and boats were carried inshore by a strong tidal current of which they knew nothing when they commenced to throw their seines. Their statements are strongly corroborated by other evidence, and the confiscation of their property and vessels—if the vessels are caught—by the Canadian officials, is very small business under the circumstances; but the Canadian officials are very small men.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

There was a triangular collision of vessels during a thick fog near Pollock Rip shoal on Sunday, July 31st. The schooner M. E. Chase, bound from New York for Eastport with a cargo of tin and lead, and the lumber-loaded schooner Emeline G. Sawyer, fouled each other, the M. E. Chase being cut down to the water's edge, losing bowsprit, anchor and chain, and all gear on port side forward. Before the two vessels could be separated a large three-masted schooner ran into them, cutting the E. G. Sawyer to the water's edge and otherwise damaging her, the three-master losing her own headgear.

Jay Gould is cruising along the Massachusetts coast in his steam yacht Atalanta. His presence in the waters of Massachusetts bay had a noticeable effect on the Boston stock market.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

HARMLESS WITH SANFORD'S GINGER.

The colored brother laughs in anticipation at the feast before him. The melon is tickled beyond expression as it thinks of the kinks it will do in the darkey's stomach. The owl, wise bird, hovers near, knowing that SANFORD'S GINGER will soon be needed.

The Boston Sunday Herald remarks: "One of the worst railroad collisions we know of is the collision of the Boston & Maine and Concord in New Hampshire. The chances are that there will be a good many fatalities on both sides."

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

Major J. S. Abbott of Dover has the contract for building the heavy stone abutments for the new bridge at Newmarket, in place of the one carried away by the flood last week. He commenced operations on Monday, Aug. 1st.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price twenty-five cents. Try them.

The unprecedent success and merit of Ely's Cream Balm—a real cure for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head—has induced many adventurers to place catarrh medicines bearing some resemblance in appearance, style or name upon the market, in order to trade upon the reputation of Ely's Cream Balm. Many in your immediate locality will testify in highest commendation of it. A particle is implied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents.

Thomas Spurling, who has been an overseer in the carding department of the Cocheco mill at Dover for forty-seven consecutive years, resigned that position last week.

Much of the discomfort of wash day is removed by the use of James Pyle's Pearline. It removes dirt without the least injury to the most delicate fabric. For sale by grocers generally.

The Dover Democrat remarks: "When a policeman has to give an umpire his revolver to protect himself from the hoodlums of a base ball field, the national game is getting into a pretty bad state."

Edward Anthony of Epping, arrested on a charge of breaking into a store in Lee, was dismissed, there being no evidence to connect him with the robbery.

Aaron Gove, president-elect of the National Educational Association and superintendent of the Denver public schools, is forty-nine years old. He is a native of Rockingham county, but has resided in the west a quarter of a century.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those or rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which nullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and sooths the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact as amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

The steam barge John W. Garrett, the largest vessel ever built in this country, was launched at Wilmington, Del., Aug. 2d. She is 366 feet in length, and seventy-six feet wide at the widest part. She was built for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company.

For any case of nervousness, sleeplessness, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are sure. The only nerve medicine for the price in the market.

A. J. Whitman of Chicago, book-keeper for the Central Union Telephone company, has been arrested for forgery. He forged two checks for $20,000 each. Not being able to find bail he went to prison.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, tremblings, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Ed. McDonald, brother of the notorious democratic boss, Mike McDonald, has been sentenced to three years imprisonment in Joliet penitentiary by the Chicago court in the boodle trials.

The many remarkable cures Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes are sufficient proof that it does possess peculiar curative powers.

The shah of Persia will start in April next upon a six months' tour of the industrial centers of Europe.

DOC.

A Simple Tale of Backwoods Life.

When Doc first came to live with us it was in the early spring. He was a pitiful-looking boy. He was a little, puffy-looking chap, with a pale face, small, bony arms, and short, weakly-looking legs, and rather sickly-looking, frizzled up, straw-colored hair on his head. There was no personal beauty about Doc's face and figure, and yet he was not unusually hard favored. He was commonplace. Only that and nothing more. Only a pea in a pod where a dozen peas of similar appearance reposed. Only a little wire-grass boy, with not one redeeming feature about him except his eyes. They were only remarkable for the pathetic expression that lingered there. What little light that ever flashed from them was of that sorrowful cast that one observes lingering on the western horizon after a day's rain has closed in a humid sunset.

Doc lost his mother. That was the tie that bound us to him. She was a commonplace wire-grass woman, but in her uncultured soul dwelt the same traits of maternal love and cherishing tenderness that are supposed to illumine the high-born souls of those grand dames whose white hands have never battled against a hard and evil fate for the simple necessities of prolonging existence. She had nourished and cherished her little boy, as only a fond mother can nourish and cherish a weak and fragile child. Ever on the watch, she had stood between him and all the wild storms of adversity that raged about their humble log cabin in the desolate barrens.

When she died Doc took it to heart to a greater extent than any of us thought possible. He had been such a puny, peevish, pettish sort of a boy that we thought that only his selfishness could suffer. We were mistaken. Doc was older than his age.

Well I remember how mother used to toast the crispest bits of brown cornbread, softened with the fresh, sweet butter, and how she used to put in a big lump of that brown mush sugar in his coffee, so as to induce the little fellow to eat.

"You know his ma is dead," she used to say, "and we must try to keep him from missing her in every way we can."

And we were learning. We were being taught the grandest lesson in human lore—the creed of unselfishness.

We could not get him to join us very often in any play. He was too weak. But when the afternoon sun shone through the rifts in the great pine forests we would creep out on the sunny side with us and we would adjust our sports to his strength. Sometimes he would look up from his play, and, with his eyes full of tears, he would exclaim: "My ma is dead! I can't never see her no more!" Then he would sob and moan as if his little heart would break, and I am not ashamed to say we would cry too. "Might not the good Lord take our dear mother, too?" we asked ourselves.

Ah! my sainted mother! Thy lovelighted brown eyes have been closed to earthly scenes for many summers. They closed your poor, toil-worn hands above your cold, still heart a long, long time ago, and the tall pines have shed from their drooping boughs the purest distilled dews of heaven above your lonely grave; and yet in my dreams I see that face often and again, and I never accomplish a good deed or am guilty of a bad one but what yours is the first name that flashes through my intellect. A man may have 10,000 friends, even two well-beloved wives, but never but one mother. Blessed be that holy name above all earthly treasures most sacred and longest cherished.

As the spring days grew warmer and the timid wood violets peeped forth on banks where the sun lingered longest, our protege grew more robust. There was even a faint tinge of blood in his pallid cheek after a short walk about the plantation.

Deeper green grew the woodlands. The rugged pines even touched themselves up with a few gay tufts of a softer tint, and from their queer blossoms fell showers of gold dust that covered the still surfaces of the water ponds. The trailing jasmine covered itself with golden bloom, and the honeysuckle and dogwood blossoms made the swamps and bowlands radiant with gay hues and redolent with delicate perfume. Birds sang among the bursting buds on the crab-apple tree, and the blue arch of heaven was gilded with the fine gold of the life-giving sunlight.

Our sports and pastimes would seem funny to you. We went fishing nights. It was only half a mile to the creek, and on a little bluff that overhung the [illegible] we could build our campfires, and then cast our crude tackle in the gloomy eddies where the firelight played in fitful waves of light and shadow. Doc did love to fish. We would dig in the trash heaps for muckworms or skin the pine logs for sawyers, and then we would carry his tackle for him, and walk slow, and help him across the sloshes, and when he would catch a mudcat we would say it was a big, fine fellow.

Doc was not an unappreciative boy. He sang those queer, old-fashioned songs for us—songs which he had heard his mother sing. I have sat and listened to his "Barbara Allen" as the echoes ran riot among the caves and jungles, till the big owl returned the challenge with a mocking fit of insane laughter.

The old song comes back to me with the quaint rhythm as I write:

He sent his servant to the town,
Where Barb'ry was a dwellin',
Sayin' you must go to me own master
Ef your name be Barb'ry Allen.

Then there was another stanza that was very affecting indeed:

And as she walked adown the street
The bells they were a-tollin',
And every toll they seemed to say,
Hard-hearted Barb'ry Allen.

I know the old song would not attune well to a parlor organ, and I doubt if you could play it on a grand piano. But there was a pathos of the thing that stirred my youthful soul to its depths.

Blue-eyed spring began to grow plump, and finally developed into the maturer charms of summer. Summer, with the drone of the bumble-bee at noon, and lazy Lawrence dancing on the worm fences. Summer time, sweet summer time! The peaches ripened and reddened, and the corn silks began to appear. Doc said if the first silk you saw was a red one you would be healthy and lucky the balance of the year. The first one he saw that summer was a red one.

And, O, the signs and sayings he taught us. He told us that if we saw the new moon in a clear sky it was lucky. He told us if we killed a toad our best cow would die. He told us that the knots in Old Beauty's mane when we went to feed her in the morning—Old Beauty was our horse—were caused by the witches who rode her the night before, and used those knots for stirrups. Then he said when old Dominicker, my favorite hen, took a spell of crowing that—

"Whis'lin' women an' crokin' hens is apt to come to some bad end."

Sure enough, a blue darter hawk killed old Dominicker the very next Sunday.

Doc began to be stout and strong now. He looked on the faded jacket and little breeches he wore when he first came to our house in a sort of reminiscently pitying way, for his arms had grown more muscular, and his short legs had grown stouter, and Doc began to be a right good-looking boy, after all.

Autumn came with her sad eyes and sobbing winds. Autumn had a deeper significance than ever before, for there were portentous tidings wafted from afar on every breeze that wandered through the heavens. A big white comet blazed in the sky, and Doc said that meant war. Doc was a respectable-looking lad, indeed, now. He was 16 years old, and fever would have believed it. His eyes still had that far-away expression in them. He was older than his years.

That was a winter long to be remembered. Gray uniforms were seen at the last yearly meeting, held in November, and the preachers at that meeting spoke words that sounded harsh in our untutored ears. Young women hummed warlike airs, and were eager to catch the latest refrain.

I remember how the crimson deepened on Cousin Sue's brown cheek when she rattled off:

Huzza! Huzza! for the bonnie blue flag so dear,
Huzza! for the sword and plume that Southern soldiers wear!

Men talked and women sang, and the warm blood ran riot in the Southern veins. "On to war," "O, Johnnie, aire you boun' to be a soldier?"

Your waist, it is too slender,
Your hands, they are too small,
And your cheeks too red and rosy,
To face a cannon ball—
And sing O—and sing O,
Sure you will, my dear!

One wintry night the northern sky burst into a deep crimson, and we knew that the supernatural flame of aurora borealis was burning on the brow of heaven. Doc said that was the sign of war. Everything was the sign of war. We had noticed the ominous "W" on the back of the locusts in the early autumn. Captain Jack Rainey had muster every week, and the tramp, tramp, tramp of gathering squadrons shattered the slumberous depths of the barrens,

I knew that Doc had met Lucy Paxton at the frolic, and I knew that he had followed her every movement with a fascinated gaze. She was not grown up, but she was "most grown," they all said. She was 13, and the young men chose her for a partner when they played "all around the merry pole," and Doc sat and watched her.

These were stirring times. Men and women shattered the fetters of conventionality and grew from boys to men and from girls to women with marvelous rapidity.

At a candy-pulling Doc pulled candy with her. The way of it was that they all played "lonesome," and they needed one more to be the "lonesome one," and he was induced, much against his will, to join. His success emboldened him, and so the boy and the girl pulled candy, and both were so painfully conscious of their own youthfulness that they pulled in silence.

Lucy's brother John was nearly 18. He was a dutiful boy and his mother was a widow. He worked for her and for Lucy and they lived well.

Again spring gladdened the earth with her spirituelle beauty. But there was not as much boisterousness at the annual "log-rolling" as usual. In fact, there were very few log-rollings. Mothers and daughters and younger sons pulled the fallen trees together the best they could and burned them. Women in big sunbonnets, kept from flopping over their eyes by wooden "splits" inserted in the crown, grasped the plowhandles, while "tucking strings" girded about their waists kept the skirts from trailing in the dirt. Ah, they were made of superior mettle, these women of the barrens were.

That spring we had to work a great deal harder and had less time for fishing than before. Doc helped us. He was industrious, though still a weakling compared with other lads.

The first time I saw him twirl a strand of golden love vine over his head and cast it on the bushes I was amused. Doc told me that he had named it "Lucy Paxton," and if it grew he would know that she loved him, and if not he would be disappointed. He was getting too deep for our philosophy then.

A whole year rolled away, and on the next spring I saw that the love vine reappeared and grew on the bushes. Doc saw it too, and he was pleased—greatly pleased. He was not an ardent lover. He worshipped at a distance. The young fellows who came home on furloughs were very gallant and deferential toward Lucy. This must have worried Doc, but he never gave any sign.

Then came that call for men; that plucking of the very flower of Southern chivalry. O, remorseless war!

John Paxton was 18, and he must go to the war and leave his mother and Lucy to fight the harder battle at home. The "enrolling officer," that agent of war whose approach was dreaded so much, he told us that.

When he left Doc followed him out to the gate. After a short talk the officer departed after shaking Doc by the hand.

"I've learned somethin'," he said, with a radiant face, when he came back. "The enrolling officer says that John can stay at home if he can get a substitute. I'm gwine to be his substitute."

Of course John Paxton did not want to agree to the proposition. It looked unmanly for him to stay and send a little fellow like Doc. But the latter argued, "I ain't got nobody to keer for, an' if I git hurt nobody'll be the loser. You've got Mis' Paxton and—and—Lucy," he stammered, "an' you ought to stay an' make the crop. Besides, I want to git to be a big Gener'l some time, maybe, an' then I'll—I'll—well, I want to go, anyhow, an' I'm gwine as your substitute." And he went.

Poor little Doc! Friend and playmate of our childhood. His delicate form that had been so nourished and cherished by his doting mother—and our mother had loved him as one of her own—when they brought him home, wasted with privation and hardship, and the hectic fever burned on his cheeks, he looked very much like our little old Doc. It was springtime again then. There was a lull in the wild tempest of war. Bronzed and bearded our heroes came home. Bowed with defeat, tattered and torn, ragged veterans of a hundred battles. There were so many heroic deeds that the recital of daring achievements grew commonplace. They did not like to talk about it. Our Doc had been every inch a soldier. He had acquitted himself nobly. He was going to die, as so many stronger men had died, without a stain on his fair escutcheon. It was Lucy Paxton's hand that plucked the sweet bouquets which found their way to his feeble hands. It was her mother who sat with our mother and counted the pulse beats of our Doc as life was fading fast away.

One day he roused himself from his stupor, and with a light in his eyes I had never seen before, he asked me to go and see if the "love vine" had begun growing. I did as he requested, and found the golden threads entwined around the low gallberry bushes.

"Is it a-growing," he asked when I came in.

"Yes; it is running everywhere," I answered.

"I knowed it. That's a sure sign. I'm so glad——"

That was the last word he ever uttered.

Lucy Paxton is the noble wife of an honest farmer. She is a good woman, and she points out a little mound in the old graveyard to her children, when they go there meeting days, and they scrape away the green mold and the lichens, and spell out the letters on it, "D-O-C, Doc."—M. M. Folsom in Atlanta Constitution.

The Strange Blanket Fish.

"This blanket-fish," said an American, "is nothing more nor less than a big ray—the manta diabolis of science—and these yarns, though founded on fact, are a good deal overdrawn, though I am willing to confess I have been as badly scared as the Mexican men and boys. It was in this way: Some time ago I was down the coast on a trip and one evening I saw what I supposed to be a shark sailing about near the vessel. Wishing to have some sport, I put out the small boat, and taking two or three men pulled over to it. As it came by I put a harpoon into it. The next moment there arose from the water a ray that must have been twenty-five feet across, at least. It looked as big as a house, and as soon as it showed up my men screamed out: 'The blanket fish!' They were Mexicans and half scared to death. A moment later we were rushing over the water faster than I ever went before or since. The fish took us up the little bay, then turned and came down toward the schooner, going like a steam engine. We piled up in the stern to keep her from sinking. Just as we got opposite the schooner the fish dove right under her about amidships. Before we could make a move to cast off we struck the schooner. To make a long story short, we found ourselves in the water alongside. The rope had broken and the blanket fish gone. The force of the contact had smashed the cut-water of the boat in pieces.'—New York Commercial Advertiser.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 26th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in volume, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the 1st of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about three days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. RYAN,

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, but relentlessly, creeping from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate cocts and causing inflammation, suffering and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives and simply palliatives are worse than useless, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, is Internal and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

A despatch of the 3d inst. from Haverhill, Mass., reported much excitement existing in Kingston, this state, over the disappearance of Georgie and Florence Kelley, aged respectively seventeen and eighteen years, and of excellent reputation. They went with a cousin to her home, some miles from their own dwelling, early Monday evening, the 1st inst., and then started back, since which time nothing had been heard from them.

Does The State Want It ?

Does the state of New Hampshire want seventy-five thousand dollars of its money spent in this fight without results, which is just what the Concord road is trying to accomplish, and thus go over precisely the same grounds two years hence? And what do business men say to such an idea? Can we afford to unsettle all business for that length of time, to put off the building of new stations and the making of permanent improvements on our railroads, just because it is not for the interests of a few men to have it so? In other words, is it not time the state settled this question for good by placing all railroads on an equal footing, which is accomplished by the Hazen bill? —Manchester Union.

This is practical and suggestive. A legislature which could so summarily dispose of the senatorial question is abundantly able, after the exhaustive presentation of the case, to grapple with the railway problem. To suppose that after all the precious time expended by persons in and out of the legislature, the case is to be postponed, is a theory akin to the wishes of the opponents of the Hazen bill. The unmistakable sentiment of the business men of the state will be heeded by the General Court. The results may as well come now as to delay the business interests of the state for two years simply to allow speculators in Montreal stock to have opportunity to hedge.

The Chicago Illustration.

The revelations at Chicago respecting the operations of the Cook County Commissioners are especially remarkable because of the number of individuals who confess themselves implicated in the corruption. There are enough guilty parties apparently to fill a fair-sized penitentiary all by themselves. The numerous dealers who have furnished supplies for the public institutions and works testify as glibly in regard to the amounts they paid to the officers to secure the sales as if there were no possible ground for concealment.

One hitherto entirely reputable dry goods firm admits presenting the commissioners as a bribe, $1800 worth of merchandise yearly. An artesian-well digger states that he paid $3000 for a contract. A coal merchant and a boiler maker frankly testify to similar transactions. And so with others. It is plain that this kind of corruption had become such an understood thing in Chicago that it was scarcely thought worth while to endeavor to keep it secret. The prosecution is so overwhelmed with evidence in its own behalf that it is fairly bewildered.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Aug. 1st.

Good weather has got here, and the farmers are in high glee. The song of the mowing machine is heard in the land —and in the grass.

The money-order office recently established at York Corner is now in full blast, and it takes a big lot of work for a mighty little pay; so says the postmaster.

From July 26th to 31st Mr. Joseph L. Grant sold fifty dozen ears of full, handsome green corn. Mr. Grant speaks very highly of the Cumberland Bone Co.'s superphosphate, the corn planted on that making ten days better time than on the kind used by him last year. Mr. Grant remembered the writer on Saturday, with a good armful of good ears.—T'was nice. P.

AGAMENTICUS, YORK, Aug. 1st.

Weather is poor for getting hay, and many of our farmers have left off haying and gone picking berries. So much hot weather is very injurious to potatoes, and many pieces are attacked with rust. Small crops are looked for in this section.

Miss Georgia M. Ramsdell, of Portsmouth, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Plaisted.

Willis L. Downs has moved into his new house on Oak Hill, and is now building a stable.

A letter from Mrs. Whittle, who went out to Vinton, Iowa, a few years ago, says it is very dry out there, they having had no rain for a year excepting occasional showers. Water is so scarce they have to drive their cattle two miles to water.

Willie Plaisted and wife have come home from Lowell, Mass., where they have been visiting his sister for a few weeks.

Alvah Trafton and John F. Plaisted have bought the grass on the William Preble farm at Cape Neddick, and are waiting for suitable weather to cut it and make it into hay.

Paul Welch, who has worked for J. F. Plaisted and others for many years, doing farm work, and is now broken down in health, has settled down on his own little farm. We wish him and his worthy wife much comfort, and hope they may live to a good old age and greatly enjoy the fruits of their labor. F.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, August 1st.

Yesterday the roads were full of teams from early morning until past midnight, but there was not as much disturbance as on some Sundays past. The tally-ho coach was loaded, and drawn by four gray horses ornamented with red plumes.

The liquor saloons at the beach have been closed for two Sundays past.

The De Lancey house is full. Every attention possible is shown the guests sojourning at this house. Rev. R. A. De Lancey attends to mail matters generally.

If the little boy who watches the sheep falls asleep under the haystack this season he will doubtless have a wet blouse, for it is discouraging to haymakers; during the last two weeks a great deal of grass has been cut and poorly cured. Some tell us that several years ago there were twenty-one days that hay was in stack, and no weather to make it during all that time.

Report says that Mr. Dearborn Marston is able to write with both hands at the same time upon two different subjects. He is also a fine musician, and a member of the band. He is connected in the express business, and all orders are promptly attended to. —.

The schooner Sea Foam, at Gloucester from Ipswich bay, reports picking up a green dory, known as a double-sider, eighteen miles northeast of Thatcher's island. The boat contained two umbrellas, one pair of misses' shoes, a large tin kettle, with knives, forks and cooking ware. There were no oars, but one rowlock, and the boat was half full of water.

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite lengthened association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

QUITE A PICNIC.

The St. Mary's Benevolent Association had a picnic at Dover point on Wednesday, the 3d inst., and it was numerously attended. In the evening, when the train with the excursionists arrived in this city, some of them engaged in a drunken brawl at the station, and the police on interfering and arresting one of the most riotous, were assailed with stones and other missiles, threats and vituperation, and were compelled to draw their own weapons in self defence. Four of the rioters were lodged in the lockup, two being released on $300 bail each after several hours detention. Further particulars will probably appear in the police court report.

RIVER AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The annual report of Major Jared A. Smith, United States Engineers, in charge of the improvements of rivers and harbors in Maine and New Hamphrire, was received by the department in Washington on the 2d inst. Major Smith reports that the spring freshets so greatly retarded the work in most places that but little was accomplished betwee the close of work last fall and the end of the fiscal year, June 30th. The following condensations from his report will be of interest in this vicinity:

For the improvement of the Cocheco river $10,000 was appropriated Aug. 5th, 1887, but owing to the lateness of the season little was done at the close of the last fiscal year. The project contemplates cutting a channel through the ledge and other material a short distance below Dover, so as to give a width of fifty feet, and a depth of five feet at low water. The estimated cost of the entire work is $47,000. Of this amount, $38,000 has already been appropriated, and the remainder asked for next year.

From March, 1879, to August, 1886, a total of $107,000 had been appropriated for improving the harbor of Portsmouth. Up to June 30th, 1887, there had been expended of this, $94,730. As a result, the breakwater between Great island and Goat island has been completed, and the removal of the dangerous ledge called Gangway rock has been so nearly completed that the remainder will be removed before the close of the present working season. A small portion of the ledge has also been removed from the point of Badger's island. It is estimated that $43,000 will be required to complete the work.

The project of a channel 100 feet wide with nine feet depth at mean low water for the harbor of refuge at Little harbor, is considered of little value save to very small vessels. A depth of twelve feet as a minimum is recommended, and a sufficient breakwater to protect the harbor from the sea. This would cost $165,000. If the present project is carried out $23,000 will complete the work, but it will be of little practical value to anything but the smallest vessels.

A contract for dredging the channel of York harbor, Me., so as to secure a depth of ten feet at low water, was signed in December last, and at the close of the year work was progressing favorably, but the amount of work performed was too small to make an estimate for payment. Fifteen thousand dollars has been appropriated for the work, and a similar sum will probably complete the work if appropriated at one time. If doled out in installments it is believed the cost will be materially increased, owing to the necessity for several contracts.

PERSONAL.

Miss Belle Moses of Boston is visiting relatives in this city.

Miss Norah Dannett of Gloucester, Mass., is visiting the family of Mr. Charles M. Laighton on Miller avenue.

Mr. Thomas Chase of Seabrook, the tenor of the Unitarian church choir of this city, has been appointed a deputy sheriff for Rockingham county.

Mr. J. Colby Lowd and wife, of Boston, will arrive in this city next Saturday to pass Sunday with Mr. Lowd's sister, Mrs. Baker, on Fleet street. They leave on Monday for Bethlehem, where they will pass several weeks, after which they will make a week's stop in this city before returning to Boston.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The Laconia Car company have begun work on an order from the Boston & Maine railroad for 200 freight cars. A portion of them are designed for use on the Manchester & Lawrence road.

The "Beach" train which leaves Manchester for this city at 11:15 A. M., is due here at 12:45 P. M., just twenty minutes after the train has left for Dover. If the train on the Boston & Maine could leave Boston at 10:20 instead of ten, passengers might go to Dover from Manchester via this city without delay, making the trip in an hour and fifty-five minutes. The saving of time to the public comes when railways are operated for one instead of several interests.

On Tuesday night of this week the rails on the York railroad were laid as far as the overhead bridge of the new road to York harbor, leaving only about a mile and a half more before the terminus at Union Bluff would be reached. Work is being prosecuted night and day, and Sundays, in the endeavor to get the road in condition for opening on Monday, August 8th. It is said ten trips each way will be made daily, at the start.

The different railroads throughout the country are ordering new cars so as to be able to handle the increased amount of business offered. The Atchison has given the Indianapolis car works orders for 1800 box cars; the Flint & Pere Marquette has ordered 259 freight cars of all classes; the Ohio & Mississippi has ordered 900 freight cars. The Southern Pacific has contracted with the Pullman car company to build twenty-nine sleeping cars. Twenty-eight first-class coaches are to be built at Dayton, Ohio. Another firm in Dayton, together with one in Richmond, Va., have contracts from the company for 300 25-ton flat cars, and 300 box cars of the same capacity.

Rockingham Lodge of Good Templars, of this city, will picnic to-day (Thursday) at Chauncy's creek, Kittery Point.

A drama entitled "Our English Friend," written by Miss Anna St. Clair Patterson (aged eight years) of Boston, and Master James P. White, Jr., son of Dr. White of Buffalo, N. Y., was brought out last week at the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals, by the youthful authors, assisted by Miss Susan Hosford and Miss Sargent of Boston. The juvenile dramatists exhibited a remarkable degree of talent, and brought out the salient points in the satirical composition with admirable tact. The audience was large, appreciative, and applauded rapturously. The receipts from the sale of tickets at ten cents each amounted to a considerable sum. The net proceeds, $18.05, were by vote of the Dramatic company given to the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

The house of Mr. Simon H. Mills on Christian Shore was entered by thieves early on Wednesday morning, Aug. 3d, and some silver stolen.

Dr. Berry has leased the house occupied by Mrs. Whipple on State street, and will occupy it as a residence.

It is reported that an allotment of $35,000 has been made to this navy yard under the bureau of yards and docks, for making needed repairs to the dry dock.

Cucumbers were kept up to four or five cents each for so many weeks after their first appearance in this market that we supposed none were going to be produced in this section of the country this year; hence we were very agreeably surprised on the 3d inst. at receiving from Mr. Lewis G. Davis a basket of very handsome ones, fresh from the vines.

A gang of Christian Shore hoodlums held undisputed possession of the Maplewood avenue bridge from about 10:30 to 12:30 on the night of election day, and made the hours hideous with their shouting, singing, etc. The police pretend to visit Christian Shore once or twice each night, but if they passed that way that night they were very neglectful of their duty. CITIZEN.

The sixth annual meeting of the Universalist National Society of America commenced on Tuesday, Aug. 2d, at the Weirs, to continue for the remainder of the week, Sunday included. The programe for the week includes speeches by some of the best known speakers of the denomination, and the Schubert Ladies' Quartette of Boston furnish music at all of the meetings.

WHAT IS WANTED.

Ex-Mayor Lothrop of Dover, president of a national bank and a member of a family noted for successful business results, in a letter to the Dover Democrat shows that the business element of Dover is not represented by the men retained by the Concord railroad to oppose the Hazen bill. The ex-mayor shows that the public has gained by the leasing of the Eastern to the Boston & Maine road. The public conveniences have been greatly increased, and their rights carefully preserved. In these days, far-seeing business men appreciate a policy that is progressive and broad in its views. To keep things in the old groove may be pleasant as far as sentiment is concerned, but the world moves. Railways in every state are becoming extended lines between far distant points. The era of short links of road which may have the power to obstruct the natural course of traffic, has ceased. Large lines managed in the interest of the public, and operated with an eye to a constantly increasing business, will of course be remunerative to their owners. The interests of New Hampshire are, not that a certain set of men residing either on this or the other side of the state line, shall be in control of her railway property, but that it shall be under the direction of a liberal, far-seeing management which shall keep us abreast of other states in railway accommodation and in the development of our resources.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

Important Electric Invention.

Julian Denison, an employe of the Connecticut Electric company of New Haven, has made an invention of special importance to electric light companies. It is an apparatus to feed new carbons automatically to arc lights as fast as the old ones burn out and are exhausted. It does away with the man and ladder now in use to replace carbons. The carbon feeder or magazine will contain seventeen carbons, ten upper and seven lower sticks. Under the Denison patent, an electric light will burn steadily without watching for ninety hours or more on a stretch. The magazine will revolve as fast as the lighted carbons become exhausted, and drop new ones into place in an instant.

Russia has ratified the Afghan boundary convention.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Choice Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Entire food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Debility, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that be set the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

AN EXPERIMENTAL LOCOMOTIVE.

The Hinckley Locomotive Works are at the present time building an experimental locomotive with a single pair of driving wheels. It is intended to use it on the "Flying Yankee" train over the Boston & Maine and Maine Central roads. It will, it is expected, be completed in about a month. It possesses many peculiar features, that are in part, at least, experimental, and much interest is felt in railroad circles in the results that will be accomplished. All the difficulty from slipping drivers can probably be overcome by the use of the sand blast, now successfully used on many English roads, and undergoing trial on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. The sand being thrown on the rail by a jet of compressed air, cannot be blown off before the wheel reaches it. Experience in England goes to prove that the success of engines with a single pair of drivers depends entirely upon the character of the sand supplied. If dry, and delivered fairly on the rail close to the driving wheel tread, no time is lost from slipping, even where the tractive power of the engine is ninety-four pounds per pound pressure on the pistons.

They Stand Alone.

The firm of George P. Rowell & Co. is the only advertising agency in this or in any other country that pays all bills on the day of receipt. In this way there is no accumulation of indebtedness. On every day every bill in the office is paid if it is correct. It takes a good deal of money to do business in this way, but it gives the agency a financial standing and reputation which makes their orders eagerly sought by all newspaper publishers, and it is more than likely that George P. Rowell & Co. on this account can place business to better advantage than their competitors.—New Haven Union.

I have not been troubled with the rheumatism since being cured by taking Athlophoros, and can recommend it to all as being the only medicine that I ever found that seemed to help me at all in that disease. Edwin Sears, Provincetown, Massachusetts.

C. H. Adams of Claremont has accepted the position of treasurer in the office of the Boston Advertiser.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

The unprecedent success and merit of Ely's Cream Balm—a real cure for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head—has induced many adventurers to place catarrh medicines bearing some resemblance in appearance, style or name upon the market, in order to trade upon the reputation of Ely's Cream Balm. Many in your immediate locality will testify in highest commendation of it. A particle is implied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents.

Seeds That Germinate Quickly.

The human system is a fruitful soil, and among seeds that germinate most rapidly in it are those or rheumatism and neuralgia. A slight cold, brought on by sitting in a draught, wet feet or damp clothes, will develop either of those abominable painful maladies with unpleasant rapidity. The proper preventive of this agonizing vegetation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which nullifies a tendency to either of the maladies named, and sooths the aches which they cause. Nor is it less effective as a remedy for rheumatism than as its preventive, a fact amply attested as any other relating to its curative properties. Mariners, miners, frontiersmen, and others, have ever found it a faithful preservative of health in unfavorable regions, and a benign remedy for malarial disorders, and stomach, liver and bowel complaints. It is a fine promoter of appetite and a capital tonic.

The famous exploit of Capt. Ingraham, then of the United States navy, in rescuing Martin Koszta from the Austrians in the harbor of Smyrna over thirty years ago, is now very ancient history. In fact but few of the present generation know that Ingraham is still alive. He is eighty-five years of age, and resides at Charleston, S. C. Appleton's cyclopædia says he died in 1863. He served the Union in the war of 1812 and in the Mexican war, but was with the confederacy during the civil war.

SHE IS TOUGH AS A PINE KNOT.

The Troubles of a Little Six Year Old Crooked as an Old Tree, but Now Straight as an Arrow—Her Father's Pathetic Story.

As so many children are afflicted with that terrible scourge malaria, I thought I would write you this letter, telling my little girl's experience, for the benefit of all suffering children. I thought, too, that many parents might like to know what to do for their little ones when they happened to be troubled in the same manner. My daughter is about seven years of age, and for four years past has been troubled every spring and fall with dumb ague, from which she has been a great sufferer. My physician told me that this disease occurred but rarely in children, and was more difficult to manage than in grown people. And we discovered this to be a fact, for her general health was more disturbed all the time than grown people's are when they have malaria; the attacks were more irregular, and were without the usual well period between them. She was feverish, restless and poorly all the time. She had an almost constant fever. Instead of the chill she would be covered with goose-flesh, and blueness of the lips and skin. She was very thirsty, and would breathe hurriedly, and her pulse was very small and weak. She did not sleep well at night, but was very restless, and we were fearful that she might have convulsions.

There was a serious disturbance of her entire nervous system, caused by the poison in her blood. Her head would ache generally very hard, and the malaria seemed mostly located in her neck and shoulders and small of the back, so that when she tried to walk she could only straighten herself half way up. There was a great deal of pain all along the backbone. Last Fall she was bent half double for eight weeks, and she was unable to stir her neck one way or the other.

She complained of weakness in the legs and could only walk with exceeding difficulty. During this attack the fever was high, followed by profuse perspiration; after which she could for a little while move her muscles more freely. The muscles seemed to lose their strength and power of motion, very much as they do in paralysis, and indeed one physician said that her trouble was a sort of motor paralysis, caused by the malarial poison. And it did seem as though the muscles of her neck and shoulders were really contracted and stiff. She ate scarcely anything and got badly run down, and we were anxious lest she should never get over it.

This Spring—1887—she was taken in the same way again, and we were completely discouraged. Three years had now gone by and in spite of all the physicians could do the poor little thing was more than ever. We gave her all the fever and ague medicines we could think of for her, and all the doctor's stuff, too; among which were nervines and sedatives, arsenic, strychnine, and quinine in large quantities. We gave her warm baths and medicinal baths, and rubbed her thoroughly with many kinds of liniments. But neither the internal or external treatment seemed to have any permanent effect, for all the distressing symptoms of the disease kept a firm hold on her. In fact some of the remedies—especially the quinine—appeared to do more harm than the disease itself. The quinine produced buzzing in the ears, while the headaches after taking quinine were enough to make the hardest heart pity the innocent little sufferer.

This Spring I saw Kaskine, the new quinine, advertised, and I turned to it with great hope, though I could not tell why, as we had never known anything of its powers. I sent for a bottle and gave her five globules four times a day, according to directions, for the first few days. It didn't seem to do her a particle of good, and in my doubt I increased the dose to ten globules four times a day, and at the end of five days a marvelous change took place.

She said: "Papa, I can walk as straight as ever," and it was true. Kaskine straightened her neck and body perfectly straight. The fever had left her, her headaches disappeared, her appetite came back, she slept sweetly all night, her spirits grew bright, and she played about the house as blithely as any child of her age naturally does. She has been well ever since, and I fully believe the cure is radical and permanent as she has had no sign of a return of the trouble in any form to this hour. It has always taken us from eight to twelve weeks every Spring and Fall before we could break the fever and get our little girl to look as though she would live through the Winter. She is now plump and rosy, and as tough as a pine knot.

THOMAS TOOLE,
Crown Point, N. Y.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Negro Stories from Louisiana.

An old negro woman was employed as cook in the family of a Mr. S——. Though a good servant in most respects, she had a propensity for petty thieving that was very annoying to her mistress. Mrs. S—— often missed small quantities of tea, coffee, sugar, etc., but the cook always stoutly maintained her innocence when questioned, and in this she was usually supported by Miss Florence S——, a kind-hearted daughter of the family. One day Aunt Tildy (the cook) was charged with a more serious theft than usual. At first she seemed at a loss for a reply, but she suddenly burst out with: "I doan' b'lieve I tuk dat ting—no, I doan'. But if Miss Flaw'nce done say I tuk it, den I b'lieve it. Miss Flaw'nce tell de truf; I b'lieve all what she say. Jus' you ax Miss Flaw'nce, an' if she say so, den I b'lieve it—no oder way, nohow."

The more uneducated negroes show a strange inability to understand what the simplest pictures even are intended to represent, and their interpretations of more complex pictures are strangely ludicrous. In the family of Mr. S—— was a negro servant named Aunt Lucy. One day Miss Florence showed her a small picture of Niagara Falls, and asked her what she thought it was. After holding the picture in every possible position, Aunt Lucy finally said, "Dat sure am Miss Eva; it sure am." Miss Eva was another daughter of the family.

"Is it a good picture of her?" asked Miss Florence.

Negroes value preachers in proportion as they are able to excite emotion in their hearers. A darky was questioned as to the respective merits of two colored preachers, or "sorters," which is short for "exhorters." His judgment was this: "Dey's bofe of em mighty pow'ful 'sorters, but dat Rob Sheldon he's de best, 'kase he's got de mos' tones."—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine.

German and American Canaries.

"I notice that as spring approaches you advertise German canaries," to a bird dealer. "Now, what's the difference between a German and an American canary, and how do you tell, or can't you tell?" The dealer laughed and gave a chattering macaw a piece of hard-boiled egg that stopped its whooping, and said: "The German canaries are superior as singers to the American birds, and there are several differences that enable dealers to tell. In the first place, the German birds sing at night, while the American birds tuck their heads under their wings and go to sleep but the great difference is in the notes. In canaries there are four notes recognized—the flute note, that is clear and has ring to it; the whistling note, which has a fine expression to it; the water note, that calls to memory the murmuring water over a rocky bed on a still July day; and, lastly, the rolling note; which rises and falls, apparently dying away almost in a hushed silence, then gradually, slowly, but melodiously rising into a grand, ravishing swell. This last note the American birds can't reach. Any experienced dealer can easily tell a Hartz mountain bird as soon as he hears it sing."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Preparing Olive Oil.

The olives are placed between two mill-stones and ground into a paste, stones and all. This paste is put in jute bags, which are piled up in an ordinary press and subjected to pressure furnished by a screw. The oil oozes through the bags, and is caught in pans or vessels, and then bottled. The most remarkable feature of the process is that some four or five different qualities are obtained from one lot of olives. This is explained by the fact that the oil oozing out at first is the result of slight pressure, consequently is sweeter and lacks the ranker flavor of the second, third, and fourth grades, which partake more or less of the taste of the olive stones. The last grade is frequently so rank that it cannot be used for eating purposes, but instead is used as the basic matter in the manufacture of soap, etc. The residue or paste left after the oil has been extracted undergoes chemical treatment, and the oil obtained from this is used a lubricant.—Weekly Herald of Trade.

But Then It's English, You Know.

For several weeks young gentlemen and ladies—Heaven bless em—of the Syracuse University have been walking about the streets with mortar-boards on their heads. While they are at perfect liberty to wear coal-scuttles if they choose, or to appear in public clad in a coat of mail, or while some of the athletic young gentlemen might be excused for baring their legs and wearing Highland plaids, yet such a course might not seem advisable. The mortar-board is as adapted to the purpose of wearing apparel as a toboggan slide. In the first place, it is a trifle homelier than a map of the Sahara. In the second place, it is at the mercy of the wind and leaves the wearer at the mercy of the sun. In the third place, it is heavy and hot, and in every other place it is in the way. Mortar-boards worn with gowns are liked by some people on commencement day, and are thought to impart a medieval and scholastic air to the possessor; but, worn alone and at all times, the ugly piece of headgear is about as much in place as a Roman togs in a modern ball-room or a Zulu clout at a picnic.—Syracuse Standard.

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blouches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all sufferers, and simply palliatives, have continued suffering, leading to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

The Fisheries Dispute.

Rear Adm. Luce, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, recently sent to Capt. P. A. Scott of the Dominion navy a series of six questions on points in connection with the present condition of fishery affairs. The questions were in writing, and have been answered in the same manner, the whole being signed by Captain Scott as commander of the Canadian fishery protection service. The questions and replies are as follows:

First—Are there any Canadian ports where American vessels engaged in fishing may replenish their stock of provisions, and if so, name them?

Answer—Not any; but in the autumn, when American fishermen are out of provisions and leaving for home, they are permitted to take such as they may require for that purpose only.

Second—Will it be insisted upon that every American fisherman anchoring in port or other places on the coast for shelter only must enter and clear at the custom house?

Answer—At all times when practicable to do so; but if at an inconvenient distance from a custom house and a cruiser is present, her captain will enter and clear those that apply.

Third—What construction is placed by Canadian officials on the word "repair," as expressed in the treaty of 1818—that is, may a fisherman who needs repairs to his rigging enter port to buy rope—does the word "repairs" include everything on board such vessels that is necessary to a complete fishing vessel?

Answer—This must be left to the discretion of the collector of customs or the captain of a cruiser, as it is liable to great abuse.

Fourth—Are Canadian officials instructed to restrict Americans to certain ports in the Bay of Chaleur and Gaspe Bay for wood, water and repairs, and if so, what ports are they?

Answer—The Bay of Chaleur is closed to American fishermen, with the exception of Port Daniel and Miscou harbors, which are open to them for the purpose of obtaining wood, water, shelter and repairs. But when medical aid is required, they may go to Paspebiac for that purpose only. Gaspe is not closed, but American fishermen can only enter for either of the four things mentioned in the treaty.

Fifth—The Magdalen islands being excepted by treaty stipulations from the restrictions applied to other points of the coast, is it to be understood that American fishermen may at those islands ship fish in bond to the United States, receive salt in barrels, if from the United States, in bond, ship men, and purchase provisions there?

Answer—Under the convention, American fishermen can only take, cure and dry fish at the Magdalens under the restrictions specified in the treaty; therefore, they cannot ship fish in bond, ship men, nor purchase supplies.

Sixth—Are the Dominion cruisers authorized to enter and clear vessels in the same manner as collectors of customs?

Answer—They are, where no collector of customs is present. (See the answer to No. 2.)

The well known Massachusetts democrats, Judge Woodbury and Col. Spofford, were interviewed in regard to this correspondence, and to the alleged subsequent action of Rear Adm. Luce.

"I am surprised," remarked Judge Woodbury, "that Admiral Luce, for whom I have a high regard, should have undertaken to decide this fishery question, and to decide it, too, in direct conflict with the position which has been steadily maintained by the American government. What makes the case more remarkable still, is the fact that not only have our state department and minister to England been carrying on a very able correspondence, clearly showing that American fishing vessels have the right to enter Canadian ports for the purchase of supplies and the shipment of fish in bond, etc., under legislative arrangements with Great Britain, but Congress, at the last session, unanimously enacted a law authorizing the president, in case Canada denied these privileges to our fishing vessels, to issue a proclamation withdrawing similar privileges in our ports from Canadian vessels, and prohibiting the importation into any collection district of the United States of such Canadian products as he might name. And yet, in the face of this unanimous declaration of Congress, Admiral Luce, who is supposed to represent our government, has practically notified American fishermen that they have no right to enter Canadian ports or harbors to purchase supplies or ship fish in bond to the United States, and that if they do so they must not expect protection from us. I shall be astonished if the authorities of Washington do not at once disavow these utterances of the admiral, for if they indorse them by their silence it is a practical surrender of our case."

"Just look at it," said Mr. Spofford. "The admiral of the North Atlantic fleet, presumably sent to the Canadian coast to protect the rights of American fishermen, accepts the dictum of a captain of the Canadian coastguard denying that we have any rights, and solemnly warns our hardy fishermen that, if they attempt to exercise privileges which our government has always maintained as our rights, then they must not expect any protection from our people. If the admiral has acted under instructions, why did our government send any fleet to Canadian waters? It would have been more graceful to have backed down at the beginning. If he has not acted under instructions, he should be called to a sharp account for giving away our case so far as he could."

Kentucky Election.

Kentucky's election returns do not get in very rapidly. They had a state election on the 1st inst., and on the 4th both parties were claiming the state, the republicans by 5000, the democrats by 15,000 to 21,000. Cleveland's majority was about 35,000; the democrats conceded a republican net gain of 13,000, and the republicans claimed a net gain of 24,000, with forty counties to report. There is no question of heavy republican gains nearly all through the state.

A Patriotic Crank.

In New York, at one o'clock on the 3d inst., an attempt was made to blow up the steamer Queen of the National line. One of the dynamiters, who says his name is Thomas J. Mooney, was captured. The instrument with which he tried to destroy the ship was also discovered. As yet he has given no cause for his actions, and he is in no way identified with the longshoreman's strike. When Mooney was searched a loaded revolver, box of cartridges and a dagger were found. In his pockets were also found newspaper clippings with reference to the Canadian fishery troubles, and an original copy of an incendiary proclamation warning to the British, recently posted on Broadway. Mooney said to the court: "I think great injustice is done the citizens of the United States. We have as much right to tear down the English flag as Britishers have to haul down the American banner. The English act as devils, and expect us to be saints. I say the American flag must be respected." He was committed to await examination.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore.

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite lengthened association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

JOHN H. SLATER.

Mr. John H. Slater, whose death occurred on the 3d inst., was born at Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancashire, England, in 1826, and at ten years of age was a weaver in a cotton mill in his native town. He came to this country in 1848, to this city first; from here he went to Pennsylvania, and thence to Rhode Island. He shortly returned here, and was employed in the Portsmouth cotton mill until 1858, when he assumed the agency of Div. 110, N. F. P. Union, at No. 53 Market street. In 1878 he bought out the store and business, and continued there up to the time of his death.

Mr. Slater was a successful business man, an earnest Episcopalian, and a strong republican in politics. He served for several years as a vestryman and warden of St. John's church, and was senior warden of Christ church at his decease. He represented his ward in the legislature one or more terms, and was three years an alderman. He was a member of St. John's Lodge of Masons, and of Piscataqua Lodge of Odd Fellows. Though a very practical man he was an ardent lover of flowers, and was very successful in their cultivation; and he particularly delighted in contributing of his finest specimens to those whom he knew would appreciate their beauties.

He was twice married, and his second wife and three children survive. The children are Hayden H. Slater of Fostoria, Ohio, Mrs. Bellows of Boston, and Fred H. Slater of this city.

THE FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

The above-named association, having for its purpose the benefit of its members, is one of our most worthy local organizations. It is exclusively for the fire department, and any member of the department can become a member of the association by paying the amount of dues, $1.00 per year, payable semi-annually. In case a member gets disabled or acquires sickness during the performance of his duty, he receives $5.00 per week for the period of thirteen weeks from the time the disability occurs. At a meeting of the association held on Monday evening, Aug. 1st, the treasurer's report showed a fund of over $2200, which is deposited in one of the banks of our city. The officers are as follows:

President, George A. Jackson;
Vice President, Horace A. Mudge;
Secretary, Daniel D. Waldron;
Treasurer, Willard J. Sampson;

And a board of directors consisting of one member from each fire company.

This association furnishes accident and health insurance at a very cheap rate, and every fireman should avail himself of its privileges, and provide against accidents that every fireman is liable to at every alarm of fire.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, Aug. 4th.

Patrick Reagan and James McLaughlin, two of the persons engaged in the disgraceful drunken row at the railroad station on the evening of the 3d inst., when the excursion train from the picnic of the St. Mary's Benevolent association arrived home from Dover point, were brought in on a charge of brawl. They were arraigned between ten and eleven o'clock the previous night, and liberated on $300 bail each; and on the 4th their cases were further continued to Monday, Aug. 8th, under the same bonds.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

The last regular meeting of the city government of 1886—87 was held on Thursday evening, Aug. 4th.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Present the full board, except Alderman Sinclair.

Resignation of Thomas Leary as police officer was accepted.

Henry Wendell was granted leave to encumber Union street for building purposes.

Bills amounting to $4430 were ordered to be paid.

The matter of the alleged encroachment of the Concord railroad on city property was referred to the next board.

The mayor reported, in regard to the Knibbs valve suit, that he had informed the mayor of Dover that he thought it needless to incur any further expense in the case.

Thanks were voted the mayor, city clerk and city messenger, for the manner in which their duties had been performed; and all responded briefly and appropriately.

Met the Common Council in convention to canvass the votes for mayor, aldermen, councilmen, assessors, and overseers of the poor. After the returns of the ward clerks were read, on motion of Alderman Billings the persons whose names have already been published were declared elected. The convention then rose.

In Board of Aldermen, resumed: An old map of the town of Portsmouth, dated 1810, was ordered to be framed, for preservation.

In Common Council, President Crowley in the chair:

After some unimportant routine business the board met the aldermen in convention, to canvass the city vote.

On resuming, votes of thanks to the president and clerk were passed, and those gentlemen suitably responded.

Adjourned.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The regular meeting of the Board of Instruction was held at the city rooms on Tuesday evening, Aug. 2d.

The declination of Miss Hutchings, elected principal of the training school, was read and accepted.

Charles E. Batchelder was elected a member of the High school committee for three years.

The resignations of Misses Ida L. Marston, Mabel A. Bennett and Nellie G. Ham, as teachers, were accepted.

The mayor announced the regular committees for the coming year as follows:

Text books, Messrs. Hodgdon, Hovey and Cotton.

Salaries, Messrs. Laskey, Garrett and Sinclair.

Truancy, Messrs. Walden, Garrett and Laskey.

Purchases, Messrs. Page, Cotton and Laskey.

Drawing, Messrs. Hovey, Hodgdon and Gooding.

Music, Messrs. Sinclair, Cotton and Gooding.

Training school, Messrs. Batchelder, Goodrich and Gooding.

District one, Mr. Sinclair, Mrs. Knight and Mr. Garrett.

District two, Messrs. Batchelder, Cotton and Hovey.

District three, Messrs. Laskey, Goodrich and Walden.

PERSONAL.

George G. Kimball of Washington, D. C., formerly of Portsmouth, was in town this week.

Miss Nellie B. Marden of Marblehead, Mass., is at Mr. G. W. Marden's, No. 11 Miller avenue.

Mrs. Edward E. Vaughan is sojourning in South Newmarket for a week, at Mr. Jeremiah Towle's.

Dr. John Stimson and family are visiting his father, Mr. Charles W. Stimson, on Freeman's point. Dr. Stimson is practising in Londonderry, Mass., four miles from Fitchburg; he made the journey, a distance of seventy-two miles, with his own team in a day and a half. He will be here about ten days—the longest vacation he has taken for years.

Mr. James H. Dow of Lowell, Mass., who was an enthusiastic member of the old Rockingham base-ball club, the pioneer club in this section, was in Portsmouth on Thursday. "Dow, pitcher," is still as ardent a lover as ever of the national game, even with all its new-fangled quirks, which make the umpire mightier than the bat; but he doesn't play so much as he used to.

The business men of Market street will close their stores to-day during the funeral of Mr. John H. Slater, out of respect to the memory of their old neighbor.

The drum and fife corps, Wm. T. Betton leader, now numbers twelve members. They rendered good service at the political serenades on the night of the recent election day, and are ready to respond to all calls for their services by either political party, or others desiring to employ them.

Lucky we have no more naval ships. If Admiral Luce had a decent squadron under his command he would probably hand over the entire fishing fleet, and most of the coasters, to the Canucks. But he can't do a great deal in that line with the vessels at his disposal.

The secretary of the navy on the 4th inst. appointed the following-named officers as a board of enquiry to convene at the Portsmouth navy yard on the 9th, and investigate the alleged irregularities in the accounts of Paymaster's Clerk Paine: Capt. Oscar F. Stanton, Capt. Albert Kautz, and Pay Inspector Albert S. Kenny, with Lieut. Kenny as judge advocate.

The steamer Oceanic took out to the Shoals on Thursday, in addition to the visitors from other places, a large number of residents of this city, ladies and gentlemen taking advantage of the popular "excursion day" rates. She had a very large party on board. The Laighton Brothers give one more tribute to the general excellence of this community. Voluntarily they spoke to our reporter within a few days, and stated that they considered the class of excursionists that visited the islands from Portsmouth as equal if not superior to those from any other point, in personnel, behavior and general bearing. As they have excursions from many points, this is a high tribute to so near a locality.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

Advices of the 3d inst. from Ottawa, Ont., say: "The deputy minister of fisheries last night said that an order had been issued by the government, releasing on condition of their paying a mere nominal fine all American schooners recently seized within the alleged prescribed three-mile limit. There is very evidently something in the wind, and developments toward an amicable settlement of the fishing troubles are daily being received by officials of the department. It is evident a climax has been reached, and an amicable settlement of the fishery troubles is in the near future."

The American fishing schooner Gold Dust was seized by the Canadian customs authorities near St. Andrew's, N. B., Aug. 3d. The Fanny and the James A. Garfield were seized in Quoddy river, N. B., but were released on paying $20 fine each.

The Last Revolutionary Pension.

A Washington despatch to the New York Herald says that probably the last revolutionary war-pension claim that will ever be filed at the pension office was allowed by Commissioner Black on the 2d inst. The claimant is Mrs. Mary Casey of Washington, Ohio. Her husband, John Casey, served during the revolution in the Virginia line. He died in 1845 at the age of seventy-five. A few years previous he was married to Mary Cox, then sixteen years old. Ten years ago Mrs. Casey filed her application for a pension, but it was pigeon-holed on some technicality, and was but recently called to Commissioner Black's attention, when he instantly approved it.

Henry W. Ripley of Portland, who was arrested charged with criminal libel against Judge Gould of Portland, has as yet been unable to procure bail. He has been in Saco jail since his arraignment, up to the 4th inst., when he was taken to the jail at Alfred. This is the case in which serious charges against Judge Gould's honesty were published in the Maine Sentinel, whose editor, John Henscom, is also in hot water about it.

Counsel for Dr. E. G. Stevens of Biddeford, charged with murder through malpractice upon Mary Hall, waived a preliminary examination in the municipal court in that city on the 3d inst., and Dr. Stevens was committed to Alfred jail to await trial some time in the course of next month.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

Eugene Harley, aged forty-five, a Vermont school teacher, was thrown from the steamer Pilgrim in the sound by a lurch Aug. 1st, and not missed. He was picked up an hour later by the schooner E. M. Reed, wet and tired, but unhurt.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

Daniel Kelleher of Lowell, Mass., separated from his wife Aug. 1st, stole some of her clothing, pawned them for rum, got drunk, and stabbed his wife seven times in the side and back. She will probably die.

Things Worth Remembering.

When you feel a kind of goneness about the stomach it is a sign that your food does not sit well and that you are about to have a fit of indigestion.

When you begin to feel nervous and are unable to sit still comfortably; when your clothes suddenly seem to loose their fit and become too tight in places, the fit of indigestion is surely upon you.

When this fit of indigestion is repeated from day to day it finally resolves itself into dyspepsia.

Chronic dyspepsia will surely make the happiest life a hell upon earth.

Remember that three to ten of Brandreth's Pills will cure the worst case of indigestion or dyspepsia, or both, and that a regular course of them, say two every night for a week or ten days will act as a preventive of either complaint.

The ruins of the St. Anthony elevator, near Minneapolis, Minn., fell inward on the 3d inst., crushing twelve men who were shovelling fire-damaged wheat. Six bodies were taken out in a short time.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price twenty-five cents. Try them.

Advices from Malta say that there have been two fatal cases of cholera there.

Editor Australian Cyclist says: Made 1,200 miles by use of St. Jacobs Oil.

A Perilous Postponement.

To postpone, when the duty for immediate action is clear, is always unwise. Especially is it so when increasing ill health calls for a resort to medication. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder are often of swift growth—always of fatal tendency if not combatted at the outset. We have all—even those of us who are not remarkably well instructed—heard something of the danger attending Bright's disease, diabetes, and other diseases of the kidneys or bladder. Let no one be foolhardy enough to procrastinate if he perceives the renal organs to be inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are peculiarly adapted to overcome this inaction, to sufficiently stimulate, without exciting the kidneys and bladder. Infinitely is this diuretic to be preferred to the impure and fiery stimulants of commerce, which prove the bane of unwary persons with a tendency to renal troubles. They are likewise incomparable for dyspepsia, fever and ague, and billiousness.

Martin Burns of Dover, who gained notoriety in Boston and other places as a pugilist, was arraigned in the police court at Dover on the 4th inst. for the larceny of medicine from Dr. Stackpole's office, and was sentenced to the county jail for four months.

A cable despatch has been received by Secretary Patrick Daly of the Boston District, Ancient Order of Foresters, from H. M. Sweeney, delegate of Court Massachusetts No. 6938 to the High Court meeting at Glasgow, Scot., stating that Court Massachusetts has been sustained in the action of admitting a colored man to membership in the order.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, tremblings, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

LOST PUBLIC MEN.

What the Death of So Many Great Men Means—Are We As a Nation In Danger?

"America is losing its prominent men very fast," was the remark of a well known Englishman who is now visiting this country, and he was right. Sumner Wilson, Phillips, Washburn, Carpenter and a host of others have departed, and John A. Logan has just passed away. But has it never occurred to the reader that the cause of the deaths of these public men was in every case the same? And has it occurred to you that Manning, Butler, Blaine and a host of others are treading the same sad road? The great American scourge, to-day, is kidney disease and it is by no means confined to public men. Thousands of men whom we see every day have inherited it from their parents and do not know it. Innumerable women who are delicate are afflicted with it at this moment, and think it is simply "weakness." Little children whose kidneys have been injured by scarlet fever are suffering from it, usually unknown to their parents. Its symptoms are a tired feeling and a desire to sleep; a pale complexion; uncertain appetite; faintness at the pit of the stomach; shifting pains, sometimes in the back, sometimes in the limbs, and again in the head; plentiful or scanty urine, with a scum on top or a sediment and brick dust in the bottom; a burning sensation in passing and skin hot at times and clammy at others. Any one of these things indicate disordered kidneys, which are the first stage of Bright's disease. They must be checked.

AMERICA'S LOSS.

Capt. Greenwood, of the steamer Kanawha, had these troubles in an aggravated form; he used Hunt's Remedy and is in perfect health to-day.

Rev. Charles Pike, of Waterbury, Ct., was greatly reduced in the same manner and "suffered severely." He used Hunt's Remedy and was cured.

CAPT. GREENWOOD.

Mrs. Alexander L. Nichols, of Phenix, R. I., after passing through all the suffering which any woman is ever called upon to endure, was cured by Hunt's Remedy.

The son of Cornelius H. Smith, of the State Department at Albany, N. Y., was given up to die by no less than four physicians, but was cured by Hunt's Remedy. These instances could be prolonged indefinitely.

Two things are certain. First—kidney troubles, are always and in Bright's disease unless checked, are fearfully prevalent. Second—They can be cured by using the remedy above named. With these truths in view, why men and women will be so heedless and allow symptoms to run along until they end in agony or death we cannot understand. We certainly advise all to think carefully on this subject and act without delay.

Funny Things in Mexico.

Almost as good as a hacienda bullfight is the spectacle of an Indian coachman in English livery. The dark face of the somewhat diminutive Aztec under a tall hat, his slight form incased in a thick cloth coat, make up a picture for a comic artist. Add a footman in the same stiff livery, and the sight is provokingly funny. Both sit, as per instructions, grimly on the box, and they essay that which is impossible to them, an absolutely indifferent air, which is relieved by a grin at the corners of the mouth. There is, too, a hopeless sort of look on the poor fellow's faces, as if they were inwardly saying, "We don't like this sort of thing, you must see, and only wish we were back in our sombreros and short jackets," in which these men always look artistically picturesque. It is a mistake to introduce English livery into this country. The men are not suited to it, and it only ends in giving them a ludicrous air, which adds nothing to the vehicular display.

There are some minor points of customs here which strike an American oddly. For example, it seems queer to purchase sage for the dressing of a fowl at the apothecary shops, to which one must also go for soda for cooking. Shoe stores do not have shoe-horns in stock, but you are referred from them to the hardware store. An apothecary does not sell whole packages; that is, you can't buy a bottle of patent medicine at your apothecary's, but you must go to a wholesale drug store. Rope takes the place of nails in temporary structures, and carpenters or masons erect staging tied with rope for their work, and it is rare that one of these stagings falls, the cord making a stronger combination than nails. This is an idea that might be copied in the States. Milk is milked directly from the cow, at the big city dairies, into the cook's pitcher, thus making sure that even if the cow has been watered the milk has not.—Cor. New York Star.

Morosini's Curios.

J. P. Morosini devotes four rooms of his residence, near Kingsbridge on the Hudson, to his main collection of curios. One room is filled with guns of all makes, from Cromwell's time to our own, and some cannons, and all nations are represented in the collection. Swords, plain, quaint and curious, ancient and modern, ornamented and unornamented are also in the collection, as well as the weapons of ruder and savage races. He also has some human thigh bones that were saved and polished by cannibals. A two-handed sword seven feet long, said to have been used by the Spanish inquisition, also decorates a niche. A museum of curious watches, remarkable specimens of art from India, a French flag, which had been divided into pieces by a troop of soldiers to save it from the enemy and afterward put together, are in the collection; but most prized of all by its possessor is a letter which was written to him by Garibaldi, showing that a warm friendship existed between the two.

How Young Cossacks Are Trained.

A splendid idea was given of what the hardy Cossack race really is by two whole regiments, of twelve sotnias, of boys, about 1,400 strong, from 9 years old up to 14, drawn for the occasion from all the stanitsas of the Cossack territory. Mounted on lean, shaggy native horses and wielding huge swords, bigger than themselves, and lances eight feet long, they formed the most wonderful infant cavalry ever seen. These boys can already ride at a headlong pace, cling on to their stirrups like monkeys, and pick up handkerchiefs from the ground as they careen along. His Imperial Majesty, who arrived at the saluting point at 10 o'clock amidst tremendous cheering, was greatly interested and amused by these Cossack youngsters as they rode by in lines of sotnias two deep, headed by their choirs, singing Cossack songs to the beat of tambourines. Their swords and lances were found to be rather too unwieldy for such children, so they were taken away just before the ride past.—Russian Letter.

Trees with a History.

A buttonwood tree supposed to be 150 years old has just been felled at Burlington, N. J., that was twenty feet in circumference.

A silver maple sixteen feet in circumference, in Middletown, Ill., was grown from a twig which a traveller stuck into the ground while passing through in 1840.

The fruit and foliage of the buckeye of Arkansas is death to cattle. Indians fish with it tied in a bag, which they drag through the water, and in an hour the fish rise to the surface and die.

A gooseberry bush is growing amazingly fifteen feet from the ground in the forks of a large elm tree at Newton, N. J. It is now two feet in height, and supposed to be the product of a seed deposited there by birds.

The remains of what was probably the largest cedar tree on the continent may be seen six miles from Oakville, Chehalis county, W. T. The hollow stub stands 50 feet high and is 78 feet in circumference 2½ feet from the ground.

The two oldest trees in the world are supposed to be the one in Calaveras county, Cal., that is believed to be 2,565 years old, and the cypress of Somma, in Lombardy, Italy, that is 1,911 years old, or planted forty-two years before Christ.

BABY HUMORS

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives, in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with his horrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the lungs, after passing through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, elongating and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and palliatives and simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a sad termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation, and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.00.

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The Kentucky Upheaval.

The republicans of Kentucky are still claiming the election of their candidate for governor, Bradley, over Gen. Simon B. Buckner, the democratic candidate. This claim is disputed by the democrats, who claim Buckner's election, but by a majority very greatly reduced from that by which Cleveland carried the state.

Safe Home.

The Gloucester schooners Argonaut and Col. J. H. French, which had their boats and seines seized recently near Prince Edward island, arrived home on the 5th inst. Captains Harris and Sprague say that after the boats were seized they left for home, coming out through the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and keeping thirty miles off shore, as Captain Scott, in steamer Acadia, went in search of them, sailing around Cape Breton. Dense fog prevailed all the time, so that the cruiser could not see them. The Argonaut had only four men aboard, and dared not put in to ship more. The captain and crew say they were four miles from shore, but a strong current, setting toward land, carried them in shore. When the boats were seized they were outside the limit. They will refit and fish on the American shore, as they dare not go to the bay for fear of seizure. Both vessels are without fish.

A Social Time.

The Bay State Social club of Boston went to Worcester on a picnic, Aug. 4th, drank twenty barrels of beer, smashed all the dishes, and pounded each other all day. Nineteen arrests were made.

Mr. Cleveland sees nothing in the Kentucky election which ensures a second term.

Says the Portland Express: "To find the difference between theory and practice in the Cleveland administration, subtract what George William Curtis & Co. say from what Eugene Higgins & Co. do."

Says the New York Mail: "It is becoming more and more manifest that Mr. Cleveland is going into his campaign for a second term with that single-minded devotion to his own interests which has so far enabled him to forge steadily ahead of far abler and more experienced democratic statesmen. The preparations for a 'swinging around the circle' that is expected to surpass that of President Johnson, in its political and personal results, are going on with a zeal and energy heretofore not exhibited by Mr. Cleveland, and in utter defiance of the terrors of the continuing heat and humidity."

"Aphorisms of the Three Threes," by Edward Owings Towne. "The Three Threes is a social club of nine Chicago gentlemen, who dine together at stated intervals in a down-town restaurant. Meeting every ninth night after the first night of each and every of the nine months following the ninth month of the year, and seated in threes at three three-legged tables, these nine wise men of Chicago spend the evening in discussion. The drops which distill from their lips Mr. Towne has caught in his little book, to the number of one hundred and sixty-two."—Literary World.

The publishers are pleased to announce a second edition of the above work, carefully revised, and enlarged by the addition of between thirty and forty new aphorisms. Price in silk cloth, gilt top and side stamp, $1.00. For sale by leading book sellers, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the publishers, Charles H. Kerr & Co., No. 175 Dearborn street, Chicago.

Joel Mayes has been elected chief of the Cherokees, defeating Rabbit Bunch, the national-party candidate, by a small majority. Bunch was supported by Bushyhead. Mayes is one-quarter Indian, and is an able jurist.

Dignified Drunkards.

Some people get very dignified when they get drunk. He had been out, and it was somewhat late when he came into the restaurant with the crowd. He leaned back in his chair and made several ineffectual attempts to dust a dark coffee-stain from the white shirt-front that was a trifle wrinkled.

"What will you eat?" somebody asked him. He straightened himself out and looked dignified, not to say severe. Then he fixed his solitary eyeglass in his eye, and said, in measured tones:

"I do not—I do not feel in a condition to suggest anything original—but I am—I'm prepared to follow up any suggestions that may be offered."

I met a millionaire one evening coming down the street very unsteadily. He was walking very fast, but the night had been heavy and his numerous tacks made the block long and difficult to cover. I hailed him. He greeted me kindly. He looked at me for a moment.

"I am sorry, sorry to see you in this condition," he said.

"I am all right."

"Well, I am not. I know I am a trifle full——"

"That doesn't matter in you, you know. You're a man of wealth and position.'

"That," he said very seriously—"that did not occur to me."

Then he braced himself up and walked on with great dignity.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mineral Statistics.

The reports of the United States Geological Survey show a handsome gain in the production of coal, lead, and zinc, with a decrease in the yield of copper, for last last year, as compared with the one next preceding. The production of coal was 32,764,710 short tons of Pennsylvania anthracite and 70,985,734 tons of all other coal, including small quantities of anthracite mined in Arkansas and Colorado. The increase over 1885 was 1,785,881 tons, or a little more than 1½ per cent which, however, is somewhat less than the augment in population. The value at the mines is set down as about $4,420,000 less for last year on account of decline in price, which averaged not far from 9 per cent. The production of lead is given as 135,639 tons, against 129,412 in 1885, and of spelter 42,631 tons, against 40,688 the preceding year. In copper the domestic production was 156,373,521 pounds, against 155,875,766 in 1885. Of this total for last year the mines of Lake Superior contributed about one-half, showing a handsome gain, while there was a large falling off in the output from Arizona and Montana, due to the difficulty of competing with the product of the lake region. The consumption of copper by domestic manufacturers shows the phenomenal increase of nearly 23 per cent, much of which was due to the development of extraordinary activity among the wire drawers. The exports of copper for last year were 19,504,087 pounds.

A Cincinnati Jew owed a clothing firm in that city $50 for an overcoat, which he did not seem inclined to pay. An attorney induced him one day to take a Turkish bath, and while he was enjoying himself a constable came in and took all his clothes, not even leaving him his shirt-stud. After a three hours wait his brother brought him his old suit.

A cow whose owner had once refused $10,000 for it was recently sold to an Oil City (Pa.) butcher for $50.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite long-ened association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—"far from the madding crowd." To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Friday forenoon, about half-past ten o'clock, a telegram reached this city announcing that engineer Charles A. Green had been very seriously injured at Boston, and that he could not live. No particulars were given, and much anxiety was manifested by the friends of Mr. Green. He left this city at 7.30 o'clock as engineer of the Sea Shore express. We have since learned that he was running his engine into the engine house at Prison Point, and had left it to change a switch which would allow him to run in on the proper track. This operation was performed and he was returning to his machine when a Fitchburg train which he did not notice struck him. He was taken into the Fitchburg depot and afterwards to the Massachusetts hospital, where it was ascertained that two ribs were broken and one shoulder and his head badly bruised. The injuries are not of so serious a nature as at first supposed, and it is thought that Mr. Green will recover. His wife went to Boston in the afternoon to assist in caring for him. Mr. Green is one of the most efficient engineers on the road, and his misfortune is very much regretted.

SMALL CRAFT ADRIFT.

As Police Justice Batchelder was walking down town about half-past seven o'clock on Wednesday evening of this week, when on State street near the residence of Dr. Clark he noticed a small urchin apparently about two years old, trudging along unattended. Older children playing about could tell nothing concerning the youthful pedestrian, so the judge offered his hand to the little fellow, who accepted it at once with entire confidence, and went along to the city marshal's office, where the justice turned his find over to the marshal, with the requisite funds for the purchase of candy. The youngster, who could not tell his name or residence, accompanied the marshal on a candy-purchasing expedition, with the result of which he seemed perfectly satisfied; but nobody could give any information concerning the wanderer. After some time, when the child had begun to show symptoms of sleepiness, and the marshal was hopelessly engaged in trying to think out some plan by which he could work the baby back on the magistrate again, there was a sudden influx of people at the station owing to an arrest that had been made, and one of the newcomers recognized the child as belonging to a family living on Marlborough street, and in a very short time thereafter the waif was at his home. When the marshal looked in the glass afterward he noticed that his hair was gray.

DID NOT GET THE BOXES.

At the close of the balloting at the late election of member of Congress from this district, in November last, the several ward clerks in this city placed the ballots in tin boxes provided by the city, sealed them up according to the provisions of the law, and in due course they were forwarded to the secretary of state at Concord. Previous to the recent municipal election a request was sent the secretary for the return of the boxes, that the ward clerks might have them to use when needed; but the secretary returned answer that he was obliged to retain the ballots and had no authority to break the seals on the boxes, and in consequence an act of the legislature was required before he could send back the tin ware. Owing to this state of affairs the ward clerks had no boxes to use at the late election, and had to carry the ballots to the city rooms rolled up in old newspapers, and "sealed" by being tied up with pieces of string. The city will either have to get an act for the return of the boxes passed by the legislature, or establish a municipal tin-shop; or, failing both these alternatives, the ward clerks will have to depend on old newspapers as a protection to the purity of the ballot. We would hint to the aldermanic committee which will have charge of purchasing such material, that old papers can be bought at this office, price twenty-five cents per hundred.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, Call master, of this port, was at Augusta, Me., Aug. 5th, loaded with lumber for New York, and intended sailing on that date. Capt. Call reports himself better and better pleased with his new boat, she improving steadily on acquaintance. On her last trip from New York to Augusta she carried 348 tons of coal, at $1.06 per ton, when all Capt. Call could get for this port or Dover was $1.00; and at August, he can get a return freight, which is not to be had here.

The tug Cocheco, which was being built at Bath, Me., for C. H. Trickey & Co. of Dover, and which was burned recently in the large fire at that place, is being rapidly rebuilt. The frame work was all up on the 3d inst., and it will be but a short time before the boat is finished. The engine and all the machinery are of the latest design, and the boat when completed will be one of the best tug boats of her size in New England.

Schooner yacht Champion, Hutchings master, of Cape Neddick, sailed on Friday for her home port, at two o'clock P. M., from Steamboat wharf. She received a new anchor from George A. Trafton, the northend blacksmith, and loaded with 150 sacks of grain from Henry A. Yeaton for Currier & Talpey of Cape Neddick. She has been engaged this season in carrying passengers on excursions from the York beach hotels.

The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell was on Friday engaged to take out on Saturday from Rye, on a day's fishing excursion, a party of a dozen or more ladies and gentlemen summering at the hotels there. This yacht will take a party from this city to see the great yacht race off Marblehead about Aug. 12th, for the $1500 prize offered by the Eastern yacht club, and in which all the big sloops will take part; as only $1.50 will be charged for the round trip, she will probably have all the passengers Capt. Downe will care to take, such an opportunity of seeing the Puritan, Mayflower, Atlantic and Volunteer sail a race being a great attraction to yachting men.

The tug Ann is at work on the lower Piscataqua. She made several tows on Friday.

The run of the vessels of the New York yacht club from New London to Newport, was made on the 4th inst. in a light wind and smooth water, the new sloop Volunteer beating everything, the Puritan by about eight minutes, and the Mayflower by nearly an hour. On the 5th the great race for the Goelet cup was sailed off Newport, and a despatch to the Chronicle from Boston, about four o'clock in the afternoon, announced that the Volunteer won, beating the Puritan by about a mile, the Mayflower finishing third.

The North church bell and fire-alarm gong were both sounded once at about six o'clock Friday morning, owing to the breaking of a wire. The break was discovered and remedied during the forenoon by Supt. Trafton.

The work of improving the Saco river has only just begun under the last appropriation made for the project. Contracts were entered into late in June for dredging 214 cubic yards of rock and about 20,000 yards of sand from the channel. Work will begin about the middle of the present month. Owing to the flow of the river and the consequent damage to the channel it is recommended by the officer in charge of the work that the project be amended, which, if adopted, will require a total expenditure of $140,000, of which amount $50,000 is asked for next year. For the breakwater at the mouth of the Saco river a total of $27,500 was appropriated in the last two river and harbor bills. Of this amount $7475 remained unexpended on July 1st, but will be absorbed in paying for the work now going on. To re-enforce the breakwater now existing it is estimated that $61,340 will be required, and to complete the breakwater to Sharp's ledge, $220,000.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

The remains of Rev. Thomas Starr King were recently removed from the Unitarian church yard and put temporarily in a vault in the Masonic cemetery, San Francisco. They are inclosed in a sarcophagus made of two huge granite stones weighing more than four tons.

It is stated that the mayor-elect has already promised to have the sidewalk in front of the Rundlett mansion relaid.

Charles Bowden has completed his nice new cottage at Cape Neddick. It is understood that he may let it for another season, to summer boarders. Mr. Bowden has been quite industrious this season, and besides making a good crop on his well cultivated farm has mostly by his own labor got in seven tons of well-cured hay.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and no wonder that my wife and children were afraid of me. You just want to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and my wife says I am as meek as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

It is announced that the supreme court of Illinois has decided that the condemned anarchists must be hanged. The decision will not be officially promulgated until next month.

We Caution All Against Them.

The unprecedent success and merit of Ely's Cream Balm—a real cure for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head—has induced many adventurers to place catarrh medicines bearing some resemblance in appearance, style or name upon the market, in order to trade upon the reputation of Ely's Cream Balm. Many in your immediate locality will testify in highest commendation of it. A particle is implied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents.

A Pittsburg, Pa., dispatch to the New York Post says that great excitement has been caused in coal and gas circles there by the announcement that a careful investigation of the Murraysville gas field shows that it is rapidly becoming exhausted.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price twenty-five cents. Try them.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR
Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.
Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.
For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

A Perilous Postponement.

To postpone, when the duty for immediate action is clear, is always unwise. Especially is it so when increasing ill health calls for a resort to medication. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder are often of swift growth—always of fatal tendency if not combatted at the outset. We have all—even those of us who are not remarkably well instructed—heard something of the danger attending Bright's disease, diabetes, and other diseases of the kidneys or bladder. Let no one be foolhardy enough to procrastinate if he perceives the renal organs to be inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are peculiarly adapted to overcome this inaction, to sufficiently stimulate, without exciting the kidneys and bladder. Infinitely is this diuretic to be preferred to the impure and fiery stimulants of commerce, which prove the bane of unwary persons with a tendency to renal troubles. They are likewise incomparable for dyspepsia, fever and ague, and billiousness.

—A photographer has succeeded in taking an instantaneous picture of the flight of a curved ball thrown by a $10,000 pitcher. It is said to resemble a procession of inebriated corkscrews.

Impurities of the blood often cause great annoyance at this season; Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and cures all such affections.

—It is said that the next edition of Webster will describe "yearning" as "the feeling which eastern people have to get away from Dakota after passing one winter in that region."

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabrics without injury. Sold by grocers.

—A little Methodist girl attended a wedding in an Episcopal church, and when she went home asked her mamma: "Why did the man in the nightgown ask if he would promise to love cherries?"

If you are tired taking the large old-fashion griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good common sense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from biliousness, headache, constipation, and all liver troubles. These little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any pill in use. One a dose. Price twenty-five cents.

The Results of Emancipation.

The negro who was a slave was not lost to the south by the emancipation proclamation. That document did not destroy $400,000,000 in property; it simply changed the ownership from the master to the man. Confiscation of the land would not have destroyed the land, nor would the land be lost to the south. Houses burned, fences destroyed, crops carried off or consumed—all this was a loss of wealth—but emancipation was only changing the ownership of the slaves from the white man to the black. As a matter of fact, it was not a "loss" to "the south," though it was a loss to the former owner.

What the south lost by the war and what it lost by emancipation are matters entirely different. War is a destructive agent, but emancipation is not so, as far as the public or the state is concerned. Emancipation disturbed for awhile the labor system of the south, and for a time it prevented labor reaching its full productive power, but that was all.

It is no longer possible to assess and tax the negro as property, but he exists as he did before emancipation, and just so far as he is industrious he is worth to the public as much now as then. The cotton production of the southern states under free labor has certainly kept pace with the growing population. The population has increased more than 50 per cent.; the cotton crop for the ten years ending 1861 averaged 3,499,400 bales; for the ten years ending with the crop of 1886 it averaged 5,707,600, or say 60 per cent. more. In addition, other agricultural products have greatly exceeded this increase. So we see that whatever may have been the loss to the master, or whatever the new burdens imposed on the slave by emancipation, there has been no loss to society, no impairment of its productive capacity.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is understood that the Oil Producers' Protective association has decided to wage a lively war against the Standard Trust company, and it is probable that early in September the Pennsylvania oil country will witness the first shutdown it has ever had.

BABY HUMORS

Our little son will be four years of age on the 25th inst. In May, 1885, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches, and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the terrible malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. RYAN,

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn period of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the keenest pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelope the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives and simply procrastinated sufferings, tending to a fatal termination. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1 60.

A BATTERY DRILL.

How the Cadets at West Point Pass Their Vacation—Hard Work the Rule.

Of all the drills and exercises in which the cadet excels he is at his best in those of the mounted service. Daring horsemen are the youngsters after two years' practice in the riding hall, and light battery drill is a famous place for exhibition. Watch the boys as they go to their stations. The seniors, in their riding dress, gauntlets, and cavalry sabres, swing easily into the saddles of the somewhat vicious-looking steeds that are held in readiness for them, adjust their stirrups, take a preliminary and surreptitious dig with their spurred heels to test the mettle of their nags, then clatter off to their posts to look over the horses and drivers of their detachments. The yearlings in their natty shell jackets stand ready at the guns; the bugle blares the signal, "cannoneers mount," and, like so many agile monkeys, they spring to their seats on the ammunition chests, and with another bugle blast, and rumble of hoof and wheel and clink of trunnion, away goes the battery down the gravelly plain. There are a few preliminary moves to warm them up to their work; the battery commander, a young artillery officer who knows his trade, swings them to and fro, faster and faster, from one formation to another—column, line, and battery—and then, as though ordered to check the advance of an enemy swarming up the heights and give him canister at short range, with cracking whips and plunging steeds and rattle and roar of hoof and wheel, and hoarse-throated commands and stirring bugle-peals, up the plain they come at tearing gallop until opposite the crowd of spectators at the guard tents, where there is a short, sudden blast, a simultaneous shout from the "chiefs," a vision of rearing horses as the lieutenants and sergeants halt short on line with the brilliant guidon—generally the most picturesque horseman of the warlike throng, and always posted on the flank nearest the ladies—a flash of sabres in the air, a sudden "rein in" of the line of caissons, and gradual settle down to a stand, long before which, nimble as cats, the cannoneers have sprung from their seats, and are streaking it across the gap to where the chiefs are seated on their excited chargers. Around sweep the guns with sudden swirl that well nigh capsizes them—the three youngsters on each limber seemingly changing on as though seated on sticking plasters—there is a rattle and bank of pintle-hooks, hoarse shouts of "Drive on" to the gun teams; gray and white forms leap and sway in and out among the wheels; sponges and rammers whirl in air; there is a belch of flame, smoke, and thunder-cloud, a bellowing roar; another, another—half a dozen in quick succession; a thick, sulphurous haze settles down on the plain and envelops guns and gunners; and suddenly comes another blare of bugle. "Cease firing" is the shout, and the mimic scene of Buena Vista is over. Even before the smoke has cleared away another order is given, with prompt, exciting response, plunging horses, cracking whips, a rush of teams, limbers, and caissons between the black muzzles of the guns; a sudden whirl about of wheels and handspikes, and the next moment smoke and flame are belching in thunder-claps over the very ground where stood the waiting teams only a moment before. Then comes still another signal, a stowing away of handspikes and rammers, a rapid rein-about of the limber-teams, another blare, and away they go, the white legs of the cannoneers flashing in a race beside their bounding guns; a rush across the road to the edge of the grassy level beyond, and another sudden whirl into battery, a thundering salute to the rocky heights to the west, an echoing roar from the great columbiads and Parrotts at the "seacoast" down by the Hudson, and the Point fairly trembles with the shock and concussion. There is no hour of the day to match the excitement and clan of that of battery drill.—Captain Charles King, in Harper's Magazine.

About Watches.

"A first-class watch should last for a hundred years, if properly taken care of," said a well-known watchmaker to a reporter.

"The reason that they wear out is the fault of the owner and not of the watch. In the first place, a watch should be cleaned and oiled once in every eighteen months. If this is not done the oil which lubricates the works will dry and the works wear out by friction. Another mistake is to wear a watch in an outside pocket where it is liable to be jammed. I have known more watches ruined by billiard-playing than anything else. In leaning over to make a long shot the vest pocket is frequently brought in violent contact with the table, and this repeated jarring cannot fail to injure the works. The best watches are made to-day in England. They are masterpieces of workmanship. I should say that the American watch ranks next, and those manufactured in Switzerland third in order. Some watches are made to run eight days with one winding, but they will never become popular. Their owners almost always forget to wind them up on the eighth day. I know of only one or two in this country. They are made in Switzerland. The usual length of time modern watches are calculated to run with one winding is from thirty to thirty-six hours."—New York Mail and Express.

A GAS OPERATION.

The Manchester Gaslight company, whose board of directors is made up of such experienced financiers as Moody Currier, Nathan Parker, Daniel Clark, Geo. B. Chandler, etc., recently had a peculiar experience. The directors on perusing the Union one morning at their breakfast tables, were surprised to notice that a new gas corporation had been formed in the city the day before, and that on the evening of the same day the city councils had "railroaded" permission to dig the streets for pipes. A lot of land hard by the old company was bought and paid for, and men were set to work to dig foundations for needed buildings. Here was a pretty how d'ye do; the territory of the best company in the state invaded by a set of young and active rivals!

The senior members of the board again fix their nose-pinchers, and give the startling intelligence a second reading. It is difficult to estimate which preponderates—amazement at the assurance of Lon Elliott and his associates in coming into a field so ripe for the harvest, or apprehension as to the effect of their raid upon the heretofore unchecked prosperity of the old company.

Mr. Chandler took in the situation at once. He has a mind which can grasp a question upon an emergency. The next incident of importance in this move was a lunch at Young's hotel in Boston. The sundries in the bill will appear in the report as material for illuminating power. The young steers leased of the old oxen their plant, the capital of which is small, at thirty-two per cent per year interest, with a contract to keep the price of gas so reasonably small that no one in Manchester complains of either its price or quality. The result was peace, plenty, and happiness in the old board. The stock of the company is in demand at five hundred per cent, being far above the fabulous price of Concord railroad shares. The citizens and corporation have good gas, at moderate prices, and contentment and satisfaction reign all around Derryfield.

The progressive young blood is looking around for new fields of enterprise. One of our citizens who was in Manchester last week, was interviewed by the leading spirit of this enterprise as to the chance of a corporation with a small capital succeeding in Portsmouth with an electric plant attached. The Portsmouth gentleman informed the enthusiastic projector of new companies that the difference between piping a town like Manchester, where the digging is through sand banks, and forcing a way through the solid ledge beneath the streets of Portsmouth, was a matter to be considered, while the prospect of better gas at lower rates would of course be gladly welcomed by consumers in this city.

The enterprising operators are coming here to take a look at the situation. Perhaps the directors of the Portsmouth company may invite them to an informal lunch at the Wentworth.

MARITIME NOTES.

Schooner Anna Simpson, 169 tons, has been chartered to take from Bay Chaleur, P. Q., to this port, Portland or Boston, a cargo of sleepers at 14 1-2 cents each.

The new sloop Volunteer by her performances of last week indicated that she is superior to either the Mayflower or Puritan, having beaten them both, in a light wind and in a good sailing breeze. The race for the Goelet cups, off Newport, was sailed in a fine breeze, and the Volunteer beat the Mayflower over nine minutes, the Atlantic nearly eleven, and the Puritan thirteen, actual sailing time. The Sachem, another yacht of Burgess' designing, took the prize for schooners.

The American fishing schooner J. H. Perkins was detained by the collector of Souris, Prince Edward island, on the 5th inst., on a charge of having shipped five men at that port on the 30th of July. The captain asserts that the men came off to the schooner when she was more than three miles from shore, in accordance with arrangements made by mail; but two of the men told the collector that they boarded the schooner when she was not over two miles from shore.

The brig Arcot, from Philadelphia, and the schooner M. C. Hart, from Port Johnson, both with coal to E. F. Sise & Co., arrived at this port on the 5th inst. Two British schooners with ties to the Boston & Maine railroad arrived from the British provinces on the same date.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 6th.

Mr. Editor: The electric light at the junction of Vaughan and Deer streets, has not been lighted for the past three nights. It is an important light, and if there is anything wrong about it, it should be attended to at once. Last evening a hack going to the railroad station, on turning into Deer street was very nearly in collision with a buggy going in the other direction, and containing a young man and young woman. The horse drawing the buggy did strike one of the back horses, and the young man had to drive his horse on the sidewalk to get clear, when the animal slipped and fell. No serious harm was done, but it was a narrow escape from what might have been a bad accident, caused solely by the lack of light. The city has to pay for these lights, and they should not be allowed to be neglected. LEDGER.

A regular police officer is needed on Christian Shore, and another at the Creek, from early in the evening to two or three o'clock in the morning, independent of the regular patrol; the officers for these stations should be first-class men, energetic and fearless but judicious withal, and should have no other duty to attend to. We give this as a hint to the new city government.

Very few people, either farmers or beach sojourners, were in town on Saturday. The farmers are busy with the summer's work, and the weather was not such as to tempt the idlers to drive any distance.

Mr. August Hett's horse slipped and fell at the corner or Fleet and Hanover streets, Saturday morning about eight o'clock, breaking one of the shafts of his fine new job-wagon. The men on one the city teams, which was passing at the time, jumped from their cart and sat on the prostrate horse with great zeal and vigor until the harness was cast adrift and the wagon hauled clear.

The U. S. S. Atlanta, Capt. Bunce, arrived at Gloucester on the 5th inst. The ship is expected to remain at Gloucester for a few days, and then come to this station.

Rear Adm. Thomas T. Craven, U. S. N., retired, is at the Boston navy yard visiting his daughter, the wife of Comdr. E. C. Merriman, and his son, Civil Engineer Henry S. Craven of the navy, now on duty at that yard.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

For Vacation Time

At Mountain, Lake or Sea-Shore,

A good supply of music is indispensable. At every resort there are people who, by quite long-established association, become a jolly circle of acquaintances—a little community by themselves—far from the madding crowd. To such, music is always acceptable; and finds many who are willing to assist in a glee or chorus; and there are often good solo voices. The piano, too, finds some one ready to touch its responsive keys; and there is no difficulty, in most cases, in getting up an enjoyable little musicale.

YORK HARBOR & BEACH RAILROAD.

The York Harbor & Beach railroad opens for traffic this (Monday) morning, with five passenger trains each way daily, the official time-table of which can be found in another column. The section of the line between the York Beach and Union Bluff stations not being finished, the trains will for the present stop at York Beach on the outward trip. Seabury station, (Brave Boat Harbor,) is a flag station. Engine No. 157 has been assigned for this road by the Boston & Maine management, and a new combination car (baggage and passenger) arrived at the station in this city last Friday for running on the new line. John Small of Portland is conductor, and Daniel Neal of this city baggage-master. The entire length of the road, from Kittery Depot to Union Bluff, is given as 11.2 miles. The ball-signal at the draw of the Portsmouth bridge has been discontinued, a mast-signal having been established near the Kittery station.

The fares from this city will be as follows: To Kittery, ten cents; Kittery Point, twenty-five cents; Seabury, forty cents; York Harbor, forty-five cents; York Beach, fifty-five cents; Union Bluff, sixty-five cents.

THE LAWN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Wright & Ditson's sixth annual lawn tennis tournament was held at the Wentworth, Newcastle, last week, commencing on Tuesday and finishing on Friday evening. The entries of players numbered thirty-five in the singles and thirteen in the doubles, and included many of the most noted lawn tennis experts in the country. The prizes for singles were, first, a silver water pitcher valued at $100; second, silver water set, pitcher, goblet and salver, valued at $75. In doubles, first prize, two cut glass decanters with silver mountings, valued at $75 each; second, two very beautiful vases, valued at $50 each.

The weather during the continuance of the tournament was generally favorable, and the attendance from other beach resorts was large; much of the playing was very brilliant, and great interest was evinced by the admirers of the game. The contest at the close of play on Thursday evening had narrowed down, for first prizes, to F. W. Slocum, Jr., and P. S. Sears, in singles, and G. M. Brinley and J. S. Clark against L. E. Paddock and A. E. Wright, in doubles.

The first match on Friday was the deciding one in doubles, which Brinley and Clark won. Slocum then defeated Sears, and took the first prize in singles. The second prize in doubles was won by Wright and Paddock, and the second prize in singles by F. S. Mansfield. The presentation of prizes took place in the evening at the Wentworth, and was followed by a hop. The tournament as a whole was the most successful one ever held on the Wentworth grounds.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

The thunder storm of Saturday was heavy in town, but was heavier on the water. The rain poured in torrents, and the thunder and lightning were simultaneous. As the steamer Oceanic was making her landing at Star island, Isles of Shoals, on her noon trip from this city, a schooner in close proximity was struck on both fore and mainmasts, and her maintopmast shattered. The schooner left before our reporter could get her name, but it was reported that she was the Alert of Gloucester, owned by D. C. & H. Babson.

ENGINEER GREEN'S MISHAP.

The accident to Engineer Charles A. Green of this city, in Boston last Friday, we are glad to announce will not only not terminate fatally, but will probably not retire him from active service. He was engaged in switching his engine on a turntable, near where three tracks of the Fitchburg railroad cross two tracks of the Boston & Maine eastern division at Prison Point, his fireman, Mr. Wm. E. Winn, being on the locomotive; and stepping from one track of the Fitchburg road to avoid an inward-bound freight train, was struck by an engine running the same way on another track, with no cars attached. The engine struck him on the right side, and threw him upon the third Fitchburg track, he striking upon his head. One of his collar bones was broken, and he was badly shaken up by the shock, being a heavy man; but no ribs were broken, as first reported, and he was not injured internally, as was feared. His son, Mr. Charles F. Green, goes to Boston this (Monday) morning to accompany him home, and it is expected that he will shortly be in a condition to resume his duties on the road. In the meantime his engine will be run by Mr. James A. Corey, who has been running the locomotive Cocheco on the Portsmouth & Dover branch.

We should think the Boston & Maine railroad could afford to employ men to attend to their switches, instead of having engineers or firemen compelled to leave their machines to perform that duty.

THE LANE FAMILY.

The descendants of William Lane of Hampton will hold a reunion in the Congregational church in that town on Wednesday, Aug. 31st, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, to perfect plans already in course of advancement to erect a suitable monument at the resting place of their worthy ancestor; also to gather items of history to be preserved, and to cultivate an extended acquaintance among the kin. The townspeople will kindly provide entertainment for the visitors of the day. Speaking by several members of the family, or connected with it by marriage, has been provided for. It is hoped that all who have pride in their connection with the family will contribute by their presence to the interest of the occasion. J. G. L., SECRETARY.

PERSONAL.

Ex-Congressman J. G. Hall, of Dover, was at the Sea View, Rye, last week.

Mrs. Richard I. Walden and daughter are passing a season with friends in Manchester.

Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., preached in the Union chapel at Little Boar's Head on Sunday.

Marshal Field, the dry goods millionaire of Chicago, was at Senator David Jenness' in Rye on Saturday.

Mrs. Gallingher, wife of Congressman J. H. Gallingher, with her son and daughter, are at the Sea View, Rye.

Mrs. George A. Munroe of Everett, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dame, on Richards avenue.

Henry Carr and family of Milwaukee, Wis., and S. T. Benjamin of Brooklyn, N. Y., are in this city for a stop of several weeks at the Carr homestead on Islington street.

Morris Filleman, wife and child, of Louisville, Kentucky, and Morris Green, for ten years past a resident of Cincinnati, are visiting at Ephraim Green's on Howard street.

Mr. Samuel Pasco, United States senator-elect from Florida, is with his wife visiting in Newington, where they are the guests of Valentine M. Coleman and wife. Mr. Pasco was the school-teacher in Newington during the winter term in 1857.

CHRIST'S BAPTISM.

He shall baptize you with the holy spirit and with fire.—Matthew 3, 11. This was the text in the Pleasant street church yesterday.

There are, in Christ's life, great truths and deep spiritual feelings illustrated. Religion to-day seeks to remove its worship from the illustration to the spiritual truth which it covers. John the Baptist in an undefined religious ecstacy is immersing people in the Jordan. He feels the coming change, and like John Brown, he takes very pronounced steps in preparation. Jesus comes, and sees the appropriateness of the symbol John is using, and is immersed in the Jordan. The Frontispiece to the Life of Christ is now complete. But ever afterward, as John did even at this time, did he preach and live a spiritual baptism. The picture was finished forever.

The baptism of holy spirit and fire is constant and eternal. We are enjoined not especially to sprinkle or immerse, or to use water anyway; but to disciple all nations, baptising them into (sic) the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Baptism is thus a cleansing of soul through the power of fire, which means trial, accepted as from God with a holy spirit.

The little events of life are sometimes fiery. Accept them with a holy spirit, and Christ's example is followed and his life and preaching fulfilled. The nature of soul is more than the quantity of water.

Just before the steamer Oceanic left for the Shoals on her last trip Saturday afternoon, a number of hack-loads of passengers drove on the wharf, but Capt. Robinson announced that there was no use in any one going out, as there was absolutely no room left for guests at the hotels on either Appledore or Star islands, every possible facility for accommodating patrons being already untilized. The disappointed would-be islanders secured quarters at the Rockingham, where parties unable to get accommodations at the Wentworth also found asylum every night during the latter part of the week.

Mr. Charles A. Canney has superceded Mr. Thomas Quinn as driver of one of the city's single teams, and also as driver of the hose carriage of fire engine No. 3.

There were three parties camping out on the Dow farm, Rye, on Sunday, namely: A party of fifteen from Watertown, Mass., whose tent was pitched close to the Dow house; a party of three men from Barrington, with a tent near the Russell cottage; and a party of three young men from this city, with a tent near Seal rocks. Two parties went down in barges from this city on Sunday, for picnicking at that point.

A party consisting of half a dozen young men of Newburyport leave that city this morning going via Alton Bay to the Weirs, where they take a boat which was shipped last week by rail, and pull down the Winnipesaukie and Merrimac rivers to Newburyport. They will have frequent portages around the falls to make between Lake Village and Lowell, but this is a part of the fun.

The Boston Budget says the Parker house "has the good sense to paint its dining room a light color." Boston continues to be the intellectual tower of this continent, where even the hotels have good sense.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Ladies will find a very complete line of new Ruchings, nearly a hundred different kinds, from the cheapest to the finest quality, at Lewis E. Staples' small ware department. Also Collars and Cuffs of latest styles.

A caucus of the democratic members-elect—which includes all the members-elect—of the city councils is called to meet in the common council room this (Monday) evening, to nominate candidates for the various city offices for 1887-88. Some of the aldermen report that there are at least fifteen candidates for each office in the gift of the dominant party; also that there will be some changes, but not so many as the "outs" would like.

Joseph Caswell was in from Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, on Saturday, and went out again on Sunday morning in his dory with coal and supplies. He reported the hotels at the islands crowded with company, but that fish around the islands have been very scarce, and the fishermen have thus far had a very poor season.

The government property at the navy landing, foot of Daniel street, is being repainted, under the supervision of Carpenter Henry R. Philbrick, U. S. N.

The sheers at the navy yard have been surveyed and found in an unfit condition for use, and will be repaired.

A Friend in Need.

With what alacrity SANFORD'S GINGER responds to the cry of distress. No cramp or pain has ever made a demand upon it for relief or cure that has not met with instant response.

It is a delicious combination of Imported Ginger, Cloves, Aromatics, and French Brandy, totally unlike and vastly superior to all other "ginger," pain cures and nauseating nostrums.

Unripe food, impure water, unhealthy climate, unwholesome food, Malaria, Epidemic and Contagious Diseases, Cholera Morbus, Cramps, Pains, Indigestion, Colds, Chills, Simple Fevers, Exhaustion, Nervousness or Loss of Sleep, that beset the traveller or household at this season, are nothing to those protected by SANFORD'S GINGER.

Avoid cheap and dangerous imitations said to be "the same," or "as good," or "cheaper" than

— FOR —
INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.
A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh. Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

Worth More.

An old-fashioned chap, who keeps a little drug store in Cleveland, had about two dozen bottles of Hood's sarsaparilla on hand in April, and one morning a drummer, who had been posted by the boys, entered the store and said:

"See here. I am a man who goes straight to business. I'll give you a dollar and a half a bottle for that sarsaparilla."

"Dollar and a half!"

"Well, say two dollars."

The old man turned white as death, lost his voice for a minute, and then hoarsely whispered:

"You can't have it. War's broke out somewhere, and Hood's sarsaparilla is worth two and a half."

New York police think that Mooney, the man who attempted to burn the steamship Queen, is the same person who tried to blow up the Old Dominion line steamer Guyandotte, and to burn the Morgan line pier.

Captain Byron Wilson has been detached from the Mare Island navy yard, and ordered to command the Brooklyn.

If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic; either one renders you miserable, and these little pills cure both.

Captain E. O. Matthews has been detached from command of the Brooklyn, and ordered to return home and report arrival.

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

A Twenty Years' Experience.

750 Broadway, N. Y., March 17, 1886.

I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters for twenty years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back Allcock's Porous Plasters fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, croupy coughs, colds, pains in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaints.
C. D. FREDERICKS.

—Chicago is a poor place to make money. They arrested one fellow last week for simply making half dollars.

—A small negro boy who attends Sunday-school at Buffalo, when he got up to repeat the verse, "It is I, be not afraid," conveyed the idea correctly, but by a rather free rendering, "It's me, don't be scar't."

—"What is this?" thundered the chairman; "here is a newspaper report of an Anarchist washed ashore." Who has broken the rules of this order?" "He was dead," said a member rising, "or he would never have submitted."

—Young Ted Castle: "Quite a lot of girls smiled at me on my way day down the avenue just now, Jack; chawming girls they were, too." Jack: "I don't wonder they smiled, Teddy. Your necktie is way around under your ear."

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, Aug. 8th.

The store of Joshua A. Lane, Esq., was broken into a few nights since by thieves who were evidently acquainted with the premises. They robbed the money drawers and made some minor thefts, but did not attempt to force the safe, as professional burglars would doubtless have done. Mr. Lane is treasurer of the town, but like all prominent and prudent men keeps a bank account, and deposits.

Saturday morning a horse became restive near the railroad crossing at the post-office, and the carraige was overturned and wrecked, and a lady quite badly injured.

E. P. Young, Esq., who was recently thrown from his carriage, fracturing several bones, has so far recovered as to be able to attend to business.

The up-town summer boarding houses are well patronized. Mr. Harrison Hobbs and Mr. Horace Hobbs have houses full to overflowing. De Lancey Place is crowded, and also rented rooms in adjacent houses filled with friends and guests of former years.

The Congregational church was filled with a brilliant summer audience on Sabbath morning. The altar was adorned in elegant taste with cut flowers, and the presence of the late pastor, Rev. Mr. Fay, was an additional attraction and gratification. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Ross, preached a very able sermon, critically discriminating between moral culture and salvatory grace. The newly organized choir and organist discoursed entertaining bymnology.

A new board of police has been appointed, ostensibly, it is supposed, to enforce the laws, with especial reference to the moral and social quietude of the borough, as the town voted at the last annual meeting to instruct the legal officials to prosecute violators of the Sunday and liquor statutes. Some of the officers visited the saloon centres at the beaches, but with what intent or result we ken not; but we are glad to say that we had an unusually quiet Sabbath, notwithstanding the immense crowds at the sea. It has been whispered that certain rum-sellers, who have long been persistent, determined and unscrupulous rebels against law, good order and the social and moral welfare of the community, in the auld lang syne of the past years not long remote, have been very polite and happy to receive official visits from our local constabulary (Sheriff Kent excepted,) with urbane and generous hospitality; but of this, "this deponent affirms not," as there were no reports filed of arrests, enforements or prosecutions. **

A Perilous Postponement.

To postpone, when the duty for immediate action is clear, is always unwise. Especially is it so when increasing ill health calls for a resort to medication. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder are often of swift growth—always of fatal tendency if not combatted at the outset. We have all—even those of us who are not remarkably well instructed—heard something of the danger attending Bright's disease, diabetes, and other diseases of the kidneys or bladder. Let no one be foolhardy enough to procrastinate if he perceives the renal organs to be inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are peculiarly adapted to overcome this inaction, to sufficiently stimulate, without exciting the kidneys and bladder. Infinitely is this diuretic to be preferred to the impure and fiery stimulants of commerce, which prove the bane of unwary persons with a tendency to renal troubles. They are likewise incomparable for dyspepsia, fever and ague, and billiousness.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashion griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good common sense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from biliousness, headache, constipation, and all liver troubles. These little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any pill in use. One a dose. Price twenty-five cents.

Monday afternoon of last week, while workmen were engaged in taking off the planks from Durham bridge, in Newmarket, as the supports were taken away a large part of the abutment on the north side caved in, and the timbers fell into the river. Three men were working on the bridge, but fortunately had time to reach solid earth before the abutment went. This will necessitate the rebuilding of the abutments on both sides of the river, and workmen are now engaged in removing the old stones. It will probably be two or three months before the bridge will be open to travel, and in the meantime parties from Durham or Dover going to South Newmarket or Exeter, and vice versa, will have to go by the way of Packer's Falls.

What a Pity

That so many otherwise attractive, polite, and particular people afflict their friends by the foul and disagreeable odor of their breath; it is mainly caused by disordered digestion, and can be corrected by removing the cause, by using that pure medicine, Sulphur Bitters.—Health Magazine.

THREE MEN TELL WHAT THEY KNOW

The First Considers it a Scientific Miracle—The Second Says the Results are Beyond Dispute—The Third Alleges That it Quenched the Fires of Fever.

Chaplain Hall, of the Albany Penitentiary, writes as follows of the cure of his wife of Nervous Dyspepsia and Prostration, and Malaria:

"Under the Kaskine treatment all the dyspeptic symptoms showed instant improvement, and the daily fever grew less and soon ceased altogether. Side by side these diseases vanished, as side by side they had tortured their victim for ten years—the Dyspepsia alone having, as I have said, existed for twenty years. Her appetite improved from week to week until she could eat and digest the average food that any well person takes, without any suffering or inconvenience. With renewed assimilation of food came, of course, a steady increase in flesh, until she now looks like her original self. She still takes Kaskine occasionally, but with no real need of it, for she is well. I consider this result a scientific miracle, and the "New Quinine" is entitled to the credit of it, for from the time she began with Kaskine she used no other medicine whatever."

Under date of December, 1886, Mr. David J. Norton of Albany, N. Y., writes of his cure of chronic Intermittent Malarial Fever:

"Now I come to the real cure and to the end of my story. In the summer of 1886 I first heard of Kaskine. I was struck with its being called "the new quinine" and the high claims made for it. I didn't believe a syllable of them. Neither would you—in my place. Still there was a chance, and to a chronically sick man any chance is worth taking. "It can't hurt me," I said; "I'll try it." I did try it. To my astonishment and gratification I soon began to improve. Clearly I was getting better. As I continued with Kaskine I seemed to feel the malaria going out of me and health coming back. It was a genuine, scientific healing—not one poison temporarily disguising another. The uric acid with which my system was charged was presently expelled, and my stiffened joints became pliant as before I was ever in the Michigan fogs and miasmas. The indigestion also disappeared, my bowels grew regular, my head clear, my nerves steady, and restful sleep returned. I am now permanently well; have never had any return of malaria—nor any sign of it. Results so real cannot be disputed, and I may fairly attribute them to Kaskine, because, after beginning with it, I took no other medicine.

We quote from Mr. C. I. Titus' account of the recovery of his wife from General Debility and Malaria.

"In the summer of 1886 a friend who had experienced great and happy relief from Kaskine—the New Quinine—said to me, "Why don't you try it for Mrs. Titus?" "I will," I replied. I can hardly convey to you in words the pleasure and surprise we felt at the change for the better wrought by that efficient and potent medicine. It came as the summer dawn comes, stealing noiselessly upon our sight. The disease was rebuked as from a Power that speaks by authority; the system gave clear signs of the approach of health; the appetite improved; food was more rapidly assimilated; and Nature proceeded to rebuild the wasted tissues and to heal the hurt vitality. A delicate, nervous organization righted itself; the fires of fever went out as Kaskine destroyed the germs which fed them; the digestive processes became more active and natural, and all this was accomplished so rapidly that the waste of over six years was virtually repaired in six months.

As a people we live fast. We are overworked and overworried, so that old age comes upon us while we are yet young in years. We pass sleepless nights, or with a sleep that gives no rest. This is nervous exhaustion. We need a tonic that will restore the brain and nervous system to its natural condition, bringing back youth and vigor. The new quinine, called Kaskine, is the most powerful tonic known, and yet it can be borne by the most delicate stomach, and is admirably adapted to feeble and debilitated females. It removes that tired and depressed feeling, gives a good appetite, makes us feel strong and healthy, and imparts refreshing sleep to the languid and weary.

The full text of the letters from which the above extracts are taken can be obtained by calling upon or addressing The Kaskine Company, 54 Warren street New York, and 25 Farringdon Road, London.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Some Useful Knowledge.

To remove ink stains: Ink stains are very easily removed if put immediately in milk and slightly rubbed for a few minutes. If allowed to dry they are not so easily removed, but can be, by a little more effort.

To remove blood stains: Blood stains can easily be removed, from an article that you do not care to wash by applying a thick paste, made of starch and cold water. Place in the sun, and rub off in a couple of hours. If the stain is not entirely removed, repeat the process and soon it disappears.

To remove fruit stains: Hold the goods stained over a vessel in such a way that pouring boiling hot water on the opposite side of the stain it will run through the goods, and in a short time the stain will be seen to disappear.

To remove mildew: Soak and wash the spots in sour milk and you will have no trouble in removing the same.

To remove iron rust: Place a bright tin, pour a kettle steaming with boil-boiling water. Moisten the goods with water and hold the iron-rust spots closely to the tin and rub them with oxalic acid. As soon as you see the rust disappear, rinse in cold water to remove the acid, as it tends to rot the goods, but if the process is performed quickly there is no danger of this.

To wash cotton goods: To wash cotton goods containing a black figure, pour boiling suds on the goods and let stand for a few minutes. This sets the color, and when neatly washed and ironed, instead of a faded garment, you have one as bright and fresh as when first made.

Ginghams and prints of various colors will hold their color better if washed in water thickened with flour starch. Flour is very cleansing and will dry the work of soap, without injury to bright colors, in one or two washings.

To clean lace: Fill a bottle with cold water; draw a stocking tightly over it, securing both ends firmly. Place the lace smoothly over the stocking and tack closely. Put the bottle in a kettle of cold water containing a few shavings of soap, and place over the fire to boil. Rinse in several waters and then drain and dry. When dry remove and place smoothly in a large book and press with weights. Very nice lace can be made to look like new by this process.

Care of silk: Never use a brush; it injures the goods. Instead wipe carefully with the face of a soft piece of velvet. Shake the velvet occasionally and wipe between every plait if you would preserve your garment and have it retain its new look.—Good Housekeeping.

Marketing in Honduras.

Queer markets are these. In the shade, on two sides of the plazas, and on the edge of the veranda of the cabildo (or town hall), squat the dames who sell the various articles of daily use, as they do also under the veranda of the government building and on the shady side of one or two blocks near by. Many have their wares in shallow baskets; some have tables on which to display their goods; others array their stock on the sides of upturned goods boxes, and there are yet others who have little stalls rented from the authorities. In these, on shelves and short boards that answer as a counter, are the stores of cheap stationery, school books, threads, brass jewelry, and the thousand and one things made by men who have more regard for their purses than they have for honesty or honor, for sale to guileless natives of a foreign land. When one buys rice or corn, frijole or cheese, manteca for meat, or anything that is sold by weight, a stone is put into one scale, and enough of the commodity sold into the other to balance. In the more pretentious stores regular scales and weights are used; but it does not appear that the native buyers are better satisfied with these than they are with the simpler weights, which have the advantage of serving at once as a gauge of the quantity of the goods transferred and of the conscience of the seller.

The meat markets are on the edge of the high and steep bank of the Rio Grande, just below the antique bridge of ten brick arches. In these markets hang the quarters of the bullocks slaughtered under an octagonal roof of tile on the lower bank of the river, at the foot of the paved hill. When a customer appears, she or he points out the part from which a piece is wanted, and the obliging dealer cuts out a chunk of the desired size. This he throws into one scale, and into the other puts the stone or other weight he uses, and receives his pay for the meat—if he does not instead receive a very plain and decided criticism of his honesty and liberality, or utter lack of both.—E. W. Perry, in Good Housekeeping.

A Boy's Idea of a Thunder Storm.

A little boy about four years old, living in a New Jersey town, ran to the window one evening lately during a heavy thunder storm. As he looked out, long, glittering lines of forked, zigzag lightning ran across the black sky, then came a broad flash, lighting up all the west and northwest. "Oh, mamma! mamma!" sobbed the little fellow, "God's house is all on fire! Will he be burned up in it?"

A few moments after, hearing the rain pouring in torrents, he ran to her, crying, exultantly: "Mamma! mamma! God has turned on his hose. Now his house won't burn up."—Editor's Drawer in Harper's Magazine.

Vigor and Vitality

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The blood is purified, enriched, and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

Death claims amounting to $156,768,84, and endowments amounting to $18,337.-61, were paid by the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York during the week ending July 29th.

If the Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula and general debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Pure God Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, the will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisic, Scrofula and wasting diseases generally. It is very palatable."

A Bursted Ring.

The trial of the Chicago "boodlers" was finished Aug. 5th, and the jury, after deliberating a half dozen hours, returned a verdict of guilty. The extreme penalty for the crime with which they were charged is three years in jail and a fine of $1000. Seven of the defendants, held to be the leaders in the business, were sentenced each to two years' imprisonment, and the remaining four were let off each with the fine of $1000. Their crime, it should be stated, was conspiracy. It was charged that twelve Cook county commissioners were in a "combine," with one of their number as collector, whose duty it was to levy upon all contracts and make a distribution of the money thus obtained among the members of the ring, all of whom were prominent democratic wire-pullers.

Naval Intelligence.

Lieut. Comdr. E. W. Watson is detached from torpedo instruction at Newport, R. I., and granted three months leave, with permission to leave the United States.

Paymaster Frank H. Hinman is detached from the Vandalia, and granted four months' sick leave, which will be spent at Hot Springs, Ark.

Lieutenant-Commander W. A. Morgan is detached from the Ossipee, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieutenant T. M. Potts is detached from the Pensacola and granted leave for one year, with permission to remain abroad.

Paymaster Stephen Rand, Jr., has reported as paymaster of the Mohican, Pacific station, and Paymaster W. J. Thompson has been detached.

Commander S. W. Nichols, retired, has been garanted one year's leave of absence, with permission to go abroad.

Lieutenant-Commander Thomas Perry is ordered to the Brooklyn as executive.

Engineer-in-Chief Charles H. Loring has resigned as head of the bureau of steam engineering, navy department, and Chief Engineer George W. Melville has been appointed by the president in his place.

Commander Evans has been ordered as secretary of the lighthouse board to relieve Comdr. Henry F. Picking, and Commodore D. B. Harmony has been ordered as a member of the lighthouse board in addition to his other duties. These orders were issued some time ago, but they were not made public in the regular way with other naval orders, presumably because they were not in accordance with the recommendations of the office of detail, but were made by the secretary of the navy.

Rear Admiral Chandler, commanding the Asiatic station, reports under date Yokohama, July 12th, that the repairs on the Brooklyn having been completed, she would sail the next day for Nagasaki. The Essex sailed July 11th from Yokohama for Chemulpo, Corea. The Omaha and Marion were still at Nagasaki, and the Monocacy and Palos at Yokohama. The general health of officers and men of the squadron is excellent. Affairs in the east are quiet. The national anniversary of the Fourth of July was celebrated at Yokohama by men-of-war of Great Britain, Italy, Austria, Russia and Japan, and the United States squadron was illuminated at night; in the evening a grand ball was given by the American residents of Tokio and Yokohama.

Secretary Whitney in his remarks as to recommended repairs on the U. S. S. Palos, administers a well-merited rebuke to Mr. Samuel J. Randall for his parsimonious withholding of proper sums to be expended in needed construction and repairing of naval ships.

One of the results of discharging competent clerks in the general land office, and placing new and untried men in their places, is a loss of seventy-five thousand dollars to the government by fraudulent payments of claims previously paid. "Turn the rascals out."

Admiral Luce gave a reception and dance on board the flag-ship Richmond at Halifax on Saturday, which was attended by the elite of Halifax. In these international courtesies the admiral may distinguish himself by his well known liberal hospitality. But when it comes to diplomacy, Secretary Whitney remarks that he will not submit to this Luce way of doing business. The secretary is right. Luce is far abler to distinguish himself in the placid waters of Narragansett bay than in the more turbulent waves of the Nova Scotia coast.

MARITIME NOTES.

The yacht race off Marblehead is announced to come off Thursday, Aug. 11th. The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell will leave Commercial wharf, foot of State street, at eight o'clock P. M. on the 10th, so as to be at Marblehead next morning in ample time to witness the great contest; the moon will rise at 10:30, adding another great attraction to the trip. The yacht will arrive back early in the morning on the 12th, so that only day will be lost by those who go as passengers. Fare for the round trip only $1:50; for particulars apply to Capt. Drowne at Commercial wharf.

The schooner A. C. Newhall brought in about 400 mackerel on Monday, and sold them to J. O. Downs & Co.

The schooners Isaac H. Tillyer, from Philadelphia with 832 tons of coal; Annie F. Conlon, from Baltimore with 914 tons; Hannah F. Carlton, with 411 tons, Daniel Pearson, with 429 tons, and Chromo, with 191 tons, from Perth Amboy, arrived at this port Aug. 7th and 8th, all to J. Albert Walker.

Secretary Whitney brings Admiral Luce up with a round turn in the fisheries-circular business, advises him to issue no more but to withdraw all he can get hold of, and informs him that his own government would be a more proper source to apply to for information than Capt. Scott of the Canadian "navy," a mere underling of another power. If Bayard is tongue-tied in regard to Canadian naval officers, Whitney can speak plain enough to ours.

The great yacht race from Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard, to Marblehead on Monday, was commenced at seven o'clock in a good breeze, the Volunteer and Puritan crossing the startling line within four seconds of each other and under good headway. At 1:15 P. M. a despatch from Chatham announced the Volunteer leading by over two miles, the Puritan being second, with the Mayflower a half mile astern. Some of the crack schooners were doing splendid work, but the chief interest centered on the three big sloops. It was thought that the race might be sailed in eighteen or twenty hours. The schooner Gitana was disabled, while leading the schooner fleet.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. Wood, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. Balcom, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism, I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. Y. A. Proudfoot, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by
